A striking example—yet by no means an exceptional one. For it is not at all unusual for thin, nervous, overworked or run-down folks to gain five pounds and more on the very first package of Ironized Yeast!

The reason Ironized Yeast brings such amazing results is because it not only contains just the right amount of all three essential vitamins, but in addition contains a type of yeast which has positively no equal as a reconstructive agent—a yeast which is cultured expressly for medicinal purposes, and which is entirely different from the yeast found in ordinary yeast tablets.

But even more important than this is the fact that this yeast has been ironized—or treated through a scientific process with a special form of easily assimilated organic iron, similar to the iron found in spinach. When yeast is ironized in this manner it is found that results are not only more permanent, but are secured just twice as quickly!

MANUFACTURERS URGE

TARIFF LEGISLATION.

Washington, Jan. 31.—A memorial to President Harding and Congress urging passage of tariff legislation providing for American valuation was passed today at the first session of a convention of manufacturers invited here by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Washington has thus become the last ditch in the battle over the American valuation plan sponsored by Representative Fordney. Opponents of the plan inserted a half page advertisement in the morning papers here calling upon manufacturers to think twice before they voted for resolutions endorsing the plan and the convention retaliated by leaving open half of the period for discussion to opponents.

The sole speaker against the plan was H. E. Miles, a former officer of the National Association of Manufacturers, who told the meeting that they represented the "merest handful" of manufacturers of the country.

John E. Edgerton, President of the National Association of Manufacturers, declared that the chief virtue of the American valuation "is that it is applicable to either a high tariff or a low tariff, to a tariff for revenue only or a tariff for protection."

"It also will be uninfluenced by the rates of foreign exchange," Mr. Edgerton added, "and in this particular will bring into the Federal Treasury over $300,000,000 in addition to the present receipts. Let him who shouts about the doctrine of the American consumer being entitled to as low rates as those in other countries point out any instances where the American public has shared the advantage of cheaply imported commodities."

The convention voted unanimously to send the following memorial to the President and Congress:

"Our country is today in the grip of the greatest economic crisis of our time. Great numbers of men and women are unemployed. Farmers are beseeching Congress to alleviate the difficulties with which they are confronted. In all parts of the country producers are being obliged to discontinue or greatly curtail production.

"The utmost determination to surmount the existing difficulties by energy, efficiency and thrift are unavailing in the face of a foreign economic invitation such as our country has never before witnessed. Farm products and manufactured articles are being dumped upon our market from many countries whose depreciated currency and depreciated economic standards have greatly lowered former low production costs.

"The present basic revenue act of 1915 was avowedly designed by its author as merely a revenue measure from which so far as possible the elements of protection to American producers was entirely eliminated. The depreciation of foreign currency since that law was enacted has greatly reduced its effectiveness even for revenue purposes; and, the vastly increased quantity of imports, made possible by its rates of duty and uncertain basis of valuations for dutiable purposes, are displaying corresponding increase of domestic production, thereby intensifying the evils of unemployment and consequent restriction of mercantile business.

"If the hardships of unemployment and its attendant evils are to be removed, it is essential that there shall be a prompt return to a policy of protection for American labor on the farm, in the mine, and in the factory, and to make such protection effective under the new and altogether unprecedented economic conditions now prevailing in competing countries, it is imperative that the American valuation methods of assessing ad valorem duties should be incorporated as a basic administrative principle of the tariff act, as by so doing there will be placed on the statute books an operative, enforceable law as against the present inoperative and non-enforceable law.

"The opposition to the American valuation plan is economically an opposition to the substitution of productive tariff rates in the place of the revenue rates of the act of 1913. All other reasons for opposing that method of assessing duties have been effectively refuted. The fundamental issue is now narrowed to the mere question of whether the tariff policy of the country shall be one for revenue only or one for such protection as will assure employment for American labor.

"This convention, representative of the great industrial activities of the country, joins with those innumerable organizations which have already spoken in approval of the American valuation plan of assessing the duties on imports, and in urging immediate revision of the tariff for the purpose of providing needed protection for the labor of manufacture, agricultural and mining.

"Be it resolved that a committee of ten members of this convention, in addition to the Chairman of this convention, be appointed by the Chair for the purpose of presenting the views of this convention to the proper committees of the United States Congress and to the appropriate executive officers of the Government.

"We respectfully urge that the revisions in the pending Fordney tariff bill be retained that provide for American valuation by American appraisers in America."

Wilson proof is what you want and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt:

J. N. Pearce, grocer, Wilson, says: "My back was so weak I couldn't lift and when I once got over I couldn't straighten again. Knife-like pains shot through my back and a dull ache bothered me when I was on my feet long. Pains in my limbs hurt me as much as my back. I tried plasters and almost everything but did not get relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's rid me of the trouble and I have been feeling fine for the past four years."

BRINSON ALLEGES INJUSTICE IN MOREHEAD POSTOFFICE.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Representative Brinson is making a determined fight to secure justice to former service men in securing postmaster-ships which they have won on competitive examinations and is now basing his fight upon the injustice with which the case of Allie B. Morris, of Morehead City, a Democrat has been treated by the Postoffice Department, the nomination having been given to the second man on the list, Cleveland Willis, a Republican, Mr. Morris being an overseas veteran of the World War and the acting postmaster.

MUST BE IN BY NINE O'CLOCK.

Again we request our advertisers to send in their changes for advertisements to appear that day by 9 o'clock in the morning. Half or full page ads. should be turned in not later than 5:00 o'clock on the day prior to the date to be inserted. This is imperative on account of the fact that it is almost impossible for us to handle the day's edition satisfactorily since we cannot possibly tell when advertisements come in later than that the size of the paper to be issued for that day.

