Diocese of Helena.

Progress of the Church and Doings of the Catholic People in Montana.

BISHOP BRONDEL'S TOUR OF HIS DIOCESE—GOES EAST TO PLEAD FOR THE POOR INDIAN.

(Correspondence Intermountain Catholic.) Helena, Mont., Sept. 21.—Bishop Brondel left Helena on the 13th to complete his annual tour of the Diocese, preparatory to his departure for the east. He confirmed a class at Livingston on the 14th, where Rev. Father Tyrant is pastor. Then he went to Bozeman and confirmed a class of twenty-five on Sunday the 16th. Then the following Thursday he administered confirmation, at Miles City and Friday at Glendive and Wilaux. The three last named places being in charge of Rev. C. Paulweyn. Wilaux is the last station on the Northern Pacific road and was the last place visited by the Bishop this year. The church was built by and the town named after Mr. A. Wilaux. His Lordship left for Fargo, North Dakota after completing the services at Wilaux, where he will be joined by Bishop Shanley and they will proceed east on a tour of lecturing and collecting in behalf of the Indian Missions of the United States. Bishop Brondel was appointed by the Catholic Bureau of Indian Missions to visit the ecclesiastical provinces of Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. One more particularly adapted to this work could not be chosen anywhere. His love for the neglected and poor ignorant Indian with his whole-hearted sympathy make him a fit representative to display fully the urgent necessity of means with which to civilize, educate and enlighten and help support the Catholic Indian Missions. A faithful and devoted congregation wish their kind and solicitous shepherd much success in his undertaking; they will even bear him in mind during his necessary absence and their constant prayers will be for his safe and speedy return to them, when the work he has so gladly and with much devotion undertaken will be gloriously completed. He will not spare his labors in the field he has been assigned and the poor outcast red man will unite his prayers with the rest of his flock and in the time to come a grand reward will await him.

CHILDREN OF THE SACRED HEART.

Sunday last was a happy one for the children of the Sacred Heart parish. Arrangements have been made to have Mass for them every Sunday hereafter at 8 a. m. On the 15th and 16th of the month and when it is known many more will put in an appearance. This Mass is something that has been a dire necessity in the past. Many children who live a long distance from the church find it hard to rise earlier on Sunday morning than any other to get to church in time for the 8 o'clock Mass. Many who could not go to the early Mass had to attend High Mass, getting very tired with the lengthy services and thereby losing interest in the devotion. Another thing the sermons preached at the Masses are far too deep for the young and tender mind to grasp the meaning. A simple instructive sermon will be preached for the children's benefit at this Mass. Father Aken celebrated the Mass last Sunday and preached a short sermon instructing the children on the obligation to hear Mass with respect and devotion. St. Vincent's junior choir furnished the music and the juvenile congregational singing was nicely rendered. The first children's Mass in Helena was more than the success anticipated.

DIOCESAN NOTES.

Sunday school will be held every Sunday from now on at 2:30. Communion will be given on the fourth Sunday of every month for the members of St. Aloysius' Sodality. Rev. Father O'Connell of Phillipsburg and Rev. Father O'Farrell of Townsend were visitors at the episcopal residence last week. Two cases of smallpox have been reported recently, and it is feared a regular epidemic will break open with cold weather. Very Rev. C. M. Aken has charge of the Diocese during the absence of Bishop Brondel, and will attend to all official business in connection therewith. Rev. Father Vande Valde conducted services at East Helena last Sunday. He celebrated Holy Mass at 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. At the 8 o'clock mass a number of the children made their first Holy Communion. At both the services the church was crowded. Mrs. Laughlin, the organist, at the Cathedral has been away on a visit to St. Paul. She is expected back this week and next Sunday the Cathedral choir will fill their accustomed places and we will have High Mass at 10:30 as usual. The first communion class, composed of eighty boys and girls, receive special instructions every Saturday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. Father Aken has charge of the class and gives them special instruction. Parents are requested to send their children regularly to attend these instructions. On account of the Sacred Heart devotions on the first Friday of the month, the Sodality of the Children of Mary will receive on the third Sunday of every month, instead of the first Sunday. The Sodality have all been reorganized since the opening of school. Mr. Andrew O'Connell, one of the most widely known pioneers of Montana, attended the Society of Montana Pioneers at Bozeman a few days ago. He reports a pleasant reunion of the old-timers, and speaks highly of the hospitality of the Bozeman people. One of the grandest social events that has taken place this season in Helena will be the dancing party given at the Auditorium, Friday evening, by Mr. Thomas Cruse and his niece Miss Cruse. Invitations have been extended to prominent society people throughout the state and it is expected a large number will respond from

BUTTE.

