

Weekly Citizen

ALBUQUERQUE, - JAN. 24, 1901.

PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY.

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Albuquerque Post Office.

Terms of Subscription:
Daily by mail, one year, $2.00
Daily by mail, six months, $1.25
Daily by mail, three months, $0.75
Daily by mail, one month, $0.25
Delivered in city by carrier, per week, $0.05
Weekly, by mail, $1.00

Advertising rates made known on applying at office of publication.

Office—No. 111 West Gold Avenue

[From the Daily, Jan. 21.]

W. H. Harmon, a sheep buyer from near Ash Fork, Arizona, is here to-day and through G. L. Brooks has purchased 2,500 sheep from John A. Lohman, of Las Cruces. Mr. Harmon will drive his sheep overland to his Arizona range.

George W. Hickox, the Santa Fe jeweler, has rented a store in this city and will remove his stock of watches and jewelry from that town on the first of March. Mr. Hickox is an enterprising citizen and likes to be where business is rushing the year round.

Thos. Post and Andrew Romero are back from the latter's sheep ranch beyond the Zuni mountains, about 150 miles from the city. Mr. Post says they encountered plenty of snow, and reports the weather piercingly cold. Sheep, however, were found to good condition, as soon as the snow melts they will find plenty of grass to subsist on.

The American Valley Cattle company, W. R. Slaughter president and general manager, has just declared a dividend of 2 1/2 per cent. It is an unusual thing for a cattle company to declare a dividend, but the American Valley, being under the good management of Mr. Slaughter, found itself at the end of the year able to pay a dividend to the stockholders of the company. Mr. Slaughter is a cattleman all over and knows how to conduct a big concern.

The A. A. Grant horse company held a regular meeting last night and selected the following officers for the ensuing six months: Foreman, W. S. McLaughlin; first assistant, W. H. Cobb; second assistant, F. W. Heyn, Jr.; secretary, R. E. Stanton; treasurer, L. D. Mandell. Messrs. Shannon, Cobb, Erickson, Chamberlin and Heyn were appointed a committee to arrange for the annual ball, which will be held in Grant's opera house the first Monday after Easter.

Col. Marmon, of Laguna, is in the city to confer with John Donaldson, of Philadelphia, who has been sent out here to assist in seeing that the census of the Navajo Indians is properly and correctly taken. The colonel and Mr. Donaldson are the appointed special agents to oversee the work, and the census taking of the Indians will begin Friday. The colonel will go out to Laguna to-night, arrange his affairs there, and will meet Mr. Donaldson at Gallup Friday morning, from which place they will direct operations.

Col. Albright, of the Democrat, and Major Donnelly, local land agent of the Atlantic & Pacific land department, left this afternoon for Santa Fe. Seeing several well-known sports at the depot a rumor was put in circulation that the Albright-Frost prize fight will come off earlier than expected and only a few bad tips. This, THE CITIZEN is pleased to say, is incorrect, as no day has been set for the fight, and the Albuquerque colonel has not yet gone into active training. Major Donnelly goes to Santa Fe to interview the legislature on certain measures.

The corps of civil engineers, who were sent out a few days ago by the Rio Grande Irrigation and Colonization company to examine the location for the main reservoir for the canal, returned to the city last night, and this morning Mr. Simpson, one of the engineers, states the report of their work will be sent for consideration to the Boston directors, after which it will be made known to the public. The party are here to await further orders. It is Mr. Simpson's opinion that the corps will soon be ordered to make a survey of the country above Pena Blanca.

The Wallpapas. Ed. B. Hanson, writing to Weiler & Mandell for a lot of cartridges, from Mineral Park, Arizona, gives the information that the Wallpapa Indians have the measles craze and are holding ghost dances day and night. Mr. Hanson says it looks like the fool Indians intend to create an outbreak, and they say they will keep up the dances until spring if the tribe hold out. Several of the Indians have already died from exhaustion—dancing until they drop dead. A meeting of the citizens was held there the other day and it was decided to call on the governor for arms and ammunition. The goods Mr. Hanson desired were shipped by express to his address this afternoon.

Later information from Mineral Park is to the effect that the officers, acting upon orders from the governor of Arizona, have suppressed the dances. The Wallpapas are a poor tribe of Indians and are rapidly dying off. It will only be a few years until the whole Wallpapa tribe will be swept from the earth by loathsome diseases that are now depopulating their ranks at a rapid pace.

