

ONE MAN MISSING

Out of the Scores Adrift on the Broken Ice.

TALES TOLD OF THE FEARFUL PERIL

A Long Jump for Safety That One Man Couldn't Cover and Got a Cold Bath—Lost on a Floe in a Snow Storm—Adventures of a Another Party—A Night of Despair Followed by Good Luck in the Morning—Rejoicing at Essexville.

BAY CITY, Mich., Feb. 5.—At noon yesterday all of the fishermen except two had been heard from, and these two, it is thought, have gone ashore on the Charity Islands. Albert Pratt, Jake Coon, and a Frenchman ran out of provisions Monday and started that night for Essexville to lay in a new stock. They became lost in the snowstorm and wandered about all night, to find in the morning that they were cut off from shore by open water, the gap then being fourteen feet wide. The men endeavored to jump it, and Pratt and Coon succeeded, but their companion jumped short and went into the bay. He was rescued by means of a fish spear.

Rejoicing Over the Saved.
Most of the men imperiled lived in Essexville, and there was great rejoicing there when the hardy men—who it was feared had been doomed to death—returned in straggling groups. Reports were also received that all of the missing villagers were safe with the single exception of Irwin Felker. The fishermen who returned told pitiful stories of the suffering and hardship endured Monday night while adrift on Saginaw bay. The three men mentioned in the foregoing paragraph left their shanties, which were eight miles out, about 5 o'clock p. m., and started at a brisk pace to walk to Essexville. Shortly after starting the wind, which had been blowing from the north, veered and blew from the south.

A Fearfully Dangerous Trip.
Increasing its force every minute, at 6:30, when the men were still some distance from shore, it was blowing a gale. To make matters worse, it began to snow very heavily, and the men at one time thought they were lost. They found the road, however, and were pushing forward, half running and half walking, when their ears were startled by a succession of booming reports like the firing of cannon. The noise could be heard all along the bay shore on either side of them. It was then known that the main body of ice had broken away from the shore ice, and would soon be moving out into the bay faster than a man could run. They weathered all the difficulties, and were saved as recorded above.

Adventures of Other Men.
One of the other fishermen who returned gave this account of that fearful night: The men in the settlement on the ice had finished their day's work and were enjoying their evening meal. All the fishermen noticed that the wind had changed to what is known to them as "unlucky point"—blowing from the southwest—and they were a little uneasy. But then they thought it would stop at daylight and everything would be all right. The wind increased to such violence, however, that some of the men who were farthest out formed a party of about fifty and started to walk to land. Those who were near the shore were made aware of the danger first.

The Sounds of Coming Danger.
About 7 o'clock they heard the succession of reports previously alluded to. The booming of the ice was at once terrifying and grand, although there was not a man who did not know what the following sound meant. A report would be heard as the ice started to break, and then could be distinguished the grinding, tearing and cracking along the shore for miles. To make matters worse the wind was howling along the ice, and the snow was blinding. One common impulse soon drove this company of men to get together, and they started for the shore. As they were not so far out as the others they soon arrived at the place where the ice was broken. But they were horrified to see a chasm of water at least thirty feet wide, over which it was impossible to cross.

Met Some More Unfortunates.
About 10 o'clock at night they found another gang of men who had come from the middle of the fishing grounds. The two gangs then united, and once more started to search for a place to cross. After wandering up and down for about two hours they gave up in despair, and, retiring from the edge of the ice floe, they decided to wait till morning. The men who had been along the edge reported that as far as the eye could penetrate the darkness nothing was discernible but the boiling, seething water.

A Discouraging Prospect.
The floe on which the men were standing soon began to break around the edges from the force of the waves, and the men were compelled to keep going farther and farther toward the center of the crumbling floe. Daylight came at last, and with it the spirits of the castaways rose, for then there was a prospect of getting ashore. On all sides as far as the eye could reach was nothing but tumbling waves. Soon after daylight, however, the wind changed, coming directly from the west.

