

TOWN & COUNTY NEWS.

DALLAS, SATURDAY, OCT. 22, 1870.

The entire population of Oregon, according to the late census, is a fraction less than 91,000.

A young gentleman by the name of M. M. Oglesby, from Corvallis, has secured the Dallas school, which will commence next Monday.

T. B. Waite, of Polk County, invented and manufactured a new press for pressing hay, which took the first premium at the late State Fair.

The sudden death of our esteemed friend, Dr. Bond, is greatly deplored by the citizens of Dallas and vicinity, in whose memory he long will live.

We have received the first copy of the Christian Messenger, printed at Monmouth, in this County, edited by Prof. Campbell. It starts out well. We wish it abundant success.

Capt. Laflette, the agent at Grande Ronde, desires us to state that no person whatsoever will be permitted to enter upon the reservation for the purpose of running horses with the Indians.

PREACHING.—Rev. A. W. Sweeney will preach in the M. E. Church South, at early candle lighting on Friday preceding the 5th Sunday in this month, (28th). Remember the time.

DALLAS this week presents quite a lively appearance. The merchant, the blacksmith, the carpenter, and men of all trades, occupations and professions seem to be busy save and except the poor lawyers, who alone are idle.

Senator Corbet visited the Grande Ronde reservation, and was much pleased with the situation, and matters pertaining to the Indians generally. The people of Oregon have reason to be proud of the course pursued by Senator Corbet since he has acted in that capacity.

We call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Burchard & Powers, offering the Home Shuttle Sewing Machine at $20, H. B. Morrill, travelling agent. This is a good chance for those who require this machine. They will always be found on hand at 139 First Street, Portland.

EXAMINE the new advertisement of Laughery & Collins, grocers, who are well known in this county as men of integrity and straightforward business habits, and we advise all persons who desire to purchase family groceries, to call and visit their establishment before purchasing elsewhere.

The citizens of Dallas were out in numbers on Wednesday to witness the races, which came off at 10 o'clock about one mile from town. During the time we were present the sorrel mare, belonging to T. Claze, won, and we were much diverted at the fancy dress of her rider.

We received a call from our enterprising friend Mr. Litchfield, from Grande Ronde, who informs us that all is quiet on the upper Yamhill and Indian reservation, and that the Indians were very anxious to have the land surveyed in small parcels, and assigned to each one as his or her own property, in accordance with the terms of the treaty, so that they can call it their own, and transmit it to their children.

This community was shocked a few days since by the announcement of the death of John Frederick, an old citizen. Dr. Sites, who had charge of the case, informs us that the case presented the appearance of small-pox. Other physicians say they believe it to have been swine-pox, but Dr. Sites is still of the opinion that the case was a modified form of small-pox. We think, while it is unnecessary to be excited, it is well enough to be careful for the present, at least.

We are glad to know that our former law partner and most esteemed friend, W. C. Whitson, is giving great satisfaction as one of the Judges of Idaho Territory. His late charge to the grand jury of Idaho City, at which time there was pending a large amount of criminal business, is said to be the most able one ever delivered in the Territory, all of which takes us not by surprise. We know the Judge as we do ourselves, and he is, without doubt, the best jurist ever called to the bench in that Territory, and his worth will be felt and acknowledged as he mingles with and his acquaintance is formed by the people.

NEW FIRM.—We learned, while on a visit to McMinnville last week, that Mr. Tongue, of Hillsboro, and a Mr. Stott, who was admitted to the bar at the present term of the Supreme Court, have formed a law partnership, and intend locating in Yamhill County—perhaps at Lafayette—to practice their profession. Mr. Tongue has already gained some notoriety as a practitioner. Of Mr. Stott's abilities we know nothing, having met him but once, but are informed that he passed the examination, preparatory to admission, creditably. They have selected a good field, and we predict for them a successful career.

FIRE.—A destructive fire occurred in town on Thursday night about 9 o'clock, consuming the large blacksmith's shop of Asa Shrieve, also a wagon and paint shop in which S. Garrison was interested with Shrieve. The citizens were out in mass, but could do nothing but save the adjacent buildings. The fire occurred within 200 feet of our domicile, and presented a frightful appearance, loss to Shrieve is not less than $3,000; that of Garrison not so great. We hope our citizens will contribute liberally to assist the parties to rebuild.

We had the pleasure yesterday of shaking the hand of Dr. Grubbs, of Salem, who has come to Dallas to practice his profession. His card will appear next week.

THE trouble with our mail line from Salem to this place has finally been settled, and it has been decided that our townsman, Jessie Lewis, is entitled to carry the mails. As we understand it, he was the lowest bidder, and it was awarded to him by the Government; but for some reason, of which we are not fully advised, the Post Master of Salem, or the postal agent, Underwood, claimed that Lewis did not produce the proper papers on the 1st of July to entitle him to the mails, and claimed also to have the right to employ a special carrier, and Mr. Clark, who had formerly carried the same, was employed, and has carried them until now. We know nothing of the particulars in regard to this matter, but we are glad it is settled. Mr. Lewis is a resident of our own town, and a clever gentleman. We wish him all kinds of good luck, and hope he may find it a paying institution.

