Washington, Jan. 29.—Forecast: South Carolina—Fair Friday, colder west portion; Saturday unsettled and colder.

Our duty A. P. Operator inquires "Who can tell a phone?"

Wishes it that the legislation to protect calves is aimed at the silk skirt.

Col. D. Wade didn't wave around those parts, but in summer breezes made us happy.

We want to ask right now for the purpose of seeing the valentines sent to Harold Booker this year.

The Lancaster News speaks of "Charleston and Her Problem." We would suggest the addition of one more letter to that last word.

The Atlanta Journal says "Man's Arms Have Always Been of Much Use." Plenty of Anderson girls will concur in this statement.

A Rock Hill doctor is trying to get together specimens of all wild animals. He might secure a good bunch over in Spartanburg.

We agree with the Greenville Piedmont on its solution of the problem "Why Christ Don't Marry." They don't have a chance.

Following gum advertisement says: "You are hundreds of jaw movements short"—but that doesn't apply to some of us who know around Anderson.

Ed McCraw enters the race for the United States senate the people of the State will find out that Pickens is somewhere.

Evidently the witnesses in the Emory Speer case do not think much of the judge, for they say that Texas was not far enough away to send him.

The death of Wright Nash of Spartanburg will be deplored from one end of South Carolina to the other. Mr. Nash was a man of whom South Carolina might well be proud. Added to his ability he was a Christian gentleman.

Ed DeCamp doesn't like the way that the city of Gaffney is run by the municipal authorities. We don't wish to offend the learned editor of the Ledger but at that he should remember that he can move away if he is dissatisfied. Why don't you come to "My Town" and live peaceably?

We are glad to learn that I. C. Blackwood of Spartanburg has been able to shove his way up to the pleasure. Mr. Blackwood is an able man and with it he is a genial fellow. We congratulate him on his good fortune.

While many of the charges brought against Judge Speer and much of the testimony which is being given against him, may be true, we can't help but feel a little bit sorry for him. It looks too much like hopping on a trip.

STATE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

All persons holding claims against the estate of W. F. Wyatt, deceased, are hereby notified to present them at once, duly attested, and also all persons indebted to said estate will also please settle same immediately with the undersigned.

Notice is also given that I will on Feb. 29, 1914, at 11 o'clock A. M., apply to the probate judge of Anderson county for final settlement of said estate and a discharge from my office as executor.

J. H. WYATT.

SPREAD OF PELLAGRA

The study of pellagra has been taken up by the United States government and considerable investigations have been made. As yet no cause for the disease and no cure has been found. Capt. Siles of the United States army, who is in charge of the investigation being made in Spartanburg, appeared before the senate committee on medical affairs Tuesday and told of the progress of the work.

The senator from Anderson, Capt. G. W. Sullivan, has a bill in the senate and it is probable that the state will remove the pellagra patients from the State Hospital for the Insane and will segregate them in some county where they may be given special attention. The entire medical fraternity of the state, as represented in the State Board of Health, is backing this movement.

Dr. J. W. Binkcock, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane was the first alienist in America to realize the terrible significance of this disease and he has prepared a table showing the number of pellagra patients that have been received into that institution. The number from 1907 to 1913, inclusive, is as follows: Abbeville, 30; Aiken, 25; Anderson, 16; Bamberg, 9; Barnwell, 13; Beaufort, 13; Berkeley, 6; Calhoun, 8; Charleston, 31; Chester, 32; Chesterfield, 10; Clarendon, 13; Colleton, 13; Darlington, 22; Dillon, 9; Dorchester, 7; Edgefield, 14; Fairfield, 12; Florence, 26; Georgetown, 15; Greenville, 39; Greenwood, 35; Hampton, 14; Horry, 4; Jasper, 1; Kershaw, 16; Lancaster, 13; Laurens, 21; Lee, 5; Lexington, 11; Marion, 18; Marlboro, 16; Newberry, 14; Oconee, 20; Orangeburg, 22; Pickens, 10; Richland, 82; Saluda, 7; Spartanburg, 83; Sumter, 26; Union, 17; Williamsburg, 15; York, 33. Total, 901. Of these 151 were white males; 291 were white women; 126 were colored men and 333 were colored women.