A Shrewd Forsythe. The Arizona papers are wringing their hands in sorrow over the fate of Col. Forsythe, who was recently suspended from service by Gen. Miles, concluding with that it was Col. "Sandy" Forsythe who so gallantly fought the Apaches a few years ago at Stein's Pass and throughout Arizona. For the information of several gentlemen in this city who are also a little regarding the Forsythe matter, and for the Arizona press at large, THE CITIZEN will state that Col. "Sandy" Forsythe has been on the retired list for over two years, and during that time drawing three quarters pay; he has been far away from war's dreadful echoes. Gen. Miles has been greatly censured by some of the papers grieving over "Sandy's" troubles, but they should have first learned the facts in the case before putting their expressions into cold type. The Col. Forsythe dismissed by Gen. Miles is entirely a different man, and is not the gallant old soldier who so materially assisted in subduing the treacherous and bloodthirsty Apaches in their raids in southern New Mexico and Arizona a few years ago. However, the Forsythe who was dismissed is a gallant soldier, and has always been regarded as a brave and courageous man.

A Comparison. W. G. Kessler, postmaster at Las Vegas, being the east side office just too near from, furnishes the information with the following statistical information: Total receipts for the month ended December 31st, 1899, $285.64, for the quarter last ended, $836.43; for the year, $2,789.02. Number of one cent stamps sold last year, 24,578; two cent stamps, 77,076; two cent stamp envelopes, 27,173.

The above is a good showing for such small town as Las Vegas, but it is easily beaten. Here is a show of business done at the Albuquerque postoffice, which is something to brag about. The Office and THE CITIZEN'S many readers must bear in mind that West Albuquerque is just so far from: Sale of stamps and envelopes for the month of December, 1899, $1,594.85; sale of stamps and envelopes for the fourth quarter, 1899, $3,100.34; sale of stamps and envelopes for the year, 1899, $11,032.31; box rents collected for the year 1899, $1,400.40; postal funds received from fourth class postoffices, $12,941.78; amounts paid railway clerks, $15,107.36; expenses of postoffice, including salaries, $4,580.23; surplus postal funds deposited at St. Louis, Mo., $8,396.21. Now, Mr. Optic, acknowledge, isn't Albuquerque a great business center?

Twelve Years in Jail. In the city of Chihuahua, Mexico, Friday afternoon, John Congdon, an American, was sentenced to twelve years imprisonment in the prison at Chihuahua with a rebate of three years for good behavior, says the El Paso Herald. The case of Congdon is a peculiar and sad one. He is 32 to 34 years old, comes from a good family, and all his life has been a good character. He was formerly postmaster at Pearsall, county seat of Frio county, Texas. Some of his people reside in San Antonio, and he left that city about three years ago to accept service with the Wells, Fargo & Co., express in the City of Mexico. From there he was transferred to Chihuahua, where he was engaged in driving the express delivery wagon.

One day he took a package of money to one of the banks, took his receipt for the same and went on about his business. An hour or two later he was arrested on the charge that he had stolen the money package after having it down in the bank. The next day the package was found in the bank waste basket. In any other civilized country in the world Congdon would have been released immediately. But three months afterward, being still a prisoner, though allowed to walk about the city under guard of a policeman, perhaps still knowing nothing of the finding of the money, and despairing of even a trial, much less a acquittal, he got the policeman drunk and killed him in an effort to escape. For this he has been in jail over two years, and yesterday he was sentenced for twelve years more. It is said he was to have been released the next day after he killing, had not that unfortunate affair occurred.

Attired to the Innane. There is an insane Mexican man wandering in and around old town who should be looked after. He has no shirt, no coat and nowhere to sleep at night. He covers his nakedness from the waist up with a thin, worn-out blanket, and can be seen almost any day sitting against an adobe wall trying to keep his poorly clad form warm by the genial rays of the sun. He is between the age of 40 and 50, and it is said was once in fair circumstances, but when he lost his money, he lost with it his mind and friends. He has relatives, it is stated, residing in old town, but they have cast the old man, now that his mind is deranged, away from them to wander from pillar to post, and to die as the beasts do. It is the duty of some person to look after the old man. Let him be put in the county jail. Anywhere, so he can have some place to sleep and rest, and some clothing to cover his shivering form.

