THE CHRONICLE THANKED BY THE DELEGATES TO THE NEGRO CONVENTION FOR ITS FULL AND FAIR REPORT.

The Negroes Feel an Appreciation of Justice Done Them by the Chronicle and the Delegates Express Their Thanks.

Yesterday morning, shortly before ten o'clock, as the editor was sitting at his desk in conversation with a public-spirited citizen, the office and lobbies of the CHRONICLE office began to fill up with negro men from all parts of the State who had been delegates to the negro convention which had been in session. A member of the CHRONICLE staff thought that they were looking for the Hall and had mistaken their way and got into the wrong place. As soon as they had all gathered, Prof. John C. Daney, of Salisbury, advanced and said that the large delegation had called to express their thanks to the CHRONICLE for its full, accurate and just account of the proceedings of the convention of the day before. Prof. E. E. Smith, minister to Liberia, Prof. Moore and others of the delegates spoke in similar strains of grateful thanks and appreciation of the fairness and impartiality of the CHRONICLE, and its kind interest in the welfare of negroes.

Mr. Josephus Daniels, the editor, told the delegates that for himself and the CHRONICLE staff he thanked them for the call, and for the complimentary allusions made to the CHRONICLE's report of their convention, which was prepared by Mr. Ayer. He told them that he had been favorably impressed with the progress made by their race, as evidenced by the proceedings of their convention on Tuesday—that he believed it was a representative body of the most intelligent and moral negroes in the State—that he was always glad to see them standing firmly for their independence of bosses, united in favor of educational advantages for their race, and earnestly seeking to promote their moral welfare. Without independence, education and morality, the negro cannot hope to come up to the full measure of his opportunities and responsibilities. The convention showed a determination to fight along these lines.

Personally, continued Mr. Daniels, he would always do what he could to advance the best interests of the negro. Those in the delegation who had known him long knew that he had always advanced good public schools, supported by taxation, for their race, and he assured them that he favored the establishment of an agricultural and mechanical college for negroes in a State where they could better learn how to make themselves useful.

As for the CHRONICLE's report, it was a matter of principle with this paper to print the news, and all the news, and give it to the people fairly and impartially and freely. In the present instance, as in all instances, this has been done. Those negroes deserved no thanks for doing as simple duty, but it was nevertheless gratified to have the representatives of the best thinking of negroes ever held in the State to appreciate the policy of the fairness of this paper. This, in itself showed an ascending sense of fairness and appreciation in the negroes that was creditable to the race.

Later in the morning another company of delegates headed by John Williamson, the originator of the convention, called to thank the CHRONICLE for its full report. "We know you are a Democrat," said John "but we thank you for creating us with justice." The CHRONICLE is endorsed by the respectable negroes of the State.

We publish the above and give it emphasis because, for more than ten years, this editor has sought in every way to secure the real and permanent advancement of the negroes among whom he was born and among whom he has never received anything but kindness and toward them he has never had any other feeling than of kindness and desire to help them work out their destiny with credit to themselves and the South. Here, together in North Carolina, the destiny of both races must be worked out, and not elsewhere. We want to see all the negroes honest, industrious, upright and educated. We believe that in their enlightenment will come their freedom from bondage, for, though free, they have always been in political bondage since their freedom, and have been the tools of either corrupt or selfish man. We hope that they have the nerve to stand up to their expressions. If so, better days will come to them all.

We dwell upon this call of the negro delegates because it is an unheard of thing in North Carolina for so large and so intelligent a body of that race to call and thank a Democratic editor for anything. Too often in the past they have looked upon their best friends with distrust and held aloof from them, and been unwilling to express their appreciation of justice from a Democrat for fear it would injure their party standing. They have got beyond that, greatly to the disappointment of the white bosses whom they elect to office. THE CHRONICLE does not ask them to change their politics. It does ask them to do as they have done now—keep their eyes open and not act like "dumb-driven cattle."

We are also led to this because a number of our colored friends sometimes think the CHRONICLE is very severe upon them. They are mistaken. We are never severe upon them, but when they seek, knowingly or ignorantly, to do what will bring evil upon the State, we are severe upon their public acts. There is a difference here—and a broad difference which the more intelligent ones will not fail to see. We never abuse them; we do have to denounce their acts at times. In doing so we want them to understand that we measure out to them justice tempered with an appreciation of their limitations and their obstacles.

ALAMANCE INSTRUCTED FOR VANCE.

Every County in North Carolina Ought to Instruct its Representatives to Vote for the Matchless Vance.

