Cattle Board Refuses to Take Any Risk With Epizootic; Permission Refused Even to Detrain for Watering.

Refused permission to stop here for any purpose at all, the Sells-Floto circus, aboard a long string of cars, started hurriedly for Arizona today...

The circus train arrived here this morning. It was hoped that the state cattle sanitary board, which met to consider the proposed modification of the stock quarantine...

The cattle board was besought and entreated by circus men, and their pleas were seconded by Col. D. K. E. Sellers, who speaks for the business men of this city...

The circus was told to keep moving, and the long train was whipped up for a hurried run in the hope of reaching the Arizona country before the 24-hour period was up...

Colonel Sellers, who, working in the interest of the local business men who would have drawn a lot of trade from the circus, has been trying to find some way of getting the circus to encamp here as in past years...

He said the circus management was prepared to submit to any regulations while in town. They wanted to stop here four days simply for organization and rehearsal, and would have agreed not only to give no street parade, but would have refrained from giving any performance...

CATTLE BOARD IN IMPORTANT SESSION

Old Officers Unanimously Re-elected at Annual Meeting Today. Quarantine Matters Chief Business.

The state cattle sanitary board in its session here this afternoon in its annual meeting. The session will continue over tomorrow. Captain Charles L. Ballard of Roswell has been re-elected president and W. J. Linwood of Itasca, secretary, the old officers being re-elected by unanimous action of the board.

Up in four o'clock this afternoon, in addition to considering the request of the Sells-Floto circus to unblock here, the board had transacted only routine business. The most important matter before the board is the ratification of the four-state agreement as to the quarantine, reached in San Francisco, by Captain Ballard and Mr. Linwood last month, and which, to become effective must be ratified by the cattle boards of the states interested.

Present at the meeting today were President Charles L. Ballard of Roswell, Secretary Thomas J. Linwood, Harry A. Martin of Silver City, Cole Ralston of Magdalena, John M. Hicks of Santa Rosa and J. D. Isaacks of Las Cruces. Mr. Isaacks is the only new member of the board, having been appointed by Governor McDonald during the recent legislature when the remaining members were reappointed. Captain W. H. Jack of Polson, one of the veteran members of the board, was unable to arrive in time for the meeting.

General Situation Improved. "The general situation in the country as regards foot and mouth disease shows decided improvement," said Captain Ballard this morning, "and there is reason to hope that the plague now in under control. It has been a strenuous fight and the losses in some of the states, notably in Illinois, have been enormous. A total of 140,000 head of cattle have been killed in the country since the disease first appeared. Kansas is as near as the disease has come to the Rocky mountain states and it is now hoped that by the greatest care it can be kept out of our section and the range states generally."

"With the modifications of the quarantine order which we think possible as a result of the interstate agreement reached at San Francisco last month, we hope to make conditions much easier for the stockmen of this state. The greatest hardship is the inability of men who have bought bulls in the infected districts to bring them in. However, there are plenty of good bulls in New Mexico and we feel that this will not work a serious hardship."

"While the winter has been a hard one for cattle and the losses have been heavier than most people understand, they have not been as great as they might easily have been. The hard winter is being made up for the cattlemen by an early and what seems to be an exceptionally fine fall crop, and by a range which is about all that could be desired in the way of early and plentiful grass. The outlook for the cattle industry in New Mexico is distinctly good."

RAIN AND MIST CLOUD THE FRONT IN FRANCE

Paris, April 6. (Via London, 2:05 p. m.)—The statement from the war office says: "Rain and mist continue over the whole front. Southwest of Vouquillon we gained a footing in one of the enemy's works. In the wood of Ailly southeast of St. Mihiel, our gain of three successive lines of trenches, already announced, was marked also by the capture of prisoners, a machine gun and a bomb thrower."

LONDON GETS GUARDED

London, April 6. (2:20 p. m.)—There was given out in London today a British semi-weekly report on the progress of hostilities under date of April 5. It reads as follows: "The situation still remains quiet on our front. A change in the weather limited possibilities of activity on the part of our airmen. "Early in the morning of April 3 we successfully exploded a mine under the German trenches in the neighborhood of La Bassée. A length of 100 yards of trench and part of a brick stack were destroyed and as a result all German activity in the immediate neighborhood was terminated. The German artillery, however, has subjected our front in that quarter to a heavy bombardment."

"Northeast and east of Verdun their attacks did not all develop on account of our fire. Southeast of Verdun they were repulsed. On the eastern edge of the Meuse heights, the enemy succeeded in obtaining temporarily a foothold in a small part of our outer trenches, but was driven out again during the night. GERMANY PROTESTS DETENTION OF LINER ODEWALD

Washington, April 5.—Germany has protested to the United States against the detention of the Hamburg-American liner Odewald at San Juan, Porto Rico, under the neutrality regulations.