About this time, look out for trouble in Brigham Young's household affairs. However much married the Mormons may be, the institution of polygamy will crumble when brought in contact with Christian refinement and Gentile civilization.

Telegraphic Summary.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Rumors of an armistice current in banking circles here, and stock are advancing. It is reported that Russia tenders her officers for mediation. Austria and England are anxious for peace. Bankers to-day decline to negotiate Berlin paper. Hamburg and Bremen are threatened by a French fleet. The excitement in these cities is intense.

To-day is the anniversary of the Battle of Nations, which occurred near Leipzig on the 18th Oct., 1813. It is generally understood, in the German camps, that a bombardment of Paris from all the batteries simultaneously, would be opened on this anniversary day. The world is waiting for the vents of to-day.

It is estimated that there are fully 600,000 armed Prussians on French soil.

Nothing heard from Lafete St. Aubin. At last accounts a battle was eminent at that point. The Prussians still occupy Meury quietly. They make no demonstrations against Blois and Tours, and it is not believed they will at present.

Political affairs in Paris are unaltered. The people are calm and hopeful. The Prussians now infesting the city screen themselves behind their powerful batteries. So tremendous is the French fire that the plains are absolutely swept by it. The best gunners in the world are collected in Paris.

The Prussians are threatening an immediate bombardment of Paris. This is impossible. As long as French forts outside are so well served, no enemy can approach near enough.

Tours, Oct. 18.—The Prussians and French are concentrating large forces near Orleans, preparatory to a great battle.

A dispatch announces another successful sortie by Parisians. Prussian loss, 3,000.

Thiers has returned to France.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The people of Strasbourg are generally satisfied with the new order of things. The French sentiment, if any there, has not shown itself offensively since the capitulation. There have been one or two firing on Prussian soldiers patrolling the city, however. The culprits were immediately apprehended and brought to justice, with the approbation of all classes. St. Cloud is a total ruin. The pictures and tapestry have been destroyed by the fire from the Paris forts.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Violent popular outbreaks have occurred at Honfleur, and other towns in that vicinity on account of alleged inefficiency in the conduct of the war.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—The capitulation of Metz is reported. Bazaine's messenger, General Boyer, carried to King William the terms on which he would surrender the fortress. The place is to be given up to a German garrison, the troops to be disarmed and suffer to remain on parole, and not take part in the war. The Prussian ministerial organ says negotiation for peace on the part of the Prussians is useless. France must submit unalterably to the terms already stated.

Bourbaki has been appointed commander of the Army of the North and directed to operate in concert with Bazaine.

The rinderpest spreads with alarming rapidity. It prevails from Poland to the Atlantic. There is much consternation among all classes.

The force of Prince Mecklenburg Schwerin at Soissons consists of Pomeranians, eight battalions of landwehr and the Holberrstid; Horse. The investment lasted 3 weeks and the bombardment four days before capitulation. Four thousand prisoners of war and 132 cannon fell into the Prussians' hands.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The following particulars of an engagement at Bagneaux are just received: At 9 o'clock in the morning the French opened a heavy artillery fire, which was vigorously returned by the Prussians. The French then advanced on the double-quick—the Garde Mobile leading. A battle ensued, and the Prussians' position was carried at the point of the bayonet. Germans, unable to withstand the firing hurled against them, resorted to several stratagems, but failed in all, and were at length dispersed. The Mobiles entered Bagneaux, where the Prussians had erected barricades.

We also clip the following from the Chronicle:

The Central Pacific Railroad Directors, on last Saturday, made the trip on the road from San Jose to Oakland, a distance of forty-seven miles, in less than an hour. Thomas Mooney's time, from the California Street bank to Clifton, Canada, was the fastest on record.

General Sherman says, official reports show that the actual force of the rank and file of the army is 34,593. The number will be gradually reduced to 30,000.

No man can prosper in business who does not advertise.

CASSELY AND COLE ON THE SITUATION.

When doctors disagree, patients die. Senator Eugene Cassery, in response to a serenade, a few evenings since, ascribed the prevailing dullness of the times in California to the high rate of taxation imposed by the Federal Government, which had paralyzed the energies of the nation, and that California felt it as well as her sister states east of the Rocky Mountains. Senator Cornelius Cole made a speech in answer to a serenade on Thursday evening last, and ascribed the hard times to the changes in business consequent upon the completion of the Pacific Railroad. He believed that with a little time, and more attention paid to manufactures, California would come out with flying colors. These are the opposite views of California's statesmen. Which are correct? It seems to us that Cole's views are the more comprehensive and logical.—Chronicle

And we think the response of Cassery sounds like the talk of a school-boy, while that of Cole is statesmanlike.

The staid citizens of Marysville are recalling the days of their boyhood by playing at marbles for twenty-five cents a game. Business is said to be brisk thereabouts.

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, discontented and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any minor or pliant in the interior, or any traveler or sojourner on the placers, to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisoned air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which women are subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and of those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.