[Special Cor. of STATE CHRONICLE.]

GRAHAM, N. C., Aug. 26.—In to-day's CHRONICLE the report of the Alamance county convention states that "a resolution was passed endorsing Vance." This is the truth, but not the whole truth. The convention not only endorsed, but INSTRUCTED FOR VANCE, and our nominee for the House, in accepting the nomination, clearly defined his position in saying that he not only intended to vote for Vance, but to work for his return to the Senate. We think this should be made a prominent issue now in order to avoid the possibility of trouble later. We wish it understood that there was no uncertain or indefinite stand taken on this question by the Democrats of Alamance. And it is not out of place to add that this was (as every representative Democratic convention is) a convention of farmers, a farmer being chosen for each of the positions Representative, clerk, surveyor and register, a strong ticket, and that the very first business brought before the convention were three different resolutions endorsing and instructing for Vance, introduced by three of the leading farmers and Alliance men in the county. This is the way we stand, and we would think it a reflection upon our intelligence to be in favor, under the circumstances, of any other man to supersede Vance, and especially just at this time, as United States Senator from North Carolina.

AN ALAMANCE DEMOCRAT.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS!

Heed the Call—Come Out To-night.

Every young Democrat in Raleigh township should respond to the call made for a great mass meeting of the young Democracy at the Mayor's office to-night.

There is some lively and interesting campaign work to do, and the vigorous and earnest and enthusiastic boys are wanted to do the work.

The young Democracy will of course work wherever necessary, but the special work of Raleigh's young Democracy will be directed toward winning a sweeping county Democratic victory.

The prospects are bright. The enemy is getting nervous and hacked. Come out boys—every one. Let's form a Democratic brigade that will ride over and bury every candidate that opposes it.

N. C. CROPS GOOD.

(New York Herald.)

The Herald's Raleigh despatch to day gives some important and suggestive returns from the Agricultural Department of North Carolina. These returns, based on reports from a thousand correspondents in the State, show that the percentages of condition are 99 for rice, 95 for tobacco, 99 for corn and 102 for cotton.

As the crop outlook in North Carolina gives probably a fair idea of the conditions in all the South Atlantic States these official returns are significant. The rainfall of the last six weeks has been more than the planter would covet. But the cotton has not been hurt and its average is remarkably high.

It is impossible, however, to tell what effect the weather of the next three or four weeks may have upon cotton. So far this season the South Atlantic seaboard has not been invaded by any tropical storm. But the period when hurricanes from the West Indies are to be expected is now at hand, and if they are severe in the States the crop outlook may soon be seriously modified.

The Harvest Outlook.

The following was the dispatch sent to the Herald:

RALEIGH, Aug. 25, 1890.—The Agricultural Department this evening completed the August crop report, which is based on returns from a thousand correspondents. The standard is 100, and the percentages of condition are as follows: Rice, 90; corn, 99; cotton, 102; tobacco, 95; sweet potatoes, 98; peanuts, 98. Rains have not hurt cotton, nor reduced its remarkably high condition.

Does Vance Wear a Sash.

(Charlotte News.)

Now they tell it on Senator Vance that he has been guilty of wearing one of these dulle silk wavy wands, but that when he came down here to tell the South-Israh how to farm, he discarded his city garb and wore a suit that had been keeping the Gombroon moths in provender for three years past. There must be some truth in rumor about the Senator and the sash, for when Vance returned to Washington, the Star greeted him with this refrain:

Now Senator Vance
May take off his pants,
And put on his sash with elation;
He may dress as he feels,
But the loyal Tar Heels
Have endorsed him by acclamation.
The Alliance platform is not yet fully made up, and at its next general meeting we expect to see a plank inserted demanding a tariff on silk sashes and "yaller" shoes.

THE FIFTH DISTRICT.

A THUNDER CLAP FOR BROWER'S CONSTITUENCY.

They Thought the Colored People Were Talking—They Find Some Action—Attempt at Burglary.

(Special Cor. State Chronicle.)