FOUR YEAR TERM

Representative O. D. Gray has introduced a bill to make the term of office of county school superintendents end with the scholastic year, which is July 1st, and to increase the length of the term of office from two to four years. Mr. Gray has some opposition, but says he is assured of the passage of the bill. The matter of increasing the length of the term has been discussed in the legislature for years and we think is a good idea. The county school superintendent has a most difficult office to fill and there is little sense in changing frequently when it requires some months for a new man to learn the ropes. Supt. Felton, for instance, seems to be giving general satisfaction, and at the same time his tenure of office is marked with progress.

It would not be impossible to remove a superintendent if he was not giving satisfaction, but there is little sense in keeping the office continually in a political campaign.

PRESIDENT HAND

Anderson College assumes a state-wide importance with the election of Mr. W. H. Hand to the presidency. The readers of this paper are familiar with the facts. A review of Mr. Hand's remarkable career as an educator was printed in this paper some weeks ago. He has been identified with the big undertakings of the state in behalf of public school education.

Anderson visitors in Columbia this week were subjected to a lot of scolding from the people there because of the fact that Mr. Hand had been brought here. This was a high compliment to Mr. Hand and shows further the interest that the whole state will have in Anderson college, for the personal interest in Mr. Hand will follow him here.

Mr. Hand has put some stiff propositions to the board of trustees, and they have assumed the responsibility in spending with representatives of the Intelligencer. Mr. Hand says that he has probed over the matter and it is a field new and untried for him. He feels that he is successful in his present work and regrets to lay it down. But the call from Anderson College has been so urgent, and the possibilities are so inviting, that he has decided to come, and make his lot with the people of this great county. He does this, however, with the belief that there is room for any more collegiate institutions, and he proposes to make Anderson College a real college, if it requires ten years to get it on the plane where it will command the highest influence.

LEBANON SCHOOL.

Pendleton, Janu. 22, 1914.—Editor The Intelligencer: Will you please me a little space in your valuable paper? I am a little boy just nine years old and I like to go to school. This makes my third term to school. I am only in the second grade, but I enjoy it. My first teacher was Miss Alma Todd; my second teacher was Miss Lear Harper. I like them all though all were good to me, and I love them all dearly. My teacher now is Miss Mary B. Fant. Miss Mary is one of the best teachers that has ever been in Lebanon.

She is so good and kind to us all that it makes it love her. I have a little brother, he is in the first grade and he thinks our teacher is learning him fast. Our principle is Mr. Holleman. He is a fine teacher. He does what he thinks is best for us. I want to say again, Lebanon can't be beat on school nor ball games. Our teachers names are: Mr. Holleman, Miss Carrie Howers, Miss Masters, Miss Mary B. Fant.

Yours truly, MILBORN MAULLIKIN. Pendleton, Route 2.

WHERE DO THEY RISE?

Editor The Intelligencer: Please ask through the columns of your paper if any reader knows where the streams Six and Twenty and Three and Twenty have their sources. Please ask that answers be published in The Intelligencer. Respectfully,

REPLY TO GOVERNOR BY SEN. CHRISTENSEN

Says Blease Once Sought and Became a Trustee of a Negro College

Special to The Intelligencer. Columbia, Jan. 29.—Senator Nells Christensen of Beaufort, rising to a question of personal privilege in the senate, replied to Governor Blease's special message as to the Beaufort county negro school, of which Senator Christensen is a trustee. The message was printed in full in The Intelligencer last Sunday.

Senator Christensen pointed out that Governor Blease was trustee for some years of the negro college "for which he was a candidate in 1902 before the legislature which elected him."

