Washington Letter.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington D. C., July 7, 1906.

Congress and the president are taking leave of each other in a much better frame of mind than could have been expected from their meeting last year. There has been a conflict of strong personalities and both sides have won their points to a certain degree while the public on the whole has been the gainer. The president has managed to force through certain legislation that he believed was needed and that there was serious doubt if congress would stand. He has removed the postmasterships from the realm of federal patronage, and thus done more than any other president ever dared to do to antagonize the individual members who looked on these offices as the last remnant of the fast disappearing currency with which to pay political debts.

He has forced through the rate bill, and while there may be some features of the measure that could be improved and doubtless will be improved in time, it is vastly in advance of no legislation at all, and that was what was looked for a fortnight before congress met. The tree alcohol bill has gone through, promising to help the farmers of the whole country and to help the public greatly against one form of fuel extortion. The statehood bill has been a compromise but has brought satisfaction and dignity to two commonwealths and would have brought it to four, but for the unreasonable opposition to the measure in congress. The pure food bill is a law, and meat inspection has been added where it was sorely needed and where the public did not even suspect that the need existed.

Altogether it has been a most notable congress and one that will necessarily go down in history as a monument to the forceful personality of the executive aside from the personal triumph of the peace conference and numerous other smaller matters, any one of which would have been enough to make an administration notable. While one is looking over the retrospect, it is as well to take note of the remarkable series of national scandals and exposures, all of which, the exposures at least, were more or less due to the fearless initiative of the president. It was the most deplorable series of public scandals that a nation has ever suffered, but it was infinitely better that the evils should come out, than that they should out at the national life in secret.

There were first of all the postal scandals. They were more than half suspected by those "in the know" before official attention was ever called to them. But when they were once brought to the attention of the president, the word was passed that they were to be ferreted out without fear or favor and this was done, resulting in more than a score of prosecutions and half as many jail sentences while the end of the legal proceedings is not yet. But the department itself is cleaned and chastened as a department seldom has been before.

The crop report exposures followed with remarkable swiftness resulting in an entire reorganization of that branch of the department of agriculture. The awakening of the public conscience was helped by the insurance exposures in New York which while not directly under federal supervision, were along the line of the same work. Then there were the inquiries into the beef combine by the bureau of corporations, resulting in the famous "immunity bath" farce and then the swifter and more remarkable exposures of the Neill-Reynolds report. Side by side with these were the investigations of the bureau of corporations and the interstate commerce commission into combinations of the coal and oil carrying roads and these like the others will be followed by a series of prosecutions that have already been outlined and that promises to be very effective in their execution.

It may be stated that the good results coming from these investigations and prosecutions are more indirect than direct. The mere knowledge that the law was on its track was enough to force the dissolution of the paper trust. The coal roads have already begun an internal overhauling on their own account, now they find the public knows how rotten were some of their conditions. The suits against the tobacco trust have already resulted in some good to the industry at large, and it may be taken for granted that no corporation managers are going to venture very far inside the penitentiary when they know that there is a watchful eye and a ready hand to shut the door on them if they trespass over the line.

The rumor on Friday that there was a possibility of congress adjourning on Friday night, brought a crowd of visitors to the White House to say good bye to the president before the cabinet meeting, and a special train was held in readiness at the depot to take him to Oyster Bay even if it were late at night before congress finished up the session. The president has earned a good vacation if ever an executive has, and while there is not the urgent need of it that there would be in the case of a man who was not about as delicate and fragile as a grizzly bear, Mr. Roosevelt himself will welcome the change and the chance to get once more to out of door life and to work off some of the flesh that has accumulated during the winter in Washington in spite of his constant tennis playing, walking and horseback riding. There will be an effort to keep just as much work from him as possible while he is at Sagamore Hill. But there is a certain amount of routine and special work that the president has to do even in summer, and the modest little executive office at Oyster Bay has been all fixed up in readiness for his coming, and will in all probability see a considerable amount both of personal and public work done before the summer is over.

From Our Exchanges

Mrs. G. S. Estey and sister, Miss Susie Chaix, and Mrs. Estey's three children were all badly bruised in a runaway on Greenstone grade white on their way home from Latrobe the day after the Fourth. Dr. Kellogg was called and dressed the wounds after Mrs. Estey's arrival in Placerville. Mrs. Estey will be laid up for three or four weeks. The little girl was thrown down the side of the mountain about thirty feet among the jagged rocks but escaped with a few bruises. The horses after breaking loose from the surry ran about two hundred yards and came back to the rig. Some Indians, who lived near the place of accident, came to the assistance of the injured women and children, and after getting the harness and rig fixed up somewhat, Miss Susie Chaix drove the team home, arriving in Placerville about 10 o'clock last night. It was a miracle that some of the children were not killed as the place on the hill where the accident occurred is very rough.—Placerville Democrat.

As the Amador Laundry wagon was coming from San Andreas to Mokelumne Hill last Monday, when just this side of the Calaveras river bridge, a horse attached to a cart belonging to Q. H. Reed ran away and colliding with the laundry wagon frightened the team which caused them to run away. The driver, J. Castle, was thrown out and badly injured having one rib broken, his ankle bruised, besides being cut with barb wire. He was taken to San Andreas, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Holland, when he was removed to his home at Sutter Creek. The wagon was badly damaged.—Calaveras Chronicle.

