OUTLOOK IS EXCELLENT, SAYS PRESIDENT ELY

That the outlook for the state fair is an excellent one is the statement of Ralph C. Ely, of Deming, president of the fair commission, who arrived here this morning after a final round-trip through the state.

"We will have more exhibits than ever before, I believe," he said, "and the attendance also looks good. There are more horses, sheep, poultry, more agricultural and horticultural exhibits entered than the fair has ever had, and I am glad to see it. There is a lot of people in New Mexico who have not been to the fair and it is going to be hard for them to come to the fair. For this reason we will not have the attendance from distant points which I hope for. But for all that we have a much larger attendance than we had ever had, if I am any judge.

RELEASE OF ROBBER SUSPECT ORDERED

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.)
San Francisco, Oct. 4.—Fred Brokaw, alias Fred Boley, held here for extradition by the state of Pennsylvania on charges that he robbed a Pittsburgh merchant in a hotel there, was released today by order of a police judge on his own recognizance.

His counsel gave out that they would bring suit against the Pittsburgh citizen who identified Brokaw's photograph in the Pittsburgh register, a salaried man who was held by the Pittsburgh police on grounds of false arrest.

The police department here notified the judge that they were requested by the Pittsburgh police to question the man who was still in the hands of the district attorney here. The court held that there was nothing to show either seal or expedition was being used to press the case and that Brokaw's alibi was so strong that he ought not to be held unless further evidence against him was forthcoming.

BIG OPERATORS DENY SIGNING CONTRACTS

C. F. & I. and Victor Fuel Companies Declare They Have No Intention of Recognizing Unions.

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.)
Trinidad, Colo., Oct. 4.—County authorities are today prosecuting an investigation into the explosion that last night blew up the powder house and partially wrecked the store of the Primrose Coal company at the Primrose mine thirty-five miles north of here. The destruction of property is believed to have been the work of striking miners but no clue as to the identity of those who set off the powder and dynamite had been found. A number of arrests may follow.

The loss and damage to the property is estimated today at $1700. Operators throughout southern Colorado are concerned by the explosion last night, fearing attempts to destroy property will be made elsewhere. The officials of the United Mine Workers disclaim knowledge of the affair.

Officials of the Victor-American Fuel company and the Colorado Fuel and Iron company today made emphatic statements that they had no intention of signing contracts with the United Mine Workers or recognizing the union. The statements say that more men are coming back to work.

LEADERS OF SCOUTS DENY FEED ROUSEBET AFTER WEEK AS BOAT SAILS TOMB

Denunciation of Republican State Chairman Barnes Last Act of Colonel Before Sailing for South America.

FAITHFUL ON HAND TO BID FAREWELL TO CHIEF

Expedition to Penetrate Country Hitherto Untrod by Foot of White Man; Visit to Far Patagonia.

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.)
New York, Oct. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt and party, bound for South America, where the colonel will first lecture and then explore portions of the continent hitherto untrod by a white man, sailed on the steamship Van Dyck shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt held a reception in his suite before the boat got away, and replied to William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the Republican state committee, who issued a statement last night saying that the Democrats and Progressives were in league to nominate Supreme Court Justice Swayne for this city for the court of appeals.

"That is one of Barnes' national lies," said Colonel Roosevelt. "There has been no agreement whatever with reference to Justice Swayne." Commenting on the fact that he had omitted from his set speech delivered at a banquet in his honor last night, reference to the Panama canal zone and complimentary allusions to Brazil, Chile and Argentina Republics, the colonel explained he had done so merely because he thought other things more important. The trip to South America will occupy seventeen days. The colonel will be joined there by his son, Kermit.

The sailing of the Lamport and Holt steamship Van Dyck on which Colonel Roosevelt had booked passage for South America, was timed for 1 o'clock, but he and his party were still early with final preparations for embarking, and many of the Progressive party leaders who crowded a great farewell dinner stop at the club last night.

Colonel Roosevelt was accompanied to the boat by a group of about 100 men, who were on hand to give him a good send-off at the foot of Montague street, Brooklyn.

Like his first African trip, the South American journey is undertaken with the colonel proposing to make it one of many aspects aside from the pleasure of it. His chief interest probably lies in the proposed penetration of the interior of Brazil, Chile and Argentina, under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, but earlier part of the six months which he will spend in South America will be devoted to addresses on American democracy, which he has been invited to deliver before universities and other bodies. A trip into Patagonia to visit an out of the way mission, and two crossings of the continent to Santiago de Chile and back to Buenos Aires, will be the other features of his journey. Those who prepared to embark with him today were Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Margaret Roosevelt, with a party of five, the fourth trip of the Van Dyck; Anthony Falls, the polar explorer, who has charge of the expedition equipment; G. K. Choisy and Leo L. Miller, naturalists of the American Museum of Natural History; Santiago de Chile, secretary, and the Rev. Father John Augustine Zahn, provincial of the Order of Holy Cross, a former field companion of the colonel.

Coleman was being robbed of $200 in the Juarez cockpit. Three alleged bunco men escaped to El Paso in an automobile when the campaign started.

TOSHEKY LITTLE WORSE FOR TERRYIFYING EXPERIENCE IN ABANDONED CHAMBER OF LEHIGH COLLIERY.

RESCUERS ACCOMPLISH GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

Ceaseless Work of Devoted Band Saves Comrade from Horrible Death by Starvation and Thirst.

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.)
Centerville, Pa., Oct. 4.—Thomas Tosheky, a prisoner since Friday of last week in an abandoned chamber of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, walked into the open air free and comparatively well man at 2 1/2 minutes before 8 o'clock this morning. He was taken to his home in Centerville, three miles away from his underground prison, and at once put to bed apparently none the worse for his remarkable experience.

