

The Oregon Republican. COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

DALLAS, SATURDAY, SEPT. 10.

The fourth plank in our series of reforms will not appear until the 24th of this month, for reasons satisfactory to ourselves.

The Coming Legislature and What They Ought to Do.

The Legislature of Oregon is about to convene, and more important duties never devolved upon a Legislature since the organization of the State.

In the first place, their attention should be called to the importance of the speedy passage of a general appropriation bill, which was omitted by the Legislature of two years ago, in consequence of which the State has suffered heavily.

We are aware that some people construe the Constitution so as to make it say, that our Legislature can remain in session, compel the attendance of its members and legislate for the whole term of two years, or for any length of time they choose beyond the forty days mentioned in that instrument.

But this, in our opinion, is a great mistake; as we read the Constitution of Oregon you can only compel the attendance of members for the term of forty days, and if they remain together longer, it must be by common consent.

Now, we admit, by a strained construction of the Constitution, the Legislature may remain together after the expiration of the forty days, pass laws, and if those laws should be properly signed by the Executive, they would be valid; but the idea that the Legislature can sit for the term of forty days, then each member draw his one hundred and twenty dollars from the Treasury, and then a portion of the members compel others to remain against their will for the balance of the term of two years, without pay, is simply ridiculous.

The next business of importance is the election of a man to represent the people of Oregon for six years in the Senate of the United States—next to the highest position on earth. This great and important work, we hold, should be performed by the legal voters at the ballot box, but, under our present system, it devolves upon the Legislature.

Now, we are not of those who think the people ought to elect a man to represent their interests in a legislative body, and constantly require of him acts inconsistent with his feelings, but we hold the people have a right to demand of their Representatives that they shall act fairly and honestly, and in such a manner as, in their honest judgment, will most benefit their constituents.

They have a right to demand, when they have delegated the power to one of their servants to support a certain class of men and measures, that they shall not support another and different class. What we desire is that the will of the people shall not be thwarted by the wicked acts of unscrupulous demagogues, but that their expressed will, at the ballot box, shall be carried out, unless they shall otherwise indicate by petition directed to their servants.

Let each member, in voting for a man to represent us in the Senate, act from principle, not feeling, and in accordance with the dictates of a good conscience, and then we shall have no fears of the election of a man who favors universal suffrage, or universal negro suffrage.

There are other very important matters, prominent among which is the revision, in many particulars, of our code of laws, both civil and criminal, or the total abolition of the whole code and the substitution of a better one in its place; and then our general laws need attention, our common school law, road law, and the law permitting the sale of spirituous liquors should be revised, amended and so construed that all persons of ordinary mind can understand what is meant and intended by the law maker.

Another important question is, shall any move be made looking to an appropriation for the purpose of erecting a Capitol for the State? We think it high time this important move was made; the State is much in need of a Capitol building.

Large rents are paid at every session of our Legislature, sitting of our Supreme Court, and for Library rooms, and thus it will go on year after year, until we have paid out year enough to satisfy one-half the expense of building a Capitol, and yet it will take none the less to erect the building. All the money paid for rents is lost.

Another great inducement for making the move immediately is, it would be a great ornament to the State, and would contribute much toward influencing men of enterprise to come here, invest money, and assist us in building up the State, and developing its great resources. We hope the coming Legislature will not hesitate on this question, but move forward at once and inaugurate the initiatory step.

Rather Cheeky.

James O'Meara, after advocating for months and during the last political campaign in Oregon all the radical measures of the Republican party, now comes out and claims to be a better Democrat than anybody; at the same time, whining like a whipped spaniel, says:

"The class of Democrats of whom we speak know that the effort of the Herald and the interior Democratic press to class the Bulletin with the Republican press is futile, because it is without foundation. They know that this paper has given expression to no principle or policy which has not the authority or sanction of the foremost Democratic journals of the East—such organs as the Boston Post, the New York World, the Washington Union, the Chicago Times, the Louisville Courier-Journal, the Maysville (Ky.) Eagle, the Vicksburg Times, the St. Louis Times, the Chattanooga Times, and others we might name. Yet the Bulletin is not a Democratic organ; neither is it a Republican organ. It is just what we promised it should be—an independent paper, devoted to no particular party."

At the above startling announcement, that the Democratic party of the nation are pledged to the doctrine of universal negro suffrage, and that the editor of the Bulletin is in perfect harmony therewith, the Democracy of Oregon will be taken by surprise, and the Oregonian will be satisfied that the Dallas REPUBLICAN is not tending to modern Democracy. We are somewhat surprised ourselves and think it lamentable, if true, as proved by O'Meara, that there is no difference between Republicans and Democrats on the question of universal suffrage, that both parties advocate that principle in the Eastern and Southern States, and are vying for the negro vote, and that the Dallas REPUBLICAN alone is opposing that principle.

So much the more glory for us, knowing that we are right, and that we are advocating the sentiments of three-fourths of the people of Oregon.

The Corvallis Gazette attempts to answer our article, opposing that most patent relic of monarchy, life offices. We deem it unnecessary to reply to his answer, more than to give his own argument in a few words, which is, that while it is true that the principle of life offices in this Government have an appearance of a relic of monarchy, yet it is the bulwark of Republicanism. We submit the case to the jury—the people.