WINSTON, N. C., Aug. 27.—The news of the nomination of C. H. Moore (co) of Greensboro, as the colored man's candidate for Congress in this district, fell like a thunder clap on the unsuspecting friends of a "Brower" in this section. Moore is a smart negro and all his colored brethren believe in him and they will follow him in large numbers. Having behind him the organ of the negro voters of Piedmont Carolina, the Greensboro Progress, and aided by the general disruption in the Radical Brower camp, his nomination is virtually the defeat of the Czar of Surry who has hitherto thought that his colored constituency was doing more talking than acting. Your correspondent interviewed several enthusiastic Republicans after the news of this nomination appeared in the Twin-City Daily and it was very amusing to hear them talk. Four colored men who knew the pulse of their race well, assured me that the negro vote of Forsyth would be given to Moore against Brower, and that, unless a great deal of work and money is put in the border counties they will also go against the young Czar. One of those blooming white "Reps," you often meet with, came in from Surry county this morning and kindly assured me of the strength of Settle and Brower there, stating that both of them would carry the county by a better majority than they did the last election. Another Republican from that same county assured me that there was little hope for Brower there and that any statement to the contrary was untrue. He was an anti-Brower man and was hot in his denunciation of him.

You never saw men of the same party wearing so many different stripes in your life. We have anti-Brower Republicans, anti-Settle and Brower Republicans, Settle and anti-Brower Republicans, Goslen Republicans, Farmers Alliance Republicans and "Buzzer" Republicans (the latter species signing their name "Clockknocker"). Surely the true born and genuine Republican, the one who always votes the straight ticket must have a coat of many colors.

I was lucky to run up on a man from Yadkin county yesterday afternoon who was overjoyed to see that he had found a newspaper man. I did not understand why it was that he button holed me and took my arm, awfully desirous of giving me some news. When I asked him for it, it came quick. He was a Republican and had been nominated at the county convention Monday for one of the highest honors in the gift of the convention; and if you could have heard how loud he was in informing me of the big speech he made and the big vote he received, it would have tickled your Democratic side ribs no little. At the convention, however, the following ticket was nominated, and I must confess that my informant never forgot to tell me, when I reached his name, of the big speech he made and the storm of applause which I firmly believe still rings in his anxious and highly imaginative ears:

For the House—M. H. Vestal.
For Sheriff—A. R. Lakey.
For Clerk—R. E. Holton.
For Register—J. T. Smitherman.
For Treasurer—M. M. Crummell.

Upon questioning the gentleman as to the stand Yadkin county would take in the Congressional convention he declared that it would be for anybody except Ted Thomas, whom he declared was just running for a huge joke.

The above new candidate, P. C. Thomas, was over here yesterday and was in conference for some time with the other birds of his feather. It was whispered about that the CHRONICLE had gotten after him with a sharp stick, whereupon that issue grew in great demand for a while. If Thomas is running for a huge joke, it must be admitted that he is succeeding, but it seems as if it is quite an expensive joke for his party.

Our board of aldermen has decided upon constructing a sewerage system, and both cities are to receive the benefit therefrom. The contract has not yet been awarded, but it is quite certain that as soon as the two cities can complete their arrangements the work will be commenced.

An attempt at burglary was made in the West End Monday afternoon in broad daylight. All the family of Mr. J. M. Morton had gone out visiting, with the exception of a sixteen-year-old daughter, who had some duties to attend to in the house. At about 5 o'clock p. m., a negro crept into the house and hid himself in the sitting room. All of a sudden a pistol shot was heard in the room, and the young lady, terribly frightened, rushed in the direction of the noise and found the sitting room full of smoke. She then went to the parlor, but found it locked. Upon going out doors to call for help, she discovered a negro man's face at the parlor window. The young lady went for help, and the negro unlocked the door and escaped out the back way. No trace or clue to his identity can be found.

THE CHRONICLE stand-by, Ben Hardy, has been up here talking to the best people the sun shines on. He looks like he is well fed these days, but still he cries "feed me on subscriptions." The people here know him well and love to hear his good sense and shake his cordial hand. THE CHRONICLE evidently gets there from a ten-cent hoop to a big elephant for the zoo.

Provided Raleigh People Will Hump Themselves—A Chance Still Left to Get the Albemarle and Raleigh Railroad.

The CHRONICLE has for some time been begging and urging Raleigh people to take some active steps toward securing the completion of the Raleigh and Albemarle railroad from Stanhope to Raleigh. Raleigh people have failed to make a very active response—and now just look here:

The stockholders of the Wilmington and Weldon railroad company held a meeting at Wilmington on Tuesday at which Mr. D. G. Worth presided. The Messenger says: After the business before the meeting had been brought up in detail and been freely and fully discussed, a resolution was adopted authorizing the extension and completion of the Nashville branch from its present terminus at Springhope to the city of Raleigh, or to Durham, or to both, or to any point on the Lynchburg and Durham railroad. A further resolution was adopted authorizing an increase of the capital stock of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad company, under act of February 21st, 1887, to such an amount as may be necessary for completion of the Fayetteville branch to the South Carolina State line; the extension and completion of the Scotland Neck branch from the Albemarle and Raleigh junction to Kinston and Washington, and also the extension and completion of the Nashville branch to Raleigh or Durham, or to both, or to any point on the line of the Lynchburg and Durham railroad—the construction of all these branches having already been authorized by the stockholders.

