

Diocese of Denver

ELIZABETH KELLY, Correspondent.

The Intermountain and Colorado Catholic is placed on sale at the James Clarke church goods house, 647 California street, Denver, Colo.

Rev. P. A. Phillips, pastor of the pro-cathedral and chancellor of the diocese, goes this week for an extended visit in the hope of regaining his health. He will ultimately reach Vancouver, B. C., the home of his mother.

Margaret, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrow, was baptized in Logan Avenue chapel by Father H. L. McMenamin last Sunday.

The baptism of Francis Patrick Lynch, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Lynch, at the cathedral parish, was also baptized last Sunday, Father J. M. Belzer officiating.

Mr. O'Neill of 1335 Adams street is seriously ill.

During the month of May the shrine of the Blessed Virgin Mary in Logan Avenue chapel will be kept beautiful day after day by the members of the Young Ladies' Sodality and the Children of Mary. The two societies promised to keep the shrine supplied with flowers, and the young women and girls will vie with each other in providing the fairest spring blossoms for the adornment of the altar.

In a week or ten days the Young Women's Sodality of the cathedral parish will open their new library in the store room at the north end of Logan Avenue chapel. The room has been cleared and is being attractively decorated. The books which the young women have been purchasing of late have been carefully and conveniently arranged on the shelves, and the library will be liberally patronized by the churchgoers. A great many of the young women have been purchasing of late have been carefully and conveniently arranged on the shelves, and the library will be liberally patronized by the churchgoers.

Easter Sunday.

Denver experienced an ideal Easter last Sunday. The weather was warm and springlike through the greater part of the day, and the churches were thronged, especially at the late masses. The altars were all beautifully decorated, in striking contrast to the bare appearance they had the day before. The sermons, too, were appropriate to the day. Father O'Ryan's sermon at St. Leo's church drew an immense crowd to that building at the last mass, and hundreds were turned away. At Logan Avenue chapel Father H. L. McMenamin preached at the 9 and 10 o'clock masses to an appreciative congregation, whom he impressed. Bishop Matz spoke there at the last mass, at which he also pontificated. The bishop was the speaker at the Good Friday devotions also. On Holy Thursday night one of the finest sermons ever heard in the chapel was given by Father McMenamin. George Kerwin, Michel's new mass was sung for the first time in Denver at Logan Avenue chapel on Easter, and was beautifully sung by the augmented choir under direction of Mr. Michel.

Wedding Bells.

At St. Dominic's church on last Tuesday morning, Miss Grace Agnes Bryan, a pretty North Side girl, became the bride of Nell J. McBride of Pittsburg. The romance which culminated in the wedding this week had its inception in an office where Miss Bryan worked as stenographer and Mr. McBride came on business. That was some time ago. When he was out here a few months ago on business for the Georgetown Loop Mining company the date was definitely settled and the marriage arranged, although no details leaked out until the Lenten season had almost passed into history. Mr. McBride, besides being a mining man, is a part owner of the Pittsburg Dispatch. After the ceremony on Tuesday morning a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ryan, parents of the bride, 321 Lowell boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. McBride left later in the day for Pittsburg, their future home. The marriage of Miss Katherine Calahan and Joseph Keough took place Wednesday evening, April 22, in Logan Avenue chapel. Father H. L. McMenamin officiated. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ida Callahan, and Mr. Keough by his brother, James Keough. Mr. and Mrs. Keough will make their home in Denver after a short honeymoon.

A wedding scheduled for next week, although the exact day is not announced, is that of Miss Louise O'Keefe and William Windwall. It will be a church wedding and will be followed by nuptial mass in Logan Avenue chapel.

A number of Denver people went to Cripple Creek this week for the fair in aid of the sisters' hospital there. The nurses at Mercy hospital dressed a handsome doll and donated it, and then a delegation of these young women went down personally to see that the chances were equal. The fair was a grand success. Miss Cecile, one of the pretty nurses who went down Monday.

In these days of speedy marriages and easy divorces it is infrequent to find men and women celebrating golden wedding anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Young of 1687 Milwaukee street will observe the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on April 26, and elaborate plans for making the day memorable are being laid. Mr. and Mrs. Young are old-time residents of Denver and have a host of friends, not only in the cathedral parish, where they now make their home, but in all parts of the city. These friends felicitate in the glad news that the anniversary finds both Mr. and Mrs. Young hale and hearty. They have a large family of sons and daughters, all of whom have been successful in life and enjoy the friendship of a wide circle. They also have grandchildren to make their lives brighter.

St. Clara's Orphanage.

