He was put in the calaboose to await trial, but Tuesday morning the doors were found to be open and they did not appear to have been violently opened. ## FROM DURHAM,

Fixing for the Judicial Convention—R. W. Winston to be Presented—Personals, &c.

CHRONICLE BUREAU,

DURHAM, N. C., May 15, 1890.

Mr. J. S. Manning, chairman of the Judicial executive committee for the Fifth district, has called a meeting of that committee on the 4th of June.

It is understood here that the friends of Mr. R. W. Winston, of Oxford, are preparing to present his name to the Judicial convention as an opponent of Judge Womack, and that they will make quite a strong fight for him. Judge Womack has made an admirable Judge, and it is sincerely to be hoped that the Democratic party will not fail to endorse one who has given up his practice to accept a place on the bench which he so well adorns.

Mr. B. L. Duke and wife, nee Miss Woodward, arrived on the noon train and have taken rooms at the Hotel Claiborne. They were met at the cars by quite a number of relatives and friends, who were eager to welcome them home.

The meeting at Trinity Church still continues with unabating interest. Although there have not been many conversions the membership have been warmed up no little.

The "Sun" says that two gentlemen from neighboring towns are anxious to come here and open a warehouse, and will come if they meet with the proper encouragement. It is to be hoped that our citizens will look into this matter.

Arrivals at Hotel Claiborne: S. Stone Bowden, Philadelphia; Andrew Sawyer, Bridgeport; Mc Katzenburg, Baltimore; Chas. N. Crutchfield, Winston; W. T. Doles, New Jersey; R. Linsheimer, Baltimore; Chas. B. Nicholson, Philadelphia; H. H. Lee, Chicago; Emmet E. Long, Baltimore; T. A. Alston, Henderson; Max Rosendelm, New York; Jas. M. Roberts, Baltimore; J. S. Brockenborough, Richmond; M. T. Donelson, Akron; J. G. Wilson, Buffalo; T. G. Harvey, Virginia; B. L. Duke and wife, Durham.

ACCIDENT OR MURDER?

(By United Press.)

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 15.—Clay Barkley, who was supposed to have been drowned last week in Catawba river at Robinson's Ferry, is now believed to have been murdered by two men with whom he had a difficulty several months ago, and several arrests have been made. Barkley's buggy whip, cushion and contents of the buggy have been found, but all efforts to find the body proved unavailing. The country community is greatly stirred over developments tending to show murder.

The Vice-Gerent of Christ on Earth.

(By United Press.)

LONDON, May 15.—The threatened promulgation, by the Pope, of the dogma, that the temporal power of the pontiff, of which the church was deprived by the advent of Victor Emmanuel into Rome in 1870, is essential to the complete majesty of the Vice-Gerent of Christ on earth, is the theme of general discussion in Catholic circles on the continent.

THE PICKLER BILL

FOR SUB-TREASURIES FOR GRAIN, TOBACCO AND COTTON.

Mr. Livingstone, of Georgia, Before the Committee—He Recalls Abe Lincoln's Prediction—He Says the Farmers Want Relief and Know How to Get It.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Congressmen from agricultural States and members of the Farmers' National Alliance crowded the ways and means committee room at the capitol to-day to hear Mr. Livingstone, the national lecturer of the Alliance, expound his views on the Pickler bill for the establishment of sub-treasuries for the deposit of grain, oats, corn, tobacco and cotton.

Mr. Livingstone said there need be no misapprehension concerning the objects of the Alliance. It was not seeking to displace the ruling political parties. The sub-treasury bill had nothing to do with the tariff. The farmers asked that the sub-treasury bill be passed. Fifty-eight homes of farmers had been sold in Connecticut in one day this week. Relief was demanded, and the farmers knew how to get it. He quoted President Lincoln's prediction that corporations would be enthroned; that the property of the country would be concentrated, and that the Republic itself would be overthrown. He thanked God that the last prediction had not come true. If Congress refused to endorse the sub-treasury law, he said it should remove the restrictions hedging in the national banking system.

The sub-treasury plan gave the farmer a chance to escape the speculator by allowing him to deposit his crops in the sub-treasury at any time, and spare him selling at stated seasons. If the sub-treasury bill were passed, there would not be a bucket shop left in the United States. There need be no fear that the bill would cause the farmers to form a trust.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

The Assemblies of the Southern and Northern Churches Both in Session.

(By United Press.)

THE SOUTHERN ASSEMBLY.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 15.—The general Southern assembly of the Presbyterian Church opened here to-day with one hundred and thirty commissioners present. Dr. H. G. Hill, of Fayetteville, the retiring moderator, preached the opening sermon. Rev. Jas. Park, of the Nashville synod, was elected moderator, by a vote of 72 to 56 for Rev. C. R. Hemphill, of the synod of Kentucky. The commissioners were tendered a reception to-night when Gov. Fowle delivered an address of welcome.

The Northern Assembly.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 15.—Not less than 1,500 persons crowded the seats, aisles and galleries of the First Presbyterian church this morning, when Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, opened the first meeting of the General Presbyterian Assembly. The meeting was purely a praise and worship meeting. Dr. Johnson prayed eloquently for divine guidance and blessing throughout the deliberations of the great body gathered from all parts of the United States.

The speakers in the morning's meeting studiously avoided reference to the subject of revision, the question of the greatest interest to this assembly, and it is not likely that the subject will be taken up for several days yet.

THE EPISCOPALIANS.

The Diocese of North Carolina at Tarboro—The Organization One Hundred Years Ago.

