ATTENTION PRESBYTERIANS.

The morning service of next Sunday will be one of vital importance to the entire membership of the Presbyterian Church and because of this it is hoped that no Presbyterian will allow his place to be vacant at this service. Immediately following the morning hour of worship there will be a congregational meeting for the purpose of electing officers and the discussion of affairs of value to the local church. Will you not be present and support your pastor and session with hearty co-operation?

The message of the morning will be appropriate and, it is hoped, helpful to all who may worship with us, but especially so for the membership of this church and those of its persuasion. The sermon subject: "A Consecrated Membership." Everyone is cordially invited to attend this service and will always receive a fraternal welcome in our midst.
