Mercier, a deserter from the navy having orders to deliver him on board the training ship Constitution at the Charlestown navy yard. Mercier enlisted in February 15, 1912, and deserted October 12 of the same year. It is said he had been in Canada the greater part of the time since his desertion.

Israel Galaise, 40 years old, dropped dead of heart failure on Main street, in front of the Union house, Montpelier, late Friday evening while on the way home from the home of Henry Galaise, a brother, where he had been passing the evening. He returned last December from Jacksonville, Fla., after 17 months' illness in St. Luke's hospital. He was a son of Mrs. Joseph Galaise, of Montpelier.

The tenement house owned by John Babcock on Highland ave., Hardwick, was burned Saturday. Two Spanish families occupied the house, Angelo Cobo and F. Pabin. The cause of the fire was an overheated sheet iron stove. Nearly all of the household furniture is included in the loss which amounts to about $3,000, partly covered by insurance. The firemen were handicapped in fighting the fire by trouble with a hydrant, which is said to have been frozen.

The jury in Chittenden county court in the case of Lyman Prim against William and Louis Alvert has brought in a verdict of $600 against Louis Alvert. William Alvert was acquitted and awarded costs. The case arose out of a collision on North ave. last summer, when Louis Alvert drove his automobile over the wagon in which Lyman Prim was riding. Prim suffered a double fracture of the arm and a broken nose. The main question was as to the negligence of Alvert.

While it is expected that the present season will be a very favorable one in the open country for maple sugar making the deep snow will greatly hamper the farmers whose orchards are back in the hills. On this account it is expected that the season will begin late. In many places at an elevation of 1,000 feet or more the ground is covered with a blanket of snow between three and four feet, which makes it impossible to get around among the trees with a team.

An Englishman named Anderson, who was arrested at West Halifax March 10 while in the act of robbing a store in which the post-office is located, has been turned over by the state to the government authorities on a John Doe warrant, issued by Commissioner John Young at the suggestion of District Attorney Alexander Lunnnett, of St. Johnsbury. Anderson was lodged in the house of correction by Deputy United States Marshal Frank H. Chapman, in default of $5,000 bail, for hearing before Commissioner James H. Merrill in Rutland next Tuesday morning. He is 28 years old and unmarried and has been in America since November.

W. M. Morgan of Lancaster, Kans., is the possessor of a buggy which is 90 years old. It was taken to Kansas from Vermont by M. J. Cloyes, of Atchinson, when a young man. Mr. Cloyes is now 87 years old and bought the buggy second hand when he began farming in the New England states. When Mr. Cloyes quit farming a number of years ago he sold the buggy at auction. The present owner uses the buggy frequently, as it is still in good condition. Although considerably antiquated in style, the wood used in the body of the vehicle is oak, while the wheels are made of hickory. The material used in the construction of the vehicle is in a splendid state of preservation and Mr. Morgan is confident that it will last 10 years longer.

Fire at Wellesley College.

Wellesley, Mass., March 17.—Perfect discipline, coolness and bravery on the part of students and faculty members prevented any loss of life or injury, when College hall, the oldest of the Wellesley college buildings, was burned to day. Two hundred and fifty young women students, fifty instructors and fifty house maids were asleep when the fire was discovered. Every one was saved, and none of the scores who marched in an orderly procession through the smoky hallways suffered so much as a scratch.

The buildings were left a blackened shell by the flames. Within its crumbled walls was wreckage representing a loss of $900,000. Of this amount, $100,000 was the estimated value of the property of the inmates, nearly all of who left in scanty attire. Louis K. Moore, treasurer of the board of trustees, said tonight that the college would recover perhaps $600,000 of its loss through insurance.

Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton, president of the institution, said: "Although we have not as yet made any definite plans to rebuild College hall, we shall of course, erect another structure in the near future."

On account of the fire, the entire college was ordered closed until April 7, the end of the regular Easter recess. Nearly 1000 of the 1300 young women had left for their homes to-night. Many who had rooms in College Hall, went in borrowed clothing. It did not always match and fit as well as its wearers desired, but they departed with laughing farewells, little depressed by their experience.

