The Dancer.

"His nose slanting eyes followed the butterfly movements of Lan-Tin here and there, the free toss of her little head and the graceful abandon of her arms as she flung them over her head, and again brought them down with a sweeping bend to the very ground. Lan-Tin forgot the mandarin and all his regal magnificence. She was playing a pretty little game of make-believe. She was the wind blowing through the plum tree. Tossing and twirling, bending low as did the drooping branches, waving slowly, rushing fiercely like a tiny whirlwind. With flushed cheeks and glowing eyes she was the spirit of the wind.

"Then a funny thing happened. From outside the windows that opened on the perfumed Chinese night came the sound of loud hand-clapping and deep, strange voice shouting 'Bravá!' She dropped down on a cushion, no longer a wind fairy, but a little wilted flower."—From "The Tale of Little Lan-Tin," by Flo Hingler.

Daily Reminder.

Immodesty, in itself, wouldn't be so bad, if, in addition, it wasn't always making a fool of itself generally.

Wooden-Legged Duck Thrives.

A wooden-legged duck lives and thrives at Airvault, a little village in Bordeaux, France. At a recent meeting of the local natural history society, the chairman told of the duck which had its leg crushed in a stable door. Its owner, a peasant woman, amputated the leg and replaced it with a wooden one which she manufactured herself. The duck is now able to get about the farmyard with perfect ease.

Cheap Labor in Trinidad.

Labor is so cheap in Trinidad that it does not pay to buy lawn mowers, as coolies will cut the grass with a small sickle or knife at a trifling cost.

Daily Reminder.

No matter how the other markets fluctuate, good, old, common, every day politeness is still quoted at the same figures.

HIS SYMPATHIES WITH ELK

Somewhat Natural, Since Animal Rescued Engineer From Extremely Awkward Position.

A curious story of adventure comes from Montana. While a freight train was lying over at a small mountain station, the engineer borrowed a shotgun and started out for a short hunt. Finding nothing, he was returning to the train when a cow came running at him, and before he realized his danger, she tossed him in the air.

Getting to his feet as quickly as possible, he dodged behind a tree, and then, to his dismay, found that the gun barrel was bent so as to be useless. The next ten minutes were very lively ones, while the cow chased the engineer round and round the tree. Just when he was about to succumb from fatigue, an angry snort was heard, and a big elk appeared upon the scene, head down and prepared for a fight.

So was the cow, and in another moment the two animals dashed at each other. The engineer watched the combat for a few minutes, until prudence suggested that he should make a retreat as soon as he could. He regained the train in safety, and never knew the outcome of the battle, but he hopes the elk was the victor.

Will Find Some Variations.

The girl who gets her ideas of love and the young man who gets his ideas of business out of the story papers are both liable to meet with disappointments.

Monogamy Proved Best.

Through the animal world careful investigation shows that the nearer the animals have approached the ideal form of marriage the higher they have reached in the scale of development and the better and more enduring is their offspring.
