FARM ORCHARD AND GARDEN BY F.ETRIGG REGISTER ROCKFORD, I.A. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED

[This matter must not be reprinted without special permission.]

If the orchard trees are given a band of sticky fly paper the canker or measuring worms will get stuck fast as they try to climb up the trees.

The writer had several messes of Golden Bantam sweet corn last October from a small patch that was not planted until the middle of July.

He is a pretty busy fellow who cannot find time enough to get away from his work to catch a mess of bullheads or black bass. Moreover, he is to be pitied.

Some folks are so afraid of fresh air that they keep most of their windows and their doors closed at nights, even during the summer time. This is simply inviting trouble and a doctor.

That fellow's brand of religion needs fixing who sold a bunch of cholera hogs to a neighbor who had just moved in and did not know that the disease was epidemic in the community.

Wherever alfalfa will give an annual return of $50 per acre in hay and seed the limit of value which such land can reasonably reach is not far from $450 to $500 per acre. And the return mentioned is not exceptional.

Two very common things have a great deal to do with the working-man's efficiency. One is good bread as the basis of his meals, and the other is a comfortable bed on which to sleep. Are these things up to snuff in your house?

Folks who prize their reputation for integrity and good sense will steer shy of that type of philanthropy which the writer ran across the other day wherein a well meaning fellow insisted on giving his eggs away, yet habitually borrowed feed for his hens from a neighbor and did not pay it back.

This wolf bounty business is made a good deal of a graft by some citizens. They purposely leave the old wolves for seed, capture and get bounty on the whelps they raise and get damage from their county for sheep and calves killed by the wolves that they failed to kill. This is a "skin" game of pretty broad dimensions.

Folks who have electric flatirons would do well to pull the connecting plug instead of turning the switch in the light socket. A lady friend who failed to observe this precaution had a flatiron burn through the cloths of her ironing board the other night, the current being switched on unwittingly by another member of the family.

There is no reason at all why most every farm family should not have a good sized tent in which to sleep during the warm months. The outfit needn't cost a great deal, and the refreshing sleep which can be had in such a tent is a mighty good interest return on the money invested. No folks work harder than farm folks, and none deserve more restful sleep.

Hungary produces more corn than any other European country, growing usually between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 acres. At the Hungarian station they have been making a test to ascertain what thickness of planting gives largest yields. The custom for years past has been to plant in rows ten inches apart. More recently they have been planting in rows from twenty to twenty-eight inches apart, a method that increased the expense and reduced the yield, except in dry years.

There are two or three things that it is well to remember about mad dogs. One of these is that statistics show that more dogs go mad in February than in the so called dog days of mid-summer. Another is that a dog suspected of having the rabies should never be killed if he can be captured and put where he cannot bite other dogs or human beings. The reason for this is that not all dogs thought to be mad are mad and that unless the suspect dies within a week after he is captured he does not have rabies.

Where the share rent proposition can be arranged so that it is mutually satisfactory to both landlord and tenant it is far better than any cash proposition. A plan that proves satisfactory with many is that of having each party furnish half of the seed, the stock, etc., and get half of the returns. This puts a tenant on his mettle and makes it possible to undertake stock and soil improvements that are seldom a feature of the cash rent, land skinning arrangement. One of the best kept farm places the writer ever saw, as well as the finest lot of cattle, calves and hogs and one of the best fields of corn, was on a farm rented on the plan above commended.

BOGUS SHOW RECORDS.

It certainly would be interesting to line up all the fellows who claim to win at Madison Square Garden, New York; Boston, Chicago and a lot of other shows and then get the show secretaries' records and find out who's who, for there certainly are a lot of Annalases somewhere judging by the number of fellows who advertise winnings at these shows in advertisements, circulars and letterheads. A recent paper showed three firsts won by three different fellows on White Cockbird at a single show, and that's the way all along the line. There are getting to be so many lars in the ribbon winning business that you don't know any more who does tell the truth about a blue ribbon or a cup. It's a big shame too.

The fellows who do win are robbed of the honor honestly won, their advertisement losses force and part of the business a good win brings is lost.

It's time the shows protect their patrons and get after these swindlers.

