

RALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short Items of News Gathered on the Fly by the Chronicle's Reporters.

A civil service examination will be held at Charlotte on July 24th.

The Colored Industrial Association is working up a big fair to be held here next fall.

Some workmen were engaged in making repairs on the Union depot platform yesterday.

All the members of the juvenile circus are requested to meet in Brigg's building Monday night.

The 105th Supreme Court report is in the press and will be issued within the next two or three weeks.

An excursion train for Asheville will leave Raleigh on August 11th for a three days trip. The round tickets will cost $3.50.

Westward travel is on the increase. There are few vacant seats in the trains of six coaches which pass this city for the west every day.

The CHRONICLE defies any section of these who's United States to show a more pleasant weather record than Raleigh can show for the past few days.

Through the kindness of Capt. John R. Ferrall, the State Library has received a very handsomely printed souvenir of the Lee memorial ceremonies in Richmond, on May 29.

The approaching conventions make one think of Raleigh's needs in the way of a big auditorium, or assembly hall. How much longer shall she be without one?

It has been suggested that gastronomic arrangements in the new depot should not be confined to a lunch counter. A well arranged dining room will be needed in the building.

Almost every man one meets nowadays seems to think that he is in honor bound to talk politics. They are raging now and, locally speaking, they seem to have no well defined course.

We learn that "The Raleigh Machinery Agency" is placing frequent orders for engines, boilers, saw-mills, cotton-gins, presses, etc. Wayne Allcott, manager, has his office at T. W. Blake's jewelry store.

East Martin street is being metamorphosed from a gully-nud stricken thoroughfare to a magnificent, paved boulevard. Let the good work go on, and many thanks to you, Messrs. City Officers and Aldermen.

The Governor's Guard leave for Wrightsboro next Tuesday. Every man going should report by to-morrow. The Guard will be in camp only one week and surely all the members of the company can get off for that length of time.

There are all sorts of business and "boomish" rumors in the air. The latest is that the Atlantic Coast Line is negotiating for the purchase of some land near the Faison tobacco factory to be used as a depot site. The rumor seems to lack solidity.

At the Southern Dental Association held in Atlanta this week, Chattanooga and Morehead City, N. C., were presented as places for holding the next meeting, and Morehead City was selected. The association then adjourned to meet there August 7th, 1891.

"You sometimes hear a man remark that Raleigh is dull," said a man who got off the train from a pretty extensive tour, "but if you want to see dullness—absolute flatness—you ought to go to some other places that consider themselves on a boom. I tell you Raleigh is a breezy, lively place."

One of Raleigh's talented and much appreciated young lady artists is Miss Bertha Horton. There is an exhibition at F. A. Watson's art store, a splendid crayon portrait of Rev. Dr. J. H. Cordun—the work of Miss Horton—and it shows eloquently and forcibly the pure, true talent of the young artist. The work is generally pronounced superb, and it is the subject of much admiration and complimentary mention.

A Pleasant Reception By People to Pastor.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall, of the Baptist Tabernacle, was subjected to a pleasant surprise by some of his congregation on Friday night.

They learned that it was the twentieth anniversary of his marriage, and they determined that some little occurrence of an agreeable nature should mark the day.

Accordingly quite a number of the people assembled at the Tabernacle on Friday evening and had the bell rung. Simultaneously with the ringing they dispatched a delegation to the pastor's home with a request that he, with his good lady, should appear at the church.

There was half an hour or more of pleasant social converse and chat, and then a collation of choice fruits and delicacies was spread in the lecture room and everybody had something to do with that. Then came vocal and instrumental music led and participated in by Mrs. Coy Jordan and Prof. Beardsley and members of the Sunday school choir.

At 9:30 o'clock there was a rapping for order, and Mr. Jno. Wood stepped forward and on behalf of a number of friends presented the pastor with a very handsome clock. This was the surprise feature, but it was gracefully and appreciatively met by Dr. Hall, who accepted the gift in a very pleasant little address.

