C. L. Pyron and his son, B. E. Pyron, of Ranger Lake, were here Wednesday and Thursday laying in supplies. They also took back a load of fence post they had left here in the winter. They are considerably worried about the surveys in their part of the county, as it has all been done by local surveyors, who, they are now informed, run the lines on a wrong variation, and from no established corner. In fact they do not find any established corners, or any evidence that the Government ever placed any, and they are going to make application for a re-survey. This they can secure if they can show that there are no existing cornerstones, and that less than 50 per cent, of the land has been entered. As the matter now stands the settlers of that part of the county cannot rely upon their lines at all, and they are afraid to make any permanent improvements.

HENRY JAMES ON RACE SUICIDE.

Henry James does not agree with Col. Roosevelt on the question of large families. Small families such as prevail in France, indicate to Mr. James' mind, intelligence and progress, while large families indicate the reverse.

"Large families are so embarrassing, too," said Mr. James on his last American visit. "I once knew a man named Thompson on who had 14 children. Thompson agreed one spring holiday to take his children to the seashore for the week-end.

"They set off, reached the station, got there tickets and were about to board the train when Thompson was roughly collared by a policeman. 'Here, wot 'a' you bin a doin' off?' the policeman growled fiercely. 'Me? nothing. Why?' stammered Thompson.

The policeman waved his torch toward the Thompson family.

"Then wot the bloody blazes," he hissed, "is this crowd a-follerin' ye fur?"

We have just heard of a school ma'am introducing a new feature in her school. When one of the girls miss a word the boy who spells it gets permission to kiss her. The result is the girls are becoming poor spellers while the boys are improving right along.

A LEGW DOWN TRICK

An editor of a small American paper recently stated that he had been kissed by one of the most beautiful married women in the town. He promised to tell her name in the first issue of his paper next month. In two weeks the circulation of his newspaper doubled; but when he gave the name of his wife he had to leave town.—Tucumcari Sun.

J. O. Hill, who lives Southeast of Kenna, came in Wednesday from Roswell, and remained over night to attend the republican primary. He went to Roswell by team, just for the pleasure(?) of the trip. He got all the pleasure he needed on the down trip and left his partner to return by himself with the team, and Mr. Hill came back on the train.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY

The republicans met Wednesday evening in this city as per call, and elected delegates and alternates to attend the convention at Roswell, Aug., G. E. Lee was selected precinct committeeman, and the meeting also selected H. W. Colvard as president of the republican club, and George Northcutt was elected secretary. C. J. Marbut acted as secretary of the meeting, Ed Lee presiding.

DR. HALE A FRIEND IN NEED

Proof That He Lived Up to the Principles of "Lend-a-Hand" Societies He Founded.

The late Dr. Edward Everett Hale, the founder of the "Lend-a-Hand" societies, practiced what he preached. He lent his own hand time and time again. Once, says the Woman's Home Companion, his travels brought him to a town where a friend of his was editing a daily newspaper. When he called on him, this friend unfolded a tale of woe. His wife was seriously ill. She had gone into the country, believing that a change of air would do her good. She was pining for her husband, and he was pining for her, but he had no assistant, so if he took a vacation the paper must stop. Dr. Hale listened and, returning to his hotel, sat down at his desk.

Before he got up he had written with that ready pen of his enough articles on topics of contemporaneous interest to fill his friend's editorial column for a week. Returning to the sanctum, he threw his copy on the editorial desk, with the remark: "There, now you can go and visit your wife!"

Why Kettles Sing.

The reason a kettle "sings" is a very simple one. As the water gets hot little bubbles of steam are found at the bottom of the kettle. These in their rush upward strike the sides of the kettle and set the metal in vibration, thus causing the humming sound we call singing. You will notice a copper kettle, which has thin sides, will make a much louder and more musical note than a common iron kettle.

MISS THE LIGHT AND NOISE

Reasons Why Some Townspeople Are Unable to Live Comfortably in the Country.

The necessity which some people feel for noisy surroundings was mentioned by a famous specialist in giving a medical explanation of the case of little Horace Collins, the heroic messenger boy, says the London Daily Mail. The lad, although able to gratify every wish as the guest of Lord Lansdowne at Bowood house, has a mastering longing for the bustle and light of the London streets.

"It is a very clear case of nostalgia," said the doctor. "A person suffering like that has lost two everyday friends, as it were—noise and light. It is entirely due to the nerves. Our nervous system gets into a pronounced groove in accordance with the everyday condition under which we live. A sudden change in living throws the nervous system out of gear. Both light and noise are nervous stimuli to people who live amid noise and light. Take away the comradeship of noise and light, and the nervous system loses two stimulants necessary to its well being and suffers in consequence. With the boy Collins the fact that he does not see policemen troubles him, because policemen to him have become an important part of the natural scheme of things.

"A very similar case occurred with a London housekeeper of mine. She was sent away to the country, and simply could not endure to live there. She missed the companionship of noise so much that she had to be brought back to town again quickly, for her health was beginning to suffer."

Butter Adulterated with Flint. Butter that was sold to the English working classes of the flinties was adulterated with ground flint. The flint stones were ground and manipulated into a substance called "soluble silica."

King Granary.

The Crimea and the whole Black sea region, owing to the sparse population to consume it, had a great surplus of wheat. For centuries it was coveted by all hungry nations—and exploited by the one with the strongest armies. For centuries after Athens had feasted upon the grain-raising lands beyond the Bosphorus, Mithridates, as a preparation for his life and death contest with Rome, fell upon the corn fields of the Crimea. Because Sicily was yellow with wheat from earliest memory, through ages and ages she was raided by all the powers of the world. It was because of Egypt's corn, more plentiful than anywhere else along the Mediterranean, that Caesar and Pompey wanted the land of the Ptolemies. It was when Rome held or controlled the granaries—her first and dearest conquests—of Sicily, Sardinia, Spain and Egypt that she could become mistress of the world.

Spot for Lady Godiva.

"Talk about vanity!" exclaimed the woman who keeps her eyes open. "I passed a big new building the other day—big enough to be a school or a theater—and what do you suppose it was to be devoted to? Hair—hair! Puffs and braids and swirls and switches and curls and ruts and things for women to pin on their heads and make believe belong to them. A building full of hair!"