It is our desire to give our people the very best service and to do this with advertisements coming in all through the day it is well nigh a physical impossibility. We hope and trust our business men if they cannot prepare their advertisements for the day the night before will attend to this the first thing in the morning after they reach their offices.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS WON'T ADD BONUS TO ALLIED BILL.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Discussion of the long pending soldiers' bonus bill was renewed today at both ends of the capitol.

Before the house ways and means committee, which by agreement of Republican leaders in Congress reopened hearings on the measure, officers of organizations of former service men urged immediate action on the bill and, in reply to questions, said the problem of raising the necessary funds was one for Congress to solve.

In the senate, Republican leaders frustrated attempts by the Democrats to add the bonus bill to the allied debt refunding measure. After a brief but heated debate, the senate adopted, 42 to 28, a motion by Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, to lay on the table an amendment offered by Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, incorporating the "five way" adjusted compensation plan.

The amendment would have provided that the bonus be paid out of the interest on the foreign debt and that if this should prove insufficient the secretary of the treasury should issue certificates of indebtedness to be redeemed out of future interest payments or with the approval of the President, to sell so much of the foreign bonds as might be necessary. Later the senate rejected, 42 to 21, an amendment by Senator Jones, Democrat, New Mexico, which carried the "five way" plan but had no provision for raising funds.

In offering his amendment, Senator Simmons declared that when he had proposed the bonus bill as an amendment to the tax revision measure he had been told that it was the desire of the majority to act on the bonus in connection with the debt refunding bill but that now the Republicans had decided in party conference that the bonus measure should be acted upon separately.

The North Carolina senator went on to say that the administration had now decided that it would not be feasible to use the interest on the foreign debt for this purpose and it was the plan instead to levy new and special taxes. Asserting that Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee had proposed a tax on gasoline, Senator Simmons said this would place the whole burden of the bonus on the users of that commodity and would be class legislation in its worst form.

Opposing the amendment Chairman McCumber of the finance committee declared it had been decided to have the bonus bill originate in the house because it would be a revenue raising measure and that everyone knew that adjusted compensation legislation soon would be enacted. He depreciated what he called the injection of party politics into the question and said he objected to adding the bonus to the debt bill because the President had declared his opposition to any bonus measure that did not provide funds for immediate payment to the former service men.

WEEKS TO DISCUSS FORD OFFER WITH HARDING.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Secretary Weeks will discuss the proposed purchase and lease by Henry Ford of the Muscle Shoals power and nitrate projects with President Harding before sending the contract to Congress for final action, it was said today at the War Department. Since Mr. Weeks had made no engagement today at the White House, it was assumed that the subject of Muscle Shoals would be taken up at the regular Cabinet meeting tomorrow.

The contract probably will be submitted to Congress Wednesday or Thursday, the War Secretary said.

A copy of the contract as signed by Mr. Ford on Jan. 25 was received today by Senator Harris of Georgia. It contained two modifications of the original proposal, one providing for the appointment of a commission by the President to see that the contract was strictly observed, and the other setting forth an agreement on the part of the contractors to pay an annual rental of 4 per cent. on the cost of completion of Dam 3.

The proposed commission would have the right to determine "what has been the cost of manufacture and sale of fertilizer products and the prices which has been charged therefor and, if necessary for the purposes of limiting the annual profit to 8 per cent. as aforesaid, shall regulate the price at which said fertilizer may be sold by the company."

The commission would consist of nine members, seven of whom would be chosen by the President, the other two to be representatives of the Ford Company. The seven members, the contract provides, shall be selected by the President from a list of twenty-one names, seven submitted by each of the "three leading representative farm organizations, national in fact, namely: The American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America, or their successors."

It was provided also that a representative of the Bureau of Markets of the Department of Agriculture should serve on the commission in an advisory capacity.

GRIDIRON CLUB WANTS INVESTIGATION.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Members of the Gridiron Club held a special meeting yesterday at the New Willard Hotel to take action upon the deaths in the theatre disaster of Chauncey C. Brainerd, its Vice President, who was correspondent of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, and Lewis W. Strayer, former President, who was correspondent of The Pittsburg Dispatch.

James P. Hornady of The Indianapolis News, President of the Club, presided at the meeting which adopted a resolution, requesting the District Attorney to direct the Grand Jury to make immediate investigation of the cause of disaster "with the view of securing the indictment and punishment of all persons, whether architects, contractors, owners of officials, found by law to be responsible for the unnecessary, inexcusable and criminal sacrifice of more than 100 human lives."

Resolutions of tributes to the two dead members were adopted and committees were appointed to attend their funerals.

The funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd will be held Wednesday at 3 P. M. at Gawler's Chapel. The Rev. J. McBride Sterritt will conduct the services and the Gridiron Quartet will sing. Immediately afterward the service for Mr. Strayer will be conducted in the chapel.

FOURTEEN YEAR OLD WOUNDED BURGLAR.

New Bern, Jan. 31.—Under a grilling by police officers at the hospital early today Joe Dixon the negro who with a gunshot wound in his left side had been under guard there since Sunday morning broke down and confessed to the attempted burglary of the home of R. R. Grimley on North Avenue at two o'clock Sunday morning, admitted that he was the victim of fourteen year old Herman Grimley's gun.

Dixon was traced to the hospital after officers had followed the trail of blood from the Grimley home to a negro hut in the heart of the colored section and learned from a negro who said she was Dixon's mother that he had gone there to be treated for wound "he got in a crap game." Officers have sat over him since that moment, never letting up on their quizzing while he was awake, and early today he admitted to Lieut. A. A. Ispook that he was "the Grimley burglar."

The negro's confession completes Herman Grimley's glory. A reward of twenty-five dollars, offered a month ago for the capture of a burglar will be his, and citizens may make up a larger purse for the kid.
