

DID THE PRINCE DEAL THE GAME?

IT LOOKS SO ON THE CROSS EXAMINATION IN THE COURT ROOM.

IT WAS A JURYMAN THAT BROKE HIM UP.

This is the Continuation of a Trial That is Interesting London Social Circles.

LONDON, May 2.—Fashionable London, wherever was possible so to do, again to-day deserted the sunshine, for the stifling atmosphere at the Royal courts, wherein Lord Chief Justice Colclough sits in judgment in the Baccarat Case, or what West end ladies modestly whisper of as "that terrible case of the prince, the Colonel and the lady." The court room was crowded. The cross examination of Sir Mm. Gordon Cumming, the plaintiff in the case was concluded to-day, but little of importance was elicited.

At the conclusion of the testimony of Sir Wm. Gordon Cumming, the Prince of Wales was called to the witness stand. He testified that at the time of the alleged cheating he saw nothing out of the way until Lord Coventry informed him that something was wrong. The Prince then recited how the sad event had resulted in the breaking up of the party assembled at Tranby Croft. Before leaving Mrs. Wilson's residence, the witness had sent to his private secretary for safe-keeping, a statement in connection with the case, which was signed by three of the gentlemen and two of the ladies who were present. Sir Francis was not aware of the nature of the statement and had not seen Sir William Gordon Cumming until after that gentleman had been interviewed by General Williams and Lord Coventry and had denied the truth of the charge to him. When witness heard the story of Sir William's alleged wrong-doing, General Williams and Lord Coventry prepared for and handed him a précis of the occurrence. This concluded the evidence of the Prince on direct examination. In reply to questions by Sir Charles, the Prince testified, on cross-examination, that the suggestion that a memorandum of the unfortunate affair be prepared and submitted to Sir William for his signature, did not come from him. It was simply a proposition made by Lord Coventry in which the witness acquiesced. Witness was greatly distressed by the occurrence.

Here the Prince was asked how recently he had been in the company of the plaintiff. His reply, which was, "I have not met Sir William Gordon Cumming since the unfortunate occurrence here under investigation; I should consider it more agreeable not to meet him in the future," was delivered with somewhat of emphasis and created a sensation. When Sir Chas. Russell had concluded his cross examination and after Sir Edward Clarke on behalf of the prosecution had with courtesy grace assured the Prince that he would not be detained one moment longer than was absolutely necessary, there came the only really exciting scene of the day. Hardly had the Solicitor General finished his deprecatory sentence when a jurymen after indicating his desire that the witness should not leave the box, proceeded calmly and deliberately to examine him as follows:

Juror—Are the members of this jury to understand that you were acting as banker on these two occasions, and yet saw nothing of the alleged malpractice? Prince of Wales—It is not a very easy matter for the banker dealing to see anything of that kind. Especially is this true when the game is being played in the country house of friends where one would not for a moment suspect any person present of unfair playing.

Sir Edward Clarke asked a question in re-direct examination, which drew from the witness an emphatic repetition of his original statement that he had not himself seen unfair play. Witness was then allowed to leave the box. His testimony had been given in a halting, hesitating way, and although he had been but twenty minutes in the witness box, it was plainly apparent to every one present that the Prince was glad the ordeal was over. While in the box he had been uneasy, had frequently and restlessly changed his position and nervously smoothed his beard. Not once did he lift his eyes or look upon the eager faces everywhere staring at him. His face was flushed, and an occasional tremor shook his frame. But very few of his answers were audible to others than those in close proximity to the witness-box. After the Prince left the court-room, Gen. Owen Williams was examined. Interest seemed to lag after the departure of the Prince. At the conclusion of the day's hearing, the plaintiff's counsel announced their case closed. The Court adjourned until to-morrow, when the defence will begin.

CARMENCITA BUCK TWIRLS BALL.

AND GOOSE-EGGS CLEVELAND BY SEVEN TO NOTHING.

BALTIMORE LOSES TO ST. LOUIS.

While Ward's Men Pile up Runs on the Iron City Boys.

NEW YORK, June 2.—For the second time in the present series, Carmencita Ewing shut out Cincinnati. He was perfectly supported by the rest of the giants. Three earned runs were made off Seward in as many innings, and he is relieved by Vean, who was well supported. The star plays of the game was made by Connor and Ewing in the eighth inning. Connor, while on a run, stopped a terrific liner from Davis's bat. Ewing and Davis then raced for first. Just as the former reached the bag, he stretched out his long body and caught the wild throw by Connor. Glascock and Davis batted hard. Score 7 to 0.

Pittsburg Not in It.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 2.—To-day's game was very one-sided, owing to the listless playing of Pittsburg. Their errors were costly and generally were followed by safe hits or sacrifices by the home team. Besides batting hard the Bridegrooms played well in the field. Pinckneys catch of Brownings red hot liner was the feature of the game. Attendance, 1,067; score, 15 to 6 in Brooklyn's favor.

Clarkson Knocked Hard.

Boston, June 2.—Staley, who performed so well in the box for the Boston Association the other day, started in to pitch again to-day. He seemed to have lost his cunning, however, and was batted out of the box in one inning. Clarkson relieved him and fared almost as badly as his brother Twitler. Score, Boston 3; Cincinnati 10.

Chicago Chicagoed.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Chicago was "Chicagoed" to-day because of their inability to bat Gleason, who pitched a great game and who received good support. Delehanty's batting was a feature, as was also Dahlen's and Pfeiffer's fielding. Anson tried a new man, Honan, behind the bat and he did well. Attendance 2,629. Score—Philadelphia, 8; Chicago, 0.

