The Weather Washington, June 17.—Forecast: South Carolina—Partly cloudy Thursday and Friday, warmer Friday in interior.

Put on your old purple bonnet. Not many want to be a camel.

Holler when you have had enough. An Elk Sundaes—one that bubbles.

Shower forecast—approaching weddings. Don't be afraid to drink the water in Anderson.

Wanted, very much—one rainy day. Several can be used to advantage. By the time the hot season gets here we will be thoroughly acclimated.

Columbia Elks wishes to know if the movies ever show a real cyclone. If we must show our colors, we will say that we will not show cotton this summer.

Blackberry pie looks almost good enough to eat. Thermometer in Charleston has been amended with a piece of stove-pipe on top.

Cotton mill men are peeved because they say that the skimpier a gown the more it costs. Atlanta dispatch states that there is in that city a "full-blooded Mexican."

What in the dooce is that? Huerta is ready to mediate, fight, resign, or do anything but give up his putque and his pique.

bitration to induce the flies to want to bitration to induce the flies to want to sleep when the baldheaded man does. Carranza will soon be ready to announce he has finished the job for the mediators and has saved several years.

We have observed no very early rising on the part of the rivers. They prefer to lie on their beds these hot days.

Yes, hills from Columbia, there is only one white way in Anderson. There is more than one business street here, that's all.

From the readiness with which that jury responded to Schumann-Helk we are impelled to believe that she sang her testimony.

Fliskin may be contagious but is not always catchin' and the lyn' part is not dangerous. Responded to by the Orangeburg lodge.

I'd like to live in Anderson. A fellow has so much trouble dodging creditors in a one street town. Responded to by the Greenville lodge.

Grage was dismissed from the court house says that the names are being traced from the temporary petition as to what the Supreme Court will be but a shadow of its former self.

There are some good, steady, reliable men serving for the positions of company commanders. This is a responsible position and should not be taken lightly.

King George is quite brightly beaming on some that was said to be a good one. A member of the committee is one of the best that could have been given a warmer response than George's.

Mr. Murray, the young Californian, who beat the champion, W. M. Washburn, Harvard. In the Southern H. H. Hackett and F. B. Alexander, national double champions, were forced to the limit of three sets by Scott Young and Egge.

Mr. Dayton said he had filed with the house committee affidavit from every man mentioned in the impeachment charges.

Mr. Taylor's vote. Owing to the failure of a "drop" in the legislature yesterday in the afternoon, the vote of Mr. Taylor should have been 32-1. He was rejected by a majority over his opponent.

Jim Gray Law Applied. Columbia, June 17.—The State House was practically deserted today, all of the officials being in attendance upon the executive committee. The governor returned to Columbia in the afternoon and will leave early tomorrow for Orangeburg.

BIOPSIS Dedicated to the Elks

Copyrighted by George Rudolph Koester) To him who in the love of mankind holds Communion with all kinds of men, in time Comes charity. Self knowing, he refrains From judgment. Omniscience alone can tell If saint be sinner, sinner saint, or each The thing he seems. He who, with purpose, mixed, In man his elemental qualities Alone can gauge the strength and weakness which Compose each being. God, and God alone, Knows deed and doer to the uttermost. The bent herodity has given, the trend Environment has lent, what circumstance Has done to shape event, He, only knows Who marks the sparrow's fall and whose design, Not hap nor chance, the universe both rules And runs. Who judges, defies himself And arrogates a knowledge without which All judgment's vain. What mercy is in God Is charity in men. The Father's love To all is shown; He makes His sun to rise Alike upon the evil and the good And sendeth rain on just and unjust both Created in His image, man ne'er falls So low the likeness to efface. Who this Denies would minimize God's fatherhood. Who would know God must first know men, for God Reveals Himself in men, and the divine Is strongest and most easily discerned In Him, or rich or poor, or high or low, In unbounded charity pre-eminent.

