Frenzied finance is trying to finance your friends.

Two words in love and war—"Fall in"—and then fall out.

The suffs abuse the men and then wish to be like them.

W. J. Burns did his best to do what he was employed to do.

We nominate the Hon. Harry K. Thaw to see Huerta about this business.

It is in order now for Colonel Bryan to revise it to "Behold a Republic, and An Imitation."

"Speed limit 15 miles" does not refer to the gait of the town in which the sign is posted.

To be provisional president of Mexico may not mean that he is always supplied with provisions.

Man in Columbia has taken more medals than any other man in the state. He runs a pawnshop.

Abbe Martin says that a man puts all of his money in his wife's name when he buys her a spring hat.

We know those modest lawyers in Spartanburg are mortified over the publicity they are getting in that trial.

The rural police system in Greenville county appears to be doing a great deal of good. It is needed in Anderson, too.

Some volunteer for war, some for politics, some for fun, and some because they are too trifling to stay at home and work.

Must be pleasant to live in a sleepy town like Loris, S. C., where people are not disturbed by rumors of battleships being blown up.

That Greenville man who got a year in prison for making his own whiskey will probably reform enough to buy his drinks when he gets out.

John Sharp Williams calls him "Werter," Senator Simmons calls him "Hart-her," and Senator Tillman calls him "that d— old Mexican."

The United States can go on with Huerta just the same. If Carranza butts in South Carolina will whip him to a standstill.

Governor Bleuse cannot go to war with propriety, since he would have to serve under that secretary of war whom he publicly classes as "a little gut-headed yankee."

Something must be wrong in North Carolina. The esteemed Charlotte Observer has claimed that more than 100 of the 103 "near" heroes of the Mexican "short of war" once lived in Washington.

H. S. Tindal, who headed the ticket for the legislature in Greenville county two years ago, will not offer for re-election. He is a busy man, being alive, that is the kind that we need down there.

THE CLUB MEETINGS

The Intelligencer publishes this morning reports from as many of the democratic clubs in the county as could be reached yesterday. From the general reports the meetings of the clubs were harmonious and in some but little interest was taken. No lines were drawn in the city and men were sent to the county convention regardless of affiliations. It is said.

Some time ago an appeal was made for all counties in the state to send instructed delegations to the state convention. From a superficial reading of the names of the delegates published, we would say that the complexion of the county convention here will be very much as it was two years ago. We hope that the convention this year will follow the sage advice of the county chairman two years ago, which was disregarded, and have no steam rollers, or lines of cleavage or anything of that kind, but select from the body of citizenship of the county as represented at the convention, the best men to stand for the best county in the state.

The convention two years ago followed the visit of one of the candidates for governor who had made serious charges against the governor of the state who was offering for re-election, and the feeling at the time was somewhat acute. As a result there was a misunderstanding on account of rumors, which caused a serious breach in the party. We trust that the mistakes made then, by both sides, will serve to prove that men on opposite sides are not subjects of suspicion and distrust, but to show that we are all citizens of a splendid county, one whose record and history is something of which we ought to be proud, and that in the approaching convention the dominant note will be moderation, toleration and a desire to find a common ground of patriotism upon which all mean may meet.

Let's have no give and take, as if we were people of different countries but let us seek first the good of the old county, and in doing so look for men who will in honor and fearlessly discharge the duties entrusted to them. There may be serious questions to be discussed, and these should be settled outside of any consideration of personalities.

LET US HAVE BASEBALL

Several of the leagues of professional ball players commenced their annual championship hegrins under unfavorable auspices, so far as publicity is concerned. The mix-up in Mexico has taken the time and space of the newspapers and the reading public has almost forgotten the old habit of looking for the sports page the first thing in the morning.

Anderson has had her seige of professional ball and is very nearly "cured." It was a costly experiment in some ways. There is some satisfaction in observing, however, that some of our old boys are doing splendid work among the stars who are attracting the attention of the whole country, and as a matter of fact, it was a lot of fun while it lasted.

But what we wish to suggest is this. We need baseball—not a daily sit-in, but for a week-end pastime. It does people lots of good to see a game, say every Saturday afternoon. Let us have a local league here with good, lively ball by the home hopes. A closely contested game is interesting, no matter where it is played, by whom or when—Sunday not included.

A movement is on foot to organize a league of the kind we had last summer. We hope that the public will take to it, and enjoy it. Some beautiful games were played here last summer.

GOOD FOR EVERYBODY

We would again appeal to the people of Anderson with reference to the Chautauqua.

The appeal is not for the Chautauqua. Whether or not the people of Anderson patronize the entertainments here is of little concern to the Chautauqua management, except for the pride that the men take in the success of their remarkable enterprise.