American Association.

Rain prevented the game at Columbus, Cincinnati and Louisville. At St. Louis—St. Louis, 6; Baltimore, 4. Batteries, Stivett and Boyle, McMahon and Townsend. Umpire, Ferguson.

100 Blooded Horses.

Capt. B. P. Williamson says that July 4th will see some of the finest racing ever done in Raleigh. Most of our principal towns will send blooded stock and there will be over a hundred blooded racers here on that day. Great efforts are being made to have a grand pyrotechnic display.

DO YOU RECKON IT IS TRUE?

THAT TWELVE OF WARREN COUNTY'S BEST CITIZENS WOULD HAVE VIOLATED THE LAW.

JUST FOR PETTY TEMPORAL TRIUMPH?

The Chronicle Believes Not, Nevertheless They are to Be Tried Before the U. S. Court Charged With It.

There is much indignation in Warren county and in this city over the fact that twelve of the former's best citizens, men of high character and sterling integrity have been brought to the United States District court to be tried, charged with violating the election law in the election of 1888.

The names of these men are W. H. Bobbitt, J. T. Northeott, J. H. Bullock, M. T. Duke, H. C. Moseley, J. H. Mayfield, A. S. Webb, R. H. Ford, W. P. Massenburg, P. G. Alston, J. P. Leach, J. B. Wiggin.

They composed the county canvassing board, and were indicted for not counting the vote of Sandy Creek township which was irregular and did not fill the requirements of the law.

These citizens will be represented by F. H. Busbee, T. C. Fuller, C. M. Cook, R. B. Peebles, W. H. Day, T. W. Mason, W. A. Montgomery and others.

Judge Daniel L. Russell, of Wilmington, will prosecute the case as District Attorney Cook appears as a witness.

THIRTY-EIGHT SWEET GIRLS Will Graduate at Salem Academy To-Day.

(See 1st to 5th CHRONICLE)

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., June 2.—To-night at Salem Academy the seniors' essays of the second evening are being read. The attendance is at least 2,000. Dr. Rice, of New York, is here, who delivers the address to-morrow to the thirty-eight young lady graduates. The art exhibit this afternoon was a realm of beauty. At least 2,000 paintings and articles of decorative needle work, were tastefully displayed. The museum of Salem, containing articles gathered for the past century by Moravian Missionaries from all quarters of the globe, is a place of much interest to many visitors. Rev. H. C. Morrison, of Atlanta, Ga., who preached the Baccalaureate sermon, left for Tennessee, to-day where he performs a similar pleasant duty.

An excellent programme has been prepared for to-morrow, commencement day.

State Auditor Sanderlin and other North Carolinians of prominence we notice among the guests. Last night the academy tendered a pleasant reception to the press and musicians and Capt. Goslen of the Winston Republican responded for the brethren of the Quill. A musical feature at the grand concert to-morrow night is "The feast of Adonis," by a Jensen solo and chorus with 100 voices and full orchestra.

A Man Killed Near Reidsville.

(By The United Press.)

DANVILLE, Va., June 2.—Eugene Palmer, while intoxicated to-day, attempted to cross the Richmond & Danville R. R. track at Reidsville, N. C., just ahead of a north-bound freight train and was run into by the engine and killed. The deceased was a farmer.

James Harris's Remains Buried.

Perhaps the largest colored funeral which has taken place in Raleigh took place today, when a great crowd laid to rest the remains of Jas. H. Harris. They arrived from Washington at 5 o'clock and a long funeral train headed by a cornet band which played the funeral dirge, bore them to the tomb.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

(By The United Press.)

NEW YORK, June 2.—Messrs. Hubbard, Price and Company, in their cotton circular to-night, say:

"No fresh tenders can be made in Liverpool on Tuesday, but the demoralization resulting from yesterday's deliveries continued, the near positions at the opening being three points lower than yesterday, and the distant showing a decline of 1-32. Later cables, however, advised an improvement; intimated that the feeling in financial circles in London was better, and that the bank of England rate would be reduced to four per cent. on Thursday. The result was a firm closing in Liverpool and a recovery in prices from 6.85 for August, the lowest point thus far touched, to the 73. At this figure the bears were again emboldened to attack the market and caught some orders, the execution of which resulted in a decline to about last evening's prices."

Receipts at ports to-day estimated at 6,000 bales, against 5,890 bales last week, and 1,172 bales the same week last year.

The spot market is easy at 1-64 decline on quotations; middling uplands 8 13-16; sales 247 bales.

Transactions in futures to-day 75,000 bales.

Futures closed steady, as follows:

TESTIMONIALS:

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 19, 1890.

MESSES. LEE, JOHNSON & CO.:

Gentlemen:—I take great pleasure in adding my testimony to the worth of your Anticephalalgne as a specific for headache in all forms. For many years I have been a great sufferer with this ailment and take pleasure in stating that in no instance when directions were followed, has it failed to give immediate relief.

MESSES. LEE, JOHNSON & CO.:

Gentlemen:—Some days ago I was suffering from a headache, so intense as to force me from my business, but upon obtaining a dose of your 'Anticephalalgne' was so much relieved as to be able to remain at my post a duty.

It is a fine remedy, and I trust that you may make its merits known to sufferers and the public. Yours truly,

J. M. BARBER,

Clerk at Postoffice.
