The only way to get rid of the evil effects of the saloon is to kill the saloon. It is also the most effective way with a skunk.—The Roswell Record.

The mere fact that probably three-fourths of all the crimes are traced directly to the open saloon is proof conclusive that regulation is an unmitigated fraud.—The Roswell Record.

P. A. Speckmann, editor of the Estancia News, and Sheriff Julius Meyer came over to Mountainair yesterday in an auto. Sheriff Meyer is watching all points of the compass for cattle and horse thieves and Editor Speckmann visited the city to see some friends and to distribute copies of that excellent special edition of the Estancia News, just out. Charley Burt says the sheriff and the editor had each other in tow—Mountainair Messenger.

Yes and both arrived home sober.

There were fourteen special post card special edition of newspapers gotten out in the territory this week. Many of the commercial clubs also published and mailed out pamphlets in compliance with the Governor's proclamation. Besides the many thousands of cards sent out by the Bureau of Immigration, the people of the territory have sent out multiplied thousands of cards and advertising literature telling the riches of the commonwealth of New Mexico. This is an advertising campaign that should be worth a great deal to our new state soon to be and the people have entered into it with great zeal.—The Tucuman News.

Remember

That the other fellow knows it's hot without being told.

That it's bound to be cooler next January.

That the home thermometer is always right and the weather bureau thermometer always wrong.

That ice melts faster in summer time than it does in winter.

That a lot of other places are just as hot as Omaha, if not hotter.

That because the heat makes you uncomfortable you do not have to make everyone else uncomfortable.—Omaha Bee.

And lastly, remember to leave a place like Omaha and come to New Mexico, where we use blankets in June.—Albuquerque Morning Journal.

And last of all remember the Estancia Valley is the best part of New Mexico, and consequently the place to come to when leaving Omaha.

It is not many cities that can afford in these times of higher prices to cut the levy, but Roswell, under the direction of the dry administration, has been enabled to do that very thing, and never before were so many improvements made or the city in such good condition generally.—The Roswell Record.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Estancia team went to Willard Sunday, but not like Caesar. Having gained the two former games played this year with the Willard boys, our boys were evidently getting just a trifle swell-headed over the fact. Or possibly the report that some of them indulged too freely in Willard Water may have had something to do with the result. At any rate the score as sent home with the boys was 4 to 2 NOT in favor of Estancia. Probably it is a good thing that the result is thusly, as it will insure us a splendid game on the Fourth when the Willard boys will come up to take the fourth game in the series, making it a tie, and when our boys will do their best to make it three to one.

CABBAGE APHIS

Week before last our Silverton correspondent asked for some remedy to get rid of insects on cabbage. We took the matter up with the Agricultural College, and have received as a reply an article on the Cabbage Aphis, which we believe will be of value to our readers, and publish the article for their benefit in full:

The cabbage aphis or louse is one of the worst pests the grower of this crop has to contend with in New Mexico. The aphis is a sucking insect and must be combated with a contact spray. It is of a bluish-gray color, or an oval shape, being a little larger than the head of a common pin. They make their appearance in early summer on the plant, and are usually found on the under surface of the leaves. Their presence on the plant may be easily detected by the edge of the infested leaf curling up.

The aphides live in colonies, and multiply very rapidly. Unless checked they soon spread over the entire plant and either kill it or cause it to head very poorly.

Remedies.—There are quite a number of remedies recommended for use against the aphis. The Horticultural Department of the New Mexico Experiment Station has used several of these remedies, and has found some of them to be both practical and effective. They are made and used as follows:

No. 1. Kerosene Emulsion. Dissolve 1-2 pound of laundry soap in 1 gallon of hot water. Then add, away from the fire, 2 gallons of kerosene. Churn this mixture until white and of the consistency of cream. After the oil and soap have been thoroughly emulsified, add 25 gallons of water, and apply as a spray or with a stiff paint brush or swab. It is important that the mixture be thoroughly emulsified. On indication of injury to plant, dilute the emulsion with more water.

No. 2. Whale-Oil Soap. Dissolve 2 1-2 ounces in 1 gallon of hot water, and apply while still warm, as a spray or with a stiff brush or swab.

No. 3. Tobacco Water is used frequently as a remedy for plant lice. Boil for 1-2 hour 1 pound of tobacco dust or stems in one gallon of water, and use as a spray or wash without diluting.

No. 4. Tobacco Dust is also quite effective for combatting cabbage lice. This dust is applied with a bellows blower, or may be shaken on the plant with a pepper box. The blower gives the better results of the two, as it puts the material on with more force.

No. 5. Hot water or strong Soap-Suds heated to a temperature of 130 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit may be used effectively against these insects. The hot water or suds applied as a spray or with a brush at the above temperature will not hurt the plant but will kill the lice.

In using any of these remedies, promptness and thoroughness in applying will count a great deal. On the first appearance of the insect the remedies should be used, and applied a second time, if necessary.

Meets Accident

S. C. Barnes and wife are in town, en route from Roswell to Albuquerque in their Cadillac car. Mr. Barnes is general agent of the Aegis Life Insurance Company and prefers traveling in the car and taking his wife with him, to traveling by train and going alone. He met with quite an accident yesterday morning. While cranking his car, preparatory to starting across the mountain for Albuquerque, the engine exploded prematurely throwing the crank back with such force that Mr. Barnes was thrown against the car. He received quite a severe gash above his right eye. A local physician sewed up the wound, and while Mr. Barnes will wear a black eye for some time, he was fortunate in that he did not receive the stroke a half inch lower as it would have cost him an eye, undoubtedly if it had. He expects to be able to resume his journey today or tomorrow.

Deputy Sheriff D. W. Robinson yesterday afternoon brought in W. J. Frederick and son, H. Frederick and F. P. McCrary, who had had some difficulty over a fence. It seems that a neighbor before leaving had left his well to one of the parties and the fields to another, and they could not agree over details, with the result that Sunday they attempted to fight it out. All three plead guilty before Justice Howell, and paid their fines.
