CITIES.

URGES PRAYER FOR RAIN

PRIEST ORDERS ALL CATHOLICS
TO PRAY FOR RELIEF FROM HEAT.

Washington.—From cities east of the Rockies, broiling in a temperature of 100 or higher, ninety-five deaths are reported, which, added to sixty-nine brings the death toll to forty-eight hours to 164. Hundreds of prostrations are reported. Many of the victims were babies.

Chicago added twelve deaths and one suicide to the list attributed to the paralyzing heat, making the death list in that city forty-eight, twenty-eight of which were babies, within thirty-six hours.

Three are dead in Boston, two in Washington, eight at Newark, N. J., twelve in Pittsburgh, fourteen in New York, two at St. Joseph, two in Louisville, twenty-two in eastern Pennsylvania, five in Toledo, four in Baltimore, two in Omaha, five in Cincinnati and one in Oklahoma City.

Of Pittsburgh's dead, six were from exhaustion by heat and six by drowning. One woman was found wandering in the streets, demented and crying.

Bishop James Davis of the Catholic diocese of Iowa sent out an order to all priests of his diocese that prayers for rain be recited daily.

Protestant pastors in several Eastern cities have urged their congregations to pray for relief from the terrible suffering.

With reports of 104 degrees temperature in four widely separated cities, together with a score of other cities broiling in a temperature of 100 or higher, no hope for relief could be discovered.

Local thunderstorms may alleviate suffering in some sections, but they will be showers by blessed chance, for no indications of rain are anywhere to be seen. The heat is taking a heavy toll of death and the suffering is increased by a drought that practically has been unbroken in the south Atlantic and East Gulf states, where the temperatures are moderate.

At the weather bureau here the mercury reached the 99 mark, while two hours later the bureau thermometer on the street level showed a temperature of 107. There were two fatalities.

Nineteen persons who were overcome received treatment in hospitals. Many others were given private attention.

Louisville, Ky.; St. Joseph, Mo.; Dayton, Iowa, and Yuma, Ariz. were the four cities in which the 104 mark was reached. Boston attained a record of 102, the highest ever reached there, a like temperature being also recorded in Albany, N. Y.; Kansas City, Columbus, Ohio, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Concordia, Kan.; Dubuque, Iowa; Des Moines and Fresno, Cal.

For the first time in its history Hartford, Conn., scored 100, that record also being equaled at Fort Wayne, Ind.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Springfield, Ill.; Harrisburg, Pa.; Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Toledo, Ohio; Oklahoma City, Omaha and Fort Smith, Ark.

Envelopes and postal cards were untouched and there is no way, at present, of ascertaining the value of registered mail taken, but it is considerable. Greeley Wins Big Victory.

St. Louis.—In the United States Circuit Court of Appeals the city of Greeley won an important victory, when an opinion was handed down affirming the decision of the lower court in its suit against the Union Pacific Railroad Company.

The opinion was written by Judge W. H. Munger and was concurred in by Judges Henry T. Reed and W. H. Sanborn with slight exceptions.

The suit was to clear the title to the road's alleged right of way from Denver to Cheyenne and to procure injunctions prohibiting interference with the right of way, which, by an act of Congress, the railroad claimed to be 400 feet.

Judge Munger concluded that the property in question was for public and not for private use, and that the part of it that Greeley wishes to use is not required for an alleged right of way and is not necessary for the road to discharge its duties to the public.

He considers the road is fully barred from claiming it is entitled to possession of the entire 400 feet of the right of way and that the decree of the lower court was right.

Judge Reed said the city has a right to lay streets across the right of way. The decision means the saving of $500,000 to Greeley, as there are many public improvements and business houses on the extra 300 feet claimed.

Worrying Happiness.

The bishop of Manchester, speaking at a meeting at Church House, Westminster, said the secret of happiness was to have a sufficient multitude of worries.

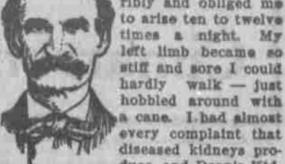

The man who had only one worry, a blind that would not be pulled up straight by the servant, or a coal scuttle the bottom of which was always coming out, found his way to the lunatic asylum. But the man who had no time to dwell upon his worries because he had to go from one to another, and back again and round and round like a squirrel in a cage, could be a perfectly happy man.
