F. C. Fisher, having purchased the celebrated Bennett Stamp Extractor, is now prepared to undertake contracts for clearing large or small tracts of land at bottom prices. F. C. Fisher guarantees thorough work, and will be glad to give immediate attention to all parties who may desire further information.

Miss Hester Mae Farlane has undertaken the Laundry business.

We congratulate Mr. M. Redman of Wartburg on his election to the Legislature assembly at Nashville.

Mr. William A. Miller of the well known firm of Messrs. J. H. Warner & Co. Chattanooga, is making it interesting to the merchants in this section.

The wood now corded on Mr. Boyle's lot on Central Avenue, is under the sole charge of Mr. Jas. R. Lumley to whom all parties desiring to purchase must apply.

A district school has been established at Hyde Park Fentress, near Mr. A. L. Compton. The school already numbers 25 pupils under the care of Miss Giles of East Rugby.

Messrs Squires and Pumphrey have just completed a large log barn on their farm, and as they have laid down a considerable acreage in grass, they hope to have it filled with well-won hay.

Mr. Compton recently forwarded to his mother at Mt. Healthy Ohio, several bunches of concord grapes for inspection and criticism. The experts to whom they were submitted were unanimous in the opinion, that Ohio could not compete with Fentress.

Mr. Wells is making excellent progress in housebuilding. The house when finished, will be replete with every convenience that is found in a really good dwelling; it will be an ornament to Cumberland avenue and it is to be hoped, is but the first of a number that will follow so good a lead.

Mr. Baldwin is extending his feed business very rapidly. We understand his business is increasing so rapidly that he now furnishes grain along the line from Cincinnati to Chattanooga. Mr. Baldwin's business principle's are, good value,—no credit—small profits and quick returns.

The counties from which no official returns have yet been received are: Carter, Cheatham, Chester, Handerson, Montgomery, Roane, Sevier, Smith and Sullivan. From Blount County, only the vote for Railroad Commissioners has been received. From Fayette County, all except the vote for Railroad Commissioners has been received. From Johnson County, only the vote for Presidential Electors is in. The official returns as far as received give the following aggregates: Cleveland 151,000; Blaine, 108,875; Bate, 119,426; Reid, 109,348; Democratic candidates for Railroad Commissioners, 101,615; Republican candidates, 104,449. This gives the following majorities: Cleveland, 12,121; Bate, 10,074; Republican candidates for Railroad Commissioners, 2,878.

Mr. Montgomery B. yle has presented the Rugby Musical and Dramatic Club with ten cords of stove wood.

Mrs. Walton and family have returned from Cincinnati, after a fortnights pleasant visit in the city.

Mrs. Tompkins of Picket Co, has emigrated to Fentress Co, Tenn, to escape malaria, ague, and doctors, and has been so free from sickness since her removal, that she has determined to locate permanently, and is now erecting a residence near Mr. A. L. Compton Hyde Park.

Mr. Walton has just heard from a friend at Pittsburg Pa., who gives him a most interesting account of his preparation for "a trip to Salt River." Mr. Walton sympathizes deeply with his friend, and fears he will have a long sojourn there, as there seems to be no return "tickets" to be had—they are all for one way only.

Mr. Skene leaves Rugby to reside in Sunbright, where he intends to open out a store. The citizens of Rugby hold Sunbright in high estimation and rejoice in her prosperity. Sunbright has a solid acquisition in Mr. Skene, and will find him a citizen, that will command her respect, and we hope, her support.

The following is Judge Hook's majority in the 2d District. All the counties are heard from officially except Jefferson, Sevier, and Scott:

We have just received a splendid plate entitled Representatives of Professional Base Ball in America "published by Messrs. Root and Tinker of New York, from P. Lorillard & Co. We have handed the Plate to Mr. Southwick, who will keep it in a suitable frame, and hang it in his public dining room for the benefit of his customers.

Geo. W. Moore & Co, of New York, forwarded a copy of a most costly colored lithograph of the New York Cotton Exchange, with the compliments of the Insurance Company of North America of Philadelphia. The picture is a very fine specimen of lithographic art, and is worthy of the reputation of Messrs. Moore & Co. The plate is now on Exhibition in the Rugby Commissary.

