

OUR POPULATION

Interesting Extracts on the Subject From Report of Governor Otero.

STEADILY INCREASING

A Washington dispatch gives the following extract from Governor Otero's report regarding the population of New Mexico...

Steady Increase in Population. The census of 1850 credited New Mexico, which then included the territory of Arizona and sixty miles of the southern portion of the state of Colorado...

Character of People. In character, the population of New Mexico is at present divided almost evenly between native-born residents and residents who have come from the other states and territories or are children of such.

Our Indians. The increase in population during the past decade was especially noteworthy, having been over 100,000, and that this rate of increase is being kept up...

Population by Counties. The population by counties is as follows: Bernalillo, 25,500; Chaves, 10,000; Colfax, 19,000; Dona Ana, 15,000; Doña Ana, 15,000; Grant, 12,500; Lincoln, 10,000; Luna, 4,000; McKinley, 5,500; Mora, 13,000; Otero, 8,000; Quay, 4,000; Rio Arriba, 16,500; Roosevelt, 4,500; Sandoval, 12,500; San Juan, 5,500; San Miguel, 25,500; Santa Fe, 15,000; Sierra, 5,000; Socorro, 16,000; Taos, 13,000; Union, 5,500; Valencia, 13,000.

Population of Cities. The population of the principal cities and towns, and their suburbs is as follows: Albuquerque, 15,000; Las Vegas, 10,000; Santa Fe, 8,700; Raton, 8,000; Roswell, 4,200; Alamogordo, 3,500; Gallup, 3,200; Las Cruces, 3,000; Silver City, 2,900; Deming, 2,000; Carlsbad, 2,000; Ranchos de Taos, 1,800; Socorro, 1,500.

Spanish Predominates. In the following counties the number of inhabitants of Spanish and Mexican descent predominate: Dona Ana, Leonard Wood, Mora, Rio Arriba, Sandoval, Socorro, San Miguel, Chaves, Eddy, Grant, Luna, McKinley, Otero, Sierra, San Juan, Roosevelt and Quay. Immigrants from the states and their children predominate, or both nationalities are about balanced.

Gains in Population. The following gains in population were made by New Mexico counties during the decade 1890 to 1900, according to the census, it being remembered that several counties like Chaves, Eddy, Otero, Guadalupe and Union, which show the largest gains in population, were not in existence in 1890, and therefore no reliable statistics to show their satisfactory growth are at hand...

2,226; San Juan, 2,938; Rio Arriba, 2,042; Colfax, 2,176; Santa Fe, 1,096; Taos, 1,921; Dona Ana, 996 and Valencia, 1921. The counties that lost in population, mainly through giving area and inhabitants toward the creation of new counties are: San Miguel, 2,181; Lincoln, 2,028; Sierra, 427 and Mora 314. Taking the percentages, San Juan county led in gain of population, it having gained 100 per cent from 1850 to 1900; then comes Socorro, 38 per cent; Bernalillo, 37 per cent; Grant, 33 per cent; Colfax, 21 per cent; Rio Arriba, 20 per cent; Taos, 10 per cent; Dona Ana, 10 per cent; Santa Fe, 8 per cent; Valencia, one-eighth of 1 per cent, while Lincoln county lost 29 per cent; Sierra, 13 per cent; San Miguel, 9 per cent and Mora 2 per cent.

Growth Will Continue. If the present rate of growth continues, and there is no reason why it should not, and there is a probability of a much greater increase, since the national government has embarked on the enterprise of reclaiming the arid west by means of irrigation and reservoirs, the population of N. M. in 1910, will be a conservative estimate, be 450,000, and composed of intelligent, enterprising, thoroughly American people, second to none in patriotism, culture and progress. The granting of statehood to the territory will undoubtedly result in an immediate influx of thousands of desirable settlers from the states, for statehood will mean to New Mexico the coming of more industries, more capital, progress, prestige, prosperity and growth in population and wealth.

After Foot Ball Games. Should it not be possible to get up a foot ball game between the eleven of the United States Industrial Indian school and a town eleven, Superintendent Crandall proposes to get up a meet between the United States Industrial Indian eleven and the eleven from the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque or to have another about with the Agricultural college eleven. He is anxious to have a team come to this city to play the Indian school eleven on their own campus in this city on Christmas day. He hopes to succeed, although he finds it rather hard work. He feels confident that the Indian boys can put up a good game on the gridiron against any other combination, no matter where from.—New Mexican.

SHOWS GREAT VERSATILITY.

Rev. T. I. Mills will be remembered as a former pastor of the Lead Avenue Methodist church of this city. He was also president of the Albuquerque Methodist college. From here he went to Santa Fe, and had charge of the Methodist church at that place. A telegram from Denver tells of his having been ordained as an Episcopal clergyman in that city last Sunday and of his having been appointed in charge of St. Philip's mission in Denver. The telegram also says: Last Monday, November 23, he was called upon to officiate at a funeral and a fight both at the same time and proved equal to both. The line of carriages was drawn up in front of the church and the mourners were waiting in the house adjoining, where the death had occurred. Mr. Mills was gowned in his vestments and prepared to accompany the pall bearers with the prier, when a man rushed in from the street shouting: "Oh, Mr. Mills, a man is out there killing a woman!" Mr. Mills rushed out and found a man beating a little woman whom he had thrown to the ground. Mr. Mills grabbed the man, whom nobody dared approach, and dangled him off his victim, forcing him into the vestry, where he held him collared and locked in until the police patrol arrived to carry him to jail.