Rev. Dr. J. D. Huffam has tendered his resignation as a member of the board of trustees of Wake Forest College.

Messrs. Alex Harrison and Chas. K. Shaw left yesterday for New York and other Northern cities on a pleasure tour.

Mrs. J. M. Broughton, who has been quite sick at Apex, has so far recovered as to be able to return to her home in this city.

Mr. J. O. Atkinson, of Wake county, a graduate of Wake Forest College, (1890) has been elected to the chair of Latin in Graham College.

Mr. J. O. Phillips, of Tarboro, is in the city. He is here in the interest of the Gin and Lenter saw patented by Booker and Phillips.

Mr. J. E. White, of Apex, who is known as the silver tongued orator of the '90 class of Wake Forest College, will study law in Henderson.

Mr. W. B. Phillips, a Chapel Hill boy, son of the late Dr. Charles Phillips, has been elected to the professorship of chemistry and metallurgy in the University of Alabama, and will assume the duties in October next.

Rev. Jno. S. Watkins, D. D., has gone up to Asheville to spend two weeks at the invitation of the Presbyterian church. He will preach there to-day and next Sabbath. The CHRONICLE is sure the Asheville people will be charmed with Dr. Watkins. He is one of the ablest divines, and is an attractive preacher. We know no man in the State who is a better or a more arguative preacher.

The Goldsboro Argus says: A delightful and numerous gathering of young ladies and gentlemen assembled at the pleasant home of Miss Anna Privett Thursday night, complimentary to her young lady visitor, Miss Alice Dugger, who has won admiring friends on every hand since her visit began. This evening was one round of uninterrupted enjoyment from the spacious parlor, where congenial and inspiring conversation, beautiful floral decorations and delightful music, speeded the joyous moments only too swiftly away, to the inviting dining hall, where refreshing ices and other delicacies enhanced the "gladness of all who came." It was a most pleasant evening indeed.

CHARLOTTE R. R. SHOPS.

The Project Gets a Lick in the Head—Col. Andrews Upset by the Price Asked for the Land.

The Charlotte News says: Col. A. B. Andrews was here yesterday to receive the proposition of the trustees of the Presbyterian Orphanage for the land near the Air Line junction which the Richmond and Danville Company wanted to purchase as a portion of the site for the shops of the company.

He got the answer late in the afternoon and it made him huffy. The committee having the matter of the orphanage in charge adopted this formal proposition: "The Regents are hereby authorized to offer the property for sale to the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, at the price of $8,000, provided said company shall purchase the same on or before the 10th day of August next, (1890)."

What reply Col. Andrews made to the committee is not known, but to outsiders he talked rather plainly. He stated point blank that he would not buy the land. The tract of land in question, was bought by the State Presbyterians as a site for an orphanage, for $4,000. The committee has had a standing offer of $8,000 for it.

TO HELP OURSELVES.

An Important Feature of the Grape Fair.

Commissioner J. T. Patrick, of the Southern Inter-States Immigration Association, says that an important feature of the Grape Fair and Alliance Farmers' Encampment to be held at Mount Holly, N. C., July 28th to August 2d, will be the organization of a league, whose members pledge themselves to use, as far as possible, the products of Southern manufacturers of every kind. At every fair held in the South this year, such an organization should be made. Manufacturers of all kinds of goods should place samples at all of these fairs and show the people how much the South herself produces for the necessities of her home life.

We are receiving daily samples of all kinds of goods from Southern manufacturers to be exhibited at Mount Holly Fair and Alliance Farmers' Encampment.

THE STATE FAIR.

It Promises to be a Success—Because It Has Enthusiastic Supporters.

Yesterday morning the CHRONICLE ventured to make a modest inquiry or two with reference to the State Fair.

On the same day something was learned which shows that the fair is not suffering for the want of energetic and enthusiastic workers.