The resolution gives to the Board of Directors the power to arrange all the details as to the opening of the books of subscription and the issuing of new stock and provides that the proceeds of the sale of stock issued shall in each case be strictly applied to the construction and completion of the branch lines on account of which the same may be issued.

That elegant gentleman, well known in our city, Col. Benjamin Cameron, of Hillsboro, was here representing the Lynchburg and Durham railroad with a view to furthering this project, and from him we ascertain that the great enthusiasm is felt among the line of that road over the prospect of an early connection with Wilmington.

It seems from this that Raleigh people have been caught napping. Raleigh has been saying "the road would come here anyhow."

HOW IS THIS?

A Grave Report Against Mr. Powderly—He is Virtually Accused of Making a Great Deal For Himself—Out of the Troubles and Trials of his Brotherhood.

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 27.—The Sun's Detroit special says: Tom Barry, formerly of the executive board of the Knights of Labor, in an interview yesterday as to the outlook in the present strike, said it was a failure from the start because it lacked proper executive ability behind it. Powderly did not take hold until too late to be of service.

When asked why Knights of Labor strikes failed all over the country, he said:

"If you want me to tell you what is the reason that the Knights are a back-number, why here it is: Did you ever hear of an officer in an organization trying to bleed the members for all there was in it. Yes, perhaps you have. Let me tell you something. Do you remember the great southwestern strike? Well I was right in the midst of the quarrel. The stocks of the railroad fell right out of sight. While this strife was on I was approached by a Wall street broker and offered $100,000 in cold cash to tell in advance when the strike was to be settled. I told the broker I was not in it that way. I refused that $100,000, but as a member of the board I laid the proposition before the others. Of course they rejected it with scorn; but twenty-four hours later Mr. Powderly was in New York negotiating with the very broker whom I slighted. One day later the strike was declared off."

Mr. Barry evidently knew more of this transaction than he told but would say no more.

W. J. Rogers for Congress.

(Special Correspondence State Chronicle.)

Since the names of so many have been mentioned for Congress, it seems but just that the name which heads this article should be mentioned again.

Captain Rogers is a man of the people and for the people, a man who has been tried and not found wanting when the good of his people was at stake. Educated at our University, and in full sympathy with all that pertains to its welfare; a man who has convictions, and who does not hesitate to express them in the face of opposition, when he knows that he is right; a farmer who knows what true farming is, and who is anxious to see every thing done that can be for the interest of the farming people.

So popular is he that he can get the nomination for any office he desires in his county, and could set the full vote of the Democratic party in his county.

He has been for two years president of the Farmers' Alliance in Northampton. He is thoroughly identified with the cause of education and will do anything in his power to establish good schools all over our country.

When the delegates meet in Kinston, let them nominate Mr. Rogers, and they may safely count on him getting the support of his party in November.

THE LIQUOR BUSINESS IN THE SENATE WING.

Slow Progress With It—A Fictitious Amuses the House—Which Body Continues to do Nothing.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—In the Senate this morning the resolution offered by Mr. Plumb several days ago, instructing the committee on rules to issue orders to prevent the sale of all kinds of liquors in the Senate wing of the Capitol was taken up. Mr. Butler's proposed amendment directing the sergeant-at-arms to make daily inspection of the committee rooms to see if liquors were used there was rejected.

After discussing Mr. Blair's amendment to prohibit the use of liquors in the Capitol "as a beverage," the resolution and amendments, on motion of Mr. Sherman, were referred to the committee on rules.

The tariff bill was then taken up, the question being on a substitute offered by Mr. McPherson yesterday for schedule D, wood and manufactures of wood.

Mr. Davis spoke in favor of reciprocal trade relations with South American countries, and in favor of placing binding twine on the free list. He said the question affected Minnesota farmers to the extent of a million dollars annually, and the manufacture of binding twine in this country was in hands of a combination which was making large profits and was abundantly able to take care of itself without the aid of a duty.

OHIO DEMOCRATS.

They Demand a Reduction of the Tariff—And Invite the Laboring Classes to Join the Democratic Party.

(By United Press.)

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 27.—Thaddeus E. Cromley, of Picaway county, was unanimously nominated for Secretary of State by the Democratic convention here to-day.