Then Mr. Mills mopped his brow, took his prayer book in hand and stood to receive the funeral procession as it marched slowly into the church. Destroy Company of Soldiers. From time immemorial there has been war between the Yaqui Indians and the Mexican government, and the latter does not seem able to subdue the former. The latest from that disturbed district of vengeful warfare, tells of a fight there a few days ago, in which a whole company of Mexican rurales were wiped out of existence. Under the command of Colonel Francisco Picardo, the rurales, a company of the Fifth regiment were camped near Rapallo. The Yaquis fell on them in the early morning; and so fierce and overpowering was the attack that six of the company were killed outright, the remainder being scattered in the brush, where they were taken off at the leisure of the Indians. It is said that an American is safe in that country, it is known that he is an American, though J. J. Sullivan of Las Vegas, N. M., was brutally killed there some six months ago. The country is very broken, and the Indians carry on a guerrilla warfare. One shocking story is told of revenge on each side, though the Mexicans themselves have denied its authenticity. But the story is: "About a year ago a party of Yaquis were moving to their new homes, and the guide led them into a blind canyon, which was surrounded by Mexican rurales. After exhausting all the ammunition they had, the Mexicans clubbed the women and children to death, and of the whole 800, not one was left. "The Yaquis captured the guide and took him to one of their camps, where they sawed off his feet. Then they made him run on the stumps of his legs until he fell exhausted. He was then hanged and shot."

SCHOOL OF MINES. John M. Howes of Butte Montana, enrolled this week in the regular M. E. course. Prof. Bragg and party spent Thanksgiving vacation out southwest of the Magdalena hunting. Prof. Drake was selected on the federal grand jury this week and in consequence was able to meet only a part of his classes. R. Harland Case, a former student of the school who has recently accepted a lucrative position with a California mining company, is in the city for a few days. At the New Mexico Education association which meets at Albuquerque during the holidays Dr. Edward Magnusson will read an important paper on "The Crucial Test in Mathematics."

Prof. O. R. Smith and party of students returned Tuesday afternoon from an extensive camping trip in the Ladrona mountains. Full camping outfit was taken and a four-horse wagon. A small streak of 76 ounce silver ore has been encountered in the American Exchange Mining company's properties on the South Mineral creek. Alf Noel, of Silver City, New Mexico, recently left for St. Louis. He will visit Mexico on mining business before returning to Silver City. A. A. Lane, who is interested in the La Buda Mining company, operating at Minas Prietas, Sonora, Mexico, has returned to the mines after a prolonged visit in England. Only ten shares of the Santa E Copper and Gold Mining company's stock were sold at the Boston Mining Exchange last week, the price having dropped to $1.25 a share. The American Consolidated Mining company, whose headquarters are at Amaret near Twining, Taos county, but which is working prospects in Lone's canyon on Gold Hill, last week increased its force of men. A rich placer gold find is reported west of the Rio Grande, near the Elephant Butte dam site, and it is stated that the United States Geological survey engineers there are locating many claims. The Glenwood Mining company has now completed a Huntington mill for Rinconado. Its capacity is fifty tons per day with a cyanide plant. The company operations are six miles above Baranca on the Rio Grande railroad. The De Menlos turquoise mines have been leased to the Electric Mining and Milling company. Machinery has been installed and boring for water is in progress. If this proves successful, operations on the property will be resumed. The turquoise mines have been leased by the Electric Mining & Milling company, and operations are to commence on the properties at once. Machinery has been put in and boring for water has commenced in the vicinity, G. J. Moffett is manager. The Fraser Mountain Copper company made a successful run at its smelter at Twining last week. The company is overcoming financial difficulties which recently retarded work, and it is believed that the smelter and mines will again employ a full force of men in the near future. The discovery of stream tin associated with free gold in the gravels of Alaska, and of cassiterite or tin oxide, in a granite gangue within the same, has been confirmed by members of the United States Geological survey. The discovery was made on a tributary of the Lost river near York, which is about ninety miles from Nome. Mining Engineer—J. E. Harwell, former engineer at the concentrator of the Pinos Altos Gold Mining company and now connected with the Green Consolidated Copper company at Cananea, Mexico, arrived in Silver City last week, called hither by the serious illness of Mrs. Harwell who is at the Ladies' hospital. Mr. Harwell will probably remain here a month. The Nogales is a new property lately purchased by George N. Van Horn of El Paso. This property is located about forty kilometers west of Guadalupe, Mexico, and the purchase price is said to have been $27,000 gold. Mr. Van Horn has left for Guadalupe and will place machinery and start working this property at once. R. H. Hopper, the promoter of the Sierra Consolidated Mining company, has returned to Hillsboro after a long absence in the east. Mr. Hopper says everything looks good, that he is more than pleased with the future outlook for the camp and predicts a radical change for the better in mining matters within the next few months. Mr. Hopper's many friends are glad to see him back again. Improvements at Jarilla—At the Jarilla mining camp the Three Bears Mining company is shipping ore to the El Paso smelter in large quantities, says the Alamogordo News. The ore carries good values in copper, gold and iron. F. P. Schermerhorn, the manager, has recently returned from a trip to Philadelphia. A steam plant for air compressor and drills is to be installed soon. Monitor Claim a Rich One—The strike recently made at the Monitor claim in the Gileta district, is one of the richest I have made in thirty years," said Jerome Kunkel. "The ore strikes is rich in copper, with some silver and a little gold. I am now on my way to Cerillos to have a quantity of the ore assayed. I have four claims in the Gileta district, which I partly in Santa Fe and partly in San Miguel county, my claim being just across the Santa Fe county line."

