WORSTED CLOTHS CLASSED AS WOOLENS.

A Tilt over the Pension Appropriation—The Tariff Bill in the House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8. (Senate.) On motion of Mr. Morrill the House bill providing for the classification of worsted cloths or woolems was taken up for consideration. The bill was so just and proper, Mr. Morrill said that he hoped there would be a unanimous vote in its favor. It had been recommended by Secretary Fairchild.

At the close of the discussion a number of amendments were voted on and rejected, and the bill finally passed as it was reported yeas 32, nays 20. (Mr. Payne, Democrat, voted aye.)

The pension appropriation bill appropriating $91,000,761, was taken up.

Mr. Cookrell expressed the belief that the amount would not be sufficient.

Mr. Sherman and Mr. Washburn offered amendments to increase the number of pension agents.

No quorum voting, the senate at 5 p. m. adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—After the reading of the journal the House went into committee of the whole. Mr. Payson, of Kansas, in the chair on the tariff bill.

Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, said that the exercise of the function of the government involved an expenditure of money.

That the present system of taxation did not restrict the revenue to the needs of the government was shown by the surplus in the treasury. In the last campaign the Republican party had claimed that the farmers would be benefited by protection. Yet, after the Republican victory, the depression on agriculture was greater than ever.

Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, opened his speech with the declaration that "it is a theory and not a condition which confronts us." There could be no condition of the treasury that legislation could not remove. The condition of the treasury to-day was an overflowing one.

What was the remedy? The Republicans would reduce the surplus by one theory; the Democrats by another. In the campaign of 1888 the two theories were presented to the American people, and after a full debate on the platform, a verdict was rendered in favor of the Republican theory of taxation.

Mr. McMillan of Tennessee saw that the gentleman, Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in declaring that it was a "theory and not a condition which confronts us," seemed anxious to put himself in antagonism with one of the greatest men of the country. In the State of Michigan, there are 47,000 mortgaged farms, while there were only 43,000 which were not mortgaged. Was that a condition or a theory that confronted the gentleman at home. (Applause.) There was a general change in the bill from ad valorem to specific duties.

Mr. Bayne, of Pennsylvania, inquired if the Democratic secretaries Manning and Fairchild had not recommended a change from ad valorem to specific.

Mr. McMillan replied that they had in some instances, but the Democratic party had declined to do it.

Mr. Bayne regarded the tariff question as settled by the last election. The issue had been clearly drawn, and the people had decided in favor of the republican doctrine.

Mr. Flower, of New York, said that the framers of this bill had wholly misapprehended the situation in this country and misunderstood the demand that had forced them to offer a measure dealing with the income of the government. That situation was industrial stagnation and a plethora of treasury; due, in a large measure, to an unjust and unequal system of over-taxation. In conclusion, he said of the bill: "If it becomes a law in its present shape it will destroy many industries, throw out of employment the men engaged in some, and work a reduction of wages in nearly all."

At the conclusion of Mr. Flower's speech the House took a recess until 8 o'clock.

(By United Press.)

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 8.—The city is full of people here to attend the last rites over the remains of Senator James B. Beck. The body is lying in state at the Presbyterian church, and since 6 o'clock this morning there has been a steady stream of men and women pouring through the audience room to take a last look at the honored dead. The floral decorations were elaborate and of the most beautiful designs. Among the most noted pieces was the following: A globe composed of pure white small flowers, across the face of which, in blue letters, were the two words: "Semper fidele."

As early as 11 o'clock the First Presbyterian church began to fill with visitors. At 11:30 o'clock the council and city and county officials formed in a line and marched to the First Presbyterian church where the remains lay. The services were very short and simple, consisting of prayers and singing in accordance with the wishes of the deceased.

The hymns were: "When Other Heads are Bowed with Woe," "Abide with Me," "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and at the grave, "Peacefully Rest." The cortege to the cemetery was in this order: Frost's band, A. and M. college, Sharp's Rifles, K. S. G., hearse, pall-bearers, active and honorary, State officials, city officials and council. On foot were county officials, members of the bar, chamber of commerce, and citizens on foot and in private carriages.

ANOTHER HORROR.

A WOMAN AND HER PIPE DESTROY THIRTEEN LIVES.

(By United Press.)

NORWICH, N. Y., May 8.—Georgia Dibble and her pipe caused the loss of thirteen lives in the Chenango county poor house last night at mid-night. She was an inmate of the insane ward, and after finishing her pipe she put it in her pocket. Her clothing caught fire, and from them the fire spread until the flames enveloped the whole building.

So fierce was the heat and so rapidly had the fire spread that the keepers were compelled to retreat to save themselves. A few of the idiots, babbling and jabbering, ran with the keepers, who cried the alarm as they went. Some of the patients were so badly burned that they fell to the ground as soon as they reached a place of safety.

There are still a considerable number of violent patients in the woods. Most of those who escaped had been kept in the closest confinement on account of the peculiar nature of their maladies, and it is not at all safe for them to be at large. The posse of the sheriff is scouring the entire country in search of the fugitives. Two of the seven who were captured were found five miles away and resisted vigorously before they allowed themselves to be re-taken. Thirteen perished in the flames. The loss on the building is $40,000.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE.

