A stranger who gave his name as John Sweeney was before Recorder Thompson Wednesday on a charge of misdemeanor. He plead guilty and asked the court if it could not suspend sentence until one o'clock p. m. of that day. The request was readily granted and when last seen he was headed south.

Accidentally Shot and Killed While Hunting

Mrs Gerry, accompanied by Mrs White, left here early this week on account of the sad news that Will Cole, a brother of Mrs Gerry, had been accidentally shot by his companion while out hunting near Grass Valley, Nevada county. The young man died in about four hours after receiving the injuries. Mrs White returned Wednesday evening, but Mrs Gerry remained until after the funeral, which was held Wednesday afternoon, and to comfort her widowed mother, who is distracted by this terrible affliction. The Nevada Transcript of Tuesday gives the following account of this fatal shooting.

The lads started out early in the morning, Cole going without breakfast so as not to miss the good shooting of the early hours. They hunted along slowly and about 10 o'clock found themselves on the old McKeon place on the old Nevada road, adjoining the Hughes ranch. Soon after 10 o'clock the dog scared up a jackrabbit and both started after it. While Cole was ahead and stepped behind a bush to get out of the view of the rabbit. As the animal ran along Coffey espied it and drew his gun up quickly and shot. As he did so Cole stepped out from behind the bush and received the charge from the barrel of Coffey's gun. Cole cried out he had been shot and Coffey ran quickly to his side. The latter saw at once that the shot had torn an ugly wound in Cole's clothing and the blood was running from the wound inflicted. There was no help within a mile or more and the gritty little hunter, although he had received his death blow, gamely walked half a mile towards assistance, and would have gone further had he not dropped in sheer exhaustion from loss of blood. Coffey tried to carry him but was obliged to abandon the idea. He then made Cole as comfortable as possible and ran for assistance, first to the Hughes place, then to the Simmons ranch and later to the Morgan ranch, where Ed and Fred Morgan were found. They drove quickly to where the injured boy was lying and although it was half an hour or longer since he had been left alone he was still conscious and cheerful.

It was 10:30 a. m. when the accident occurred and almost two hours elapsed before he was taken to his home.

Soon after 2 o'clock in the afternoon he passed quietly away. Coroner Gill was summoned and ordered that an autopsy be held to determine the exact cause of death. Dr. Carl P. Jones opened the boy and found that the shot had spread after entering and the little leaden pellets were found in almost every organ. The liver, the spleen, the intestines and other organs were perforated, and even in the heart one bullet was found. The shot in entering the body tore a hole in the flesh about four to six inches in diameter, indicating that the lads were not far apart when the shooting occurred.

He was 18 years of age and was learning to become a cigar-maker. He had served more than three years of apprenticeship and would have been in a position to work as a journeyman next January. He was just able to assist his widowed mother, who has had her share of trouble in this world. She is beside herself with grief and feels that this latest loss is really more than she can bear. Her boy was more than anything else in the world to her and she can hardly reconcile herself to his sudden taking off. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon.

Numbering Houses.

The city trustees last evening finally passed an ordinance requiring the numbering of all houses within the city limits. We know not who is the real sponsor of this delectable piece of local legislation. W. M. Penry introduced it. It is safe to say neither he nor others concerned realized the full meaning of the proposition. It is a simply a waste of public and private money, if ever enforced, which is very doubtful. It is a leap-before-you-look proposition like the fool library ordinance which was so enthusiastically passed a couple of years ago. Fancy, there are not outside of Main street fifty dwelling houses on any street in Jackson, and the city fathers assume that to fix the locality of a resident as is necessary to stick up a number, a la city fashion. How long oh, lord, such tomfoolery.

Lumber Yard Closed

The Whitmore lumber yard in Jackson was closed Wednesday last. No more lumber will be sold from this yard for the present. This action was taken for the purpose of facilitating the winding up of the Whitmore estate, which has been in the probate court for nearly three years. Geo. Kikwood, who has been in charge of the yard, will now devote his time to collecting the debts, thus paving the way for terminating the proceedings in court. Arrangements will no doubt be made by the Amador Lumber Co. to supply this city with lumber.

Money comes in bunches

to A. A. Chisholm, of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old-time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infalible for stomach, liver, kidneys, blood and nerves. 50c at Spagnoli Drug Store

The Whitmore Estate

John F Davis, W R Webster and Vic Chichizola went to Antelope Sunday last, returning the same day. As the final proceedings to wind up the Whitmore estate are about to be presented to the superior court, it is believed that the object of the trip was to look over the timber lands of the estate with the probability that the Chichizola Estate Company will bid for the same when the proper time arrives and absorb them entirely, thereby adding nearly 1000 acres to its present holdings. The court proceedings are almost at an end.

Most of the mountain property consists of timber land, some of it virgin forest, bought years ago and upon which the mill has made but small inroads. From the fact that the Chichizola company owns a large tract adjacent to the Whitmore holdings, it is not at all likely that any other purchaser will be likely to enter this field.

The improvements are assessed at $3,000, and the land at $4,045. This land and the lot upon which is located the lumber yard at Jackson, comprise the bulk of the estate.

