roundhouse. The elevation of these tanks give a pressure of 55 pounds, and the water capacity is 200,000 gallons every twenty-four hours. Every part of the shops, round house, store house and other buildings are equipped with hydrants and hose reels, of which there are a large number, each containing 100 feet of fire hose, and conveniently located for use in case of emergency. There is a well-trained fire department under the direction of L. A. Griley, who has trained the shopmen in the use of the fire-fighting apparatus.
J. J. Brick, general storekeeper for the Rocky Mountain Route, is in charge of the storehouse, which is a building 30x60 feet, and contains supplies for the operation and maintenance of the road. The oil house, attached to the store house, is 16x30 feet. Here are kept the stores of oils and paints used by the road.
The people of Master Mechanic's department are proud of the fact that all of the road equipment of the Rocky Mountain Route is in excellent condition, and can be put into service at a moment's notice. The five ninety-ton Baldwin locomotives for use in freight service are proving very satisfactory locomotives. Only a few days since, one of these engines made good time between Koehler and Vermejo, pulling a train of eleven hundred tons. The passenger engines are of lighter and speedier build, and are giving good service on the passenger runs.

SOME GOOD BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES NOW
The demand for store buildings and residences is so great just now that the Cimarron Townsite company is offering special inducements to purchasers of lots who will immediately improve the property. Residences for renting will bring exceptional returns on the investment, and several business houses would find occupants at once, if built in a good location.
