

COUNTY EXHIBITS PRIZE WINNERS AT WHITE RIVER FAIR

Well Represented By Teams
At Annual State
Fair

94 EXHIBITS
ARE ENTERED

Represent Vermont at Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass.

Addison County was well represented at the State Fair by club work exhibits as well as by demonstration teams, representative of organized community clubs.

Eighty of the 94 exhibits entered, received ribbons, 43 of clothing won 35, 45 of canning won 39, 5 of poultry won 3, 1 of handicraft, 1 of corn and 1 of sheep each with one.

Only two of the four winning county demonstration and judging teams were able to be present for their part in the program. Dorothy Hobbs, Gladys Beane and Irene Jewett, representing the Good Luck Canning Club of Weybridge, gave a splendid demonstration on cold pack canning of fruits and vegetables.

Harry Verney, Edward Demps and Maurice Farr, representatives of the Bristol Poultry Club demonstrated poultry, reasons for chicks, laying hens and for preparation for marketing. The efficiency of the boys' work placed them as one of the four teams, representing the State of Vermont, and receiving the free trip and maintenance at Camp Vail, Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass. While there they gave two poultry demonstrations before audiences of 100 or more, and did regular poultry booth duty where they were kept more than busy answering the questions asked by the various visitors.

Camp Vail, located on the grounds of the Exposition, is maintained by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Eastern States Exposition, co-operating. It is conducted on a modified military plan, bugle calls being used to guide the various camp activities. Practically all of the educational advantages of the Exposition were open to the boys and girls, free of charge. The exhibitions as well as the encampment, were inspirations not only to club members but to their parents, friends, and to all interested in the improvement of rural conditions.

Eben Ryder Returns Home
Eben C. Ryder returned to his home Wednesday forenoon. Dr. Ross is attending him.
He is as comfortable now as before the trip which was made in an ambulance. Mrs. Ryder and a nurse accompanied him. Mrs. C. D. Child and Miss Elizabeth Ryder came earlier in the week.

Still Picking Strawberries
W. J. Hartin, Case street, one of whose specialties is the raising of Ever-bearing strawberries, is growing some fine fruit this fall. Although Case street has had a touch of frost on two or three occasions, Mr. Hartin's plants keep right on bearing. Monday he picked ten boxes of berries that were as good as those picked right in the season.

Mr. Hartin says the plants will bear right up to heavy frosts and freeze-ups.

Correction in Prizes
In publishing the list of premium winners at the Addison County fair, in last week's Register, it was stated that Henry Galvin, Cornwall, won second prize of $250 in the Ladies' Driving class—it should have been $750.

TO INSTALL NEW WATER SYSTEM

M. A. Bunday Will Use 15 Men Putting In Compressed Air Outfit At Columbus Smith Estate

M. A. Bunday, of Burlington, has been awarded the contract for the installation of a compressed air water system at the Columbus Smith estate, now used as a home for women.

The supply to be used is a fine spring located about a quarter of a mile below the big ledge in the pasture. The water will be pumped by compressed air into a big storage in the cellar. Mr. Bunday is already on the job and says it will take 15 men about three weeks to install the system.

ADDISON HOUSE AGAIN OPENED

M. H. Tisdale Assumes Management of Famous Old Hostelry

The Addison House, which for years has been known as one of the most popular of Vermont hostels, opened Wednesday evening after being closed since Friday evening, when H. E. Clogston, who has run the hotel for the past three years, left.

The new proprietor is M. H. Tisdale, who has successfully run the Green Mountain Inn at East Middlebury. Mr. Tisdale assumes the management of the Addison under lease. He has closed the Green Mountain Inn for the season, but announces that it will open next summer under his management. The Addison is undergoing some much needed repairs, including considerable plumbing work, and is also being cleaned throughout.

Mr. Clogston's leave, it is understood did not expire until November, but some differences over settlement with the owners of the property, Allen Calhoun and J. R. Cartmell, it is said, brought about a hasty termination of business relations, and Mr. Clogston disappeared.

Mr. Tisdale is much pleased over the way business starts.

A FORMER RESIDENT

Clarence A. Phillips Dies Monday In Rutland

Clarence A. Phillips, a former resident of Middlebury, but who has for several winters made his home in Daytona Beach, Fla., died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William H. Botsford of Rutland, Monday morning. Mr. Phillips is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Botsford, and one brother, H. A. Phillips of Middlebury. The body was brought to Middlebury Wednesday afternoon and services were held in the Congregational church, of which Mr. Phillips was a member for over 40 years. The services were conducted by the Rev. Henry C. Newell, assisted by Judge Albert W. Dickens. Burial was in Foote street cemetery.