But it is for the people of Anderson that we make this appeal. Do not fail to see the Chautauqua entertainments. The things that are offered for this week will benefit even those who profess the highest degree of culture, and at the same time will entertain and instruct those who are seeking for more and more knowledge of this great big good old world of ours.

Patronize the Chautauqua—for the good that you will get out of it. It will broaden each individual life, it will advance the community spirit, it will give a taste of pleasure yet in store, for if this year's venture is a success, the local people backing it will bring it back next year, with a change of program. We feel that we speak advisedly when we say that the clever presentation of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" comedy by the Ben Great players is alone worth the price of the season ticket.

BAN ALLEN FOR PRESIDENT

The friends of Ban Allen for this city will be pleased to know that he is being put forward by friends over the state for the position of state president of the Travelers' Protective Association. For several reasons this strikes us as a most worthy suggestion. In the first place is the personal side of the question. We know of no member of the order in the state, with its 1,200 members, who could more worthily fill the place.

In the second place, Mr. Allen is the representative of the traveling men of Anderson, a busy, honest, high-toned lot of men, and Anderson has never been complimented with this position. We understand that Anderson, Columbia, Greenville, Spartanburg and perhaps some of the other larger parts of the state have endorsed Mr. Allen. He is not seeking the honor, but we hope that it will run him down and fasten itself upon him. He has been president of Post D of this city for a year, and the membership has increased to 217 within that time.

The T. P. A. is made up of the progressive traveling men and whole sale men of the state, and Ban Allen is the peer of the whole body of sterling men.

Welcome to the Chautauqua, stars and visitors. If you "all" don't see what you want just ask for it.

We've been in many cities. Where music and love is found. But, believe us, dear reader, None like "Anderson is My Town." —Roosevelt for Governor.

New York, April 25.—"Shall Colonel Roosevelt run for governor at the head of the Progressive ticket in the State of New York this fall?" This question is to be discussed by the executive committee of the Progressive National Committee at a meeting to be held in Chicago on April 30.

"The matter of the advisibility of Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy for governor of the state will be considered by the National Executive Committee in Chicago a week from Thursday said George W. Perkins on yesterday. "Such a candidacy would affect the future of the party as a whole, and the question should be considered by the National leaders."

The statement followed a conference between Mr. Perkins and O. B. Phillips, acting chairman of the state committee. Mr. Phillips is strongly of the opinion that Col. Roosevelt should run.

Those of the state leaders who have decided that Colonel Roosevelt must run have been busy fixing up the remainder of the State. They are talking of Oscar Strauss for United States Senator, of Frederick M. Davenport as the possible candidate for Lieutenant Governor and of John A. Henry for Comptroller General. However, they agree that all this is subject to absolute and instant revision as soon as the colonel gets back.

District Attorney Whitman would not talk for publication yesterday of his endorsement for the Republican nomination for Governor by the organization in the Fifth Assembly District in the King's county on Monday night. It was said that while he was gratified, he would rather the action had been postponed for a few days. It is understood, however, that the Whitman boomers in Kings County believe that the Roosevelt sentiment is getting so strong it would be wise to get District Attorney Whitman out in the open at once. He may be endorsed by other district organizations in Kings County within a short time.

Attorney Whitman believes he has the organization in Oneda county with him. He got a dispatch yesterday from Ward D. Edwards, one of the leaders there, saying that the executive committee of the county committee has passed resolutions in opposition to the proposition of Jos. E. Hodges for an unofficial state convention.

Word came from up state yesterday that Senator Ralph Thompson of Chenango hoped to run for Lieutenant Governor on the ticket with Whitman. Kings county, it is understood, is grooming a candidate for Comptroller.

DEATH OF MRS. THOS. AYER

Native of Anderson Dies in Macon—Relative Here. News of the death of Mrs. Thomas Ayer, which occurred at 4 o'clock Saturday in Macon Ga., was received by relatives in this city early today. The funeral services will be held and interment will be made in Macon Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ayers was Miss Kittle Burriss of this city, daughter of the late Milford Burriss, and sister-in-law of Mr. L. P. Smith of Anderson. Mrs. Lou McFall, Mrs. Lizzie Cater, of Anderson and Mrs. Vashli Keys of Greenville, sisters, Dr. A. P. Johnstone of this city married a sister of the deceased. Mrs. Ayer was also a cousin to Mrs. M. L. Bonham.

Mrs. Ayer is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. George E. Hatcher of Macon, and two sons, Messrs. Thomas Ayer, Jr., of Yatesville, Ga., and Halcott Ayer of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Mr. Ayer is a son of the late Gen. Ayer who conducted a college for women in this city some years ago.