Land Office Business. Amount of business transacted at the United States land office at Santa Fe, N. M., from January 1st to December 31st, 1899:

	Acres.	Purchase Money.
78 Cash sales of lands	8,225.18	$10,872.51
2 Final desert entries	800.00	400.00
10 Mineral land sales	197.33	910.00
5 Coal land sales	610.00	2,800.00
65 Original desert entries	14,573.35	2,718.50
178 Homestead entries	26,782.66	2,700.00
36 Final homestead entries	14,349.60	1,287.75
29 Under culture	4,111.65	801.00
140 Pre-application entries	19,827.54	600.00
64 Coal declarations	9,238.56	128.00
6 Mineral applications	227.88	60.00
1 Military land location	180.31	4.00
229 A. & P. R. H. selections	203,226.75	4,418.00

Reward for Arrest. The following notice of reward has been issued dated January 21, 1891: Whereas, Octaviano Telles, charged with the murder of Simplicio Marquez, on December 25, 1890, has escaped from the county jail of Valencia county.

Therefore, The territory of New Mexico will pay for the arrest and delivery of the said Octaviano Telles to the sheriff of Valencia county, the sum of one hundred dollars.

L. BRADFORD PRINCE, Governor of New Mexico.

Very Complimentary. That prosperous and energetic little daily, the Albuquerque CITIZEN, launched a weekly edition with the new year, and if pluck, perseverance and merit counts for anything, the WEEKLY CITIZEN will take front rank in the newspaper field.—Raton Range.

ANOTHER ROBBERY.

The Woe of a Traveler.—A "colored" policeman to the front. The other day a certain business gentleman had occasion to make a trip down the Santa Fe road, and in the passenger coach, in a seat just in front of him, sat a young man being a companion of being robbed in this city, and the substance of his conversation, over heard by the business gentleman, is almost identical with the following clipping taken from the Silver City Sentinel:

Philip S. Smith, Jr., a young miner from Del Norte, Rio Grande county, Col., arrived in this city last Thursday evening with only $2 in his pocket, although when he left home he had a round hundred. Next day he walked to Pinos Altos and went to work in the mines. Smith told a Sentinel reporter that while waiting for the train at Albuquerque he was deliberately robbed of his pocket book by a buxom maid who with a companion had unsuccessfully endeavored to induce him to play cards. The buxom maid snatched Smith's pocket book containing $100, stepped into an adjoining room in the saloon and locked the door. Smith complained to a colored policeman, but the latter could not find the thief. Smith could not give the reporter the name of the saloon, but said it was a place where on a window of which was a sign, "Beer Five Cents a Glass."

THE CITIZEN has been in possession of these facts for the past few days, but not having a chance to see the young man, was only waiting for developments, fully aware that the account would come out sooner or later. The "colored policeman" spoken of in a certain colored man in the city who can be seen at the depot on the arrival of every train, and he makes it a special business to go through the cars to take observations. He is occasionally accompanied on these night trips by a colored fellow a little darker skinned and smaller in height. The "colored policeman" is a gambler, well known to the fraternity of colored sports, has a curly, moon-like face and copper colored hair and can easily be detected if detection is wanted. THE CITIZEN, on his frequently observed this fellow in conversation with strangers at the depot, and has had occasion to remark that he was doing some "steering." To be positive, there is no "colored policeman" in the city and the fellow is doubtless passing himself off as such a personage, with a view of a divvy from those to whom he pretends a sucker.

Albuquerque is getting a bad reputation all over the south-west from these recent hold-ups and robberies, and the council should order the "joints" closed at which such a "saw" practiced.

From the Daily, Jan. 21. A school children's Artur day would be a good thing for Albuquerque.

O. M. Cook, the Chicago commercial traveler, who secured a thirty days' lay off, spending his vacation in this city, will leave this afternoon for El Paso with his sample trunks.

J. E. Sant left this afternoon for Santa Fe to attend to executive work connected with the New Mexico Cattle Growers' association recently organized at the territorial capital.

Dr. S. Aubright, last evening, while visiting a patient five miles down the river, was accidentally thrown from his buggy and sustained severe injury to his left wrist and his right ankle.

Deputy Sheriff Hubbell returned yesterday from his collecting of taxes at Gallup, and states that the taxpayers of the two precincts were very prompt in paying up, a little over $1,500 being turned over to him. He reports the weather cold and plenty of snow still on the ground.

