The Death Roll Left by the Wellington Cyclone.

VERY COMPLETE WORK OF THE WIND

The Tornado-Swept Town Visited by 15,000 Strangers--Lists of the Dead and Injured--Many of the Latter Very Seriously Hurt--Property Destroyed Worth $250,000--Two Other Towns Ravaged and a Total of Fourteen Persons Reported Killed--Cyclonic Novelties.

KANSAS CITY, May 30.--A special to The Journal from Wellington, Kans., says: Wellington's cyclone visitation has made it for the time the chief object of interest for all southern Kansas. No such crowds have visited this city before as those which since earliest daylight poured in on every railroad and highway yesterday. On all its four lines centering here the Santa Fe ran excursions from as far north as Hutchinson, south from Arkansas City and west from Medicine Lodge, while the Rock Island was equally industrious in forwarding sightseers to the stricken city. Division Passenger Agent Murdock, of the Santa Fe, estimated the crowd at 15,000 which, is an exceedingly conservative estimate.

The Destruction Most Complete. It is the common remark of those who have witnessed similar scenes that in the extent and completeness of the destruction it transcends anything in their experience. Other like calamities have been attended with greater loss of life, but rarely has a picture of such utter desolation and ruin been presented as that seen in the devastated district. The miracle of it all is that the loss of life was not four fold greater. This is to be attributed to the fact that the churches and the business blocks were practically deserted excepting the two hotels, where eight of the fatal casualties so far reported occurred.

The Lists of Dead and Wounded. There were nineteen in all, so far as known at this writing, killed, and several of the wounded have died. The names of the former are: Leonard Adamson, Thomas N. Cornwall, Frank Campbell, Matilda Carson, Caroline Dillard, French, James Hastie, James Harrison, James Hendricks, Henry James, Ida Jones, William Jones, Wharton Mason, James Mayer, Mrs. J. K. Sasher, Mamie Strand, X. Silva, Hart Upson, James Weaver.

Injured victims--Those taken out of the ruins, injured, some of whom have since died, are as follows: Charles Adamson, Miss Bishop, Jesse Brown, Guy Colby, Mrs. Henry Conrad Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Earl, Edward Forsythe, E. J. Forsythe, Silva Forsythe, Walter Forsythe, Lieutenant William French, Mrs. T. J. Hanna, Mattie Hodges, Charles Hoover, Maggie King, James Lawrence, Mrs. Mahon, John Martin, Joseph Morris, Carrie Mitchell, Mrs. Robert Millard, Carrie Mitchell (child), Mrs. Murphy, Ralph Ratekin, Sammons, Charles Stoner, Thrall, W. H., Tucker, Dick Weaver (child).

Six Funerals Yesterday. Of the above Mrs. Murphy, an aged woman, and Jessie Brown will probably die and, as will be seen from what follows, one of them has already died. The funerals of six of the cyclone victims--Mrs. Sasher, her sister, Miss Kittle Strahn, Leonard Adamson, Ida Jones, Horton Upson, and Professor James Mayer--took place yesterday afternoon from the Methodist church. James Hastie was buried later in the day by the Odd Fellows, while Ed Forsythe will receive the rights of sepulchre today. The body of Thomas Cornwall has been forwarded to his home near Belleplain and that of Frank Campbell to Williamsburg, Ky.

FREAKS OF THE TORNADO.

Some of the Novelties of the Disaster--The Total Money Loss. Many are the strange stories of the wind's vagaries and of marvelous escapes, while pathetic adventures are not wanting. In Frank Campbell's pocket was found a telegram from his wife saying that she and the children would be at home Saturday after a three months' absence in Kentucky. James K. Hastie was in a barber's chair in the Phillips House when the crash came, and he met death with one cheek shaven and the other unshaved. In one instance a horse was picked up bodily and deposited on the top of a two-story building. A baby was taken out of its cradle, carried a distance of two blocks, and deposited unharmed on a pile of hay.

The Journey of a Plate Glass. Another freak of the storm was the manner in which a plate glass was taken from the elegant Spicknall block and carried several yards, set up against a frame house, and, aside from losing a few chips around the edge, was not broken. Three Rock Island freight cars were lifted from the track carried a distance 300 feet. Several instances were seen of heavy scantlings having been hurled through the sides of buildings as through arrows shot from a bow. The Lutheran church was lifted bodily from its foundations, turned completely over and deposited steeply down on top of a residence. The steeple penetrated the roof and the church now rests bottom up and has the appearance of an immense cup.

The Ball Had Just Begun. There are many incidents of the storm that are remarkable. The ball that was in progress at the Phillips House had just begun. The music had scarcely struck up when the storm came. Ladies in evening dress fled terror-stricken into the streets, where the rain of water and bricks was falling. Strange to say, not one of those who thus ran out of the hotel was killed outright, although nearly all were injured to some extent.

At Work Repairing Damages. Notwithstanding the character of yesterday, carpenters, bricklayers and tanners were busy making the partially wrecked buildings habitable. Temporary shelter has been provided for homeless unfortunates, and a relief committee has been formed to raise the necessary funds to keep them from absolute destitution and want. The Presbyterian and Lutheran churches were well protected by cyclone polices and will be rebuilt at once. The $20,000 school house destroyed will in like manner be in part restored by the insurance company. Of tornado insurance on residence and business property there was so little as to be hardly worth mentioning. The absolute loss will be $250,000.

Drowned in a Collision. DELROIT, May 30.--A collision between the steamer Mackinac and the tug Washburn occurred in the Detroit river about 11 o'clock Saturday night, nearly sinking the latter, and causing the drowning of Mr. John Hurley, owner of the tug, and Chief Engineer Robinson, of the steam-barge Majestic, who was on the Washburn at the time.

