FORMAL OPENING OF THE FITTING SCHOOL

FRAZER'S PROSPECTS ARE VERY BRIGHT

SESSION IS BEGUN

Pupils Enrolled Yesterday. Instructors Took Charge of the Classes—Work Begins Today

(From Wednesday's Daily.) The Frazer Fitting School opened its doors for the third session of its work Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Quite a number of interested persons were present and the occasion was one for congratulation in every respect. The devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. D. Witherspoon Dodge, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. The entire city council, including the mayor, was present and each one responded with words of greeting and well wishing. Mayor Godfrey and Councilman Barton made addresses in which they endorsed most heartily the work that is being done and pledged themselves to the support of the institution. They were followed by Messrs. F. M. Burnett, Porter A. Whaley, J. B. Townsend and J. M. Garrison, who spoke of the necessity of such work as is being done by Frazer school. After announcements by Dr. Frazer, the headmaster, the benediction was pronounced and the boys repaired to the study hall where assignments of lessons, announcement of duties, rules and regulations were had. The work of the evening study hall, the ruling concerning loafing on the streets at night, the work of the literary societies which are to be organized and the introduction of a course in penmanship which is compulsory for every student, were some of the features of the announcements and which should have the hearty endorsement not only of the parents and patrons but of the entire city of Anderson as well. An entirely new atmosphere is to characterize the grounds of Frazer school this year. The true idea of boy training has been at least reached and will be followed very closely during the entire session. The faculty of the institution is as follows: Rev. Dr. W. H. Frazer, headmaster and professor of Bible; Prof. B. Manly Parks, principal and instructor in science and history; Prof. S. M. Harden, instructor in English, German and Greek; Prof. A. R. Banks, instructor in Latin and mathematics. Between forty and fifty bright, earnest boys were enrolled yesterday and quite a delegation is expected later on in the week.

SAFE CRACKERS ARE WORKING AT SENECA

THREE ATTEMPTS MADE TO OPEN SAFE

BUT TO NO AVAIL

Officers of Surrounding Counties Have Been Asked To Round-up All Suspects Seen In Cities

Word has reached Anderson that the police of Seneca would like the local officers to keep their eyes open in an effort to catch the safe-crackers wanted for taking part in an attempt to crack the safe of the Seneca Cotton Oil mill. A similar request has been sent to other cities and counties near Seneca and it is believed that the "tag net" may result in some one being apprehended for the crime. The following article from the Greenville News of yesterday tells of the three attempts made by the thieves to get into the vault: "Three explosions were made between midnight Sunday night and daylight yesterday morning by safe crackers in an attempt to enter a safe vault at the Seneca cotton oil company's office. The burglars made a complete get-away, but were frightened off before they had succeeded in entering the safe. No money or valuables were missing from the vault. Nitroglycerine was used by the burglars and the authorities at Seneca believe the attempt was a gang. Not a clue of any importance was left about the office or the yard. "Sheriff Rector and the city police were notified yesterday morning of the attempted robbery, and asked to keep a watch for the strange men. No one in Seneca has been located who can recall any strange men about the place the night of the robbery. The plan was pretty well formed, it seems, and but for the fact that the safe proved of stronger fiber than had expected, the robbers would have doubtless made a big haul.

SCHEME CONSIDERED FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

ANDERSON MAY TRY A NEW PLAN

OF HOME CREDITS

People in Other States Say They Have Solved Problem of Getting Pupils to Work at Home

(From Wednesday's Daily.) While the school children may not like the plan as well at first, it is safe to say that every parent of a school child in Anderson county will be enthusiastic when they hear of the new "home credit" plan which has recently been inaugurated in some of the public schools of the country. This matter has been called to the attention of J. B. Felton, county superintendent of education, and to the attention of the county board. The educators now have the matter under attention and in all probability they may try the scheme out in the schools of Anderson county. While the system is perfectly simple, it requires some time to explain it. However, it provides that every pupil will be given a certain number of credits for performing simple tasks at home, such as ten credits for milking the cow, ten credits for splitting wood, ten credits for washing the teeth, ten credits for building a chicken coop, ten credits for currying the horse, and so on, including practically every task which a boy or girl may perform around the house. It has been tried in other states and it is now being inaugurated in some of the schools of this state. An Iowa newspaper tells of what has been accomplished there: "Harry S. McVicker, county superintendent of Keokuk county, has solved the problem of inducing youngsters to work cheerfully at home—or at least he has gone a long way toward that result. He has introduced in connection with the schools in Keokuk county a system of giving credit for work done at home. "The way it works is something like this: Whenever little Johnnie feeds the pigs, or carries in an arm load of wood, or curries a horse, or studies his lesson at home, or does something else to make himself useful he gets a credit at the school he attends, for that bit of home work. "Whenever Lulu gets a meal to help her mother, sets the table, sleeps with her window open, or performs some other of the fifty scheduled tasks, she gets a credit. "When a youngster has 200 credits in this way he gets a certificate of reward from the county superintendent and when he has earned 5,000 credits he gets a diploma of honor. But what is more important—for every 200 credits received at home work the scholar receives an additional 1 per cent to his final average grade, except in the eighth grade and there the pupil must have 500 credits for each additional per cent on his grades. "A list of fifty important tasks a youngster can perform about home or rules of health that he can observe has been formulated and the schedule of credits arranged as a reward for

MURDER CASES HEARD IN CRIMINAL COURT

ULYSSES DAVIS CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

MAKING PROGRESS

Bozeman Is Now Being Tried For Killing of Matthew Jones At Mt. Olive Church In July

(From Wednesday's Daily.) When criminal court convened yesterday morning Judge Memminger delivered his charge to the jury in the case of Ulysses Davis, charged with the murder of Jim Emmerson. The jury retired at 10 o'clock and shortly before 11 o'clock a verdict of guilty of manslaughter was returned. The defendant has not yet been sentenced. This killing occurred in North Anderson on August 20, following services at a negro church. A large party of negroes had been to preaching and as they were returning home some negro struck Jim Emmerson behind the ear with a rock, fracturing his skull and causing concussion of the brain, killing the negro instantly. Davis was arrested, charged with the crime, but on the stand yesterday, pleaded an alibi. The next case taken up was that of Newel Williams, a young negro from Pelzer charged with indecent exposure of the person. His trial lasted but a short time and in this case the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Williams was sentenced to 18 months on the county chain-gang. It will be remembered that this case excited great interest in Pelzer for a time and a lynching was narrowly averted, the prisoner being hurried to the county jail here before the mob could lay hands on him. Os Bozeman, charged with shooting and killing Matthew Jones, is now being tried. Bozeman was arraigned yesterday morning just before the noon hour and his case occupied the attention of the court till adjournment yesterday evening. At that time part of the evidence had been completed but additional witnesses are yet to be sworn and the arguments are yet to be heard. It is probable that this case will go through a great part of the day. The killing occurred at Mt. Olive church in Savannah township on July 26. According to the testimony offered yesterday Bozeman had the father of Matthew Jones enter the church and tell his son that a man on the outside desired to see him. When Matthew Jones came from the building he and Bozeman had some words, following which the fatal shot was fired. The attorneys for the defendant have made a strong plea of self defense. Claude Poore, who has been convicted of the killing of Joe Kelly at Williamston and will be sentenced for manslaughter, was brought before the judge yesterday morning for sentence to be passed but Judge Memminger announced that he desired to give the matter further consideration before he passes the sentence and therefore deferred it until later in the week.
