

WOMEN GET CHANGE DURING RAIDS BY ZEPPELINS

Exciting Test of Woman Reserve Ambulance Corps Furnished When German Raiders Swoop Down.

(Associated Press Correspondence.) London, Oct. 26.—The Women's Reserve Ambulance Corps got a chance to show what it can do on the night of the big Zeppelin raid on London, October 15. How the women acquitted themselves is told by one of their number, Captain Kilroy Kenyon in "Voices for Women."

"We were all laughing and talking together," she says, "when suddenly we heard guns and bombs in the distance. It was a tremendous test of the efficiency of the drilling and discipline of the last few months, for none of the girls had really been tested in an emergency before. They all behaved magnificently from beginning to end. In a second they were all in their places at attention waiting for orders. The orders were given and in less than a minute we were in the ambulance and off."

"The driver, Captain Linton-Ormsby was a marvel. She drove us to the first fire in twelve minutes and in pitch darkness, for every light was turned out. When we arrived the police asked us how on earth we had managed to get there in the time."

"At the first place they reached no one had been killed or injured and they started immediately for the next nearest place where bombs had fallen. Here it was found that several persons had been killed or injured. The women took command of the situation and, after doing what could be done on the spot for the injured, drove them to the nearest hospital. It was not until they were just about to start, says Captain Kenyon, that another ambulance appeared on the scene only to be told by the police: 'The ladies have finished this job and there is nothing left for you to do.'"

"At the third place to which the ambulance was driven that same night there was also work for the women to do. Although no one had been killed or seriously injured by bombs, several firemen, who had been engaged fighting the fire caused by the bombs, had been overcome by smoke. They were given first aid by the women and then driven in an ambulance to the hospital."

WIRELESS OPENS A NEW POLAR SEA ROUTE

(Associated Press Correspondence.) London, Oct. 26.—Wireless telegraphy has opened a polar sea route from central Russia to Great Britain. Wireless stations established by the Russian government in the Arctic keep the vessels advised as to the channels free from ice. Acting on their information, two large vessels chartered by a Siberian trading company have just arrived at Grimsby with cargoes from the Yenesei and Ooi districts of central Siberia, valued at $1,750,000.

The Ooi and Yenesei are huge rivers with a great depth of water, taking steamers of any size. But it was not until lately that their navigation was put in practice. Owing to the use of the trans-Siberian railway by the Russian government for war supplies, there are 3,000,000 tons of wheat held up in Siberia, besides enormous quantities of other produce. If this can be got out, it will improve Russian exchange, which is now a serious problem among the allies.

Next year the company proposes to take about thirty steamers over the new White sea route, laden with Siberian products. Even if the war ends before this time, it is pointed out that the Siberian railway will be more or less tied up with back business and the returning of troops.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter the acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, stinging sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a stinging sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

HUNGARIAN PRESS FIGHTING CENSORS

Budapest, Hungary, Nov. 3.—A systematic campaign of opposition to the censor being waged by the newspapers of Austria and Hungary. A memorandum to the prime minister, signed by publishers and editors, points out that the newspapers existed during the first year of the war under a milder censorship and succeeded in serving the country worthily and patriotically. "Is it not then unjust," they ask, "that an increasing number of restrictions should be applied daily? The newspapers are tired of being allowed to speak only of city authorities and fraudulent army contractors, and seek the restoration of the small freedom which they enjoyed in pre-war times."

Since the war, it is stated, thirty-seven Hungarian newspapers published by Czechs, Slovaks, Rumanians and Rumanians have been suppressed.

REINDEER MOSS AS SOURCE OF ALCOHOL

Stockholm, Nov. 3.—In order to avoid the consumption of grain and potatoes, the manufacture of alcohol and fodder from reindeer moss is being tried on an extensive scale in northern Germany. Reindeer moss is very plentiful in the Arctic sections of Scandinavia, being the principal food of the reindeer during the winter. Several large shipments of the moss have been sent to Germany during the past two months.

