

GATE

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright left last week for their home in Colorado. The old "pool hall" has been rented by the school and is to be fixed up to play basket ball in.

Mr. Clark is here visiting his sister, Mrs. D. W. Peiratt.

Ira Birch was very pleasantly surprised this week when his parents drove into his yard in their car. Ira was intending to leave next morning for the "Springs," but postponed his trip until Friday.

Dillon Brown has a sorghum mill and is making molasses for winter use.

Was very sorry our items were late last two weeks. They were given to a school boy and he carried them in his pocket.

Mrs. J. A. Lee has asthma very bad again.

Certain Cure for Croup

Mrs. Rose Middleton, of Greenville, Ill., has had experience in the treatment of this disease. She says, "When my children were small my son had croup frequently. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always broke up these attacks immediately, and I was never without it in the house. I have taken it myself for coughs and colds with good results."

IVANHOE

Nov. 23.—Everyone happy since the glorious rain and lovely weather that followed. This end of Beaver ought to be thankful, but are they?

Our Ivanhoe boys at Camp Travis are well cared for and happy, judging by their letters to home folks.

L. G. Moore, wife and daughter are at the Hotel Ivanhoe this week. Mr. Crump's brother and family are moving to this prosperous, busy little burg. Houses for rent are at a premium.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reid and Mrs. Hills will attend the Red Cross box social at Jones' school house tonight.

Mrs. Hannah Bradford started Tuesday for Washington, D. C., to attend the national convention of the W. C. T. U. She will also visit friends at Cleveland en route.

The Baptist people are having a rally at their church, beginning Thursday night and lasting over Sunday.

Mrs. Hills is the new assistant at the post office.

Rev. Tankersley of the U. B. church and Rev. Neff of Ivanhoe M. E. church, will join forces for revival meeting work this winter.

The Oklahoma day exercises that were rained out last Friday night were held at the hall Monday night and were much enjoyed by those present.

Friends of Rev. and Mrs. Bradford surprised them with a fruit shower at their home and spent a pleasant social hour with them before Mrs. Bradford went away.

The Red Cross and W. C. T. U., assisted by the ministers and others, will hold Thanksgiving prayer meeting at the hall Thursday night.

The Ladies Aid Society from old Ivanhoe held their first meeting in the telephone building last Saturday.

It is rumored that the dance hall will be "converted" into a meat market in the near future. Let the good work go on. SCRIBE.

For a Weak Stomach

As a general rule all you need to do is to adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation and to keep your bowels regular. When you feel that you have eaten too much and when constipated, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets.

TWIN MOUNDS

Nov. 24.—Lovely weather after the rain. Wheat looks fine; some are still sowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith and family were calling at the Frank Smith and H. E. Boothe homes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Girton and family Sundayed at the Chas. Gumm home.

Rev. Wells of Knowles has been holding a revival meeting at the surprise school house this week.

H. H. Martin and H. E. Boothe hauled broom corn to Knowles Tuesday.

Wade Lindsay and Chas. and Edd Howard made a business trip to Beaver Tuesday, returning home Wednesday.

Mrs. Chas. Gumm spent Tuesday at the L. Girton home.

Mrs. Edd Macey was calling at the Neff home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and family, Mr. Glandon, Mrs. Kenyon Smith and Mrs. H. E. Boothe and daughter, Nellie, went to Knowles Saturday. The ladies went in the interest of the Red Cross.

Burns Murray Sundayed at the home of his friend, Bert Smith.

Marion Bass of Elmwood spent Saturday night with his friend, Justin Young.

Word received from Mrs. Gwell (Neff) Kendrick states that they reached their home in Mercedes, Texas, all O. K. and she likes the country fine.

Mrs. Gleason and daughter, Mrs.

Ben Smith, were shopping in Sun Set Wednesday.

Mrs. Leonard Girton spent Tuesday afternoon at the Green home.

Owing to the rain, there was no Sunday school at the Twin Mound Sunday.

ONCE-A-WEEK.

Mrs. P. O. Stuchell Tells How She Cured Her Son of a Cold

"When my son Ellis was sick with a cold last winter I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It helped him at once and quickly broke up his cold," writes Mrs. P. O. Stuchell, Homer City, Pa. This remedy has been in use for many years. Its good qualities have been fully proven by many thousands of people. It is pleasant and safe to take.

MOCANE

J. F. Eubank of this place is putting in a grocery store which this place has been badly in need of, and we feel sure he will enjoy a good trade.

Clark Landers came home Sunday morning to make a short visit at home. He has been working over south of Beaver this fall.

L. D. Cravens and family left the latter part of the week for Hutchinson en route to Wichita, Kansas. They started in their car but we understand they finished their trip on the train on account of the weather.

Mr. Cravens returned the latter part of this week, and as Mrs. Cravens did not come at that time, he went to Englewood, Kansas, Sunday to meet her.