SOME SMART NEW FASHIONS

New York, April 24.—It is prophesied that we are to have a summer of dancing so the smart dressmakers are thinking in terms of dancing frocks, as it were. This may be one of the reasons why the walking lengths of skirts are being emphasized so prominently in the newest models.

Another reason may be the output of the beautiful hosiery. Novelties in this line just received from Paris are more startling than ever, and one wonders what will come next. Of course the tango stocking had to arrive. It is in bright colors and so that the Cubists and Futurist might not be slighted, the tango backgrounds are marked with the most wonderful designs that even the Latin quarter has seen. Excellent quality is evident some being Italian silk, with hand embroidered figures. In the very expensive stockings there is a small rhinestone in the center of each bit of embroidery.

It is a brave dressmaker indeed who attempts to fashion frocks these days without due regard to the requirements of the dance. Taffetas and satins are now in greater demand than ever, because they are soft and pliable, and much attention is given to back as well as front views. Wide sahes and plaited tunics are details of trimming that must be given consideration.

Garadine is another fashionable material, and some exceedingly pretty dresses are fashioned therefrom. Blue and brown, dark red, bright yellow, the greens, yellows share favor with the pink, lavender and soft reds.

One does not seem to mind the bright shades that are used to such an extent, because they are trimmed with dark belts and collars and they supply the subdued touch.

Tango earrings are novel and are among the things that have been written about so often. They are of all sizes and shapes, but the most attractive are those of jet set with stones of various colors. These stones now match the ones worn in pins in the hair. The long jet ones promise to be the most popular and are especially becoming to the tall women. Duplicates of the costly modes can be found in the better shops for $1 a pair upward.

There are so many little accessories that count for so much that it is hard to describe them accurately. Too much, however, cannot be said about belts. The extremely wide effects still find favor and are to be used more than ever during the summer. One can picture lovely white frocks with deep pink girdles and blue satin ribbons to contemplate. Smart designs are made of black moire silk, laid in folds about the waist and finished top and bottom with plaited frills. Fancy Japanese materials are used both for belts and for collars. The Japanese embroideries make exquisite embroideries for entire costumes and fancy separate blouses.

Declaring that Americans spent $9,000,000 more for chewing gum last year than was donated for foreign missions, speakers at the Troy Methodist conference in Saratoga, urged an increase in offerings.

WILSON IN "DIVISION AND REUNION" TELLS HOW THE UNITED STATES TOOK MEXICO

Book Written By the President When He Was the Executive of Princeton University in Which He Described the War of 1846. How Taylor Took Monterey—Vera Cruz Taken March 27, 1843

(New York Tribune.)

In Woodrow Wilson's text-book, "Division and Reunion," written in 1892, when he was president of Princeton University, he describes the war of 1846 to 1848 with Mexico. What the historian and scholar had to say then has a peculiar interest in view of the author's attitude now. He tells how Taylor took Monterey, how the scene of battle between Mexican factions and of the capture of the City of Mexico. The Mexicans he describes as a "race full of courage, spirit and sublimity." An extract from the book follows:

POLITICAL OPEN SEASON

Atlanta, April 21.—If there be any in Georgia who doubt that the 1914 open season in politics has arrived, let them now be convinced. Our old friends, "Malicious Fabrication" and "Outrageous Falseness," to say nothing of those well known allies, "Baseless Rumor" and "Plain Libel" are again in our midst.

The editorial columns of the daily papers throughout the State are beginning to pay less and less attention to the war in Mexico and more to the campaign, or rather campaigns in Georgia.

For instance Editor Volney Williams has taken a hard fall out of the Macon News because the latter paper published an uncorroborated remark about the politics of the Waycross Journal, Mr. Williams' paper.

The Macon News said, "The Waycross Journal's editor persisted in riding two horses in opposite directions, and if he doesn't mind, something is going to happen." The News accused Mr. Williams of changing his policy and coming out in support of Shiloh for the Senate after a "mysterious trip to Atlanta."

Editor Williams first tells the news, lous fabrication and calls attention to the fact that the Waycross Journal has always supported John M. Siston. Then he says, "The horses referred to are Senator Hoke Smith and Governor Siston. But are they going in different directions? If there are a bunch of newspapers and several thousand people in Georgia will be taking a fall for Smith and Siston is a popular ticket all over the State."

They both are constructive Democrats, and in national politics they are certainly joining the same way, regardless of what the News says. The News has been snapping and snarling like a mad-dog at everybody who is not for its candidate for the U. S. Senate.
