Brooms

Made In Clovis

The Clovis Broom Factory is now making excellent brooms which can be found on sale with every first class grocerman in Clovis. We do not retail our brooms, but sell direct to the merchant. Patronize home industry by asking for our brooms. We are in the market all along for a little self working broom corn.

The ranch known as the West Camp Ranch, and owned by C. W. Harrison formerly of this place but now of Clovis, has been sold to Mr. Jones of Hereford, who has leased a number of adjoining sections. He will stock up the ranch with Herefords. Two airplanes passed over the city Tuesday morning. They were headed toward Lubbock. These still create a lot of excitement, but it will not be long until they will cause no more excitement than a scheduled train. The most of us are content as yet to ride on earth.

The Texico school children serenaded their teachers Wednesday evening. All the teachers are held in high esteem by the student body, as well as the patrons of the school. They have been untiring in their efforts to give us a good school the past school year, although they have had difficulties to surmount, caused by the closing of the schools, so long on account of the flu, yet have made fine progress, taking all this into consideration.

The rain has continued to fall nearly every day for a week or so, and the clouds look rather threatening yet. The ground is too wet to work in the fields and the farmers are very anxious for the ground to dry off sufficiently so they can begin their planting, as there are very few of them that have anything planted as yet.

QUAKER QUIPS

(Philadelphia Record.)

The only fellow who would really rather fight than eat is the dyspeptic. A thing of beauty is a joy forever, or at least until we find out how much it will cost.

Some people fall into a fortune with such violence that they go right through it.

Two souls with but a single thought may merely demonstrate that misery loves company.

Many a man gets the reputation of being a piker merely because he objects to have his money burn a hole in some other fellow's pocket.

Hot and Heavy

A thermometer won't keep you warm. It will tell you when the room is too hot—or too cold.

A hydrometer won't keep your battery charged. But it will tell you when the battery solution is too heavy or too light—and in this way will indicate when your battery needs to be charged.

It's easy to use the hydrometer. All you do is to draw up a sample of battery solution in the hydrometer tube, and read the figures on the stem of a little glass float.

If you've never tried it, come around and let us show you how easy it is.

Ask, before you forget it, just what there is about the Bone-Dry Willard Battery that makes it so substantial and long lived.