Spanish Laborers Move to France. Madrid, Oct. 3.—Thousands of Spanish laborers have emigrated to France since the beginning of the war owing to the scarcity of labor there and the consequent high wages offered. As a result there is such a scarcity of agricultural labor in Spain that wages are three times those paid a year ago.

The emigration to France has been encouraged by French agents, who are recruiting laborers, both male and female, for the agricultural districts in south and central France. Industrial leaders here believe that the emigration will continue after the war and may cause a serious dislocation in the labor market here.

John H. Ganzel, former manager of the Rochester, N. Y., club in the International Baseball league, now manager of the Brooklyn Federal club, was a member of an automobile party which arrived yesterday. With him were Mrs. Ganzel, Miss Jane Ganzel, Miss Bessie Meaco and Homer Travis. They are on their way to Honolulu. Ganzel played in a state fair tournament here in 1889.

Estate: There Are No Children

Q. In case there are no children how should a deed be made to husband and wife, in the state of California, so that when one dies the other will inherit the property without a will, or without further trouble?

A. The provision of the California law, with reference to the descent of property where there is no will and where the husband and wife have no children, reads as follows: "If the decedent leaves no issue, the estate goes one-half to the surviving husband or wife and the other one-half to decedent's father and mother in equal shares, and if either is dead the whole of said half goes to the other. If there is no father or mother, then one-half goes in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of decedent and to the children or grandchildren of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation. If decedent leaves no issue, or husband or wife, the estate must go to his father and mother in equal shares, or if either is dead, then to the other." It would be advisable for you to consult your lawyer and have him prepare a will, or two wills—one for the husband and one for the wife.

Big Interest on Small Loan

Q. After paying interest on twenty-five dollars for nearly three years, can a loan company take one's furniture or compel one to pay 40 principal?

A. Your question is not sufficiently definite. This would depend upon whether you gave a chattel mortgage and whether the rate of interest charged is usurious.

"Nobody Home!"

Q. I have a check from a man for $100, but it came back stamped "No funds." The man who signed the check has a property which is mortgaged. Mortgages are signed by him and his wife. Now, can I sue on my check and get judgment against him, and if so how much is the cost of same in the State of Indiana?

A. You can bring a suit. It is impossible to determine in advance what the costs will be.

Eight-Hour Day For Women

Q. Under the California law, is it lawful for the proprietors of mountain resorts or hotels to work their women help nine and ten hours a day, Sundays included?

A. No. The California statutes provide: "No female shall be employed in a factory, manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, public lodging house, apartment house, hospital, place of amusement, or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment, or office, or by an express or transportation company in this state more than eight hours during any one day or more than forty-eight hours in one week. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they may not work more than eight hours during the twenty-four hours of one day, or forty-eight hours during any one week, provided, however, that the provisions of this section in relation to hours of employment shall not apply to or prevent harvesting, curing, canning or drying of any variety of perishable fruit or vegetables, or to graduates nurses in hospitals." This law has been upheld by the courts as constitutional.

The Life Line

By LADY KIRKMAN

The Man With A Chip On His Shoulder

We ran into him on the street. Perhaps we held in our hand a letter that has brought us bad news. "Good morning," we murmur silently, too engrossed in our thoughts to give him the usual hearty greeting. Next day, we meet him—and he looks the other way! He has taken to himself our pre-occupation of yesterday. "But he might have made allowances on one score or another," we exclaim, full of resentment against his touchy worldliness. He might have given us another chance! But this easily offended man has no such charity in his make-up. He is the undeveloped man. His constant watchfulness for slight tells us that the big, gripping things of life have passed him by; we don't think much of a mosquito bite after a road dog has bitten us. But this man nurses his mosquito bite as if it were fatal. He hasn't advanced one inch since his mother kissed his bumps to make them well. His fate are in his eyes.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and glossy at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.