Mere giving is not charity, though great Enough to beggar him who gives. Kind speech, E'en though with angel cadence charming ear, Not of itself is charity. What, then Is Charity? A life, not words, must show What's charity. One word defineth God. That word is love. And charity in men Is God's image shining through the walls Of flesh which hold the breath God breathed in them. Long suffering is charity, and kind; It envies not, nor boasts itself, nor shows A puffed-up feeling o'er its deeds; doth not Behave itself unseemly; seeketh not Its own and is not easily provoked; No evil thinketh; in iniquity (it) doth not, but in the truth alone. Impaired with charity, a life gives cheer, And warmth, and comfort, unto all who come Within its sphere. It moves upon a plane Of universal brotherhood so broad As to embrace all mankind. He who lives Upon that plane is not abashed at might, Or place, or pedigree. He knows with God As Father, man as brother, he's the peer Of any man. This feeling humbles him— It makes him brother to the drunken sot Or him who's stepped from honor's path aside; He does not draw his mantle close when vice Is stalking by; the outcasts from the pale Society has drawn are still to him His sisters needing love, and help, and cheer. He knows that now we see as through a glass But darkly, yet a day will come when face To face shall be our sight and we shall know As we are known. Meanwhile he is content To show a friendly face to all the world, Withholding judgment, understanding God Alone knows why we do the things we do And measures both our weakness and our strength. Temptation's downward pull, the fight we make To keep the straight and narrow path, and all The pride and penitence of human hearts. So live that, when Death opens wide for thee The gates which only He who best loved men Repassed, thou go as one who's tried to do To others as he'd have them do to him, As one who's loved his fellow men and served, In serving man, the God who fashioned him. The last of which is greatest. Then in death, Trust mercy. Man's sincerest charity Is dimmest shadow of God's graciousness.

Note: The paraphrasing of several verses of the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, of course, will be readily apparent to any person familiar with that grandest passage in the writings of Paul, the Author.

DAYTON WILL FIGHT

West Virginia Judge Has a Teddy Letter which May Help. Grafton, W. Va. June 17.—A letter written by Theodore Roosevelt to Judge A. G. Dayton, of the United States district court, was made public today by Arthur Dayton, Judge Dayton's son, in outlining the defense that will be made against the charge of Representative M. M. Neely, of West Virginia, that the jurist was guilty of "high crimes and misdemeanors." The letter, written in New York, May 29, 1914, just before Colonel Roosevelt called for Europe, follows: "My dear Judge Dayton: It is a matter of the simplest justice to you to say that I appointed you wholly without solicitation, because as a congressman I had learned to respect and admire you. At that time I had directed that an investigation of Judge Jackson's conduct be made by the department of justice. Whenever I disagreed with you in any given course I could always count upon your action with really lofty disinterestedness of purpose and a desire to follow the dictates of your own conscience. You had nothing whatever to do with the Jackson case, and I was not aware that you even knew it had taken place. Theodore Roosevelt."

Mr. Dayton said he had filed with the house committee affidavit from every man mentioned in the impeachment charges.

DANIELS GETS DEGREE BY VIRGINIA COLLEGE

Secretary of The Navy Addressed Seniors of Washington & Lee and Was Honored.

Lexington, Va., June 17.—Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, was given the honorary degree of doctor of literature by Washington and Lee University at its annual commencement exercises today. Mr. Daniels was orator of the day and in his address urged the graduates to emulate the example of manhood set by General Robert E. Lee, who was for many years president of the University. Eighty nine students received diplomas, degrees in course being conferred as follows: Master of art; Bachelor of arts, 26; Bachelor of science, 11; Bachelor of laws 39.

Other honorary degrees conferred were: Doctor of laws, Milton W. Humphreys, member of the University of Virginia faculty; doctor of divinity, J. Mercer Blain, China; W. D. Smith, Winchester, Va., and Holmes Rolston, Staunton, Va. "If I had one wish more than another for the South, it would be that a double portion of the spirit of General Robert E. Lee should fall upon them and that those who lead should receive his mantle and worthily wear it."