President Pendleton took occasion to praise "the sanity and courage" shown by the students in leaving the burning building.

Marketing Bulletin Issued.

Commissioner of Agriculture E. S. Brigham has just issued a 64 page bulletin on the marketing of farm products. This bulletin was prepared by William H. Higgins, associate editor of The Rural New Yorker. It gives a general discussion of the subject of marketing farm products, much detailed information regarding the different packages in use for shipment, and a discussion of methods of grading and packing all kinds of fruits, vegetables, dairy and poultry products, hay, etc., grown in Vermont.

The introduction by Commissioner Brigham shows that the purpose of this bulletin is to place in the hands of Vermont farmers information regarding the present machinery in use for the marketing of farm products. If products are better prepared for market and packed in more attractive packages for shipment, a larger return may be realized on the produce. It is now no common thing to see in any of our large eastern markets fruits, vegetables, dairy and poultry products, shipped for a distance of over 1,000 miles selling for much better prices than similar products shipped from a near-by town simply because the products shipped from the greater distance have been better standardized, better packed and prepared for market.

The aim in Vermont should clearly be to develop co-operative organizations so that a larger volume of produce can be collected and properly standardized for shipment but while this is the goal to be worked for, the condition of the individual shipper may meanwhile be improved by making use of the information contained in this bulletin.

Copies will be sent free upon application to E. S. Brigham, commissioner of agriculture, St. Albans, Vt.

Attraction at the Playhouse.

"Broadway Jones" which comes to the Rutland Playhouse Thursday, March 26, bears the stamp of success upon it, having been endorsed by every paper in New York as the greatest play that has been produced on Broadway in years.

"Some people can live on Broadway all their lives, and never know what the place really is until they go and see Mr. Cohan's play 'Broadway Jones.'"—N. Y. Tribune. This quotation explains how naturally Mr. Cohan has drawn the characters in his new play. There is a genuineness about this piece of stage writing that stamps it with sure success from the moment the curtain rises on the first act, and the fact that the progress of the play is accompanied by a moral lesson that is conveyed in an atmosphere of almost constant laughter furnishes an appeal that is irresistible and altogether satisfying.

The company presenting the play here is an exceptionally strong one. Special theatre train will run from Middlebury and return night of performance.—adv.

HENS DON'T LIKE RYE—WHY?

Here's a puzzler for you. Why does a hen pick up the wheat and let the rye lie? There is little difference in the content of the two. Wheat contains 1.80 per cent ash, 10.2 protein and 73 carbohydrates, and rye contains 1.9 per cent ash, 9.9 protein and 70 carbohydrates. If hens are after protein rye has more than corn, buckwheat or oats, and if they are after carbohydrates rye has more than barley, oats, peas or buckwheat, and yet they gobble any of these in preference to rye. Palatability has as great influence with the hen as with men. Rye is rather sour, bitter. Perhaps that explains Biddy's aversion to it. It ferments quickly, doesn't soak in the crop to such a spongy consistency. Maybe that's why Biddy gives it a wry look. Perhaps it has some medicinal quality that gives Biddy a pain and makes her refrain, just as she passes by certain bugs and wigglers because of their flavor or poisonous qualities, though they appear just as attractive and appetizing to humans as others. Though we don't really know why Biddy passes rye by, we do know that if we would have eggs we must to a great extent feed what Biddy likes, what her system craves, and what her system craves is what it needs to perform its various functions well.

Retired Georgia Planter's Advice to kidney Sufferers.

Regarding the wonderful curative merits of your Swamp-Root, I cannot say too much. After suffering severely for three years or more with severe pains caused by weak kidneys, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of the newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and before it was used I felt so much relief that I purchased a one-dollar bottle and by the time this was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep the whole night through. I am a retired planter, 70 years of age, and owing to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

Sincerely yours, C. E. USSERY, Bowersville, Ga. Personally appeared before me, this 8th day of September, 1909, C. E. USSERY, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact. T. H. McLANE, Notary Public.