Some time between midnight and morning twenty-one years ago to-day, Edward Harsch was born. Ed is the son of the soda water manufacturer and poplar tree to Ed's many friends. THE CITIZEN congratulates the young man upon reaching his majority. He will vote a straight republican ticket the coming city election.

H. T. McKinney, the Hell canon miner and partner of the celebrated "Star" mine, is back from a visit in the east, where he took up the mining interests of Bernadine county to such an extent that several wealthy gentlemen anguished their intention to visit Albuquerque and look over some of the mines adjacent to the city. He will also ship several sacks of ore from the "Star" mine to parties in the east for assaying purposes.

Mr. Montfort, the Second street undertaker, has erected over the grave of Andrew McGregor, a former sheep raiser of this county, in Fairview cemetery, the finest Scotch granite monument yet seen surrounded the lot where repose the bones of this true lover of Robert Burns, a neat iron fence. Mr. McGregor was a partner in the sheep raising business with William McIntosh, and was a Scotchman. The granite was shipped here from Aberdeen, Scotland.

The police are informed that thugs, bunco-steerers and vagrants must give this community a wide berth. No city can afford to establish a reputation as a safe harbor for professional criminals, who have long evaded the justice of the law, and when they are spotted they should be escorted to the limits of the town and told to move on. The city council is quite interesting itself in these matters, and Albuquerque will not be a very inviting place for such cattle.

A meeting of the drum corps was held last evening at the skating rink. Sergeant Krempel is chairman of the committee, and with Corporal Chamberlin, was present. Chas. Stever was selected drum major or instructor. The committee selected the following young men to represent the corps: Clarence Rowe, Frank Lee, Harry Strong, Chas. Donnelly, Marcus Burns and Will Moore. The non-commissioned officers of the Guard were also put through the drill by Instructor Warren.

Alex. Edie, a brother of V. P. Edie, and Freeman Hathorn arrived this morning from the Chaco Trading company's store in the Navajo country, with 10,000 pounds of wool. The trip to the city was and the men had a hard time keeping from freezing to death. They say that Frank Scottie, of this city, left the store to come in with them, but one night while out in camp and during a severe snow storm, he wandered off and they could not find him. The wool was unloaded at the warehouse of George Oberne & Co.

A HAZARDOUS ONE.

Mining Notes. A big lead and silver smelting plant is likely to go up at Cerrillos the coming summer.

The concentrating plant at the Cash Entry mine, Cerrillos, is reported to be working in good shape. The North Homestake mine, White Oaks, has been sold to an English company for the sum of $250,000.

James Tong, of Carlsbad, made a shipment of twelve tons of ore from the Alabama mine to the Socorro smelter. The Mining and Scientific Review, of Denver, has bought a new lead and brushed its columns with good effect.

Considerable prospecting and locating is being done on the quiet in several of the mining districts tributary to Socorro. The mineral production of Grant county for 1899 foot up $1,250,225.25. Grant county takes the lead of the United States proportionally to the capital invested.

Louis Stern of Carlsbad, brought a car load of ore into Deming the other day, which will run over $6000 in gold and silver. He was disgusted at not finding a smelter there.

Col. Donovan, the owner of several mines in the Sandias, says that he is very favorable to a rich and permanent body of paying ore will be developed in some of the mines during the progress of work this spring.

Mr. Bennett, who lives north of Fort Bayard reservation, made a very rich strike of silver ore on Whiskey creek, in the southeast corner of the Pinos Altos district. The ore runs from $40 to $100 ounces in silver. Considerable prospecting is being done in the neighborhood of the find.

Pete, in the Golden Nine, writing from San Pedro, says: It has leaked out that the mining claims near Madeira and Tejon, belonging to Alexis Rogers, Joe Blackley, Dr. Lane, Susano Ortiz, and other San Pedroans, are much richer than their way owners would have the outer barbarians believe.

Walter C. Hadley is gathering statistics of the precious metal output of New Mexico for the year 1899. His information is furnished the director of the United States mint. Every miner who can show production of either of the precious metals, should apply by mail or in person to Mr. Hadley at Lake Valley for a blank on which to make a systematic report.

