Dr. Barton Tells Of Lincoln's Stand In Douglas Debates

GALESHURST, Ill., Oct. 7.—Standing where Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas stood on the same day in 1858, in front of "Old Main," the historic building of Knox college, Dr. William H. Barton of Chicago today spoke on the Emancipator at a celebration, commemorative of the Lincoln-Douglas debates. The celebration was under the auspices of the Knox college, which conferred upon Lincoln the honorary degree of doctor of laws. Dr. Barton said:

"It is a mistake to think of the Lincoln-Douglas debates as a complete oratorical triumph for Lincoln. He who reads the speeches through at this date finds very much to admire in the cogency and forcefulness of Douglas. He is to be admired also for the brave fight which he was then waging against the Buchanan administration, with which he had quarreled in an issue where the moral advantage was wholly on the side of Douglas. Moreover, Douglas had such ground for his declaration that the federal government was based upon the principle that each state should decide its own local matters according to the desire of its own voters; that Illinois had no more right to force abolition upon Kentucky than Kentucky had to force slavery upon Illinois; and that Lincoln's declaration that the government could not endure half slave and half free, meant the right of one section to force its ideas upon another section, and Civil war besides.

If Lincoln had felt any call to express sympathy as between Douglas and the administration, he would doubtless have expressed for Douglas; but instinct as the split in the democratic party gave to Lincoln his only hope of victory, he could afford to adopt the cheerful neutrality of the settler's wife—"Go it, husband—go it, best!"

But Lincoln's high title to honor in that notable series of debates lies in the fact that he did not rest his case upon the opportune split in the party of his opponents, but forced the moral issue, and would not permit even an ostensible opponent as Douglas to evade it. Standing in this spot, Lincoln said of Douglas:

"Judge Douglas declares that if any community want slavery, they have a right to it. He can say that logically if he says there is no wrong in slavery; but if you admit that there is wrong in it, he cannot logically say that anybody has a right to do wrong. . . . Now, I confess myself as belonging to that class of society who contemplate slavery as a moral, social and political wrong. . . . He is blowing out the moral lights around us when he contends that whoever wants slaves has a right to hold them."

"On that platform Lincoln lost the senatorship of Illinois in 1858, and on that platform he won the presidency in 1860."

STATE SCHOOLS GET $286,000 FROM OIL LEASES

Payments on Disputed Leases Are Turned Into Treasury; Common School Fund Gets $175,000.

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 7.—Thirty-nine national and state banks and trust companies of New Mexico were drawn upon by State Land Commissioner Nelson A. Field, for the total amount of $286,582.50, which has been remitted to the state treasury and apportioned among the several funds which are the beneficiaries of the federal land grants. This is the first installment of the sum of more than $500,000 of oil lease money which the state land office has been holding in escrow for several years. It is the accumulation of payments made on oil and gas leases, held because of attacks on the courts upon the validity of the leases of the kind. The complainant in the suits alleged that the state land commissioner was without authority to execute oil and gas leases. Under a recent ruling from the attorney general's office, the state land office decided to turn all this money into the state treasury.

More than half of this amount—$175,319—goes into the common school fund. Other funds and institutions will be credited as follows:

University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, $5,837; Normal university, East Las Vegas, $1,155; Agricultural college, Las Cruces, $6,321; Normal college, Silver City, $1,155; Institute for the blind, Alamogordo, $1,837; Military institute, Roswell, $3,587; School of mines, Socorro, $1,459; Spanish-American normal, El Rito, $214; Eastern normal (not yet authorized by legislative act), $391; Insane asylum, $1,139; Deaf and dumb school, Santa Fe, $1,537; Reform school, Springer, $255; Mines hospital, Raton, $1,351; Penitentiary, Santa Fe, $1,267; Charitable, penal and reformatory, $1,181; Hospital, $9,414; Rio Grande improvements, $1,914; Public buildings, $2,738; Santa Fe and Grant counties (railroad bonded indebtedness), $12,452; Maintenance of the public lands, $52,976.