Mrs. Cloyes Buried

Mrs. Jennie Emeline (Smead) Cloyes died at the home of her son, Dennis P. Cloyes on Court street Friday. She was 82 years old, and is survived by two sons, Fred D. Cloyes of Lexington, Mass., and Dennis P. Cloyes of Middlebury, also one brother A. E. Smead of Salisbury. Mrs. Cloyes was born in Salisbury, August 8, 1840, and was the daughter of Dennis and Cynthia (Maynard) Smead.

The funeral services were held at the home of her son, Dennis P. Cloyes on Court street, Monday afternoon. Rev. Henry C. Newell, pastor of the Congregational church, officiated. There was a large attendance and many floral tributes. The bearers were Fred D. Cloyes, Dennis P. Cloyes, Clarence Smead and William Eastwood. Burial was in the Seelye district cemetery.

MIDDLEBURY OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON AGAINST HARVARD

Coach Morey Leaves With 23 Men For Stadium Contest Tomorrow

ONLY SIX VETS
ARE IN LINEUP

But Among Them is Moynihan, Fighting Center, Who Is Back In Togs

Coach Dave Morey and 23 of Middlebury's football squad left yesterday noon for Boston and will open the season tomorrow with Harvard. The probable lineup to be used against the Crimson team was announced yesterday just before the squad left. It is as follows: Klenow, l. e.; Reigleman or Davis, l. g.; Kalin, l. t.; Moynihan, c.; Ehler or Brosol, s. r. t.; Mullen or Frank, r. s. g.; Gallagher, r. e.; Papke, Holquist or Williams, q. b.; Ashley, l. h. b.; Schwartz or Daly, l. b.; Drost, Captain, r. h. b.; Substutsky, Leary, Potter, Novotny, Kilbride, Jakway, Yeaw.

Only six of last year's veteran varsity men will be in the game against Harvard, the remainder of the team being men who are just starting in on their collegiate football careers. While the team shows great promise in the work-out, it is really a "green" eleven that will face Harvard tomorrow. In the backfield a dependable combination is found in Stan Ashley, Capt. Drost and Daly, while Schwartz, a new comer on the squad, also looms big for fullback. Joy reigned in camp when it was definitely announced that Moynihan, the fighting center, who had to leave the game last year on account of a mastoid abscess, would be in to play for the Harvard game.

The Blue squad went directly to the Hotel Lennox on reaching Boston last night, and this morning went to the Stadium in Cambridge where the season will open tomorrow afternoon. This afternoon Coach Morey will give the team a short work-out of the plays he will try against the Crimson outfit. The practice was held on the Boston College athletic field.

Women's Missionary society of the Methodist Church will meet with Mrs. H. M. Bain next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

2 CARS CLASH; PERSONS INJURED

Thrown Through Windshield In Accident at Blind Baker Hill Tuesday

It took 15 stitches to close a wound in Clifford Persons' head, resulting from an automobile accident at Blind Baker hill Tuesday, when Mr. Persons was thrown through the windshield of Clinton Boynton's Ford.

Boynton, whose home is Ripton, and Mr. Persons, were coming into Middlebury and turned out to pass a cavalcade of soldiers headed toward Fort Ethan Allen. Mr. Persons says that the dust became so thick that they could hardly see and were running very slowly. A Dodge touring car, owned by Mr. Grover of Brandon, headed south, met head on with the Boynton car in the turn-out. Mr. Persons was the only one injured beyond a shaking up, but both cars were badly damaged.

NO RECEPTACLE, NO MAIL, IT IS RULED

Mail Boxes Must Be Provided If You Want Postman To Stop

All residents of Middlebury receiving their mail by carrier must provide a slot or receptacle for the mail at their homes, or delivery will be cut off, according to information received by Postmaster Hinman from John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general. This is in conformity with new rulings in effect throughout the country. Although no time limit is placed for the installation of the receptacles, the post office department states that notice given should not exceed four months.

In a bulletin received by Mr. Hinman, Mr. Bartlett states:
"In account of the delays caused to carriers at dwellings houses where no door-slot or mail receptacle is provided, and the fact that a large majority of dwellings are equipped already, it seems timely, after a reasonable notice, to require all those who are to receive mail by street carriers at their dwellings to provide such accommodations. It is not the desire of the department that any shall be deprived of delivery by this requirement. But if it finally becomes necessary mail delivery will be discontinued where no receptacles are provided."

New Safe Deposit Boxes

The National Bank of Middlebury has just installed 36 new safe deposit boxes in their banking rooms. This last block of boxes brings the total to 156. The installation of the new boxes was done by James Barron.