Mining Company Elects Directors. A meeting of the stockholders of the Blake Mining, Milling & Investment company was held at the office of B. C. Pittenger, Las Vegas, where the following directors were elected for the year: H. E. Blake, B. C. Pittenger, A. R. Quinly, S. B. Davis, Jr.,

MINES AND MINING

Chas. P. Hammood. Plans were outlined for making a thirty-day demonstration of the product of the company's property in the San Pablo district with the view of erecting a mill later at that location. The Alamo Mining company—the Alamo Mining company is sinking a shaft on its copper claim in the San Andres mountains. The shaft is down more than twenty feet and about fourteen inches of copper ore has been cut at the bottom. The ore is a copper glance and is high grade. John Hazzard, the contractor, is to sink the shaft fifty feet. He informs the Alamogordo Journal that two-inch copper stringers were followed from the gran rods onto the ore vein which is now 14 inches wide and runs $40 in copper and $6 gold to the ton. The company intends to begin shipping right away. Big Strike in Cincinnati—F. J. Murray came in from the Tres Hermanos Monday, where he has been working for J. A. McCoy, manager of the Golden Cross and Eagle Mining company. He informs us that a fine body of rich ore has been struck at the 800 foot level in the old Cincinnati, owned by this company. Samples of this ore were brought in and are in the hands of the assayer, Mr. Murray and Mr. McCoy are much pleased with this find as they are sure of finding it at the 500 foot level, and this will give the permanent body of ore from which they can take out ore from both levels. Mr. Murray says it is the main lode from which such rich returns were realized from the surface workings and that it cannot get away now that they have it at depth.—Deming Graphic.

NEW MEXICO. A Detroit Has Returned After a Short Stay in This Territory. OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES TO YOUNG MAN. Edmond L. Sanderson, who was formerly connected with the Detroit Free Press, but who gave up newspaper work about two years ago to go to Watrous, N. M., to take charge of the cattle ranch and health school belonging to Ashley Pond, Jr., has returned to Detroit, says the Detroit Free Press. He is enthusiastic over the prospects of the western country and declares that when easterners once realize what a wonderful life it will give them in great numbers. "You get the western fever almost immediately," said Mr. Sanderson last evening, "and you simply can't resist the climate and the beauties of the country. The air is bracing and fairly takes hold of a person, so that, for the greater part of the time you feel as though you were walking on clouds." Mr. Sanderson had ample opportunity of seeing New Mexico under all conditions. He rode horseback a great deal and often made long trips through the mountains. "New Mexico offers innumerable opportunities to the young man," said he, "and especially is this so in cities like Albuquerque. But, to my mind, the greatest opportunities of the territory lie in her mines. These, as yet, are far from being well developed, but there are gold, copper and coal in quantities that are sufficiently promising of good fortunes. Then there are only about 200,000 people in the entire territory, and of these, perhaps half are Mexicans." Mr. Sanderson then makes some untruthful assertions relative to the Penitentes, and leaves the impression that these fanatics flourish to an alarming extent throughout New Mexico, when in fact they are few in numbers and in almost every county of the territory, with the possible exception of one, they are not permitted to carry on their fanatical religious doings, such as lashing and torturing themselves. A gentleman who resided many years in New Mexico, but now at Detroit, Mich., writes to The Citizen as follows relative to the Sanderson interview: "The Free Press has come out in editorials favoring New Mexico's admission to statehood, and the appointment of her own citizens to the judiciary—it is the leading paper of Michigan. Therefore the ridiculous assertion in regard to the Penitentes, according to the Sanderson interview is likely to create a prejudice against New Mexico's admission. "I will say that in a considerable amount of traveling during eight years' residence in New Mexico I have but twice met with gatherings of these poor people—Penitentes, and then they were but a handful—a dozen or so, and had not in years paraded their castigations. "I have mailed a copy of the Free Press containing Sanderson's interview to Delagate Rodey, as I believe a correction from New Mexico people would have more weight than mine. "If you give the Penitentes' story a rap, I will hand it in to the Free Press, and I know the editor of that paper will correct the absurd utterances."
