

Retired Georgia Planter's Advice to Kidney Sufferers

Regarding the wonderful curative merits of your Swamp-Root, I cannot say too much. After suffering severely for three years or more with severe pains caused by weak kidneys, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of the newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and before it was used I felt so much relief that I purchased a one-dollar bottle and by the time this was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep the whole night through. I am a retired planter, 70 years of age, and owing to Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

Sincerely yours,
C. E. USSERY,
Bowersville, Ga.

BY E. R. LANGHAM.
They are off in a bunch! Are you one of them? The first list of nominations in The Commonwealth's Great Automobile and Prize Contest is printed today. Look over the list and pick out a favorite, or better yet, if you are not a candidate, clip out the nomination ballot, fill in, and enter the race. The prizes are worth your while. Evidently the people of Scotland Neck and vicinity think well of the hustlers of this vicinity—at any rate there's no dearth of favorites, and the "one best bet" would be difficult to select.

THE BEST PEOPLE ENTERED.
The names of the candidates appearing today are from best families of eastern North Carolina. Some have entered by themselves or their parents, while others have been nominated by their friends. All have the same opportunity to win one of the prizes. The winners will be the ones who hustle the hardest and do not overlook a chance to secure a subscription. Be a hustler, it costs you nothing but a little effort. Then just think of the valuable prizes. They are worth the effort. Your friends will help you if you ask them right way before someone else does.
From now on the contest will be on in earnest, and interest will increase each day.
The Contest Manager, Mr. E. R. Langham, will call on the contestants as soon as possible, but with such a large list of popular ones, it will take some time to see them all, so, if possible, call at the office and get one of the subscription books, also valuable information as to the best way to secure votes.
START EARLY.
While nominations will be coming in a month yet, you had better get in at the start, be in with the early ones. Join this live bunch of hustlers and have the time of your life. There will be lots of fun connected with the contest, and you don't want to miss any of it.
COMPETITION IS EQUALIZED.
A contest such as The Commonwealth is conducting; a race in which the competition has been so thoughtfully equalized that every one has the same opportunity to win, requires no spread-eagle methods of advertising. The number and the value and the extreme desirability of the list of matchless prizes need no perfervid press-agenting. The desire of The Commonwealth at this time is to make the contest as clear as possible; to have every one thoroughly understand that this is the greatest newspaper venture of the kind ever undertaken; that it is the one "greatest" opportunity of a life-time to satisfy a desire to win something strictly upon a competitive basis, and to firmly impress the idea of starting early on the minds of its thousands of readers in Eastern Carolina.
Strict adherence to the rules cannot come without thorough understanding of them, and to that end it is urged that a study be made of the manner in which prizes will be awarded, the division of districts, the schedule of votes and the manner in which votes are most easily secured; in short, The Commonwealth wants contestants to make their time yield them the greatest possible dividends in the form of prizes worth many times more than the value of the effort that will be required to win.
Votes are obtained by clipping and sending in the daily ballots that appear in each issue of The Commonwealth and by securing prepaid subscriptions, either old or new, to The Commonwealth.
In securing subscriptions, candidates are not restricted to their district, but may secure them any place in the United States.
The prizes are so numerous that every person who enters with the proper spirit will win a prize.
It doesn't cost a cent to enter or to win. The prizes will be given away absolutely free.

OPEN EVENINGS.
The Contest Department will be open evenings until 8 o'clock. Here is the subscription rate and vote schedule which will prevail during the contest.
Term: Price: Votes:
Ten years, $10.00 150,000
Nine years, $9.00 124,000
Eight years, $8.00 100,000

Six years, $ 6.00	64,000
Five years, $ 5.00	50,000
Four years, $ 4.00	40,000
Three years, $ 3.00	29,000
Two years, $ 2.00	14,000
One year, $ 1.00	5,000

And remember, this is a short contest, eight weeks, so it behooves you not to waste any of the precious time.

The fact that a large number of candidates have already entered the race should not frighten you. Simply because the more candidates in the fight the better chance you have of winning. It will require less effort on your part to secure a sufficient number of votes to win if you have a large number of candidates to compete with.