Sunday, April 26, will go down in the annals of St. Clara's orphanage as a genuinely happy day. It will make the laying of the corner-stone of the new asylum being built on a tract of land in North Denver, bounded by Ogden and Meade streets, and West and Twenty-sixth and Twenty-ninth avenues. Bishop N. C. Matz will officiate at the ceremony, which is scheduled for 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but various priests of Denver will assist. Bishop Matz will make the principal address of the day, and in addition Father Bernard, O. F. M., the new pastor of St. Elizabeth's, and Father O'Neill, O. P., pastor of St. Dominic's, will speak. The Godfrey Schmitt, president of the German-American Trust company, will be another of the speakers of the day.

The orphanage has promised unusually good service for the day. The West Twenty-ninth avenue line being the most convenient. Fred W. Paroth of West Denver is the architect, and Frank Kirchoff is the contractor of the new building.

It is being built of red pressed brick with white stone trimmings. The interior will be finished in red birch. It will be absolutely fireproof, for the best protection of the little orphans under the care of the Franciscan Sisters, who will manage the institution. There will be plenty of ground around the orphanage, so that ideal playgrounds can be arranged for the children. The new orphanage will be second to no asylum in the country for splendid equipment.

Queen of Heaven Society.

The Queen of Heaven Aid association met on Tuesday afternoon, April 21, at the home of Madame Corte, 1924 Grant avenue.

Sacred Heart Society.

The regular meeting of the Sacred Heart Ladies' Aid society was held Thursday afternoon, April 23, with Mrs. W. P. Moran, 1775 Grant avenue.

Classes Resumed.

Classes at Logan Avenue parochial school were resumed on Wednesday of this week. Sacred Heart college reopened on Tuesday.

Catholic Young Men's Club.

The Catholic Young Men's club invited their many friends to a dance at Du Pre hall on Easter Monday evening. These dances are always very popular, and after the long and arduous season the young people were in a mood to make merry. Some very pretty gowns were worn by the young women guests.

Knights of St. John.

The annual ball of the Knights of St. John, given at Cotillon hall on Easter Monday evening, was one of the gayest the knights have ever had. The hall was artistically decorated and the attendance taxed its capacity.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wagner and children are here from their home in St. Louis, having been summoned on account of the serious illness of Mr. Wagner's mother.

Miss Helen Kane of the cathedral parish went to Golden Sunday to assist the choir of the cathedral church in the rendition of the Easter program.

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Neill of the cathedral parish lent their services on Easter to St. Patrick's choir. Dr. and Mrs. O'Neill were formerly connected with the Queen's Daughters' choir of Logan Avenue chapel. George Kerwin, another member of that choir, was heard on Sunday at St. Leo's.

Rev. Thomas H. Malone of New York arrived in Denver on Wednesday of last week and is with his sister, Mrs. John J. Ryan of 1129 Washington avenue.

Mrs. Corcoran, mother of Mrs. John Murphy, is again able to get out after a seven weeks' illness of grip and bronchitis.

A little son was born Monday morning, April 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Weckbach.

William Ryan of 1814 Pennsylvania avenue was seriously injured last week by falling from a building on Broadway and Colfax avenue. Mr. Ryan, who was gaged in laying brick when the scaffold fell, throwing him violently to the ground and breaking both legs.

Miss Clara Matty, one of the popular young girls of Denver society, is in Pueblo the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frederick B. Orman. Miss Matty went to Orman and little daughter, Nellie, who has soon come to Denver to take up their residence.

Obituary.

On Thursday, April 18, when the church was celebrating one of the glorious days in its calendar, the gentle spirit of Miss Alice Pulham went forth to its Maker to receive the reward promised to his faithful servants. For many months the young woman had been a patient sufferer, and her devoted mother, sisters and brothers, refusing, in their blind love, to recognize the disease as incurable, surrounded her with the best that medical science had to offer, and sought by repeated changes of climate to restore the youthful health and spirits that had been such a joy to her family and the countless friends who had known her from infancy, but each change only served to weaken her and finally, after hours of intense agony, she fell quietly and peacefully asleep to walk on to a fairer world. Miss Pulham was the youngest daughter of the late Richard Fulham, a Denver pioneer, who died a few years ago. She was born and reared in this city, and upon the completion of her high school course engaged in teaching in the public schools, and for several years was principal of the school at Harrison. Upon the opening of the new Denver mint, however, she accepted a position there which she continued to occupy until ill health compelled her to retire.