So declared Secretary of the Navy Daniels in his address today. The secretary's earnest message to the students was "get a hero" and he urged them to choose Lee as their exemplar, pointing out that their future would be marked by the sort of heroes they choose. "We are all hero worshippers—or we should be—and I give you the example of the perfect product of what worship of the noblest hero can produce in urging you to choose Lee as your exemplar as Lee chose Washington," he said.

of tell you the alchemy or magic by which one who a great man comes to paragon qualities of the object of the hip. Declaring that the biggest thing in going to college was not what a student gets out of text books or from lectures, the secretary expressed the belief that students in the larger colleges were not receiving the inspiring comradeship and leadership of that class of teachers who give more of themselves to the classes than they give of the books. Lee's sympathetic nature and evinced interest in each one personally is the ideal of those who aspire to each youth, the secretary declared.

Secretary Daniels declared that Lee brought all the world to see that failure was not failure, but that it was in reality the triumph of devotion to duty, "which endures after the fumut and the shouting end." He spoke of the statesmanship and courage shown by Lee when, seeing that there was no hope for victory, he laid down his sword at Appomattox to devote the rest of his life to teaching the young men of the South. "Some times I shudder," said the secretary, "to think what would have been the fate of the South in its supreme hour of need of a great man if the leader of the army had not been big eader and brave enough to admit that victory was impossible."

CONVENTION CLOSED

South Carolina Cottonseed Men End Meeting with Banquet. Wilmington, N. C., June 19.—Closing tonight with a banquet at Wrightsville Beach, the South Carolina Cotton Seed Crushers Association today elected officers as follows: President, John T. Stevens, Kershaw; Vice President, E. H. Hendrix, Leesville; secretary, B. F. Taylor, Columbia; associate secretary, W. B. West, Columbia. A resolution was adopted expressing appreciation of the association of Congressman Lever's bill in the house, authorizing the census bureau to gather statistics for use of the cotton seed crushers of the country.

VILLA PATCHES UP WITH CHIEF

whose name has been mentioned by the United States as one of the available men for provisional president of Mexico if mediation can bring results. Before Consul Edward's dispatches were received, the State department was in communication with General Villa at Cuernavaca, who has been in personal contact since with General Villa at Torreon. Villa would not divulge any of his brother's messages, but the secretary continued in an optimistic frame of mind as to the Mexican situation.

Rafael Villarreal and Raul Carrera, the Constitutional representatives in Washington conferred yesterday at Buffalo with the American committee members to the "military" conference, returned here early today and outlined steps both for the United States and concerning the Villa-Gonzalez break. It was reported, however, that they had been asked questions about the qualifications of General Carrera for the provisional presidency of Mexico. It was also reported that when the mediators returned to the United States, they will be accompanied by the United States representative, General Villa, who will be in sympathy with the move and some officials in Washington believe that an armistice in the Mexican revolution might be effected through the Huerta delegates at Mexico City.

PLAN FOR ATTACK

Villa Preparing to Mass Arm in State of Sonora. Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico, June 17.—General Villa, commander of the new central division, was expected tonight from Sonora to discuss with General Villa the military situation. Villa is reported to have the largest force of regular troops in the state of Coahuila. General Villa today announced that he has had considerable success in his operations in Sonora. He has been able to drive the forces of Carranza within a few days. It was learned today that the federal troops at Zacatecas numbered between 15,000 and 18,000, and were expected to be part of the San Felipe garrison having reached Zacatecas during the latter part of the week. In addition to about 150 machines guns the federals have several large field pieces.