Y. M. C. A. Building—Sage Jones Has Captured the Mecklenburg Presbyterians—College Notes.

(Special Cor. of STATE CHRONICLE.)

DAVIDSON COLLEGE, N. C., May 8.—

During the past month six hundred dollars have been added to the fund for building a Y. M. C. A. hall at Davidson College. Bids are now being received for the brick-work, and the work of building will be begun as soon as the brick can be burnt. The hall will be 43 by 70 feet in size, containing a large gymnasium 63 by 40, a prayer hall seating 225, a parlor, and a commodious Bible-class room. The new building will be quite a handsome one, and from its balcony can be obtained a beautiful view of the whole campus, 18 acres of unbroken lawn, as green as an emerald and level as a floor, with all its walks and drives bordered by double rows of elms.

The Chorus Club of 22 voices gave a most enjoyable concert last Thursday evening. They have been practicing diligently under their Musical Director, Mr. A. K. Pool, of Ga., for some weeks, in preparation for the June Musical Festival at Charlotte.

Several of the Society medals have already been awarded. In the Philanthropic Society, Mr. J. C. Du Four, of Geneva, Switzerland, won the Esau's Medal. The Debater's Medal of the Euphanean Society was awarded to Mr. W. F. Hollingsworth, of Atlanta, Ga.

The Inter-collegiate Oratorical contest is to be held in the Y. M. C. A. hall, of Charlotte, on Thursday evening, the 8th inst. The representatives chosen by the societies are Messrs. B. C. Clark, of Clarkton, N. C., and W. F. Hollingsworth, of Atlanta.

Everybody went down during the last two weeks to hear Sam Jones, who has just closed a "big meeting" in Charlotte. The man and his methods have been the subject of never ceasing discussion through the whole country, and each has his reasons and arguments pro or con. The pros, however, in this community are three to one. In spite of preconceived opinions and prejudices of long standing, Sam has won the heart of Mecklenburg Presbyterianism, and put his numerous critics to rout, horse, foot and dragons.

Mr. Thornton Sampson, who has been living in Greece for a dozen years, gave a most entertaining lecture to the students on Modern Greece last Monday evening. His vivid manner and irrefragable humor fairly captured his audience, while his wide information and profound scholarship threw a flood of light on obscure classic topics.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

A Little Boy Falls in the Well and is Killed.

(Lexington Dispatch.)

Little Jesse McLean Stockton, whose mother lives near Michael, was the victim of a very sad and fatal accident last Wednesday about 12 o'clock, by falling into a well. It seems that the little fellow had climbed upon a milk box, which sat behind the window, and from that he climbed to the box curb. He is supposed to have then moved the light covering from the well and peeped in, and while in the act lost his balance and fell headlong. He had been missed only about five minutes when search was instituted for him and signs discovered which caused the searchers to believe that he was in the well. The neighbors came in and recovered the child, while Mr. Addison Wood came for the mother, who was in Lexington, and who was almost heart-broken when the sad news reached her.

CHRONICLE BUREAU, DURHAM, N. C., May 8, 1890.

Your correspondent was reliably informed to-day that Mr. J. S. Carr was offered $60,000 for the hotel property yesterday, the parties offering it obligating themselves to build a $100,000 hotel immediately.

Another big deal is on TAPIS but we are not at liberty to divulge the details of it.

I was told to-day that the line of the L. & D. R. R. had reached Roxboro, and that all of the construction work is done. The iron bridges over Flat and Little rivers is in process of construction.

Miss Southgate will be assisted in her concert to-night by the St. Celia Society and the Durham orchestra. It will no doubt be a big success.

Trinity Sunday school has decided to "excure" to Clarksville as soon as all the arrangements can be perfected. Messrs. C. B. Green and W. R. Israel were appointed to go to Clarksville next Saturday and arrange about the grounds, &c.

All the matters pending before Probate Judge Mangum concerning our railroad fight were this morning postponed until the title to the street is settled.

Yerby's dude created a great deal of excitement on our streets yesterday. He is a darkey of the darkest shade, and is dressed in white coat and vest, pantaloons a la Uncle Sam, and high silk hat. Altogether he is of the dullest get-up.

Mr. King, of the Constitution, is engaged in writing up Durham for his paper. If he will do her justice, and we feel sure he will, the utter falsity of Oldham's statements will be testified to by an uninterested party.

EXCITEMENT IN MARION.

The Slayer of Editor Page is Charged With the Crime of Criminal Assault.

(Marion Lamp Post.)

Parties who came to Morganton last Monday from Marion reported that there was great excitement in that town over a report that Ed. Brown, the young man who was recently tried and acquitted on a charge of murdering editor Roger J. Page, had, in company with a young man named Sam White, broken into the house of a Mrs. Radburn, near Vein Mountain, McDowell county, in the night time, and committed rape on Mrs. Radburn's daughter. On Monday a warrant was issued charging Brown and White with burglary and rape, though the parties have not been arrested, and it was thought by some that they had left the State. Brown, who belongs to an excellent family, has been drinking heavily for some years past, and is said to have been constantly of late almost crazed by drink. Friends of Brown claim that Mrs. Radburn, who is a woman of shady reputation, and who visited Brown while in jail has been induced to make the charge by Brown's enemies, and say that no rape was committed.