Mr. W. E. Ashley is one of the executive committee, and he is always unanimously in favor of having a successful fair. He was in Greensboro last Friday morning and while walking up and down the platform waiting for his train to start, he collared a prominent gentleman of the piedmont section and began to talk State Fair to him. Mr. Ashley became enthused and the prominent gentleman became interested. They evermore talked and listened to each other, and virtually decided that the coming fair should be the biggest thing ever held in this State. Then Mr. Ashley turned to get on his train, as he thought, but it had cleared out and was probably fifteen or twenty miles on its way to Raleigh. It was the first time in all his life that Mr. Ashley was ever "left."

He ruminated over and commented on the occurrence, in a mild way of course, for the next few minutes, and as he had to wait for the next train, he put in some good work in the intervening time for the fair.

That kind of thing is what makes the CHRONICLE say that the fair is safe.

The Farmers' Meeting.

Next Wednesday will be a great day in Greensboro. It will be the occasion of a grand rally of the Farmers' Alliance. Great crowds are expected from all sections. The CHRONICLE hopes that 20,000 people will be present to greet the distinguished speakers. Col. L. L. Polk will make the opening speech. The CHRONICLE will be on hand and keep its readers posted of the exercises of the great day.

Dead.

At the home of his father, in Alamance county, last night, at 11 o'clock, Mr. George B. Foster, brother of Rev. J. L. Foster, pastor of the Christian church, of this city. He had been ill for three weeks of typhoid fever, and was 20 years old.

Mrs. Martha O. Hargrave, wife of Colonel Jesse Hargrave, of Laurel Hill, Richmond county, departed this life on the 17th instant. The deceased was a sister of Mr. David S. Cowan and Capt. John Cowan, of this city.—Wilmington Messenger.

Masonic.

Hiram Lodge, No. 40, A. F. & A. W. will meet in regular communication Monday evening, July 21st, at 8 o'clock. A full meeting of the membership is earnestly requested, as there will be business of importance to be attended to, among which, will be work in the 3rd degree.

Brethren of sister lodges cordially invited.

E. B. THOMAS, Sect'y.

Oak Ridge Institute.

We note with pride the increasing popularity of Oak Ridge Institute in Guilford county, N. C. Its enrollment during the scholastic year of '89-'90, reached 267. This places it in the lead among southern schools. The reasons for the unprecedented prosperity are plain. It combines cheapness and thoroughness, with splendid new buildings and furniture, with health and healthfulness of location it is unsurpassed. See advertisement.

For Forty-five Days

We will offer inducements that you will not duplicate elsewhere in all summer fabrics. We intend to buy the largest stock this fall that we have ever bought in anticipation of an enormous fall trade. We need every foot of space we can possibly secure for this stock. We have now a very complete stock in all the summer fabrics, and we have only forty-five more days to sell them in. We must sell them. The cost of the goods is of no consideration from now on to the first of September. We can easily sell $15,000 per month, but to close out our stock as near as we want to we will have to sell at the rate of $20,000 per month. This is why we offer these inducements; and we expect the prices we put on these goods to close them out before the first of September. We offer lower prices than you will ever find on these goods again. We want all the ladies to share in these bargains.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Company, in their cotton circular to-night say: It has been a day of exceptional dullness in all speculative markets. The meagre weather reports received indicate that rain is still badly needed, especially in Texas. Our Galveston correspondent advises us that the only rain which has recently fallen is in the coast counties. The CHRONICLE admits that the "moisture is somewhat insufficient. Such changes in prices as has to-day been effected is therefore in an upward direction, and new crops are some 3 to 4 points better than yesterday. Liverpool is partially a point better but very dull. Sales 5,000 bales. The stagnation in August deliveries is received with apprehension by both shorts and longs, and it is evident that a final liquidation of the open interest will be accompanied, of necessity, by violent fluctuations.

Futures closed steady as follows: July 12 19—August 11 95—September 10 99—October 10 70—November 10 68—December 10 60—January 10 64-65—February 10 69-70—March 10 71-72

In Liverpool spot cotton closed. Today middlings uplands 6 9 16; sales 6,000 bales.