Her funeral took place Monday morning from the family home, 1345 Pennsylvania avenue. High mass of requiem was sung in Logan Avenue chapel by Rev. P. A. Phillips, with Rev. William O'Ryan, pastor of St. Leo's, as deacon; Rev. J. P. Carrigan, pastor of St. Patrick's, sub-deacon, and Rev. J. F. McDonough, master of ceremonies. Rev. Thomas H. Malone was present in the sanctuary. A touching sermon on the Resurrection was eloquently delivered by Father O'Ryan. The music was furnished by the Junior choir. Interment was in the family lot in Mount Calvary cemetery. Miss Pulham is survived by her mother, three sisters and three brothers.

Mr. William Kelly, a stranger in Denver, died on Friday, April 17, at St. Luke's hospital, after a short illness. Mr. Kelly, who was traveling in the interests of an electrical manufacturing company of Trenton, N. J., arrived in Denver Tuesday afternoon from Salt Lake, and though quite ill at the time, went to the Albany hotel, where he remained until Friday morning, when his condition became so alarming that he was taken to the nearest hospital and passed away in a few hours. Mr. Kelly is survived by one son, Mr. Kelly. The body was shipped to his home in Newark, N. J., accompanied by his nephew, J. K. Stuphen, who came from Kansas City upon news of his uncle's death.

Mrs. Katherine Weideman died on Thursday, April 16, at her home, 3659 Stout street. The funeral occurred Sunday afternoon from Sacred Heart church, and was largely attended. Burial was in Mount Calvary cemetery. Mrs. Weideman had been a resident of Denver for some time, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. F. A. Lee and Mrs. H. E. Gates, and by one son, Arthur Weideman.

Charles C. Gallagher died Monday morning, April 20, after a long illness of Bright's disease. Mr. Gallagher was a native of Cleveland, O., and came to Denver in 1900 to make his home with his brother, Patrick R. Gallagher, at 811 Humboldt street, where he died. The body was shipped on Tuesday to Cleveland for burial.

COLORADO SPRINGS.

The number of penitents on last Saturday afternoon and evening was exceptionally large. Three fathers heard confessions at 11:30 a. m.

Holy week devotions were well attended, especially the "Tenebrae" evening services.

The grand and glorious feast of "The Resurrection" of Easter was celebrated with great solemnity on April 20 at 8 o'clock holy mass an immense number of our people received Holy Communion.

Colorado Springs Council 582, Knights of Columbus, held Holy Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass. There were about 170 gallant Knights in line, which was a magnificent profession of the faith.

At the 9 o'clock mass the young ladies of St. Cecilia choir rendered hymns and Easter anthems.

At the 9 o'clock children mass the pupils of St. Mary's school rendered hymns very beautifully.

Solemn Easter services were celebrated by Rev. G. Raber, the rector, who celebrated. Rev. Edward Clarke, chaplain at the Glockner, deacon, and Rev. L. F. Hagus, assistant pastor, sub-deacon.

Father Hagus delivered a most eloquent sermon on the great feast, immediately after the mass solemnly benediction was imparted to the vast congregation present.

The musical program was the finest ever presented at St. Mary's church. A foretaste of what was to come was given Palm Sunday, when the choir sang Roswig's Mass and Cujus Animam, by Rossini, at the offertory, and Easter, as a fitting climax, the choir rendered "Veni Agnam Vels" Kyrie and Gloria "Lamberto." Credit was also given to Benedictus, Gounod's "Messa Solenne," Agnus Dei "Farmer" Offertory Haec Dies. Those specially interested felt some apprehension that it might prove successful at least not to be appreciated, but not only was it a grand success, but thoroughly appreciated, many flattering compliments being given the director and the choir.

The choir consisted of the following: Soprano, Mesdames Wats, and Patterson. Misses Margaret Fitzpatrick, Elizabeth and Caroline Schneider, Lizzie and Marnie O'Haire, May and Ollie Roe, Miss McLaughlin, Miss B. Walker, Miss Mesdames Prior, Leef, Dickey and Miss Nellie Ryan; tenors, Messrs. Joyce, Connelly Ryan and Maycock; basses, Messrs. Haas, Roth, Clark, Moran, Zittel and Rivard.

Rev. Father Hagus conducted the Vespers and Benediction services, the choir, after singing the Psalms rendered Coell "Werner," Tantum Ergo and O Salutaris, by Zengel, Professor Carl Zittel director and organist.

The repository on Holy Thursday was work of art collected great credit upon all who by their generous donations assisted in beautifying the resting place of Our Lord. The ladies of the Altar society, who did the decorating, displayed artistic skill.

The Altars and Stations on Easter Sunday were truly a beautiful picture, the flowers sending forth their sweet odor as incense to the throne of the Most High. Their delicate white petals gleaming in harmony with the large number of candles and lights no one think only of the peace and happiness in heaven. Mrs. Frank G. Peck and the ladies of the Altar society, who had charge of the decorating, truly deserve great credit for their artistic work.

