The Sanitary condition of Tucumcari is getting to be a problem. The city authorities should get busy and have things cleaned up or there is going to be sickness here this fall.

The ordinance restricting saloons in Tucumcari has gone to the bad as it proved to be contrary to a statute passed by the last legislative assembly which makes provision for saloon restriction. The city council did not know what this law was at the time action was taken on the passage of the saloon ordinance.

If Expert Trelford had been permitted to run the penitentiary any longer, it would have been necessary to issue bonds to meet his indebtedness. It is wonderful what a reformer of the Hagerman brand can do when he gets a grab at the people's money.—New Mexican.

We are informed that there is another hitch in the S. H. Hancock contract for the two story stone building we mention elsewhere in this paper. The News is sorry this is the case as this will when it is built be among the best buildings in the city.

KINDLY RECOGNITION.

Watch a town's growth and progress by its newspapers. The newspaper is the first to lead in development and the last to howl calamity—that is if it be the right sort of a newspaper. Tucumcari, the prosperous county seat of Quay county, is developing at a rapid pace. Business is good and it possesses a class of men who pull together for the good of the community. The Tucumcari News appeared last week in twenty pages cram full of interesting news and breathing the air of prosperity that abounds in its community. The News is one of the very best weekly papers in the Southwest and it is edited in one of the very best communities in New Mexico. Quay county helps the News and the News helps Quay county.—Albuquerque Citizen.

The Tucumcari News is grateful for such prominent mention from one of the best daily papers published west of the Missouri river. It is our opinion that the most proficient press service to be found in the Southwest is here in New Mexico. We have three or four daily papers that are a credit to any commonwealth in this Great Union.

CURRY ARRIVES AT HONOLULU

Transport Logan With New Governor on Board Touched at That Port Today.

Honolulu, July 9.—Governor George Curry of Samar, Philippine Islands, recently appointed Governor of New Mexico, by President Roosevelt, arrived here today from the Philippine Islands on the United States transport Logan. He is on his way to New Mexico to assume the duties of his new office.

M. C. Allridge Gen'l manager for the Floersheim Merc. Co. at Roy and Springer, was in the city Thursday attending to Company business.

WOOL.

The wool business has now opened up in full blast and long strings of wool wagons reach the city every day. The wool men all pronounce the ranges in splendid condition and for this reason the wool this year is light and clean compared to former years. This has been a very flourishing year for the sheep, and the lamb crop was one of the best in the history of this country, ranging from 90 per cent to 100 per cent.

The amount of wool this year is abundant and of a good quality and this hardly holds up the prediction of some people that on account of the great number of settlers the sheep will have to move out to make room for the constant inflow of the people. This is a good wool country and will always come across with its part of the product; and instead of the sheep being driven out the flocks will be divided among the people and every farmer will own a few sheep, thus keeping the number the same.

The wool buyers seem to be a little slow in setting the price of wool this season, but we have every reason to believe that the price will not fall below that of other years.

The people, that is the good citizens of New Mexico, will approve the change in the administration of the Territorial Penitentiary. A genuine and true citizen of New Mexico, a taxpayer and a man who enjoys a fine reputation in every way, and who has served the people as sheriff, was appointed by Acting Governor Reynolds to be the new superintendent of the prison. The fact that he has been five times elected to the important office of sheriff is all the recommendation necessary.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

In commenting editorially on the appointment of Marion Littrell of this city as superintendent of the territorial penitentiary, vice Arthur Trelford removed, the Santa Fe New Mexican says: Acting Governor Reynolds removed the offending superintendent and appointed in his place a man, Marion Littrell of Colfax county, who is a citizen of New Mexico, capable, fearless, tried and trustworthy, owned by no political faction or clique, a man who knows his duty and will do it successfully.

Right you are. Every citizen of Colfax county who knows Mr. Littrell is of the same opinion. A man can best be judged by those who mingle with him, day in and day out for years. In his capacity as sheriff of Colfax county, as a citizen and as a man, the new superintendent is built of the right kind of timber that will make him a success in his new possession.

It is not our province to go into matters that have led up to this appointment. If the territorial administration saw fit to remove Mr. Trelford, it is but natural that they should look for the best possible person to serve in such an important capacity. In coming to old Colfax to get his successor, no mistake was made, and especially in the new appointee.

We venture the assertion that whatever differences of opinion the press of the territory may hold in connection with the investigation, it will be unanimous in approving the choice made by Acting Governor Reynolds. Cimarron Press.