TWO OTHER TOWNS VISITED.

Seven Persons Killed at Harper and Seven at Argonia. WICAITA, Kan., May 30.--The cyclone Friday night killed seven persons at Harper and seven at Argonia. The destruction was frightful, as both towns are nearly razed. Over two score are badly injured. Nearly every public building in both towns was destroyed. The storm swept through a belt of country one and a half miles wide, licking up everything clean. It was accompanied in portions of southern Kansas with destructive cloud-bursts. At Rago, near Harper, two persons were killed by a water spout.

The Dead at Harper. The names of the killed at Harper are: J. L. Stainham, James Harrison, wife and child of James Gallagher, child of Grant Tomlin, Mrs. Frank Tomlin, William Stevenson, Injured: Samuel Cole, will probably die; Robert Librecht, Samuel Challis, Mrs. Samuel Challis, probably fatal.

Wild Winds Elsewhere. Brownville, Mo., was visited by a terrific wind and rain storm Saturday afternoon, doing considerable damage.

At Marshall, Mo., Saturday there was a miniature cyclone carrying roofs away and doing other damage. Frank Davis was seriously hurt.

At Knob Knoster, Mo., a number of houses were partially wrecked and several persons injured.

TACTICS OF THE SILVER MEN.

They Want a Vote on Free Coinage Before the National Conventions Meet.

WASHINGTON, May 30.--The purpose of the silver men in the senate in springing upon that body a free coinage bill at this time is to compel a vote on the question before the meeting of the Minneapolis convention. Their opponents will endeavor to stave off a division by prolonging the debate, and in this programme they have this advantage: That Senator Teller and other advocates of silver have repeatedly proclaimed themselves in favor of unlimited discussion of the question, accusing their adversaries of standing alone in the purpose of stifling debate.

May Fail in Their Object.

At least eight senators, four of them silver men (Teller, Wolcott, Shoup, and Felton), and four anti-silver men (Higgins, Cullom, Hisecock, and Quay), are delegates to Minneapolis, and will be leaving the city on Wednesday or Thursday, and there are other senators who will also desire to participate in their party's council. Consequently unless a vote can be forced tomorrow or Wednesday there is a likelihood of a decision being delayed in the senate until after the Minneapolis convention and possibly even until after the Chicago convention, though every nerve will be strained to reach a vote before the latter event.

DEFIANT UNION SEMINARY.

Resolutions Before the Presbyterians at Portland--The Appeal Sustained.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 30.--The Presbyterian general assembly got as far as a vote on the Briggs case Saturday and Briggs was beaten. Before the debate began the report of the committee on theological seminaries was presented which declares that Union has failed to comply with its obligation in the compact of 1870; that the chair of Biblical theology (Briggs chair) is de jure vacant; that the seminary is in open defiance of the assembly, and that the compact must be maintained.

A Vote on the Briggs Case.

It is proposed that the matter be arbitrated between the assembly and the seminary. The Briggs case then came up again and Briggs completed his argument. A long debate ensued and then a vote was ordered, which was taken on each of the six grounds of appeal in turn. Each was sustained by a large majority. Then a vote on three propositions as to the appeal--to sustain as a whole, to sustain in part, and not to sustain--was taken, resulting: To sustain as a whole, 302; sustain in part, 127; not to sustain, 87. A resolution was offered and referred declaring that the appeal being sustained the verdict of the New York presbytery be reversed and that the papers be returned thereto with orders to try the case on its merits.

Prominent Chicagoan Assaulted.

CHICAGO, May 30.--Joseph Fish, a prominent dry goods dealer of this city, and a member of the firm of Fish, Joseph & Co., was assaulted and nearly killed by Jerry Trumbley, a thief whom he attempted to stop on Wabash avenue Saturday afternoon. Trumbley had stolen a lady's pocket book and was running toward Mr. Fish pursued by a crowd yelling "stop thief." When Mr. Fish caught and tried to hold Trumbley, the latter struck him in the face with steel knuckles, knocking him down. He then jumped upon his unconscious victim. Trumbley was arrested and is held awaiting Mr. Fish's injuries, which are serious and may prove fatal.

Were Disgraceful in the House.

WASHINGTON, May 30.--But slight interest was manifested in the proceedings of the house Saturday, which devoted its time to the post office appropriation bill, although but little was said on this measure. Speeches were made on all the political issues, Kendall of Kentucky delivering his initial speech in favor of the free coinage of silver. Fithian talked tariff, and Watson (Alliance) arraigned the Democrats for failing to pass a silver bill and repeal the McKinley law. An adjournment resolution until tomorrow was passed.

The Cumberland Presbyterian assembly at Memphis has adjourned.

Methodist Protestants and the Women.

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 30.--The woman question came up Saturday in the Methodist general conference and was settled by the adoption of resolution to submit amendments to the annual conferences deciding that women shall neither be elders nor delegates to the conferences. As it will require a two-thirds vote to adopt these, and as the conference has refused to unseat women from Kansas, Indiana, Iowa and West Virginia, it is believed the female representative is a fixed fact.

Fire Costs San Francisco $400,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.--A fire just before 6 o'clock yesterday morning destroyed the Fulton Iron works, Hammond Car shops, Greenburg's Brass works and Manhattan Food company's works. The total loss was $400,000 of which the iron works lose $300,000.

Flour Made Out of Bananas.

WASHINGTON, May 30.--There has recently been discovered a process by which flour may be made of bananas, and the importance of the discovery can be realized when it is known that the same area of ground that will grow forty pounds of wheat will produce annually 4,000 pounds of bananas, and that the banana plantation after once being started lasts for twenty-five years without breaking up or ploughing.