Drifted to the Welcome Sho.
This was just what the men wanted, and three hours later the floe drifted in to shore. The men then landed, some getting ashore at a place known as Big Creek, and others getting off at Fish Point. All were suffering from exposure and exhaustion. Almost all of the fishermen have now reached home. There were nearly 100 shanties on the ice. Most of these were occupied by two or three men. Two good-sized barns and three horses were left on the floe.

Legislation in Michigan.
LANSING, Mich., Feb. 5.—Bills were introduced in the house yesterday making an appropriation of $123,000 for the support of the deaf and dumb asylum; to repeal the act authorizing the appointment of state game and fish warden; to punish fraudulent entries and practices in speed contests; making an appropriation of $33,630 for the support of the state agricultural college.

In the senate bills were introduced making the office of railroad commissioner elective instead of appointive; making mortgage deeds subject to taxation. Resolutions were adopted in both branches for an investigation of the state public school with especial reference to the case of little Nellie Griffin, recently murdered by old man Gansfield.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

Republicans and F. M. B. A. Men Talking of a Combination.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 5.—Bills were introduced in the senate yesterday: Permitting a majority of property owners in towns to petition for local improvements; allowing the polls at Chicago elections to remain open until 7 p. m.; changing the building and loan association law so that the directors may fix the interest and premium on loans instead of selling to the highest bidder; allowing certificates to dentists of five years experience before the adoption of the present law. A message was received from the house announcing the passage of joint resolution for investigation of the Chicago Live Stock exchange.

The Chicago Live Stock exchange sent resolutions to the house inviting the proposed investigation of charges of boycott, etc., made by farmers, and joint resolutions for such investigation were unanimously adopted. The rest of the session was devoted, without action, to the reports on the Moore resolutions arraigning the railway commissioners as tools of the railways.

The Senatorial Monotony.
The joint session took a ballot, only the Democrats voting. This was because Cockrell, F. M. B. A., was ill, and his colleagues and the Republicans declined to vote. No quorum. Adjourned. The Republican steering committee met yesterday, a deal with the F. M. B. A. men was discussed, the proposition being to join with them in the support of Streeter, Moore or Taubeneck. No action was taken, it being thought best to hold a caucus on so important a point.

The Bennett Law Repealed.
MADISON, Wis., Feb. 5.—The senate yesterday afternoon, by a vote of 21 to 10, concurred in the bill repealing the Bennett law. The bill now goes to the governor for his signature. Senator Scofield, Republican, of the First District, was unseated and his place given to Pettzer, Democrat. In the house bills were introduced permitting sparrows to be killed, repealing the local option law, creating the county of Iron by dividing the county of Ashland and fixing the county seat at Hurley, and amending the laws concerning the powers of notaries so as to give them authority to perform the marriage ceremony.

The Nebraska Governorship Fight.
LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 5.—The joint committee of the state legislature appointed to wait on ex-Gov. Thayer, reported yesterday he was ready to deliver his message, and it was agreed to receive it this afternoon. In the house, after a hot fight lasting five hours, a resolution was passed by a small majority asking Governor Boyd to also deliver his message this afternoon. This will result in two messages being delivered, and is the first recognition by the house of Boyd as governor.

Alliance Men Were on Deck.
RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 5.—A resolution offered in the state senate yesterday to instruct senators and representatives in congress to vote against the measure pending there to allow senators to be elected by a vote of the people, was defeated by an overwhelming majority.

A Bill Against the Pinkertons.
TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 5.—A bill was passed by the house yesterday prohibiting any company or corporation from employing armed forces while a strike is pending.

PRETTY, BUT A BLACKMAILER.

A Woman at Olympia, Wash., Using Representative Holman's Name.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 5.—A story is printed here to the effect that a young and very pretty woman who goes under the name of Mrs. Emma Grey, has been blackmailing state officers and politicians. Her plan was to send a desired visitor her card, and invite him to call at her apartments. As soon as a man was seated she locked the door and told him she would scream and summon help if money was not forthcoming. The police made an effort to induce two of the victims to prosecute the woman, but they would not do so.