LEGION NEWS OF STATE AND NATION

Harding Accepts Invitation

New Orleans—A special message to American Legion members attending their national convention in New Orleans, October 16-20, has been sent by President Harding through a New Orleans newspaper. In a letter, addressed to Robert Ewing, publisher of the New Orleans States, President Harding stated:

"Convinced as I am that this autumn's national convention of the American Legion will be for many reasons the most important yet held by that splendid organization, I am writing to tell you of my concern for its success. New Orleans as the municipal host to the convention will, of course, make the utmost contribution to the occasion. The fine hospitality that has made New Orleans and Louisiana famous, will impress upon their guests from other sections a realization of the greatness and variety of our country's economic unity, and its singleness of purpose in behalf of the national aspirations. It is most desirable that the men of the Legion, who have served so nobly to establish our country's place in the world, shall embrace every opportunity to expand their knowledge of their native land.

"The nation as a result of the war's upheaval, confronts trying times and difficult problems, to whose settlement we must demand all that singleness of effort and willingness of sacrifice, that marked the common effort in the war. No class of our citizens knows so well as these men of the American Legion what such effort and such sacrifice mean; none has proved so splendidly its readiness to respond at the first call. Therefore, in dealing with the problems of today and the possible crisis of the future, none will be summoned with more confidence to help sustain the authority of the government.

"It is a satisfaction to know of your plans for special effort, through the 'New Orleans States', to contribute largely to the truly national character and significance of this gathering. I want to congratulate you upon them, and to hope for your fullest success."

President Harding has tentatively accepted an invitation to attend the Legion convention.

Too Much Money

Cleveland, O.—Johnny Kilbane, world's feather weight champion, asked American Legion men $100,000 to meet Eugene Criqui, Champion of France, in a bout during the Legion's national convention at New Orleans in October. After learning Kilbane's terms the Legion men started for New York without Johnny's signature to a contract.

Headquarters at New Orleans

New Orleans—Headquarters for the various state departments, American Legion Auxiliary and the American Legion at New Orleans during the national convention, October 16-20, have been selected according to an announcement received from convention headquarters.

American Legion national headquarters will be at the Grunewald Hotel, which will also accommodate the distinguished guests and the following state departments: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Canada, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Washington, Texas and Wyoming.

The St. Charles Hotel will be departmental headquarters for the following delegations: Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North and South Carolina, North and South Dakota, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Virginia, Vermont and Wisconsin. The Monteleone Hotel will house the delegations and be departmental headquarters for Idaho, Maine, Maryland, Mexico, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Panama, Philippine Islands and Utah. The delegation from Tennessee and a number of crack military organizations will be cared for at the Planters Hotel. American Legion Auxiliary national headquarters will be at the Bienville Hotel, which will also house the distinguished guests of that organization.

Who Is Handsomest Man?

Paris, France—As a "counterblast" to the feminine beauty contests which have swept across France this summer, the Paris post of the American Legion announces a "beauty contest" of its own. Instead of a competition to ascertain the most beautiful woman in the American colony here the ex-doughboys have started a search for the most handsome American man in Paris.

The Paris Legion post has a membership of more than 1000. As fully as many more Americans are now located in the French capital the contest promises to be one of the most interesting of the many activities the Americans have engaged in this season. The usual photographs of entrants will be displayed and votes by men and women members of the colony will be received and tabulated by a board, the members of which are barred from competing.

So many stranded ex-service men have applied for help at the Legion (Continued on page four)

URGES NEED OF FIRE PREVENTION

R. F. Pinney Chairman of Fire Prevention Week For County

"Efforts will be made to bring home to the people the need of exercising care in the prevention of fires during the week of October 2 to October 8," says R. F. Pinney, who has been appointed Addison County chairman.

Great losses by fire, many of them due to carelessness and negligence, have resulted in this country-wide attempt to lessen hazards by setting aside a week called Fire Prevention Week. There are some communities that are planning regular programs for the occasion, and while nothing of this kind will probably be attempted in the town of Addison County, according to Mr. Pinney, the matter will be brought before the people in various ways and an attempt made to instill in them the need of the greatest care. Among other preventatives suggested are the inspection of pipes and stoves and heating outfits to see that everything is in running order, before the fall fires are started. If chimneys need repairing this work should be done. Attics, cellars and outhouses should be cleaned of all rubbish as a means of greater safety. And Mr. Pinney suggests that it might be a good idea to have an inspection of the cellars and heating apparatus, at least in the business section, by members of the fire department sometime during the week.

MacIntyre—Whitney

A very pretty wedding took place in Brandon, Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 2 p. m., when Miss Viola Whitney daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whitney of Brandon was united in marriage to Norman MacIntyre of Bristol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis MacIntyre. The bride wore brown charmeuse satin and Spanish lace with hat to match and carried a corsage bouquet of roses and carnations. She was attended by Miss Herline MacIntyre of Burlington, cousin of the groom, who wore black tulle and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The groom was attended by Norman Whitney of Poland, Mr., brother of the bride. The ring bearer was Miss Helen Whitney, sister of the bride. She wore white, bearing the ring upon a silver tray laid in a bed of sweet peas.

