THE WORLD AT LARGE.

Summary of the Daily News.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

SENATOR PLUMB has completed the important personal work he had on hand for Kansas constituents at Washington and taken his departure for the west to take the political field. The senator will deliver a series of lectures with the alliance as a text.

THE heavy drafts upon the treasury balance in redeeming 4 1/2 per cent. bonds reduced the net balance in the treasury, which on September 1 was $60,000,000, to $48,000,000 September 14.

THE president returned to Washington on the 15th.

OWING to the numerous inquiries coming for fractional silver coin, the United States treasury has prepared for transmission to all banks and other financial institutions, and to the principal post offices, stating in substance that new halves and dimes will be furnished in sums of $200 or more by express, free of charges, or by registered mail, in sums of multiples of $50, registration charges.

SECRETARY FOSTER has issued a circular giving notice that no more bonds of the 4 1/2 per cent. would be received for continuance at 2 per cent. after the 30th. Bonds not then continued would be redeemed on presentation.

SECRETARY FOSTER insists that the treasury has all the money required to maintain a position of perfect ease without adopting a policy of delay or resorting to any action that was not based on perfectly sound principles, but he admits that there is less money in the treasury now than there had been for many years heretofore.

Reading at Public Libraries.

In Paris, as well as with us, it is found that the value of public free libraries as a means of educating the masses is small. An attempt was made to induce people who frequent the sixty-four public libraries in Paris to prefer instructive books to works of fiction; but the only result of this was a decrease in the number of readers. So the endeavor was abandoned, the authorities coming to the conclusion that it is better the public should read novels than not read at all. At present nearly 50 per cent. of the books taken out are novels. But in London and Paris we may as well accept the inevitable. The free library is not a place where the ardent student learns the latest lessons of science or studies the masterpieces of literature past and present. The reader, if of the male sex, goes to search the scriptures of the sporting prophets; if a woman, to read the fashion papers and the fiction of the day. The books best worth reading are unread.—St. James Gazette.

Daniel Webster's Joke.

Daniel Webster had in Northfield, across the river from his Franklin farm, a small piece of sandy, barren land, with a poor house upon it in which a destitute family had been living some time without paying any rent. On one of his visits to the place the good woman expressed her anxiety about being able to remain. She expected to be turned out and did not know where to go. She hoped Mr. Webster would not be hard with her. He heard her through, and told her with great gravity that he knew it was a hard case for her—he wished to consider her and did not mean to be unkind; but he had a great many to provide for. At the same time putting his hand into his pocket, he took out a five dollar bill and handed it to her, saying he was sorry he could not do better for her; but if she could stay on the place another year for that, he would be very glad—and rode off.—The Children's Friend.

It is incompatible also in malaria, constipation, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney complaint.

Nothing can be said in favor of the best medicine in the world that may not be said of the most worthless. In one case, it's true; in the other, it isn't;—but how can you distinguish?

Judge by what is done. There's only one blood-purifier that's guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and this is what is done with it; if it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you get your money back. Isn't it likely to be the best?

All the year round, as well at one time as another, it cleanses and purifies the system. All blood-poisons must go. For Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, or any blood-taint or disorder, it is an unequalled remedy.

It's the cheapest, too. With this, you pay only for the good you get. And nothing else is "just as good." It may be better—for the dealer. But he isn't the one that's to be helped.