At 7:15 o'clock when the last barrier of coal was driven away and Tosheky came crawling through the opening from his prison chamber into the tunnel which had been steadily driven toward him by eager, willing rescuers. Seven minutes later the first intimation was given to the outside world that the big rock was completely and the prisoner was free. This was when a minor crack in the mouth of the tunnel and called in the top of the pit for blankets and hot water to be sent down.

The work of getting the man ready for his exit occupied the next few minutes and at 7:35 o'clock a file of men emerging from the tunnel heralded the approach of the hero of the occasion.

Tosheky came from the hole with a gray blanket wrapped around his shoulders. Back of him was a miner with hands unpruned ready to assist if he should be needed. Ed Tosheky walked with astonishing agility considering his experience.

Tosheky wanted to walk home. He was persuaded to ride in an automobile, but he refused, which he was taken to an automobile and driven home.

Inhabitants of the town turned out to see Tosheky as he was whisked along the street. His wife and five children waited for him at the door of his home. He got out of the car and walked on the steps to his family, embracing them all in turn and kissing the baby repeatedly.

Describing his experience, Tosheky said that when he was closed in the chamber he would be crushed to death, as several thousand tons of coal piled towards him from the bottom of the breast. In fact, two breasts of coal gave way, he said.

"I had a quart of oil in a can by my side, and using up the situation I found I was entombed in a space seven by fifteen feet. I had been entombed there all night and the sooner got me out. I felt that I would again take care of me. From Friday until Tuesday I was without anything to eat or drink and on the last day my oil gave out. I was in darkness. It was a dismal period from then until the rescuers drove the bolt hole through. After I got several drinks of oxygen I felt like a new man."

The dispatch said the town was taken after four hours' heavy firing yesterday, following a siege which started Thursday morning. The message states the rebels are retreating southward. Wireless Advices from Alaskan Liner Spokane Bring News That Passengers and Crew Are All Safe.

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.)
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 4.—The Pacific Coast Steamship company has received the following wireless message from the pursuit of the Spokane, which went aground on the east shore of Vancouver island last night:

"La Touche transferred passengers back to Spokane, which is proceeding to Seattle under her own steam."

When the ship struck, her wireless operator sent out the distress signal which was picked up by ships and stations along the coast. The British steamer La Touche was the first ship to reach the Spokane. She took on board 10 passengers from the Spokane, the transfer being made in several trips. Forty or more passengers of the Spokane refused to leave their comfortable quarters for others on the freight boat. The salvage company's men have gone from Victoria to assist the Spokane.

BEST TABLE SINCE CIVIL WAR SAYS

Secretary of State Declares Those Who Had Part in Its Framing Are Entitled to Nation's Gratitude.

FREE FROM DEFECTS OF LAMENTED WILSON BILL

Commoner Predicts Second Triumph for United Democracy When Currency Bill Becomes Law.

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.)
Washington, Oct. 4.—President Wilson went to the golf links early today, according to his Saturday custom and when he returned to the White House shortly before noon, found many telegrams congratulating him on the signing of the new tariff bill. With the congratulations, came in many thanks for the sentiment, "now for currency legislation."

In this spirit the president took up the task of accomplishing the second big measure of his administration. As the White House and executive quarters were generally there is a confidence that the currency bill already passed by the house, would be passed by the senate and signed by the president before many weeks. The opinion prevails that if the work is not completed before the expiration of the session, congress begins it surely will be by January.

Secretary Bryan today endorsed the new tariff law as the best tariff measure since the civil war and predicted the early passage of the currency bill. Mr. Bryan also indicated his confidence that the tariff law that went into force last night is the best tariff measure since the war and all who have taken part in preparing and passing it are entitled to great credit. It is a better bill than we were able to pass twenty years ago and I rejoice that political conditions are such as to make the present law possible.

The Wilson bill was compelled to carry a burden that will not fall on the present law and ought not to have fallen on that law. The Wilson bill would have been a great asset. It was held unconstitutional by the old vote, the one majority having been secured by a change of opinion on the part of one judge between the two hearings of the bill.

The nullification of the income tax portion of the Wilson law reduced the government's income until it would not meet the expenses of the government and this constituted an increase of indebtedness that three or four times an undesired odium which, along with the fact that the senate depressed the bill, made it the best feature of the Wilson bill. It is a better bill than we were able to pass twenty years ago and I rejoice that political conditions are such as to make the present law possible.

"I mentioned the law of nineteen years ago because it is the only thing since the war with which we can compare the present law. Both economic as well as political conditions make it possible to do now what could not be done then. We have, too, at this time a united party, which is a great asset. The president and the Democrats of the house and senate have been in full sympathy and have worked intelligently in the accomplishment of this important work. They share the honors together and the honors are sufficient to give distinction to all who have participated.

"Conquering marks an important epoch in the economic history of the nation and I am confident that it will not be long before the country will be able to celebrate a second triumph. For the present congress, the party and the country when the new currency bill passes and receives the president's signature."

FOREIGN NATIONS MUST MAKE NEW TRADE TREATY

Washington, Oct. 4.—Under advice from the state department the treasury department is about to instruct collectors of customs in various duties to collect import duties on goods from Canada and Mexico and other countries not having special trade arrangements with the contrary of the tariff rates laid down in the Underwood tariff act. Unless they were imported into the United States in ship American registry in which case they would be entitled to a differential of 5 per cent. The maximum duties will not apply to goods from Prussia, because of the continuance in force of the old treaty with that country, but goods from all other parts of Germany would have to pay the additional five cents. Likewise the Canadian shipping on the lake will be charged full rates for their cargoes imported into the United States, while smaller goods brought across the lake in American ships will enjoy the five cent tariff.

The officials are now seeking an answer to the question as to whether the new rates will apply to the enormous store of goods now held in bond.