RECEIPT BOOKS.
Receipt books will be mailed or delivered to all candidates. But meanwhile get the promises of all your friends' subscriptions. Subscriptions are what count now and if you get the promise now the other candidates will not get ahead of you. If there is anything that you do not understand call the Contest Editor of The Commonwealth any time.

HOW TO VOTE.
All new and old subscribers making any payment for six months or over are entitled to vote according to the schedule that appears in the paper. There is a Voting Coupon in this issue of The Commonwealth which will count 25 votes when received at this office. Candidates desiring to win one of the many prizes we are offering will be supplied with a subscription book so that they may be prepared to accept and receipt for any payment that may be able to secure from their friends on subscription.

POINTS ABOUT THE CONTEST.
It is open to everybody, either ladies or gentlemen, residing in the territory as outlined by districts. You do not have to be a subscriber to The Commonwealth. You may nominate yourself or a friend. The nomination coupon in this paper counts for 1000 votes when properly filled out.
The contest is just starting and nominations should be made without delay.
There are a total of nine prizes.
Here is the list of nominations that have been received to date. More will be added as they are received and those who do not become active will be dropped from the list. If your name is not below send in your nomination today and join this "jolly bunch" for there is lively and interesting time ahead for those who are listed in The Commonwealth's Great Auto and Prize Contest.

The Halifax Club.
Chapel Hill, Oct. 6.—On Tuesday last the boys of Halifax county met for the purpose of reorganizing the Club and electing the officers for the ensuing year. Twelve out of the thirteen enrolled were present, and the following officers were elected: R. B. House, President; A. C. Zollinger, Vice-President; C. A. Boman, Secretary and Treasurer. The meeting was a very enthusiastic one and adjourned after the date in the near future was set for a "smoker."
Under the auspices of the County Clubs Presidents Association, Prof. E. C. Branson of the University of Georgia, made an interesting address in chapel Thursday night concerning County Club work, laying special stress on the works of the Johnston County Club last year.
The total registration of students up-to-date is 860. It is hoped that this number will be increased to 900 after the Christmas holidays, and in the course of two or three years, will attain the "1,000 mark."

GOOD ROADS PROCLAMATION

Governor Craig Has Named November 5th and 6th as Good Roads Day.

State of North Carolina, Executive Department, Raleigh.
Whereas the modern highway is essential to material prosperity, and to the advancement of the social life of every community; every people that aspires to join the forward procession and that hopes for the opportunities of our time is beginning to realize the necessity of improved roads; all sections and all progressive citizens are demanding them and determined to have them; the whole country has awakened to their importance; everywhere there is a generous rivalry to have the best, and everywhere enthusiasm for them is apparent, and increasing; and
Whereas the people of North Carolina are losing, according to reliable estimate, twelve million dollars annually on account of bad roads—this vast sum paid as a tribute to mud:
Now, therefore, recognizing the universal sentiment for road improvement, and realizing the benefits which must result therefrom to all the people, I, Locke Craig, Governor of North Carolina, do set apart Wednesday, the 5th day of November, 1913 as GOOD ROADS DAYS, and to appoint these days as holidays and days of festival throughout the State, to celebrate the beginning of an era wherein improved highways shall be built in every neighborhood, that all the people of farm and city may enjoy the opportunities which they bring.
I call upon all patriotic people throughout the State to work upon the public roads and refrain from all other occupations on these appointed days; and I call upon every able-bodied man to shoulder his shovel, and march out and strike a blow for progress. Let the farmer, the merchant, the lawyer, the doctor, the minister of the Gospel, the rich and the poor, and the men of all the walks of life, enlist as volunteers in the mighty army for grand accomplishment.

