What the Hon. George G. Vest says in regard to the superiority of the Hirschberg's diamond and non-changeable spectacles:
"I am using glasses which I purchased from Prof. Hirschberg and they are the best I ever tried; it affords me great pleasure to recommend Prof. Hirschberg as an excellent optician, and his glasses are simply unequalled in my experience."

Indications that It Will Not Insist on the Sherman Bond Scheme.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Two views relative to the Sherman bond amendment obtain in the senate. The indications are, however, that the senate will recede from its amendment in this particular and the result will be that the sundry civil bill will be passed without this amendment attached to it. Teller, one of the most ardent of the anti-bond men, said last evening that there was a visible weakening of the forces that passed this amendment when it was up for consideration, and that when it came back from the house the motion to recede from the amendment would probably prevail.
Voted Under a "Misapprehension."
There has been a quiet canvass on this matter going on for the past two days and the opponents of the issue of bonds say that they have ascertained that certain senators voted for the proposition under a misapprehension and will hail with delight any means that will permit them to change the record as it now stands. It is also said that word has come from Cleveland that he would rather see the sundry civil bill a law than have it impeded by an attempt to force the bond question. No one in the senate, however, professes to speak for Cleveland in this matter, and, indeed, those who stand closest to him say that there is no difference in the situation at all.
Enjoys Cleveland's Confidence.
A well-known senator, who enjoys the confidence of the president-elect, said yesterday that there was no reason why the bond amendment should not prevail and he believed it would in the end, for the reason that it was a clean cut business proposition that could result in nothing but a saving of expenditure to the country at large. The coming administration was in favor of the amendment in the event of any contingency that made such an issue a necessity, and the friends of that administration, this senator said, would resist any attempt to defeat the amendment as passed by the senate.

Preparing a French Cook.
The making of a man cook in France is a lengthy and tedious process. When a young man decides to pursue a culinary career he selects his nominal instructor, to whom he pays a fee of $500. The aspirant is first assigned to the vegetable cook, who teaches him how to prepare the raw materials. When he has mastered this, he is initiated into the mystery of cooking them. This thoroughly learned he studies the way of cutting up raw meat, of preparing fish and how to stuff, dress, truss and lard game and poultry. When he has thoroughly learned this, he is placed before the range, where he receives instruction in the various processes of broiling, frying, roasting and baking.
When he graduates from this department, he passes under the control of the second cook, who reveals to him the mysteries of sauces and soups. The interest of this functionary in his pupil it is necessary to accelerate with liberal and frequent tips. The young man is now turned back to the pastry cook, to whom he serves a long apprenticeship in all that pertains to the concoction of sweets, pastries and ices. This completes his culinary education, and he is prepared to assume the role of a competent cook.—New York Sun.

To Tell the Speed of Railroad Trains.
Arthur G. Leonard, private secretary to H. Walter Webb, third vice president of the New York Central railroad, has invented a watch which is said to enable the holder to measure the rate of speed at which he or she may be traveling on a railroad train, a steamboat or any other conveyance. It is thus described: In the hands of a person on a swiftly moving train the watch may be pressing a tiny lever be started at a given point, say a mile post, and when the next mile post is reached a quick pressure on the lever will stop the hands of the watch on a figure which accurately indicates the rate of speed per hour at which the train is moving.—Buffalo Courier