Every fellow that wins ought to receive a certificate from the judge and show secretary vouching for his winning, and he ought to print this testimonial on his stationery and advertisements. When it gets to be understood that this testimonial must be furnished to an editor for advertising and that customers require the same the unscrupulous will not be quite so fresh.

And if a few of these fakers are followed up and prosecuted by poultry associations, poultry journals and by the postal officials they will take to the tall timber.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Watch the drainage when building a poultry house. Drain all water away from the building or you will have dampness and that means colds, roup and tuberculosis. An evergreen wind break is a big benefit.

Poultry seems to be entering into the social functions of the Four Hundred. "The Roosters' grand ball" was recently held at York (Pa.) Coliseum, where the turkey trot was all the go. Hen and chicken parties are thefad with feminine social lights, but the doctors still compose the ancient and honorable Quack society.

Putting eggs in a dirty incubator to undergo three weeks of foul air is like setting them in a dirty garbage can, and no one can expect good hatches or good chicks from such work. Cleanse and disinfect the machine after each hatch, and note the better results.

It is very foolish to buy an incubator and then to run contrary to the instructions of the manufacturer. The man who makes the machine has tested it out, and his guarantee demands that it must be run according to instructions, and a failure is sure to follow if these are disregarded.

It's a wise plan to visit poultry plants and shows when opportunity presents itself, also big city markets and poultry and egg depots. There are new ideas and methods being born every minute in this progressive age, and the poultrymen must be on the alert to learn.

It was considered by some a terrible thing for the eleven men composing the New York poultry trust to be sent to jail because they were rich. That was just the trouble. They were in haste to get rich too quick by ill gotten gains. Rich or poor, may every fellow get what's coming to him.

One reason why certain White Leghorns knock off laying so quick when a cold snap comes is because they are built on the Jersey skeeter style. Leghorns that are good size, full of vigor, housed comfortably and fed right are egg machines that keep right on the job cold or no cold.

The Sicilian Buttercups are growing rapidly in favor, and the club already has sixty members. This is a beautiful, useful breed and bound to win its way.

Many of our poultry associations seem to think that the chief purpose of their existence is to hold a successful show. We have known such associations to be turned down flat by the state department when they applied for an appropriation, whereas if they had followed the show up with educational work and carried on a vigorous campaign for better and more poultry in their own county state aid would have been quickly given. The poultry show is a fine thing, but it's not the whole show by any means.

STATE NEWS

Orville Dewey, who died suddenly at Lebanon, N. H., Sunday was a first cousin of Admiral George Dewey and until about 12 years ago a resident of Montpelier, where the burial took place Tuesday.

The Macdonough Memorial appropriation of $125,000 to the State of New York and also a $15,000 appropriation to Vermont State for a monument at Vergennes passed by the Senate Monday and by the House Tuesday.

Julius G. Sanctuary, the youngest son of William Sanctuary, of Hinesburg, who was injured in an accident June 25, died at King's Park hospital, Long Island, Sunday. The body will be brought to Hinesburg for burial. Mr. Sanctuary is survived by his wife, three brothers, a sister, and his father.

Orin Cross, son of Mrs. Alexander Laraway, was drowned at Johnson Wednesday noon, July 15, while bathing. With his wife and two children he was visiting his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark, and in August was going to Montana to harvest the grain crop. The burial took place at Jeffersonville.

Carroll E. Kinsman, 74 years old, treasurer for several years of the West Rutland Trust Co., committed suicide Tuesday morning by shooting himself with a revolver in the garage of his home in Rutland. He is survived by his mother, who is dying from other causes, and a brother, F. E. Kinsman, a cripple. Family sickness and financial trouble are believed to have been the cause of the act.

Donald Poirier, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Poirier, while riding a valuable saddle horse belonging to H. B. Willey of Essex Junction, was run into by an automobile Saturday afternoon near the Junction. The horse the Poirier boy was riding was struck and fell, throwing the rider over his head. The boy's ankle hit the mud guard and was fractured. The horse suffered several bruises. The automobile party did not stop and the boys were unable to get their number.

Alfred Canales of Montpelier has received a letter from Spain informing him that, like his brother, Joseph, he has been included in the will of Mrs. W. A. Rivers, his aunt, and that the amount of $10,000 is left him and also a share in the estate. Joseph says that he may leave for Spain this fall, but is not yet certain. Alfred is soon to be married, and will not leave this country, unless to take a honeymoon trip.