TESTING EUGENIC LAW

Men Who Wanted to Get Married Without Certificate Kicks. Madison, Wis., June 17.—The State supreme court today sustained the constitutionality of the eugenic marriage law, reversing the Milwaukee county circuit court. The law requires male applicants for license to undergo blood tests. Alfred A. Peterson, refused a license on failure to present a medical certificate, started action to test the constitutionality of the measure. The law prescribes a fee of $3 to physicians to make the required test. It was shown that four physicians refused to make the examinations on the ground that the fee was "insufficient."

OVER NIAGARA FALLS

Heroine Accomplishes The Feat in the Movies. In the advertising columns of today's issue Manager Pinkston of the Palmetto Theatre announces the exhibition of a picture "Over Niagara Falls" that has created the most intense interest wherever shown. It is a four reel production and devotees of the silent drama will only have the opportunity of seeing this picture today. There are many thrilling situations among which is the trip over the falls in a barrel which is accomplished by the heroine of the story.

NEW DRY ACT

Vermont Men Would Get Around the Dispute Over Keaton Law. Washington, June 17.—A constitutional amendment designed to protect "dry" states was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Dillingham of Vermont. Instead of prohibiting the sale for beverage purposes of intoxicating liquor in the United States, as the Holman-Sheppard constitutional amendment merely prohibits transportation into any state for sale or use for any purpose contrary to the laws of such State, its purpose is similar to the recently enacted Keaton law but it would remove all question as to the validity of the legislation embraced in these matters.

BANDIT BREAK THROUGH

Peking, China, June 17.—White Wolf, the notorious Chinese brigand, together with 1,000 of his followers today broke through the circle of the regular troops which had surrounded him on Edy Mountain, 100 miles to the south of Lanchow, since June 4. General Chao with 5,000 regulars followed him beyond in hot pursuit. White Wolf after devastating the province of Shaan, Shaan and Shensi on June 4, attacked the Chinese in the extreme south of Han Shu, and after robbing the inhabitants, burned the town. He and his followers afterwards were surrounded by the regular troops.

WANT A RECEIVER

La Salle Bank Would Have To Pay 100 Per Cent. on Stock to Settle. Springfield, Ill., June 17.—A petition asking for a receiver for the La Salle Street Trust and Savings Bank, signed tonight by the State Auditor James J. Brady, will be filed tomorrow in Chicago. The petition is based on the report made by Bank Examiner Daniel W. Harkin, who had investigated the bank closed last week. The report of Examiner Harkin declares loans of $1,573,000 were made by the bank to companies controlled by William Lorimer and C. B. Mundy, president and vice president of the closed bank. As guaranty for these loans, personal notes and securities which the state auditor says are worth more than $30,000 are held by the bank.

The report said that $2,000,000 worth of notes, bonds and other securities in the vaults of the bank were good. If the stockholders were assessed one hundred per cent. on their stock, the report says, this assessment could collect the available fund would total $1,300,000 capital and surplus, a $1,000,000 assessment and $2,000,000 worth of paper. This would afford full payment to the depositors and be virtually a total loss to the stockholders, according to Harkin's report.

Mr. Koester's Poem

The Intelligencer appreciates the opportunity to be the first publication to have the privilege of presenting the poem, "Biopsis," written by Geo. R. Koester, publisher of the Greenville Piedmont. In a note accepting our request for its use Mr. Koester, who is attending the state convention says: "This poem, I think, sets forth the ideals of true Elksdom and I have dedicated it to the Elks. If you care to do so, you may publish this in your Thursday edition when the boys to whom it is a tribute will be gathered in Anderson. If you do publish it, please be certain that the copyright line is attached as this will be its first publication and I intend to forward your paper to the Librarian of Congress to perfect my copyright title to this effort."

Another Election Called. Montgomery, Ala., June 17.—The state democratic executive committee today nullified the nomination of J. E. Speight for congress in the third Alabama district to succeed Representative Clayton. The district committee of the third district declared Speight the nominee without calling a primary. W. O. Mulkey, of Geneva, protested the nomination. Today the state committee ordered the name of both Speight and Mulkey to be placed on the ballot for a special election to be held next week.