They were also attended by two brothers of the bride, Russell and Hilton, who carried flowers strewn their path with them as they proceeded down the aisle. Randal Brown of Bristol played the wedding march. The ceremony and single ring service was performed by Rev. Mr. Thorpe of Brandon, pastor of the Congregational church. Mr. and Mrs. MacIntyre left in a shower of confetti for a trip through the Northern part of the state. They received many beautiful presents in silver, cut glass, china, and a purse of money.

Those attending from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. George Guinan and daughter, Marjorie, Miss Alice White, George Hawthorne, Miss Marion Morgan, Mrs. Robert Smith and daughter, Mary, Winifred Trudo, William Hamel, Miss Helen Gee, Ferris Stokes, Mrs. Francis MacIntyre, all of Bristol; Miss Ismael Delany, Brockton, Mass.; Kenneth Delany of Monkton, Miss Gee of Pasadena, Cal.; Fred Yetton, Lewiston, Me.; and Mr. and Mrs. Fd. Whitney and daughter, Nellie, of Salisbury.

When Registration Is Complete Men Will Outnumber Women, Says Dean

PRESIDENT MOODY
OPENS COLLEGE

Delivers Address to Student Body in Meal Chapel Yesterday

With several yet to register, Dean Wiley of Middlebury College stated this morning that total registration, men and women had reached 525, the largest in the history of the institution. There are today 258 undergraduate men and 259 undergraduate women registered, two graduate men and six graduate women, making the total, 525 men and 265 women. In the Freshman class there are 101 men and 63 women. In comparison with last year the enrollment will be considerably larger as there are still several men, who for one reason or another have not been able to get here yet for registration. Last year the total enrollment was 194, with 218 women and 246 men. Dean Wiley said that he could not predict what the final total would be for this year, but stated that when registration was complete there would probably be more men than women.

The College was opened formally yesterday morning for the 123d academic year, when in Mead Chapel, President Paul Dwight Moody addressed the student body, taking for his subject part of a letter written him by a Middlebury trustee.

The President's opening address is as follows:

This week I received a letter from one of the Trustees of this College, a part of which I am going to quote:

"The situation of the College ought to enable you all to adopt a wise selective process. I sympathize quite strongly with the attitude taken by President Hopkins at Dartmouth. I believe a very large percentage, if not a majority, of the boys go to college now because it is the stylish thing to do and not because they have any particular aspirations to become more efficient and of greater use in the world. To find out the boys that ought to have such an education and who will be of more worth to the world if educated, is the serious problem which the heads of our American colleges must meet and solve."

This is an admirable text, but if you would feel more at home, with one taken from Holy Writ, I would suggest that familiar one, "Many are called but few are chosen," for that is precisely what the expression "Many are called but few are chosen" means.

Collegeward Movement Is Large

The collegeward movement at the present day is quite unprecedented. We here in one of the smaller colleges have felt it in proportion just as much as the larger institutions. The reason for it is that the world is coming to a constantly increasing appreciation of what training and education mean.

H. G. Wells has declared that "History is a race between education and disaster." Society has come out of the great tribulation of the War, not chastened at all points as it should be, but with a keener realization of the necessity of education. The thoughtful man knows, and knows right well, that if he is to be of the greatest use, he must educate his mind. Good intentions unsupported by brains are a nuisance.

Only this week I came across and reread a letter written me some years ago by Doctor Cutten, who is being installed president of Colgate University this coming month, in which he said, "I am coming to the conclusion more and more that the curse of this world is good people who do not know anything or are unbalanced. Their very goodness gives weight to their bad or erratic thinking."

It is because of this increased demand for education that those who are fortunate enough to obtain it, should count their blessings and be grateful in the right way, taking them as a gift of society, which lays upon them an obligation to society.

You hear it said sometimes that a man has earned his way through college, or paid for his own education. Nothing was ever more absurd. We know what people mean by this and of course there is that element of truth in it. But the thoughtful man or woman who goes through college knows right well that he or she is the inheritor of priceless gifts, for which one can never pay.

The story is told of one of the great figures in the English Church in the last century, that he was once called upon to baptize into the Church of England a child of some neighbors who were not members of his faith. At the conclusion of the ceremony the father asked how much he owed the preacher. The reply was, "Ten thousand pounds." The poor man stood aghast and asked if the minister did not know that he did not begin to own a hundredth part of this, to him, princely sum. To which the minister replied that the man should realize that all the sacra-