St. Joseph's Orphanage School opened a couple of weeks ago with large enrollment. They have the same system of teaching and graded schools as the other schools, with a kindergarten annexed. The children between the ages of 3 and 6 are in this department. Eighteen newcomers have been added to the number already taken care of within the past two weeks. A sudden change from a balmy summer's eve to a cold and frosty winter's morning was what Helena people experienced last Monday. A light fall of "the beautiful snow" whitened the effect and winter overcoats and wraps were much in evidence. The ice man is a thing of the past, for this summer at least. From every source available the generous-hearted people of Helena and vicinity answered the call upon them to aid the Galveston sufferers. The first to respond to the call was our Right Rev. Bishop Brondel, who personally headed the donation list with $200. Thomas Cruse subscribed $100, and a collection was taken up at all the masses for the worthy cause. Seven hundred and ten dollars was the amount of the collection, which was immediately sent to the Bishop at Galveston to relieve the distressed sufferers. The large attendance at the opening of St. Aloysius' Boys' School forced the Bishop to apply for another teacher. This year the enrollment is the largest known. The actual attendance at present is 120. Preparations are made under headmaster to add another room to the building to accommodate the increase of numbers. German will be taught by Rev. Father Van de Velde. He expects to have a large class when the regular course of study is resumed.

BUTTE.

Mrs. M. J. Connell of Butte entertained the following friends at a theatrical performance at the Grand Opera House, Friday evening: Mesdames Largey, Shaw, Fricud, Johnstone, Misses Foster, Fine, Dawson, Largey, Eleanor and Viola Horgan. Mrs. Dan McDonald is visiting Helena friends. Miss Helen O'Neill is greatly interested in the social life of the working girl. A movement is on foot to organize a club to better the social condition, and to further the educational advantages of the wage earner. Mrs. Sam Johnstone is also much interested and has prepared a paper to be read Friday evening at the Ethical Culture Club—taking up the "Social Life of the Wage-Earner." Miss Katie O'Brien of Sheridan is a Butte visitor. Mayor McCarthy telegraphed to the Mayor of Galveston to draw on the city of Butte for $500 for the relief of the sufferers. This amount was generously donated by the council and city officials individually. Such actions will win the hearty commendation of all charitably inclined people. A business meeting of the Young Ladies' Institute was called last Tuesday evening. Transaction of important business was the motive for the meeting. A simple instructive sermon will be preached for the children's benefit at this Mass. Father Aken celebrated the Mass last Sunday and preached a short sermon instructing the children on the obligation to hear Mass with respect and devotion. St. Vincent's junior choir furnished the music and the juvenile congregational singing was nicely rendered. The first children's Mass in Helena was more than the success anticipated.

PUEBLO.

Word has been received here of the death at Fort Bayard, N. M., of Richard H. Allen, who up to five years ago was a resident of Pueblo. He was ill only five days and was in the sanitarium at Fort Bayard when he passed away. The interment took place at Silver City, N. M., Sept. 17, and was under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Church, of which he was a member. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss, while hundreds of Puebloans had gained an enviable name in business circles by his strict honesty and integrity, and his removal from Pueblo was deeply regretted. At the time of his death Mr. Allen was 57 years of age.

IRELAND INTERESTED.

(Continued from page 1.) to rescue what Washington had achieved, so it would seem that the advent of a mastering personality was now necessary to save the great Republic from the ravages caused by a concentration of gold. The fight which this Federalist Tribune is waging on behalf of gold is of consuming interest. Other struggles have been carried on before on American soil, but they were not whose money was in the hands of the slave's race. Slavery had gone down before the "matted hair" of humanity. Free Trade had yielded to Protection. Silver had failed before the onset of the rarer metal; but the fight which Bryan now wages is that of a man combating against forces the limits of whose monetary power is a matter of difficulty to circumscribe. When the victorious legions of McKinley triumphantly proclaimed in 1897 that Bryan and his cause was a thing of the past, his answer was in the publication of "The First Battle." It was typical of his courage and dauntless grit, and though he only again so close to defeat at the polls in November, it is safe to say that he will continue to fight on, firmly believing that man's side by side under Democratic institutions.