The German embassy today asked the state department to investigate the action of American port authorities in preventing the Odewald from leaving. The embassy issued this statement: "The German embassy has requested the state department to investigate the case of the Odewald. The captain of this steamer has asked for clearance papers for Hamburg and the steamer was searched by order from Washington, twice thoroughly by custom house authorities. The result of the search having been satisfactory the captain was promised clearance papers."

"After having been kept waiting for three days, the captain believed that the situation forced him to put to sea, disregarding the laws of the harbor, because otherwise the sailing cruises of the enemy which would have been informed of his intention would have involved the inevitable loss of his ship."

"When the Odewald tried to leave, heavy arms immediately directed against her from Morro Castle without the blind warning shot having been fired, which is usual, according to international rules. The fire was continued until three minutes after being ordered to stop by the American gunners. The Odewald had been informed of this attack no human life was lost."

PRESIDENT MUST ORDER HIM TO MOVE SAYS MARSHALL

New York, April 6.—Until he is informed that President Wilson has invoked at this point the neutrality regulation of congress covering the furnishing of supplies to belligerent warships, District Attorney Marshall will take no action on the statement of Dudley Field Malone, collector of port, that British cruisers on guard Sandy Hook were being supplied with provisions through boats from this port. Marshall so announced today.

Marshall pointed out that the enforcement of the resolution was discretionary with the president and said that so far as he knew the president had not requested that any action be taken under it at this port. He wired to Washington today to find out the status of the situation.

Marshall was of the opinion that no grand jury action could be taken against the persons alleged to have been supplying the British ships, unless it could be shown that they had been violating the ordinary neutrality laws in force previous to the passage of the congressional neutrality resolution. These, under the treaty of Washington, provide that "good and the ordinary supplies of a ship, not warlike in character, may be furnished without question in quantities necessary for immediate wants. The modest hospitality which does not interfere upon impartiality, may be rendered but no act shall be done to make a neutral port a base of operations."

The German raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich was still at her dock this morning, a plume of smoke floating lazily from one funnel. Painters were scraping the red rust from her bottom and a workman coming off the ship reported that the engine room had been removed. These circumstances strengthen the belief in marine circles that the Eitel would intern at the end of the war.

Girl Drives Engine at Sixty Miles an Hour

Of course it really was none of Helen's business, but, then, she simply couldn't stand by and allow Williams' underhanded effort to beat his rival, Tom Walker, to succeed. That would be as bad as actually assisting the scoundrel!

So Helen, donning overalls, dashed through the crowd of men, climbed into the cab of the loco, and jerked the throttle wide. Before Williams' henchmen realized what had occurred the freight special was rushing toward Hobart at a sixty mile clip.

Here is the situation which caused the Lone Point telegrapher to take a hand in the game. The smelter interests had informed Tom Walker, owner of the Hope mine, and Williams, owner of the Comet mine, that they would purchase the mine assaying the highest grade of ore.

Now Williams knew that his rival's mine was the better of the two. Therefore, unable to dispose of the Comet on a fair and square basis, the scoundrel plotted to hold up the Hope shipment of ore until he could swing the deal which would cause the smelter people to purchase his mine.

To bring this about Williams ordered his henchman to waylay the engineer of Walker's freight special at Lone Point. Helen, who knew of the feud between the two, readily guessed what was at the bottom of the attack. She also knew that it would be hours before another engineer could reach the scene, hours which would stand Williams in good stead.

But if Helen thought for a moment that Williams was at the end of his rope, she was destined to be apprised of her mistake. Even as the special rocked and swayed because of the terrific speed at which Helen drove it Williams was being informed of what had taken place. There promptly dashed upon his mind another way in which he might victimize Walker and punish Helen for her interference. What this was is told in "The Girl Engineer," the latest and best of Kalem's Hazards of Helen Kalem Series. This is the series in which Miss Helen Holmes, the daring Kalem leading lady, is featured. You can't afford to miss seeing this episode.

George Washington—"Father of His Country"

EVERY AMERICAN knows that without "Immortal Washington our National Independence would have been impossible. Few, however, know that the greatest battle of Washington's life was fought to secure for his countrymen the Constitution of the United States. Almost immediately after the Revolution it seemed that all the great sacrifice of blood and treasure had been in vain. The original thirteen states refused to work in harmony, either in spirit or in law. The new Republic was tottering to its foundations. At this critical period in American history the most brilliant men of each state met in convention and unanimously elected Washington as President—undoubtedly the most momentous gathering of the kind the world has ever known. Here he displayed as great ability as law-maker as he had as a warrior. For months the Fathers of the Republic labored, and finally adopted our present National Law, which forever guarantees Religious, Commercial and Personal Liberty. This was in 1787. Seventy years later Anheuser-Busch established their great institution upon the tenets of the Federal law which Washington did so much to create. Like all of the great men of his time, he was a moderate user of good old barley brew. For three generations Anheuser-Busch have brewed honest malt and hop beers. To-day 7500 people are daily employed to keep pace with the ever-increasing public demand. The great popularity of their famous brand—BUDWEISER—due to quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, has made its sales exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles.