Small Irrigated Farm

Louis Miller, who about two months ago left this county for Livingstone, a new settlement in the irrigation district of Merced county, came up from that section this week to look after his ranch property above Volcano. He will return to Merced county in a few days. In partnership with Sam Lessley, also for many years a resident of the Volcano section, he has branched out into the butcher business in Livingstone, and speaks very enthusiastically as to the outlook. The big ranches have been cut up into ten and twenty acre lots, and colonists are flocking from the east to settle upon these small farms. With irrigation rights running with the land at a cost of $1 per acre annually, the settlers are doing well, and the population is rapidly increasing. The land is no better than that of the foothills of this county. With irrigation facilities, which might be secured without great expense, the same results would flow from intensified farming of small tracts here. It must come to this eventually, if Amador is ever to take a step onward in the direction of agricultural development.

Chamber of Commerce Meeting.

The regular quarterly meeting of the recently organized chamber of commerce of Amador county was announced to be held last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the superior court room. As this was the first general meeting since the organization of the chamber, it was expected that there would be a fair turnout of members. When the appointed time came, however, only seven or eight were present. It required fifteen to make a quorum. So no business of any kind was transacted. After some informal talk by the few present the meeting adjourned without date.

The directors have done little of practical value during the quarter toward furthering the objects of the association. They are hampered by the lack of funds. The amount in the treasury is a little over $100. The second quarter's dues of $1 is now payable, and members will facilitate matters by paying the same promptly. It was suggested to pay some one a commission to collect the dues, and solicit new members. This course is likely to be adopted.

Tickling in the Throat

"Just a little tickling in the throat!" Is that what troubles you? But it hangs on! Can't get rid of it! Home remedies don't take hold. You need something stronger—a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral contains healing, quieting, and soothing properties of the highest order. Ask your doctor about this. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Constipation positively prevents good health. Then why allow it to continue? An active liver is a great preventive of disease. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. What does your doctor say?

CRUSHED TO DEATH IN HAY PRESS.

John Podesta Loses his Life In Singular Manner.

A shocking accident occurred in Jackson Valley on Tuesday last John Podesta, a Jackson boy, aged about fifteen years, being the victim. He was working with a hay baling crew on the ranch of C. C. Prouty in Jackson Valley. The baling machine was of the old pattern, the pressure coming from a weight from above. In the afternoon young Podesta was sent into the press to clean it out, a process which becomes necessary at intervals to keep the machine in good working order. The animals attached to the press were trained at the business, starting up of their own accord at the proper time. While the boy was inside the press, the horses started up, which set the ponderous weight in motion. There was no possibility of escape for the unfortunate victim inside. The weight, estimated at over 300 lbs, came down upon, crushing him in a frightful manner. The fellow workmen were powerless to avert the awful accident, although fully realizing what the starting of the animals meant. Podesta's mangled frame was taken out as soon as possible. Both legs were broken, and he was terribly crushed otherwise. He lived two hours after the accident. Deceased is the youngest of a family of nine children. His father is an old settler of Jackson, but at present living in San Francisco. His mother died some years ago. He also leaves four brothers and four sisters to deplore his tragic and untimely end.

The remains were brought to Jackson and the funeral is set for this afternoon; interment in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. Father Kearney officiating. All the members of the family came up from the city Wednesday evening, to attend the funeral.

Marriage Licenses.

The county clerk issued marriage licenses on the 11th instant as follows: Carlo Poggi, a native of Italy, aged 22, residing in Jackson and Mary Digitale, a native of Italy, aged 20 residing in Jackson.

Ernest Lucas a native of California, aged 23, residing at Lancha Plana, and Rachel Phillips, a native of California, aged 21, and residing at Lone.

Visit of N. D. G. W. Grand President.

Mrs Emma Lillie, grand president of the Native Daughters, made an official visit to Ursula Parlor of Jackson on Tuesday last. The members of the local lodge made elaborate preparations for her welcome. Besides the lodge members, there were visitors from Sutter Creek, Volcano and Mokelumne Hill parlors present; also Ida Belle Schwartz from Nevada City. In all between 50 and 60 members were present to greet the grand officer. After the official ceremonies, a short literary program furnished entertainment. This was followed by a supper, accompanied by toasts, Mrs Hurst being toast mistress. The following toasts were given. "Our pioneer mothers," Mrs Alice Jones; "California," Mrs Nellie Fontenrose; "Our order", Grand President Mrs Lillie; "Our Grand President," Miss Emma Boardman; "Our flag," Mrs C. M. Garbarini.

Boshaw Divorce Case.

The divorce case of Levi A Boshaw against Martha Boshaw came up in the superior court last Saturday morning. The plaintiff has resided in Plymouth for many years and formerly kept a small store at the lower end of Main street. At present he is engaged in freighting between Latrobe and Plymouth. The defendant was not in court nor was she represented by an attorney. The testimony went to prove that Boshaw was the victim of many indignities and abuses. She had struck him on the head, neck and in the mouth on different occasions and had called him an old dog, "an old hog" and used language that belonged only on the street, all for no apparent reasons.

When Mrs Boshaw was about to leave home for the last time she said to him: "Levi I am going away, and I want you to kiss me good-bye," which request was complied with. In telling the court of the incident he did so in such a sympathetic manner that all present were convinced of his sincerity in giving his testimony.

Boshaw has been a much married man. His attorney, stated that the last wife was the fourth or fifth. None of the late ones remained for any great length of time. He has some grown up daughters by a former wife who reside with their father. The last one lives at Oleta it is said. The court granted an interlocutory decree of divorce as prayed for.