The platform adopted demands the reduction of the tariff taxes, favors legislation looking to the suppression of trusts, sympathizing with the laboring classes against monopolies and inviting them to join the Democratic party, favors the free coinage of silver, acknowledges the services of the soldiers of the rebellion, and denounces the duplicity of the Republicans in not keeping their pledges as to pension legislation. It demands a free ballot and a fair count, denounces the Federal election bill, and the despotic rule of rules adopted by the present National House of Representatives, and heartily endorses the administration of Governor Campbell and the record of the sixty-ninth general assembly.

A LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES

And Mangles an Engineer and Fireman Beyond Recognition.

(By United Press.)

MANSFIELD, O., Aug. 27.—As freight train No. 85, east bound, on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad was pulling into Pavonia, a small station seven miles east of this city, about 3:30 this morning, the boiler of the engine exploded with terrific force. The engineer and fireman were instantly killed, their bodies being mangled beyond recognition.

The Hop Crop is Short.

(By United Press.)

SOUTH CAROLINA TROUBLES.

All Danger of a Split Now Passed—Tillman will be the Next Governor.

(By United Press.)

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 27.—The Straightout Democratic conference at Columbia adjourned at 3 o'clock this morning. Senator Butler came down from Washington, and it is said smoothed over things. All danger of a split is now passed, and Tillman will be the next Governor of South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 27.—

The straightout Democratic State conference remained in secret session until 2:15 o'clock this morning when it adjourned. The views of the conservative element prevailed, and resolutions were adopted which, while condemning the arbitrary action of the Tillmanite majority in the recent State convention as unnecessary and illegal, and justifying the secession of the straightout minority, declare the continued supremacy of the white race in control and administration of the government a consideration of paramount importance to which the interests of individuals and factions should be unhesitatingly subordinated. The resolutions declare the restoration of political harmony among our people as a high necessity; cherish the hope that this may be consummated through the exercise of mutual forbearance, inspired by the broadest patriotism, and that the contest may be finally settled by the September nominating convention.

THE K. OF L.

Will Order no More Strikes for the Present—A Stamp Campaign Among the Workmen.

(By United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Mr. Powderly and Mr. Hayes, of the general executive board of the K. of L., are at the St. Cloud hotel, where they will remain for the present.

Mr. Hayes said to day that the board would not order any more strikes, at least for the present, but would devote its energies to arranging for stamping the State with well known speakers, who would, in a forcible manner, present the matter to the workmen. To night Mr. Davlin speaks in Buffalo; Mr. Wright in Schenectady, and to-morrow night in Syracuse; B. McGuire in Utica to-night, at Poughkeepsie to-morrow night, at Weehawken Friday, and here on Saturday.

Among others who will speak are James H. Millen, of Boston; M. H. Butler, of Warren, Pa., and J. D. Long, of Detroit.

A Delightful and Charming Affair.

The young people—and the old people too—who went to the entertainment given by the Ladies of Edenton Street church on Tuesday night, are not yet done talking about what a delightful affair it was.

Everybody enjoyed it. At Mrs. novel, unique and interesting. Many people who have heard about it are sorry they didn't go, and are wanting a chance to participate in an occasion just like it.

There's but one thing to do. That entertainment must be given again.

It's almost a pity to impose so much of the kindness of the ladies, but the CHRONICLE, in behalf of many young folks, begs for an early repetition of the affair. They want it. Will the ladies kindly respond?

Deaths.

At the residence of her mother on New Bern Avenue yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, after a protracted illness, Mrs. Mary Brown, wife of Charles A. Brown, aged 34 years.

The funeral services will take place from the residence this morning at ten o'clock.

Sunday morning, William H. Overman, Sr., one of the oldest and one of the most prominent citizens of Salisbury departed this life. He was born in Pasquotank county near Elizabeth City, on the 10th day of May, 1812. In 1830, he moved to Greensboro, and spent some years there. He finally settled down in Salisbury in 1841. The following year he married Miss Mary Slater, of Salisbury, who survives him. Mr. Overman was a man successful in business, preserving in all his dealings with his fellowmen, the strictest integrity. He was for a long time engaged in the hardware business. He became a member of the Methodist church in 1832.

Mr. Overman leaves the following children: W. H. Overman, Chas. Overman, Hon. Lee S. Overman, Prof. H. J. Overman, and Mrs. Dr. Mangum. All of these were at his bedside at his death. —Salisbury Cor. Charlotte Chronicle.