Mrs. Landers returned the forepart of the week from Rugby, Colo., where she has been for the last couple of months visiting with her daughter.

Mrs. Morgan of Mutual, Oklahoma, was up the fore part of the week visiting with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Shannon, returning home Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Roy Wilcox were guests at Mrs. Shannon's Friday afternoon.

Miss Pearl Daily, who is attending high school at Knowles, was up the latter part of the week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daily, returning to her school on Monday morning.

LEARNING TO SPECULATE

By S. J. PHILLIPS.

Miss Edith Manchester's father speculated in stocks and bonds and shares and notes, and almost always made money at it. Ever since Edith was sixteen years old—and she had come to be twenty now—she had heard her father talk of his business until she was fairly forced to take an interest in it. Finally she became so interested that she read of finance in the daily papers. She often thought she read of opportunities in which she might have invested a few hundred dollars and have made great gains.

Miss Edith got a liberal supply of pin money from her father, and when he had made a lucky strike he presented her with a fifty-dollar bill. She decided to save up as much money as she could and try her luck in the stock market. Her father would laugh at her if he knew her plan. So she kept it a secret. When the time came at last and she had five hundred dollars laid by she went quietly to a broker's office to make an investment. The broker was a fatherly-looking man, and, being told that it was her first speculation, he said he would pick her out something that would be sure to win out.

The Wild Goose Silver Mine had been plodding along with its stock at 68, but there was something coming. He was not at liberty to tell just what, but he was sure the stock would take a long jump and she would get the benefit of it. She would not make a hatful of money by only investing her five hundred dollars, but she would be learning how to speculate. For five hundred dollars he would sell her a bond, and she could take it home and hide it safely away and say nothing to anyone until the jump had taken place.

It looked very simple and very good to Miss Edith, and she put down her money and went away with the bond. Two weeks thereafter she heard two men in a subway train talking about the Wild Goose Silver mine. They said it was one of the biggest swindles ever worked off on the public, and that it was on the point of a collapse that would be known through the papers in a few days.

The girl's first impulse was to go to her father about it, but her second was not to do so. Her first move was to buy a horsewhip, and her next was to call on the broker again. If he refused to return her money, she would lay the lash on him.

When Miss Edith made her call it was about the noon hour, and she entered the broker's office to find him busy with figures at a table which brought his back to the door. At sight of the individual who had enjoyed her into parting with her savings, a sudden wave of indignation swept over her, and she drew the horsewhip from under her cloak and began to lay it over his back. Of course the victim was surprised. He rose to his feet and faced around, and, behold, it was not the broker. It was a young man, a young man who had also bought a bond of the Wild Goose Silver company. He had also discovered that he had been swindled, and was there to raise a fuss about it. Of course there were apologies, and the two were talking very amicably together when the broker arrived from his lunch.

Young Mr. Henderson talked straight from the shoulder, and when he paused for breath, Miss Edith did some talking that was almost as emphatic. The broker saw the horsewhip, and he saw the young man remove his coat and spit on his hands, and he quietly said:

"Very well, my children—very well. I will give you both checks for your money. I assure you that you are entirely mistaken in me, and are doing a very foolish thing, but we will let all that go."

It was two weeks later when Mr. Henderson called, and his call was made—just after the girl's father had been asked:

"Father, what stock would you advise anyone to invest in just now?"

"Why, the Wild Goose Silver Mining company seems to be a good thing just now," was his reply.

"How much of a good thing?"

"You could have seen by the papers this morning that it had jumped to 105 and was still soaring. I think I shall go down and buy a big block of it."

Mr. Henderson had called to break the news to Miss Edith. They consoled and consoled each other, but it was too late. The young man had been horsewhipped and both together had been deprived of making a smart little profit.

Mr. Henderson made a third call soon. It was partly to tell Miss Edith that the Wild Goose was flying higher and higher, and partly to get better acquainted with her. It seemed a good time to tell her father all about it and the story was told. He laughed uproariously and then said:

"Why, the broker you went to is one of the most honest of the lot. You couldn't get him to cheat any of his customers."

Then, after some more talk the speculator went on to say:

"Young man, I suppose I shall have to be a father-in-law some day, but I want to say to you, right here now, that my son-in-law must be one of the sort to keep himself away from Wall street, and to keep his wife away as well."

And when Mr. Henderson and Miss Edith Manchester were wed a year later they had given up speculation altogether.

HOW TO ORGANIZE FOR RED CROSS WORK

If there are communities in Beaver county not yet organized for Red Cross work (and there are) and who wish to do so (and they should) they should write at once to Rev. J. E. Perkins, chairman of extension, or Maude O. Thomas, chairman of Beaver County Chapter, and arrangements will be made for such organization. It is the hope of the County Chapter to organize every community in the county for Red Cross work and this is being done just as quickly as a request for organization is received. Do you want to organize and do your bit? If so, write today.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Clafler are here on a visit to Mrs. Clafler's parents, H. B. Maddox and wife.