A sweet breath adds to the joy of a kiss. You wouldn't want to kiss out wife, mother or sweetheart with a bad breath. You can't have a sweet breath without a healthy stomach. You can't have a healthy stomach without perfect digestion. There is only one remedy that digests what you eat and makes the breath as sweet as a rose—and that remedy is Kodol for dyspepsia. It is a relief for sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, and other ailments arising from disorders of the stomach and digestion. Take a little Kodol after your meals and see what it will do for you. Sold by F. W. Risher.

Where Four States Meet.

The United States is the only country in the world that has a "four corners," that is to say, a place where four states meet. Look at your atlas, says the Chicago News, and you will see Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona touching each other. At no other place on the globe do four states, territories or provinces unite to form such a junction. The spot is on a spur of the Carizo mountains, and few tourists visit it, partly because it is not easily accessible and partly because comparatively few people think about it. A monument marks it, however, erected by the government surveyors. The point is reached by a trail leading from the road from the Navajo springs in Colorado, in the Ute reservation, to the San Juan river.

Whose Say-so is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as the authoritative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as is written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

Amongst these writers we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellinwood, M. D., of Boston Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale of the same city; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. G. W. C. of New York; Dr. Bartholomew of Jefferson Medical College, Pa., and scores of others equally eminent. Dr. Pierce's Prescription cures the worst cases of female weakness, prostration and retroversion and corrects irregularities, cures painful periods, dries up disarranged and weakening drains, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh and a multitude of other ailments peculiar to women. Bear in mind it is not a patent nor even a secret medicine. It is a Family Prescription of a regularly educated physician of large experience in the cure of women's ailments. It is a Family Prescription. It takes his patients into his full confidence. It is a Family Prescription. It is composed of. Of no other medicine put up for women's special maladies and sold through druggists. Dr. Pierce says that the maker is not afraid to deal frankly, openly and honorably, by letting every patient into the same knowledge exactly what she is taking.

Dr. Pierce is invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guarded as sacredly secret and womanly confidences are protected by professional secrecy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

How to preserve health and beauty is the subject of Dr. Pierce's Medical and Surgical Adviser. It is free. For a paper-covered copy send Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing charges. No handling in stamps. Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.

Michael Angelo.

The humble start in life of the famous master.
Two boys were herding swine in Italy. They were evidently discussing some very important subject, for they were covered at it. A man approached, and the boys separated, each for his own side of the pasture. The man was angry and was shaking his hand at them. The boys said nothing; they drove their swine in and were quiet as a mouse about it. The man had said they should stay out until dark, and the sun had not even set yet. After they had driven the swine to their respective places each crept to his room, took his clothes and tied them in a bundle. This done, they both crept down and ran to the road which led to Rome. One's name was Peter; the other Michael Angelo. Both were poor boys. They tramped and tramped, and the first thing they did when they reached Rome was to go to church. After they had rested and prayed they looked for employment. Peter received employment as the cook's boy in some cardinal's house, but Michael could find nothing to do, so he almost despair.

He went to his friend Peter, who gave him something to eat and at night secretly let him into his room in the attic to sleep. This went on for a long time, Peter content to let his friend do this and Michael content also. Michael when in church had seen some fine pictures. One which fascinated him was "Christ Ascending to Heaven." Taking bits of charcoal, he went to Peter's room and drew pictures on the white walls. One day the cardinal had occasion to go to the room. Michael had meanwhile secured employment in the cardinal's kitchen. The cardinal, upon seeing all the pictures, was dumfounded with their accurateness. He called Peter and Michael upstairs and asked who had drawn them. Michael confessed he had, but said he thought he could rub them out again. The cardinal explained to him that it was all right so far as the wall was concerned. He took Michael and sent him to a drawing master and gave Peter a better position. And Michael worked hard at his drawings, learned diligently and became the renowned Michael Angelo, one of the greatest painters of his time.

VEGETABLES AS MEDICINE.

Asparagus stimulates the kidneys. Water cress is an excellent blood purifier. Parsnips possess the same virtues as sarsaparilla. Carrots are good for those having a tendency to gout. Celery contains sulphur and helps to ward off rheumatism. Celery is a nerve tonic; onions also are a tonic for the nerves. Tomatoes are good for a torpid liver, but should be avoided by gouty people. Beets are fattening and good for people who want to put on flesh; so are potatoes. Lettuce has a soothing effect on the nerves and is excellent for sufferers from insomnia. Spinach has great aperient qualities and is far better than medicine for sufferers from constipation.

Hatching Eggs in the Mouth.

Some curious examples of the egg laying habits of certain frogs are related by naturalists. The female of one species, a species which was recently extinct, carried the eggs about in her mouth until they were hatched. When the young emerge they are tadpoles, but fully formed, though, of course, diminutive frogs. An American tree frog, again, has a pouch along the whole extent of its back, in which the eggs are carried until hatched. It is the Nototrema marsupiatum of zoologists, the name referring to this curious habit. The case of the Surinam toad is equally curious. In this species the female places the eggs one by one, in hollows in the skin on the back of the female, where they are developed.—London Globe.

The Golden Magnet.

"A pretty girl, even if she is poor, can have all the attention she wants, can't she?"
"Yes, there is only one that can beat her."
"Who's that?"
"A homely girl with the coin."—Detroit Free Press.