The Rev. Thos. Evans from Hilliard Ohio, pastor over the Baptist denomination in that city visited Rugby and its vicinity with an ultimate view of settling. Mr. Evans, visited Glen Mary Skene, and other localities, and spent some time in interviewing the inhabitants. The Rev. gentleman preached at Glen Mary on Sunday morning, and at Rugby at night to a large and appreciative congregation. Mr. Evans would prefer to rent a small farm for a short time to enable him to look around for a suitable location. We shall be glad to welcome Mr. Evans as a permanent resident and to make him feel at home.

Every friend of Rugby at home and abroad will be pleased to know that every habitable house in Rugby is now let; and, already, inquiries are coming in for rooms, and accommodation for the winter. What Rugby now needs is good houses, weather proof, warm, and neatly finished, with suitable domestic appliances, such will readily let, and of our prophetic vision be correct, will be in demand in the spring. Property holders in Rugby will do well to build such houses on their unoccupied lots. The age of shanties has passed away. They are not needed, and will not let. Half finished houses, or houses without the decent conveniences of civilized life are not required. Rugby's worst days are over, and she should now lay out her streets and residences with care, and with due regard the symmetrical building up a village, that attract by its quiet comfort, and repose, and subdue by the refinement, and culture that may be as distinctly felt in Rugby as in an old-fashioned cosy, village in England.

100 acres devoted to grain-growing. Fruit-growing and market gardening demand vastly more labor and attention than ordinary tillage. A fruit farm of twenty acres judiciously divided between apples, peaches, pears, and small fruits, will demand as much care and labor as 200 acres devoted to miscellaneous farm products, or 500 acres in grass; and usually it will yield as much clear profit as either. But whether the farms are large or small, the success of the farmer must depend upon the character of his crops, the careful selection of the best seed, and thorough tillage. It is a waste of labor to attempt the cultivation of more ground than can be tilled thoroughly. It is better to raise sixty bushels of corn on one acre than thirty bushels each on two acres.—Charleston News.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—There was a special meeting of the Rugby Library at the Public Library to take some action toward assisting the Hughes Park Library at Rugby, Tenn. The meeting was composed of members of the Public Library Board and well known citizens as follows: B. Callaghan, E. G. Mason, W. H. Wells, L. W. Kallee, Dr. J. B. Walker, Adolph Moses, D. L. Storey, W. F. Poole, George A. Armour, W. C. Lorned, W. B. Wickersham, M. Pool, in stating the object of the call, said that if Thomas Hoyle had lived this meeting would not have been necessary. The speaker referred to the visit of Thomas Hughes to the Chicago library in October, 1881, and said that that gentleman on his way back to England had stopped at Boston, and while there, leading book publishers in the Eastern cities had developed a plan for founding a free public library at Rugby Tenn. Volumes to the number of 5,000 were contributed for that purpose. Since then Mr. Hughes had written to the Chicago Library and asked if it did not have duplicates of books which it could contribute to the library at Rugby. The library here had no such duplicates, but when it was considered that Mr. Hughes, after the Chicago fire, had contributed 7,500 volumes to the Chicago Library, it seemed proper that our citizens should recognize his generosity. The late Thomas Hoyle held to this view of the case and took charge of the work of securing books for Rugby. Mr. Poole said he had made up a list of the books needed, but before they could be furnished Mr. Hoyle died, and the original plan of the Rugby colony also had to be abandoned on account of the inability of the colonists to buy the land selected. The purpose of the colony has not changed and everything now points to its success in the near future. A letter was read from W. Hastings Hughes, of New York, brother of Thomas Hughes, in which the writer says he is convinced that Rugby will become a resort both for the holiday maker and the invalid. Mr. Hughes adds: "As to our holding together there as a community, I have never had any doubt. The library will be a help to those who will found a public school."

E. G. Mason moved that a committee of five be appointed, of whom Mr. Poole shall be chairman, who shall take charge of the contribution of money or books to the Rugby Library, and that the committee shall use such means to make the subscription successful as it shall deem best. The next meeting will be called by the Chairman of the Committee on Subscriptions.