A serious fire was narrowly averted when C. V. Poulin extinguished a blaze in a waste basket in the office of B. H. Stickney in Rutland. Mr. Stickney had not been in the office since early morning. On the window he had a great number of matches taken from boxes and placed in a glass tobacco retainer. The sun shining through the window and the glass of the jar ignited the matches and the heat broke the jar and the fire thus spread into the papers.

The secretary of the Washington County Veterans' association has announced the death of 25 members since last meeting, and that only 18 names have been added to the roll, which consisted of three veterans, 13 sons and two women. Of the original 72 members that entered the association when it was organized in 1898, only 22 remain. New names have been continually added, but since the veterans could not be replaced these members were mostly made up of sons. This year 21 veterans have died at the average age of 76 years.

Passengers on the Boston & Maine railroad had an odd experience several miles north of White River Junction, which, however, caused no damage. While the train was running at a good speed, the cars pitched to one side so much that the train crew thought they were off the iron and the signal to stop was pulled. The whole train passed over the place but an inspection was made and it was found that the track was 12 inches "out of line" because of the effects of the heat upon the rails.

One of the largest monumental jobs completed in Montpelier in recent years has been loaded on two flat cars and is ready for immediate shipment. The National Granite Co. is the firm which cut the pedestal for the bronze monument of General Wardsworth to be placed in the cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa. There are 10 pieces of the monument, there being four bases, three on top of the bottom base, the dye and the cap. The bottom base is divided into four different pieces and the second base is made of two pieces. The fourth base is circular in shape. Work, which was begun May 25, was completed the first of this week.

When train No. 162, the Montreal-New York sleeper, reached Alburg Monday evening at 9:30 o'clock the body of John McCormick of North Adams, Mass., was taken in charge by Dr. S. H. Martin, a Rutland railroad physician, and later he turned it over to Health Officer H. J. Darby. The man died suddenly on the train between Haverhill and Clareville, Que., about 9 o'clock while on his way home from an excursion to St. Anne de Beaufort. Dr. B. H. Stone of the State laboratory of hygiene, Burlington, was in Alburg Tuesday to perform an autopsy. There is no suspicion that death was not due to natural causes. Friends telephoned from North Adams and asked to have the body sent as soon as possible.

There are now 130 boys at Camp Abnaki, North Hero, and many registrations for August. No more boys can be received before July 23, as the camp is crowded to its fullest capacity. The base ball league has been organized and there are four teams, representing Addison, Chittenden and Washington counties, as well as a team of leaders. The captains elected are Merritt Wood of Ripton, Hamilton McCuen of Burlington, Arthur Whitcomb of Montpelier, Willard A. Blodgett of Burlington. The camp senior and junior teams are playing a series of games with Kamp Kill Kare, Camp Winnisquam, Camp Iroquois and North Hero town team. Old English white letters are given to each fellow making the camp team. The hikes of the season have been begun, and they have been taken to Block House point, Bow and Arrow point, Rouses Point, Fort Montgomery and the Canadian boundary.

Louis D. Pelky of Fair Haven, a moulder, is in the lock-up there on technical charge of assault which may be changed to one more serious if his wife, whom he is alleged to have struck with an axe Wednesday night, should die. The chances of the woman's recovery are slight, according to the attending physician, Dr. E. Lape. A physician was immediately summoned but an effort was made to conceal the matter from the authorities. Mrs. Pelky was found to have been struck with an axe,

Ask Any Sickie Smoker Why

he sticks to Sickie plug and slices off each pipeful as he needs it, when he could get tobacco already cut up, in packages. He'll tell you, "because the Sickie way is the only way to get fresh tobacco, that smokes cool and sweet, and doesn't bite the tongue." He knows.

Tobacco that is cut up at the factory gets dried up on its way to you. Result—it burns fast and hot, and "bites." When you cut your own tobacco off the Sickie plug, you are well repaid for a minute's work by fresh tobacco—because all the flavor and moisture are pressed into the plug and held in by the natural leaf wrapper.

Get a plug of Sickie at your dealer's today. Notice how much more tobacco you get, when you don't have to pay for a package.