"The propriety of my conduct as a citizen was called in question by Governor Blease in a special message to the legislature. This because of the fact that I am a trustee of the Port Royal Agricultural school and because Booker T. Washington is named on a letter head of the college as a reference. The said measure also insinuates by questions and phrasology that whites may be teaching negroes that social equality may be taught, and that the school may be a state institution.

"The facts could have been easily entertained by the governor from the same source through which he secured the partial information used in this message. Briefly stated, they are as follows: "The Port Royal Agricultural school is a private school for negroes and uses no public funds. The four trustees are white. The letter head in question was printed for the negro principal at his order and for his use and so far as I know it is not used by any one else. The principal is a graduate of Tuskegee and it is but natural that he should refer to the principal of that school as one who knows him. All the teachers of the Port Royal school are negroes.

"Nearly every school district in this state has negro schools in it and each of the white public school trustees of this district is a trustee of a negro school. Governor Blease himself was for some years a trustee of a negro college for which position he was a candidate in 1902 before the legislature which elected him. So there is no objection to a white man acting as a trustee to a negro school. The only question is the kind of school he is in charge of.

"The attempt by the governor to discredit me and others through this trusteeship is just such a one as was made in Beaufort county 10 years ago when I was first elected to the state senate."

SENATE IN MUSS OVER MESSAGE

BLEASE ATTACKS FATHER OF BEAUFORT SENATOR

CLOSED THE DOORS

Senate Went into Executive Session to Consider Matter—No Action Taken

Columbia, Jan. 29.—Gov. Blease sent the senate a message Thursday night charging by inference that the father of Senator Christensen of Beaufort once captained a company of negro troops in the Civil War. The message was in the nature of a reply to Senator Christensen's answer to a special message from the governor in which the chief executive charged that the Beaufort senator was a trustee of a negro school in his home county.

Senator Christensen answered the message by saying that Blease once a trustee in the State negro college. The governor admitted this in his message tonight and came back with the inference that Senator Christensen's father led negro troops during the Civil War.

At 10 o'clock the senate opened its doors but five minutes after, on motion of Senator Nicholson, it went into executive session again, presumably on the governor's message.

At 10:20 the senate took a recess for 15 minutes. There was an air of expectancy about the senate during the recess. At 10:30 o'clock the senate went into executive session for a minute or two and then opened its doors. It is on good authority that no action was taken on the message from the governor.

Deaths

MARY ELLA TIMMS. The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Timms, Jan. 23, Friday night at 11 o'clock. Little Mary Ella was taken. Her death was not unexpected, she had been sick only a few hours. Her stay on earth was only one year. She was the pet of the home and all who knew her. Funeral services were conducted at Shady Grove Sunday at 1 o'clock.

We trust God to comfort the broken hearted family. We know that God giveth and also taketh, and He shall wipe all tears from their eyes and there shall be no more death, neither shall there be any more pain for the former things are passed away. Their darling little girl has passed away.

To realms of bliss I know; But how hard to see death's awful way.

On loved ones here below; They put away the little dresses; That their darling used to wear; She needs them on earth never— She has climbed the golden stair. Lay aside her pretty playthings, Wet with mother's peary tears How we shall miss little Mary Ella All the coming years.

Angels whisper that our darling, Is in hands of love so fair; That her little feet are waiting, Close beside the golden stair.

WAR TO THE END.

Is the Threat of the Big League of Federals.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—War between the Federal League and organized baseball will continue until the latter receives the new circuit into its fold, according to Secretary Lloyd Rickart, of the Federals. Rickart today said the Federals next year would continue their raids on the player now with organized baseball, whose contracts expire at the end of this season.

There are enough of these to cripple the big leagues more seriously than the present raid will do if they jump, said the secretary, while the Federal League believes itself safe from the raids because its members acquired stars are under contracts, mainly for three years. The situation at the end of the season will be such as to force recognition from the American and National Leagues, and as a third big league, the Federals will operate on equal terms with the others in 1915.
