Attorney Robert Bole, whose legal practice has grown to such proportions as to cause him the loss of much needed rest, has gone to San Francisco to recuperate. He also anticipates taking a sea voyage to ascertain what effect the salt water will have upon his weakened constitution.

Interment of Jas. Bagley.

On Wednesday Ione City was filled with a large and sorrowing throng of people who had come from every part of Amador and Calaveras counties to be present at the burial of James Bagley, one of Ione's Native Sons, and a man of sterling qualities, beloved and respected by every one with whom he came in contact. Early in the morning carriages began to arrive, and by the noon hour the town was fairly swarming with people, whose faces betokened the purpose of their coming. Services were held at the family residence, and ministers of all denominations were there to show their respect for one who had been an example of true and christian manhood during his earthly career. The Presbyterian minister officiated, and pronounced a fitting eulogy upon the life and character of the deceased. The singing was very impressive. At the grave the Native Sons and Woodmen took charge, and paid to their deceased brother the last tributes that is possible for mortal man to bestow. It is estimated that 500 friends followed the remains from the residence to the grave.

Tie Vote.

The second election called by Jackson Miners' Union, W. F. M., for the election of delegates to the national convention to be held in Butte, Montana, the latter part of May, resulted in a tie vote between Sam Radovich and Wm. Tyacke. Three hundred and four votes were polled. The first election resulted in a victory for Radovich by the slender margin of two votes. A contest was made, and it was decided to call another election, with the outcome above stated. We understand no further election will be called, but both men will probably be sent as delegates.

Caminetti's House Burned.

On Monday morning about 1 o'clock a. m., the large dwelling house on the Caminetti ranch was destroyed by fire. Just how the fire started is not known, but it is supposed that rats gnawing at a bunch of matches caused them to ignite. Nothing to speak of was saved. Mr. Caminetti was away at the time, attending the Grand Parlor of Native Sons. The house was insured for $1200 in the Home Fire Marine in favor of Mrs. C. Botto, and the furniture for $800 in the Aetna. The adjuster will have but little work to do when he arrives.

K. of P. Reception.

The Knights of Pythias extended a royal greeting to the Grand Vice-Chancellor R. F. Burns of Auburn last Friday evening, on the occasion of his official visit to the Jackson lodge. At the regular meeting the third rank was conferred for his benefit. After the official business was transacted a banquet was provided, at which some 60 members were present. Remarks were made and toasts responded to by R. F. Burns, Dr. Gall, Dr. Edicott, Geo. W. Brown, C. H. McKenney, A. B. Caminetti, H. G. Murray and others. W. S. Williams was the toastmaster. An interesting evening was brought to a close by music by the mandolin orchestra of the Uniform Rank.

Miss Loretta Meehan, deputy county recorder, was unable to be in the office this week on account of a cold.

NOTES FROM GOLD MINES

BURLINGTON—This mine is simply in a prospective state, but substantial hoists are being constructed and the promoters hope to develop a good paying property.

FORD GRAVEL MINE—Reuben Ford is doing some extensive prospecting in the Volcano district, and is meeting with unexpected success. He has struck a 100-foot strip of gravel, which, from all appearances, is a continuation of the old Union Flat claim. If this proves to be true Mr. Ford has a bonanza, for the Union Flat channel is one of the best in that section of the county. Success to Mr. Ford. We know of no man that we would rather see a millionaire than Uncle Reuben.

KEYSTONE—The old reliable Keystone which has been a dividend payer for over 50 years, is still employing about 100 men, and the knowing ones say that if properly managed will continue to pay for 50 years longer. Many needed repairs are now being made, and the 60-stamp mill is kept running to its full capacity. There are also several Griffin mills running. Never a month passes by without the owners receiving a handsome profit. Lawyer Lynch is now the superintendent in charge. When absent from his post of duty H. Rogers assumes the management.