The reception room in the cathedral has been beautifully fitted up by the generous Misses June and Kate Burns.

Mr. James F. Boynton furnished the electric lights over the Sacred Heart Altar with a fine electric chandelier for the rectory.

Mr. P. J. Sheehan, 1931 North Tejon street, has been indisposed for the past week or more.

Mr. Walter Northway read a very creditable paper at a meeting of the Colorado Springs Council Knights of Columbus on last Tuesday, April 14, subject, "Why I Became a Catholic," which was very well received.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Carroll, who are sojourning in California, are both well when heard from last week.

Miss Ella Zimmerman, who has been at the St. Francis hospital for the past two weeks, will be able to leave for her home, 27 East Bijou street, in a few days.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Kerr, wife of George B. Kerr, 720 West Cucharas, as was announced in our last issue, took place from St. Mary's church on Wednesday morning, April 15, at 9:30 o'clock. Requiem high mass was offered by Father Raber, who also delivered a most worthy eulogy on the Christian character of Mrs. Kerr, wife and daughter of the same.

The church was crowded with people who had come to pay their last respect to this noble Christian and friends. The funeral cortege was large. The pall bearers were Messrs. Christian Dollinger, Norbert W. Harris, Edward R. Joyce, H. P. O'Brien, Thomas McCafferty and James Dolan. Mr. M. W. Purcell had charge of the funeral arrangements, and Messrs. Beyle & Son were the undertakers.

EUREKA, NEV.

John Callahan, one of the early settlers of this county, died in Eureka Friday afternoon, April 17, 1908.

For several years he had been a great sufferer from rheumatism, the frequent attacks of which in late years had so weakened his constitution that he became almost an invalid during the past three or four years.

He came to Ruby Hill, this county, in 1872, and for twenty-four years was employed framing timber for the Richmond company's mines there, and was recognized as a skilled workman in that line.

He arrived in America when a child, his parents settling in New York. In the early '50s he came to California, thence to Oregon and Idaho, where he followed placer mining and carpentering, coming to this state from the latter place.

The only known relative surviving him is a brother now residing in Albany, N. Y.

Deceased was a quiet, unassuming, intelligent man, the soul of honor, and leaves a host of friends and acquaintances who will sincerely mourn his death.

He was a native of County Cork, Ireland, aged 69 years. The funeral took place Sunday at 2 o'clock p. m., and was largely attended by friends and acquaintances.

HELENA, MONT.

(Special Correspondence.)

Helena, Mont., April 19.—The close of the mission, which has been a great success and source of joy to all. The deep impression made by Fathers Dougherty and Drumm will be long remembered. Another great cause for rejoicing is the announcement that work will soon commence on the new cathedral and high school. Bishop Carroll is receiving encouragement on all sides. His activity, zeal and energy will receive their reward when those new buildings are completed. Two years are allotted for the completion of the cathedral, whilst the high school will be ready for opening next September.

Question Box.

At the close of the mission, Bishop Carroll spoke feelingly and eloquently on the good effects of the mission, how it served to bring out the truths of the Catholic church through the questions asked and lucidly answered. The questions showed the temperment, honest desire of enlightenment, and entire absence of asperity and intolerance in the part of the inquirers, which the bishop answers were all that could be desired. The good effected was so encouraging that its continuation will form a part of the evening services in the pro-cathedral.

Work in Harmony.

He expressed his appreciation and gratitude at the support and loyal cooperation he always received in his undertakings by the broad-minded citizens of his diocese, and especially those of Helena. He referred to the sympathy and good will of all citizens irrespective of creed, including Protestant ministers, who united with the Catholics of his diocese in protesting against the war on religion in infidel France; also the united efforts of Catholics and non-Catholics in restricting the liquor trade by closing the saloons at 1 o'clock in the morning. Respect for law and order, said the bishop, should be inculcated, and it is the duty of every good citizen to see that none, but those who are for the enforcement of the law, should be elected to office.

United Effects.

To make Helena what all would wish it to be, Bishop Carroll appealed to the pride and ambition of all its citizens to unite their efforts in making it a city of homes, a great center of education and a place where civic virtues are practiced. The union of forces means a good deal for the citizens of Helena, and the future of the city's growth and development. It means for the citizens tolerance, good will and charity for all, or the city a steady growth in the right direction.

One Faith.

No faith or indifference regarding religion, he characterized as the great evils of modern society. The tendency to indifference is lamentable, and its effects deplorable. Speaking of Catholic faith, he said:

Every Little Bit Added to What You Already Have Makes Just a Little Bit More.
