AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES TO PEACE CONFERENCE NAMED

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Preparations for the participation of the United States in the coming peace conference have been completed with the naming of representatives of America's position on great questions to be set forth. The following were named: President Wilson, Robert Lansing, secretary of state, Henry White, former ambassador to Italy and France, Col. E. M. House, General Tasker H. Bliss, who will be a representative of the American army in the supreme war council.

The failure of the president to include members of the senate among the delegates, resulted in a movement by republican senators to send a senator or a committee to France principally to furnish the senate with information on the different discussions. Resolutions are said to be already framed for submission to the senate Monday.

YANKS NOT LENIENT

Show No Squeamishness in Dealing With Hun.

American Boy Avenges Death of His Chum Even to Hun Monument.

London.—If anyone believes the Yanks are inclined to be lenient toward the Huns he needs only to take a journey among the hospitals and get the spirit of the boys who have been through the mill. They tell some pretty characteristic stories in the hospitals.

One of the officers, when asked what was the general feeling of the boys, said:

"All you have to do is to ask one or two of them to find out."

This story is told by one of the officers and vouched for:

"We were going over. The first blast of the machine guns got us pretty well. Then 'Jerry' started over. We met. In the move forward one of our boys was shot by a German rifleman. The boy's chum, standing close to me, saw the German who shot the first boy. We then rushed. The Germans began dropping to their knees and calling 'Kamerad.' This boy, with his chum lying on the ground, dashed up to the German who had shot him. The Hun cried for mercy. He was on his knees.

"'Kamerad!' repeated the Yank. 'You get no mercy from me. I'm going to run this bayonet through you, turn you on your back, and then put your helmet on the gun-stock. That's the only monument you'll get, you dirty Hun.'"

"The German pleaded for mercy again, while the boy held the bayonet against him.

"Then there was a second's suspense. Then came the grunt as the bayonet went home and the Hun was bowled over on his back. Then the boy said to me:

"'Lieutenant, if I lose this gun will it be charged up against me?'"

"'Not a bit, go ahead,' told him.

"Then he shoved the gun until the muzzle went through the German's chest, the bayonet deep into the ground. Then he calmly took the Hun's helmet, placed it on top of the gun and said:

"'That's your monument, you Hun!'"

New Rochelle, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Mrs. Beth S. Fairbanks won her interlocutory decree divorce from Douglas Fairbanks, the moving picture actor. The supreme court awarded the custody of their son, Douglas, Jr., eight years of age, to his mother. The record refers to correspondent as "unknown woman".

Mrs. C. C. Lewis, chairman of the local Red Cross organization, has a letter from headquarters in reference to the Christmas Roll for membership. The letter states that they hope to send speakers all over the division during the week beginning December 9th and ending the 16th. Today, November 30th, is the last day for Christmas packages to be sent overseas.

Miss Mary Hemenway, one of the teachers in Carlsbad High school, came down yesterday with the flu. Her sister, Mrs. Balingier, is filling her position during her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lewis have had four letters this week from their son, Clifford, who is with Uncle Sam's forces overseas. Clifford is attending Officers Training school, somewhere in France, presumably near the Swiss border as he speaks of walking in the shade of the mighty Alps mountains which he says must be pleasanter in summer than in October, when the letters were written.

Miss Margaret Roberts entertained informally last night at bridge for about a dozen friends. Among the out of town guests was Corporal Ted Butler, who is visiting in Carlsbad enroute to Magdalena, where he will resume the practice of law abandoned when the call of khaki led him to an officers' training camp.

R. M. Hamblen was forced to go home from the store today, suffering from a severe sore throat. It is hoped he will soon be able to resume his work.