ASBESTOS—R. E. Horton recently discovered an asbestos ledge on the Mokelumne river in the vicinity of his ranch in Camp Opra district. This mineral has been found in many places in Amador county, but so far no deposit has proved a marketable character. Mr. Horton, with his brother Frank, has located the claim, and has opened it up somewhat. The deposit seems to widen out, and the mineral to assume a better quality with depth. The owners are sanguine that they have discovered a valuable mine. For asbestos of good grade there is steady demand, and it commands a good price.

BUNKER HILL—At this mine everything is running as smoothly as clock-work in all of its various departments. A spirit of contentment and satisfaction seems to prevail, and employers as well as employes predict a very promising future for this property. The second clean-up will be made about the first of May. This will give a better idea of the ore, which so far is entirely satisfactory to the management. Experienced mill men have been making note of any defects in the mill, which, after the clean-up, will be properly adjusted before crushing is resumed. Rock is now being taken from the 8, 12, and 1500 foot levels, and between 80 and 90 tons are being crushed daily, from which 15 tons of sulphurets are being made, valued at about $70 per ton. 55 men are employed at good wages, and seem to be perfectly satisfied with their positions.

VOLCANO MINING DISTRICT.

This is one of the first sections where mining was carried on in California. Here it was where many of the foremost men of our county got their start in life, and here it is where millions of the precious metal still lies hidden from view. Hardly a pioneer now living in Amador county who has not spent one or more years of his life in Volcano, and he it is said to his credit he always speaks in words of praise of its wonderful mineral resources. Many will tell you of the results of a day's, a week's, or a month's labor, that the young men of to-day will dispute even in the hearing of the narrator. But these men were workers. They did not expect something for nothing. They dug into the bowels of the earth and it belched forth its hidden treasure. Many of the prospectors of to-day walk up and down a gulch, and if they are not able to dig out the gold with the toe of their boot, which is inhabited by a big lazy foot, they publish to the world that the ground has been thoroughly prospected, and found to be barren soil.

To the stranger who passes through a country and forms opinions simply from observations, this section would make a poor impression. But to the man who is really searching for the truth regarding the resources of a country, and who stops to make investigations, he leaves, if he leaves at all, feeling that some day he will return to claim a share of nature's concealed treasures. Hundreds of acres of good paying gravel ground is still unworked, and yet no more favorable terms can be secured in any mining section of the state than can be secured from the owners of these properties. Right here let me give you an idea of the worth of these claims placed upon them by men who own and have placed them upon a paying basis through their own efforts.

Marsino and Sons, who own 40 acres, when asked to set a price replied: "Why should we sell. We know what is here; it will furnish the family employment for 100 years, with big pay for all labor. Why sell?"

But mining is not to cease when the gravel gives out. The day for working the vast quantities of quartz is near at hand; in fact it is here. Captain Glenn, by his indomitable will power, in the face of what seemed to others unsurmountable obstacles, has demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that we are surrounded on all sides by good milling ore. Every blast in this now much-talked-of mine develops rock superior to the last. This is the first practical quartz mining done here since the shut-down of the once famous Downs mine, that produced bushels of gold. Mr. Joyce, of the Defender, has shown what may be expected along that belt, and other contemplated developments will soon direct the attention of mining men everywhere to this section. It is true that two companies have spent $40,000 each in trying to develop quartz mines in this belt, but the money was put into the hands of inexperienced men to spend, and they spent it in their own way. They had read books on mining, and would take advice from no one. These men have gone, but the quartz still remains, and

WALK-OUT AND LOCK-OUT.

Labor trouble at Fremont-Consolidated Mine—Miners Refuse to Work With Non-Union Men, and are Discharged.