(Special to STATE CHRONICLE.)

TARBORO, N. C., May 15.—The seventy-fourth convention of the Diocese of North Carolina met here last night with a large attendance of ministers and delegates. Just one hundred years ago two Episcopal clergymen and two laymen met here, and held the first convention of the church in this State. This was the first effort to organize the church in North Carolina, and from that effort sprang an army of distinguished clergymen and laymen. It was an inspiring scene to see the ministers, robed in neat surplices, march by twos into the church to a melodious march from the organ yesterday.

Rev. Jarvis Buxton preached the introductory sermon. Rev. Dr. Marshall, of Raleigh, was elected president pro tem. The various reports were made and the usual committees appointed.

Mr. Charles E. Johnson, of Raleigh, was re-elected treasurer of the convention. The report of the church for the past year was flattering and very encouraging, and the report on the orphanage was a source of great gratification. Eight hundred copies of the journal were ordered printed.

To-day Asheville was chosen as the place for the next convention. Delegates continue to arrive here and are well entertained by the citizens of Tarboro. Delegates from the other Diocese will arrive to-morrow morning, and a glorious celebration is anticipated.

HANGING ON A TREE.

A Man Foully Dealt With—That His Testimony Might not be Given.

(By United Press.)

WHEELING, W. Va., May 15.—The body of Paul Tonk, a wealthy farmer, was found hanging to a tree near Beverly, Randolph county, last night. The body had been hanging for several days. Tonk disappeared on May 1. He was an important witness against his nephew in a murder trial which was to come off soon, and it is believed he was murdered to prevent his testifying. The affair has created intense excitement.

CATTLE SHOW IN WILSON.

Mr. E. C. Beddingfield, Prof. Melver and Capt. W. A. Darden Spoke to the People.

[For the STATE CHRONICLE.]

WILSON, N. C., May 15, 1890.—This was the day for the first annual Wilson county cattle show. There were between 500 and 600 people present, and the exhibit of cattle and sheep was highly creditable. There were also fine horses and goats on exhibition. The people are much interested in cattle raising and to-day the exhibit is but an index of what will be seen next May. It was decided to hold the fair every year. The following was the programme of the interesting exercises:

10 to 11 a. m. Alliance meeting.

11 to 11:40 a. m. Address by Mr. E. C. Beddingfield, of Raleigh.

1:40 to 2:40 p. m. Speech by Prof. Chas. D. Melver, of Raleigh.

2:40 to 3:40 p. m. Address by Capt. W. A. Darden, of Greene county.

1 to 2 p. m. Cattle Parade, to end at Court House where premiums will be awarded.

3 p. m. Fire Company Parade.

4 p. m. Military Parade.

Mr. Beddingfield spoke upon "Alliance Education" and impressed his hearers with the importance of information and education. He spoke first of what Alliance education has been in the past; second, upon what he thought it would be in the future; and third upon the great factor proper education would be in making good citizens. He declared that the Alliance ought to exert its influence for the education of the masses; that the time had passed when a farmer could educate his children by subscription schools; and that the dependence of the great masses of the people must be upon schools supported or aided by the State and government. The people followed him approvingly, and were greatly pleased with his earnest and eloquent speech.

Prof. Melver spoke strongly upon Public Education, and gave interesting facts and figures. His hearers applauded his utterances to the echo.

Capt. Darden (long a favorite in Wilson) followed with words of truth and soberness.

PLEASURE AT RICHMOND.

The Ladies Will Tender a Reception and Ball on the 28th.

Handsome invitations were received here yesterday announcing that the ladies of Richmond and the Resident Maryland Association, assisted by the Richmond military, will tender a complimentary reception and ball to the visiting military and veterans at the Richmond Theatre, Wednesday evening, May 28th, 1890, the eve of the unveiling of the Lee monument. North Carolina will be largely represented there on the occasion. The Governor's Guard will go from Raleigh. Among the officers of the General and Personal staff who will go from this State, are Adj. Gen'l Glenn, Inspector General Cameron, Quarter Master Gen'l Olds, Asst. Adj. Gen'l Smith, Asst. Inspector General Cameron and Smith, Col. Alston Grimes, John H. Cunningham and Thos. W. Strange, the three last being the Governor's aides.

Col. Anthony, of the Fourth, is arranging to take his full regiment, and Col. Gray, of the Third, is making the same arrangement. Col. Cotten will take four companies of the First, and three companies of the Second regiment will attend. All these troops will be quartered in the big exhibition building which has been specially prepared for the purpose, and will be formed as a brigade. All the troops, while in Richmond, will be quartered and rationed free of charge. It is probable that the bands of the First and Fourth regiments will accompany the troops. The latter band, a very fine one, has twenty-six pieces. It is expected that a considerable portion of the troops will remain in Richmond on the 30th to participate in the decoration ceremonies at Hollywood, at which Gov. Fowle is one of the speakers.

Cattle Show Notes.

Many of the fine Jersey cows shown were great "pegs." An evidence of this was the beautiful foreign which had been woven around the necks of several of the handsome animals.

Many remarks were heard on all sides from visitors in praise of the beautiful cattle. Several other counties will be holding shows in less than three years and then there will be a great rivalry.

There were photographers on the ground yesterday and they caught various scenes around the grounds and also of the parade. The pictures of a number of the fine cattle were taken singly and specially.

The Wake County Cattle Show is an established institution. It is already suggested that it be turned into an annual show, including swine, dogs, cats, chickens, sheep and every domesticated animal. It is further suggested that it should