The Old Awe mine in Lincoln county is panning out splendidly owing to the vein dipping out of the shaft. A drift was started on the second level, seventy feet from the surface, running north on the vein. A streak of ore was encountered a few feet from the commencement of the drift, about four to eight inches in width which sampled fully one-half gold by actual test. H. B. Ferguson, of this city, is one of the lucky owners, and he is enthusiastic over reports from the Old Awe.

Terms of Court. The council bill introduced yesterday, at the suggestion of the bar association and with the consent of the judicial officers of the territory, provides for the regular terms of the courts as follows: The annual term of the supreme court, instead of being held in January as now, shall open on the last Monday in July. The terms of the district courts are fixed to open as follows: Dona Ana county, first Mondays in February and September. Socorro county, third Mondays in March and October. Grant county, second Mondays in April and November. Socorro county, first Mondays in May and December. Lincoln county, second Mondays in March and October. Chaves county, third Mondays in February and September. Bernadine county, first Mondays in March and October. Valencia county, third Mondays in February and September. San Miguel county, first Mondays in April and November. Mora county, fourth Monday in March and third Monday in October. Colfax county, second Monday in March and first Monday in October. Santa Fe county, last Monday in May and first Monday in January. San Juan county, second Mondays in April and October. Rio Arriba county, last Mondays in April and October. Taos county, second Mondays in May and November.

The Tin Horns. From the following item taken from the Gallup Elk a person would infer that the citizens of the Carbon town intend to move on the tin horn gamblers and the Elk appeals to the officers to do their duty.

The tin horn element of Gallup should be requested to move on to a warmer climate. They are of no benefit to any community and in the long run are the cause in one way or another, of the loss of valuable lives. We look to see the newly elected officers of both precincts do their duty without fear or favor to all parties in this matter. The better class of citizens are ever ready to stand by the officers who enforce the law. Legitimate gamblers and tin horns are two different elements. In this item we have no reference to the legitimate class, but we reiterate that the tin horn brand and bums should be requested to change pastures.

Notice. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Peace Valley Railway company will be held at the office of the company, in the city of Albuquerque, county of Bernadine, and territory of New Mexico, on the 4th day of March, 1901, at noon. THOMAS H. EDWALL, Secretary.

THE "OLD ABE."

A Rich Strike. Hon. H. B. Ferguson Interested. In THE CITIZEN'S mining column the other day was mentioned relative to a rich strike being made in the "Old Abe" mine at White Oaks, which was cheering news from the fact that one of Albuquerque's most popular citizens, Hon. H. B. Ferguson, was interested in the mine. This morning the scribe accosted Mr. Ferguson to see whether he had received any positive news relative to the strike, and with a smile—a very happy one—he said:

"Yes, the news is very encouraging," at the same time handing over a letter he received this morning, dated January 20. It reads as follows: "Well, I believe we have the 'Old Abe' ore body, fifty five feet north of shaft on a level No. 2, seventy five feet deep. We have more ore than we can use without stopping. The vein at fifty feet is very rich. I can pound up in mortar and pan fifty dollars an hour. Don't fail to come over. We have the richest and best vein in New Mexico. There is no doubt in it."

That is the letter. Is not our territory coming to the front as a mining country? This CITIZEN congratulates Mr. Ferguson upon his good fortune, not only as a successful lawyer, but as a miner. He is a New Mexican, with all the territory's interests at heart, is working to advance and develop the wonderful resources of the territory, and is a proper person to represent her vast and growing interests among the people of the east. Among the mineral law makers at Washington, D. C., which Gov. Prince will undoubtedly send him as one of his commissioners to advocate the passage of the new act, he will be a power of influence, owing to his wide acquaintance with the senators and representatives.

From the Daily, Jan. 21. Leon Herrington and James Grunfeld are going to Socorro to fight on a brief trip. Teodoro Jaramillo and wife, prominent folks of Las Lunas, are at the European today.

A brother of Geo. W. Pritchard, of Las Vegas, was killed at Hot Springs, Arkansas, a few days ago. Mrs. Popé, the dressmaker, on Gold avenue, reports her husband's condition no better. He is gradually sinking.

Mr. C. Adams, a former business man of Greeley, Col., was here yesterday, leaving on the night train for southern California. Fred Higgins and wife and A. L. Hicks and wife are visiting the south-west with a view of settling. They hail from Kansas City.