Let no man be above this work, nor forget his duty to himself and to his neighbors. It will be an honor to every man on these days to labor with his fellow-man to banish from the country the curse of bad roads and the evils that accompany them.
Let all the people of every station, high or low, be moved by the same patriotic impulse to work for the common weal. To all the benefit will come. Let all participate.
I do appoint and set apart these days, the 5th and 6th of November, that the people may have an opportunity to give substantial expression to the universal desire and determination of the State, in action inspired by hope, and rejoicing that will resound in one unbroken chorus from the mountains to the sea.
I call upon all the women to participate. In every hour of danger they have inspired the men of North Carolina with faith and courage; in this day of realization, they with their children will come to lend to this noble cause the charm and the encouragement of their presence. They can provide good things to eat, and decorate every worker with a badge of honor.
Let every citizen do his duty, and these days will be long remembered for the impetus they gave to the cause of good roads and a finer civic spirit.
I call upon the county commissioners of every county in the State to issue a proclamation urging the people to go out the 5th and 6th days of November, and labor for the welfare of their respective counties and communities, as well as for the whole State of which they constitute a part.
I call upon the president of the Farmers' Union to issue his proclamation to the farmers of North Carolina, and to their various local organizations, that this great body of our citizenship, constituting as it does the bone and sinew of the State, may join with energy and enthusiasm in this movement. More than any other class of our people, they are dependent upon the country road. More attractive homes, better farming, and a finer rural life will result from the building of modern highways.
Let the work be completely or-

The Lost Petticoat.

Lost, a silken petticoat,
Or may be it was lawn,
With ribbon running through the flounce
As soft as the dawn;
A darling, dainty petticoat,
A fluff and frothy lace,
With dear, delicious satin bows
To keep the frills in place.
Lost, Louisa's petticoat,
That rippled round her feet;
And gave a tantalizing glimpse
Of slender ankles neat,
And flashing buckles on the toes
Of slippers trim and small,
For since the narrow skirts came in
She wears it not at all.

ganzed so that it will reach to every neighborhood, "and be conducted in a systematic and business way, to the end that at sunset of the second day there will be no community in all the State where the hand of progress and toil has not left its mark in permanent road improvement, and the progressive spirit its impression in the hearts and minds of the people."

I call upon the ministers of the Gospel, the educators, and the press of the State to use their mighty influence for this work, which means not only material development, but moral and intellectual development.
I call upon all road overseers, good roads associations, boards of trade, chambers of commerce, and all associations and organizations for the public welfare and civic betterment to give to this movement the energy of their influence.
I call upon the mayor of every town and city of North Carolina to issue his proclamation that his people may enlist in this organization, and in the building of roads upon which the prosperity of town and city depends.

Let every North Carolinian show by his work that he is for the improvement of his State. "Let us labor that we may enjoy the fruits today, and our children a fuller fruition tomorrow."
Done at our city of Raleigh, this the 27th day of September, in the year of our Lord, 1913, and in the one-hundred and thirty-eighth year of our American Independence.
LOCKE CRAIG,
Governor.

By the Governor:
JOHN P. KERR,
Private Secretary.

Kitchin to Succeed Underwood.

Says The Atlanta Constitution: "If Oscar W. Underwood, leader of the House, runs for the Senate to secure the seat left vacant by the death of Senator Johnston, of Alabama, and lands the place it is likely that his job in the lower body will be taken by Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina. By right of seniority Underwood's mantle would fall upon Claude Kitchin. It always has been the custom of the ranking members of the ways and means committee to become chairman whenever there is a vacancy."
It is no secret that Claude Kitchin has been Underwood's right hand man in the great fight for tariff reform, and that Mr. Kitchin himself is author of a large portion of the bill as finally adopted. His friends back in North Carolina rejoice to see him coming into his own, and unless the signs fail before long a North Carolinian will hold first place in both branches of Congress.—The Standard Laconic.

ACTS ON THE LIVER

Dodson's Liver Tonic Liven's Up the Liver—Is More than a Mere Laxative.
Calomel was for years the only known medicine that would stimulate the liver. But calomel is often dangerous, and people are not to be blamed for being afraid of it.
Within the last few years many medicines have been put out to be used instead of calomel, but their effect is on the bowels—not on the liver. E. T. Whitehead Co. drug store says that the only real liver medicine to actually take the place of calomel is Dodson's Liver Tonic, a mild, harmless, vegetable liquid that E. T. Whitehead Co. recommended to take the place of calomel and which gives prompt relief in cases of constipation, biliousness and sluggish liver.
So confident are E. T. Whitehead Co. that they give their personal guarantee with every 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic. You can be sure that you are getting Dodson's by asking at this store if they are giving you the medicine they personally guarantee to refund money on if unsatisfactory.
