

JOSEPH A. YORK, well-known business man of Portland, Me., who says he feels twenty years younger and has gained sixteen pounds on four bottles of Tanlac. Declares he can now eat three square meals a day.

"I am now able to eat three square meals a day for the first time in two years," was the emphatic statement made recently by Joseph A. York, well-known business man and highly respected citizen of Portland, Maine.

"I am now sixty-nine years of age, and in all my life I have never run across a medicine that I consider in a class with Tanlac. I have just finished my fourth bottle and this medicine has benefited me even beyond my greatest hopes. Besides gaining sixteen pounds in weight, I have been built up and strengthened until I feel all of twenty years younger.

"For the past two years I have been in a miserably run-down condition, and was compelled a short time ago to give up all idea of business as I was too weak to look after anything. I was nervous, worn-out, had no appetite, and suffered most all the time with indigestion. Some days I would eat scarcely anything; in fact I was afraid to eat because I knew I would suffer afterward. Sometimes I had such severe cramping pains after eating that I would almost die. My nerves were all unstrung and the least thing would worry me and I never could get a good night's sound sleep. In fact I just lost interest in everything and was greatly discouraged over my condition.

"The ordinary treatment failed to do me any good, and as I had read so many statements from people I know here in Portland who had been benefited by Tanlac, I decided to give it a trial. And now I know for myself what it will do, for I have simply taken a new lease on life. I am now able to look after my work as usual, and never felt better in my life. I am able to eat three hearty meals a day and everything agrees with me perfectly. I eat anything I want and never feel a touch of indigestion. I never thought there was a medicine that could do me so much good, and I am only too glad to have the facts about my case given to the public."

ROAD BUILDING

SEES NEED OF FEDERAL AID

Road Congress Favors Creation of Highway Transportation Bureau—Roads Lead to Wealth.

Creation of a permanent national bureau of transportation, together with continuance of state organizations, has been recommended as one of the most important steps in the work of construction. Without attempting to seize any credit for themselves, it is the opinion of highway officials that such investigations as had been undertaken in the several states of the Union had disclosed an immediate economic need for the continuance of the work which has for its basis elimination of waste effort in transportation, with a resultant decrease of living costs, as an immediate development of the vast potential resources of the nation now lying dormant for want of means of conveyance.

As a result of the deliberations of a meeting in Chicago the committee went on record as favoring these points: The enactment by congress of an amendment to the present federal aid road act, which would provide $500,000,000 for work on the roads of the United States during the next seven years; the creation of a federal highway commission of five skilled engineers who should have charge of the expenditure of this fund in conference with the highway commissioners of the various states; the construction of a national system of highways, the location of which is to be determined by the commission and the supervision of which is to remain in charge of the state highway departments, and, finally, changes in the present federal aid act which would do away with the restrictions now limiting federal aid to roads on 70 per cent of the mileage of which there is post delivery and of the limitation of $10,000 per mile under federal aid.

Reports from all sections of the country showed that it has been possible to bring about a very marked increase in marketing through improved transportation wherever the road would stand the traffic. The conclusions reached were that all that is necessary today to add untold wealth to the resources of the country, together with an enormously stimulated production of all kinds of supplies, is a road system which will not only open up the virgin territories of the West and South, but which will quicken the pulse of trade in the most congested districts of the East, where the casual observer might believe that traffic has been fully developed, but which close students say could be geared up to a remarkable extent through efficient use of the highways.

In standing by the creation of a federal road commission, the officials of the body expressed their belief in the feeling, now generally prevalent throughout the United States among road men, that the time has come when transportation on the highways is deserving of more substantial recognition than that accorded it as a bureau, which, while it has been as efficient as the limitations of the law has permitted, would be dignified if elevated to the rank of a commission, and would make possible representation of five different districts of the United States with their diverse needs.

As for the future of the highways transport committee, the work already done by the voluntary organizations has opened such a vast field for research in the economic life of the country that it is believed this work should be continued as a branch under the proposed road commission by salaried men who should be experts in the field, and who would give all of their time to a close development of the problems which the present committee has thus far only had time to uncover.

MARY GRAHAM BONNER THE THREE CAMELS.

"Hello," said Camel One, "here we are in the big city. It is quite a contrast from our desert home."

"It is indeed," said Camel Two, "But I am glad the weather is a little milder. The other night when we were walking down to our stable home it was snowy and rainy and very chilly."

"It seems strange," said Camel Three, "that they cannot get enough people to act. It seems strange that they need us too."

"That shows how important camels are. And they've always said we weren't very bright. If we weren't very bright we could never have gone on the stage."

Now the three camels belonged to a theater which was giving a play about the desert. Every day the Camels were walked up to the theater and every evening after the theater was out they were walked down to their stable.

"Ah," said Camel Three, "we must have some brains or we couldn't have gone on the stage. I don't mean that we couldn't have walked on it but we couldn't have really acted on it."

"We have some brains," said Camel One, "but not many. They are what you call few and far between."

"I think," said Camel Three, "it takes a great actor to be able to walk across the stage properly. Poor actors and actresses look like sticks."

"I have never seen one look like a stick," said Camel One. "All the actors and actresses I've seen have had arms and legs and faces and hair too. Sticks don't have all that."

"You're absurd," said Camel Three. "I mean that actors and actresses who are poor at their work are just about as awkward as sticks. Of course they aren't really sticks."

"Then I wish," said Camel One, "you wouldn't talk in that way. I got quite excited thinking about actors and actresses who looked like sticks, quite excited. And I don't wish to get excited."

"You don't have to," said Camel Three.

"But if you say things like that I must," said Camel One.

"You don't have to at all," said Camel Three. "Just say to yourself, 'Now look here, Camel, no matter what Camel Three says, you mustn't get excited.'"

"I'll try that," said Camel One. And he began saying over and over to himself, "Now look here, Camel, no matter what Camel Three says, you mustn't get excited."

"Ah," said Camel Three, "they couldn't have had this play without us. We have gone into circuses it is true, but now we have also gone on the stage. We've been a part of a play and a most important part."

"A most important part," said Camel Two, "sometimes like the scenery. Most important."

"We aren't scenery," said Camel Three. "We're camels."

"Well, I know that," said Camel Two. "No one knows better than I do that I am a camel. But still I heard some one say we were a part of the scenery. So we must be. We are part of the scenery as well as being camels. We're more than we thought we were."

"For some one said, 'Those camels are such a beautiful part of the scenery.' Now what do you make of that?"

"I make of that," said Camel Three, "that we made the scene much more real. Just as if they were giving a play with a scene in a children's nursery. It would be suitable, wouldn't it, to have a few children around now, wouldn't it? In the same way it is suitable to have us in this play."

"What does suitable mean?" the other camels asked.

"The thing!" said Camel Three.

"Fine," the other camels agreed, as they trudged into their stable for a good night's rest.

THIS YOUNG MOTHER

Tells Childless Women What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and then they will be in a position to give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets that are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—(Adv.)