The Oregonian seems to think that a Democratic Legislature should return Mr. Williams to the Senate.

Query—Does the editor of that paper intend to bring his "Mercenary Brigade," under Captain Bailey, to bear?

An agency for Koopmanschap & Co., the importers of Chinese, has been established in Boston.

A Courteous Allusion.

There is a paper published in Polk county which is continually assailing Senator Williams because he is committed to the doctrine of suffrage without distinction of color, and which is declaring in every issue that no man committed to such doctrine can ever be elected to the Senate from Oregon. Yet the same paper in every issue devotes a good deal of space to the advocacy of Judge Boise's claims and fitness for the Senate. We fear the writer has not read the recent letters of Judge Boise on negro suffrage. He is as firmly committed to the doctrine as is Senator Williams, and we are glad to believe, is quite as good a "Radical."—Oregonian.

We remark: There is a paper published in Multnomah county, edited by one Harvey Scott, which has been for the last four years on all sides of the suffrage question, and which refuses to state whether or not it endorses the principle and policy of the late naturalization bill, and the present position of which is so mixed, on the question of universal suffrage, that no man understands what it is. It is continually harping concerning the great and acknowledged ability of Senator Williams, and what he has done for Oregon; and labors hard to prove that Williams is in favor of suffrage without "distinction of color," and that he is opposed to suffrage without "distinction of color." And the editor fears that we have not read Judge Boise's letter on negro suffrage, and is glad to believe that Boise is quite as radical on that question as Williams.

Now, as to the ability of Senator Williams, we have nothing disparaging to say. We think Mr. Williams a man of ability, but as to the extraordinary part of it we fail to see, as does the editor above named. We think the Senate of the United States contains many greater minds, and men, too, who think the position of Williams on the suffrage question is very silly, and the great things he has done for Oregon we should like to have the paper aforesaid point out. If to secure a daily mail on the west side of the Willamette river, from Portland to Corvallis, as a consideration for taking from us our land grant, which would have enabled us to have had the benefit of a railroad instead of a daily mail, and inviting all Africa to come here and be made citizens, and securing a fat office for the editor of the Oregonian constitute a great man, then Williams is great. And as to the allusion to Judge Boise, we have to say, that the editor of the aforesaid paper may know just what Judge Boise's political sentiments are, we do not profess to know nor is it any of our business to know; but we will say that if he is as radical on the question of suffrage as Mr. Williams, we have never heard him so declare, either in public or private; and further, that we have read his letter on that subject, and do not so understand him. And again we tell the gentleman who edits the aforesaid paper that, if his version of the letter referred to is correct, and if Boise is as foolishly radical on that question as Williams, we shall oppose him as strongly as we do Mr. Williams.

And we might as well say to the gentleman who has been the special favorite of his immaculate Senator, that we shall steadily oppose any man who favors universal suffrage, or universal negro suffrage, or universal manhood suffrage, or any other kind of suffrage which extends that privilege to opposite races. The truth is, Williams is a go-between. He will not declare in favor of universal suffrage, as do the courageous radicals, and yet he endorses the principle; he endorses the principle when he voted for the Fifteenth Amendment; he undertook to oppose it when he voted to extend the ballot to native Africans, the most ignorant people on the globe, and to exclude the educated and intelligent Chinese. We might also say, for the benefit of the aforesaid gentleman, that the radicals of Polk do not endorse Mr. Williams, because he opposed Mr. Sumner, and the conservatives hate his course.

The Oregonian remarks that no man save Napoleon III ever surrendered an army of 100,000 men. That paper must not forget that this is an age of progress, and hence it must not express any astonishment at such matters.

Horses are reasonable—they are satisfied with a bit.

ENDORSEMENT OF SUMNER—REPUTATION OF WILLIAMS.—Below we give the 8th and 9th resolutions of the Iowa Republican State platform, adopted Aug. 17th, 1870:

8. Resolved, That the Republican party of Iowa welcomes to our shores all human beings of every nation, irrespective of race or color, voluntarily seeking a home in our midst; and that all the rights and privileges which we, as citizens, demand for ourselves, we will freely accord to them.

9. Resolved, That we are in favor of amending our Naturalization Laws by striking out the word "white" from the same, wherever it occurs.

Does the Oregonian endorse the above? if not should it not go to the Democracy? And who now is leading the party to defeat in the opinion of the Oregonian? This is the legitimate result of the principles of the Fifteenth Amendment—fruits of radicalism. Progression, gentlemen; for you know opposition to universal suffrage is retrogression. Who's right now, Sumner or Williams?

ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF O'MEARA'S TRUISMS.—The Bulletin of the 6th thus comments upon the course of the REPUBLICAN:

"The leading articles in the Dallas Republican so closely resemble the editorials of the Herald as to cause the conjecture that they have the same common paternity. The same silly abuse of Ben. Holladay, Senator Williams and the Bulletin editor, and the same absurd opposition to a railroad through Southern Oregon, characterizes the two sets of articles."

Now, Mr. Bulletin, you know when you say we are opposing a railroad through Southern Oregon, you proclaim an unblushing falsehood; and if there is anything in your conjectures, respecting the common paternity of the leading articles in the Herald and REPUBLICAN, haven't you got the thing reversed, Mr. Bulletin?