Mrs. Robert Loudon, wife of the driver of Wells Fargo express wagon, is expected home tonight from her two months' visit to relatives and friends at Martinton, Ill. Some of our young ladies and gentlemen are at the early date preparing comic valentines. The scribe saw one this morning that a highland young lad, will get on the mailing of Feb. 14.

Leon Hartigan, of the Gallup Elk, who has been doing work on the Leadville Dispatch, for several months, is expected to arrive at Gallup in a few days with his family. He will stop over in this city between trains. Anderson Bourgougnon, who is owner of several First street store rooms, is opposed to cheap labor, and believes that contractors doing work on improvements in the city should pay more than $1 per day to laborers. He has some good ideas and they are well taken.

Chas. W. Lewis has returned to the city from Hell canon, Sandia mountains, where he completed the assessment work on the Mahogany group of mines. The assessment work showed up a better body of ore, and it is Mr. Lewis' opinion that he will yet strike it rich in some of his Sandia properties.

T. J. Wright, the Socorro county cattle raiser, who has been enjoying himself in the city with the local stockmen and their friends for several weeks, packed his valise last night and took No. 4 for Kansas City. Wiley Weaver and others saw the gentleman buy his ticket, and they know that he is now en route east.

Clark S. Carr, son of Gen. Carr, the distinguished commander of the famous 23rd Cavalry, and who owns a cattle ranch near Fort Wingate, will go east in a few days and on the 9th of February join the great army of bonobos. The young lady whom Clark will call wife is one Bennett, a reigning belle of St. Louis.

J. D. Eakin, of the firm of Frank & Eakin, who has just returned from a trip through Arizona as far as Prescott, gives the encouraging news that business is brightening up in the sister territory and everybody anticipates a big spring trade. Mr. Frank, who remained at his post during Mr. Eakin's absence, left last night for a business trip to the towns in northern New Mexico and southern Colorado.

John W. Walton, who conducts the baths at Sulphur Springs, fourteen miles above James' hot springs, and who is owner of a ranch in a valley near by, is in the city and stops at the Windsor. Mr. Walton states that he has seen more snow in the mountains surrounding the Springs than this winter, but has never experienced the weather as cold, the thermometer several times being eight and ten degrees below zero.

John A. Lee, the banker and counsellor, intends to become a young man once more. Recently he purchased a fine pair of driving black geldings, and last night the handsomest set of double harness came from Chicago consigned to him. To-day he purchased from W. L. Triamble the most costly buggy in the gentlemen's carriage repository. Look out for J. A. L. this spring and summer.

Father Brun, parish priest of Sao Rafael, was in the city this morning, returning home on a freight train, after a trip to the city of Albuquerque, on the 4th day of March, 1891, at noon. THOMAS H. EDWALL, Secretary.

PRECIOUS GOLD DUST.

Kept in a Table Drawer at the Government Printing Office. Seven thousand dollars' worth of gold dust in a table drawer! Take your fingers into the yellow stuff and notice how soft and agreeable to the touch it is, says the Washington Star, while the attendant in charge watches you carefully and sees that you do not get away with any of it. It is smooth to the touch, because it is all composed of gold-beater's film rubbed to almost impalpable powder. For the same reason, too, it is absolutely pure and virgin metal, twenty-four carats fine.

The drawer is in charge of a pretty young girl at the Government printing office. Her work there is to stamp gold lettering and ornamentation upon book covers. The precious substance comes to her in the shape of little rectangular sheets of gold, approximately three-eighths of an inch square, laid between layers of tissue paper made up in book form, each book holding twenty-four gold sheets. Handling them is a matter requiring great skill, though you might not imagine it from casual inspection. To begin with, say the young woman places on the table before her an ordinary leather book cover. She takes from the little gold book a sheet of the foil, not with her fingers, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of raw cotton. Laying down the sheet of pure yellow gold upon a little slab, she shuts it into three pieces with a sharp knife. She makes it smooth by blowing gently upon it with her breath. One of the pieces she applies to the back of the cover where the title is to go, another to the spine and the third, where the name of the author is to be, while the third biggest piece is spread over the middle of one flap of the cover, where an ornamental design is wanted.

Next, after smoothing the piece of gold film down firmly on the leather, the pretty girl slides the cover beneath a small press that stands on a table. In the press, face down, is a die engraved in relief with the name of the book that is to be increased in the cover, but by catching it up with a small pad of