The Fremont-Consolidated mine near Drytown, the largest employer of labor in the northern part of the county, was the scene of a strike and lock-out yesterday morning. This company has moved along without the slightest friction with its employes up to this time. It has paid the top-notch scale of wages, and everything appeared to be moving along satisfactorily. Nearly all the employes were members of the Amador City Miners' Union, but the mine was operated on the open shop plan—like all other mines in Amador county, with the solitary exception of the Keystone of Amador City. Membership in the Western Federation or any other labor organization, was not a pre-requisite to securing work. As far as we have been able to ascertain the trouble was not in the mine, but precipitated in this manner: A few of the union men were not in good standing with the organization, owing to non-payment of dues. Among them was one Harry Thornton. He was employed at the Kennedy; it is said, at the time of the strike last year, and under the pressure was induced to join the union. Whether he became a member of the Amador union in good standing we do not know. It is claimed that he was not only behind with his dues, but that he was talking and using his influence against the union cause. Whether any official action was taken by the union toward bringing on the trouble we are not informed. On Thursday morning the men appeared as usual at change of shift prepared to go to work. One of the miners, named French, recently from Cripple Creek, Colorado, for the trouble for the employes, and stated that some of the union men were in arrears with their dues, and that the miners declined to go down into the mine unless those in arrears either paid their dues or were discharged. We are told that six men beside Thornton were in arrears, and these intimated their willingness to pay up. Thornton, however, declined to pungle up under the circumstances, saying he would quit rather than submit. Thereupon the miners declared they would not go to work unless he was discharged. The superintendent took the ground that it was a matter with which he had nothing to do, and declined to interfere. Thornton and the men walked out. Eighty-two men are thrown out of work. Superintendent Goodall told them they might consider themselves discharged.

At the request of the superintendent Sheriff Norman went over to the scene of the trouble. When he got there the men were scattered around the works, mostly seated on the log piles, discussing the situation, but showing no spirit of violence. The sheriff was unaware at first that the men had been discharged, and from the men received the impression that the trouble might be adjusted. Finding that the employes had been discharged, and arbitration was out of the question, he told the men they must keep on and get their clothing from the changing room and boarding house. He took a list of the men discharged, including about all the underground workers. Before he left Thursday night the men appeared at the office and were paid off, and took their belongings from the company's grounds.

The mill was running last night, but it is thought that it will come to a standstill for lack of rock in a few days.

Home Enterprise.

Jackson is fast assuming the proportions of a substantial city. It is already the center of trade for all of Amador and a portion of Calaveras counties. Guilianna and Marucci are keeping abreast of the times and erecting a new two-story hotel on Broadway. This is as it should be; build up the town. If one or two mines should close down for a time, what of it. With our advantages for electrical power, other enterprises can be started that will continue to give our people employment. In a community where but one class of work has been done for years, we grow to believe that nothing can save us from destruction if that enterprise should cease. But let American ideas and ingenuity combine, and no obstacle is so great but that it can be overcome. Improvements are noticeable all over the town. The railroad is coming, factories and machine shops are to be erected, and it is only a matter of a few years when Jackson will be a city of 5000 inhabitants.

The Railroad.

Nothing of importance, so far as we can learn, has been accomplished this week. Surveyors are now at work to determine the most feasible route. Herbert Fleishacker, of San Francisco, one of the principal owners of the American River Electric Co., and Mr. Peider, of the California State Bank of Sacramento, came up Sunday, presumably for the purpose of looking over the field. It is the intention now to secure the franchise, select the route, and have the road completed by the first of October.

The Preston School Escapes. The boy Rowe, who recently escaped from the school, was brought to Jackson Tuesday by Constable Kelley of Ione, and charged with the crime of 'assault to commit murder' by watchman J. S. Phillips. The half-breed, Gillette, has been taken to Humboldt county to be tried for some crime committed prior to the one upon which he was sentenced to the Preston School. These boys will now probably be sent to the institution to which they belong—one of the state prisons. The incident caused no uneasiness among the other inmates of the school.

To Whom It May Concern.

I have, for the third time, placed a railing around the grave of a member of my family who lies near where the big pine stood, and I would request the parties wishing to place soil upon the near-by graves, that they would use the entrance gate and not remove the railing and make a roadway over that grave.
