

WHEN MAKING PASTRY

SOME IMPORTANT THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED.

Ingredients to Be Used Should Always Be Cold—Shortening Must Not Be Cut Too Small—Care of the Under Crust.

Making a good pie is the test of good cooking; but a rich puff paste is not at all necessary. A well made, flaky pie crust will, in fact, be much better for the family than the richer pastry, and with a little experience and more care even Mrs. Newlywed should be able to produce a specimen above reproach.

Ingredients for pastry making should always be cold. A good recipe for family pie crust is as follows: Three cupfuls of flour, one of shortening, and ice water to mix (about three-fourths of a cupful). Butter and lard, chicken fat and lard or beef drippings and lard in equal quantities make a good shortening.

Always sift the flour and also chop the fat into the flour. If flaky crust is wanted the shortening must not be chopped too fine. Sprinkle the water in a little at a time and toss about with a fork to mix. Turn on a floured board, dust with flour and roll back and forth until the paste is oblong, and fold over in three layers. Roll again and fold, when the paste is ready, though it will be improved by setting away in the icebox for an hour.

The reason why the shortening should not be cut too small is that little balls of it hardened by the ice water mixed with the flour make the crust flaky after the folding and rolling. Fat rubbed into flour until it feels "mealy" makes a short piecrust. Three rollings are as many as this paste will stand. To press too much breaks the balls of fat while they really should only be flattened. Otherwise the paste will not rise and puff up in the oven.

Some people use a little baking powder in piecrust. In that case less shortening is required.

Never use a rich paste as an under crust, because it soaks up the contents of the pie. Always cut pastry with a very sharp knife. If it is jagged at all around the edges the pastry will not rise so well. Cuttings and trimmings should be used for ornamentation or smaller dishes. Putting several pieces together to form one large one is not a success, although it will answer, of course, for the home table.

To give a glazed appearance to a pie, brush over with a beaten egg before putting into the oven.

Pastry will rise better if put ice cold into a hot oven. When the greatest heat is at the bottom the pie will bake most successfully, because the paste will puff up from the heat before the top has a chance to get too brown.

In making pates roll out the paste half an inch thick. Cut two rounds the same size and take a small round from the center of one. Use the ring left for laying on the other round. Brush with water to make it stick. The small round is used for a cover after filling the plate.

Popovers.

One cupful of flour, one-fourth teaspoonful salt, seven-eighths cupful milk, and one egg. Mix salt with sifted flour, then gradually add the milk so the mixture does not become lumpy, then add the beaten egg and beat with a Dover egg beater until the mixture is full of bubbles. Pour into blissing hot iron gem pans which have been well buttered and bake in a hot oven between thirty and thirty-five minutes. If the popovers become brown too soon, cover them with a piece of heavy wrapping paper. Iron gem pans must be used in place of tin ones, because the heat is more even.

Smothered Rabbit.

Soak one pair of cleaned rabbits in salt water for two or three hours. Wipe carefully with a dry cloth and rub all over with a little oil. Season well with salt and pepper and sprinkle with flour. Put them in a pan that has been well greased with oil or drippings (oil is preferable, as it adds flavor to the rabbits). Put into a moderate oven, and when they commence to brown add a little boiling water. Baste frequently and serve on a large platter.

Original Molasses Cookies.

One-half cupful sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter and lard, cream together with sugar, one-half cupful molasses, one-half cupful sweet milk, one-half teaspoonful ginger, one teaspoonful soda in flour; flour enough to roll; roll thin and bake in hot oven five minutes.

In Preserving Tins.

Boil the corks before bottling pickles, preserves, etc. While hot they can be pressed into the bottles, and when cold they seal them tightly.

BODY COVERED WITH ECZEMA.

R. F. D. No. 1, Tazewell, Tenn.—"My disease started on my legs in a small patch and kept spreading until my entire body was covered. It would itch and burn till I could not sleep at night. I would scratch till the blood would ooze out and run down my body and legs. The eruption came out in small red pimples and when I scratched the whole surface of the skin became irritated, red and ugly looking. My clothing seemed to irritate it. The pimples were on my hands, arms, legs, feet and entire body, especially between my fingers and toes. I also had dandruff on my head until my hair was all falling out."

"I was told it was eczema and took a treatment, but all remedies failed. Then I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I first washed with Cuticura Soap and warm water, dried well and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me, and they also cured my dandruff and falling hair." AFRICAN GARB TOO ADVANCED Church Women Are Startled at Costumes They Are Requested to Wear.

A story of how a women's missionary society of a church at Rushville, Ind., planned to give entertainment and use some costumes that were to be received from Africa is going the rounds. The society prepared for the arrival of a box of curios, which was to be sent by a missionary in Africa. A letter explaining the contents of the box said there would be two dresses worn by the native women of Africa. Arrangements were completed for the entertainment, and two women were selected to wear the native costume. Since the arrival of the box, the subject of the proposed entertainment is one that admits only of conversation behind the palm of one's hand. The costumes consisted of two strings of beads, with a fringe a few inches long. They were not worn by the Rushville women.

A Primal False Step.

"Why don't you propose to that girl? You like her and I'm sure she would have you." "All true, but there is an insuperable obstacle between us." "All family or religious obstacles can be overcome." "Nothing like that. I got a little too gay when I first met her and told her I was getting fifty a week, whereas I am only getting twenty-five."

Foolish Experiment.

"Do you know that whisky will take the varnish off a bar?" asked Mr. Blinks. "Sir," answered Colonel Sokesby, "the chemistry of whisky does not interest me, and, besides, it is too valuable a fluid to waste in foolish experiments."

His Versatility.

"The Hon. Horace K. Paunch is a very versatile statesman, isn't he?" "Oh, yes! He can put his foot in his mouth and still look dignified."—Judge.