The Story She Tells People.
She told several persons that her right name was Emma Holman; that she was the daughter of Congressman Holman, of Indiana, and has shown letters which would tend to confirm her; but it is believed here that the woman is well connected in the east, and that she has got hold of letters addressed to a friend from some one by the name of Holman. She arrived at Olympia about two weeks ago.

THE REVOLT IN PORTUGAL.

Purposes of the Rebels as Disclosed by Documents.

LISBON, Feb. 5.—Documents have been seized at the office of the Republica Portuguesa of a very compromising nature, including lists of subscriptions, sentences of death against prominent people in Portugal, etc. The letters seized prove correspondence between the Republicans and Spain. After victory shall have crowned their efforts annexation to Spain is to be proclaimed. The documents also establish the complicity of certain priests of rural parishes with the insurgents, and also a number of people who have returned from Brazil with large fortunes. The count of the slain in Saturdays insurrection at Oporto increases daily. The number of killed is now reported at 100. Five hundred of the insurgents are in prison awaiting their fate.

Compelled to Adopt Parnell's Ideas.

DUBLIN, Feb. 5.—The Freeman's Journal says Parnell held an important conversation with O'Brien at Calais on Monday. It is probable that Sexton will visit Boulogne. Parnell said that in his opinion a home rule measure, such as he desired, was assured. The Dublin Express asserts that McCarthy has been compelled to adopt Parnell's ideas, as have all the leading Liberals.

Attempted Assassination.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Feb. 5.—A dastardly attempt was made to kill Larkin Smith, mayor of Lulu Friday. Some one crept to a window in his residence shortly after midnight and discharged the contents of a double-barreled shot gun at Smith as he lay in bed. The shot took effect in his legs. His wounds will not prove fatal. There is no clue to the assassin.

Nine Artillerymen Fatally Injured.

MARSHFIELD, Feb. 5.—Nine artillerymen at Montpellier were fatally injured Tuesday by a premature discharge of dynamite.

The announcement is made that the American National Bank of Kansas City, which failed two weeks ago, will resume business.

BOILED IN A BATH TUB.

Frightful Accident at the Kalamazoo Insane Asylum.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 5.—Mrs. James Barth was fatally scalded at the state asylum here Tuesday by the carelessness of two attendants, who were giving her a bath. She came here a week ago from Spring Lake, where she had become insane at a revival. She required frequent baths, and being a woman weighing over 300 pounds, it required three attendants to bathe her, two holding her in the tub while the other one performed the service. Tuesday morning, while Rosa Smith, a graduate of the State Normal school, and Minnie Irwin and Anna Van Vleet were giving Mrs. Barth a bath the wheel attached to the hot water pipe was accidentally turned, and scalding, steaming water rushed into the tub.

The Maniac's Terrible Shrieks.
The shrieks of the maniac, mingled with the screams of the attendants, were heard all over the institution. The attendants were unable to lift Mrs. Barth from the tub, and she was powerless to assist herself, for the flesh was cooking on her body. Finally she was removed, and despite all medical efforts she died Tuesday night. Yesterday the asylum authorities laid the case before the coroner, and an investigation will be had. It is thought the affair will be investigated by the legislature.

MEDICAL.

A departure from ordinary methods has long been adopted by the makers of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. They know what it can do—and they guarantee it. Your money is promptly returned, if it fails to benefit or cure in all diseases arising from torpid liver or impure blood. No better terms could be asked for. No better remedy can be had. Nothing else that claims to be a blood-purifier is sold in this way—because nothing else is like the "G. M. D."

So positively certain is it in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in selling it, as they are doing, through druggists, on trial! It is especially potent in curing Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands, Tumors and Swellings. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
