Stocks and Bonds

New York, Jan. 30.—Stocks rose buoyantly today. In the last hour the movement became more pronounced and trading expanded to large proportions.

In today's movement the New York market fell in line with the great European exchanges, which are reflecting the pronounced improvement in financial conditions.

The upturn was attended by buying on a large scale of bonds and high grade stocks.

An issue of $10,000,000 St. Paul 4-1-2 per cent. bonds was sold here today in less than two hours after they were offered by the underwriters.

Bonds moved up abruptly in spots and the general demand was brisk. Total sales, par value, $4,575,000.

Total sales were 547,000.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 30.—Reports of slackening spot demand in the south and a bearish view of the week-end figures inspired active scattering in the cotton market today and prices made new low ground for the movement.

There was not much action for sale at the start and after opening steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, Jan. 30.—Cottonseed oil today was firm at the start owing to light crude offerings, but later sagged off under scattered selling on the decline in lard and cotton and lack of new outside demand. Final prices were unchanged to 3 points net lower.

Cotton Goods

New York, Jan. 30.—Cotton goods were quiet today, but prices held steady. Yarns were firm with a large inquiry reported. Domestic wools were higher. Australian and South American wools are being asked for. New silks are to be shown next week.

CORN PEST FOUND IN THIS COUNTY

Scientific Expert From Columbia Found Many Specimens in Anderson.

A. H. Byer, United States scientific assistant of the Bureau of Entomology, who is now stationed at Columbia, spent yesterday in Anderson county conferring with the farmers and examining lands in search of the corn stalk borer. The expert found this specimen on every hand throughout the section he visited, practically every stalk examined showing signs of the insects' deadly work.

Speaking of the trip here, Mr. Byer last night discussed the work of the insect with an intelligencer reporter. He said that there are two generations of the larger corn stalk borer each year, the first generation appearing in the spring and the next during the following summer. The destructive work of this infestation is done in the leaves and bud of the young corn plant by the first generation and the second generation burrows within the lower part of the stalk and goes into the root to spend the winter in the larvae or caterpillar stage.

The infestation injures the corn in several ways. It injures the bud of the young plant, weakens the vitality of the matured stalk and also in proportion lessens the yield.

When asked as to what was the best method for treating the plants after being infected, Mr. Byer said that the most effective way to control the pest lies in the means used in exposing the roots, or, better still, if possible, burn the roots.

Before leaving Mr. Byer said that he would be glad to furnish any assistance or information possible to any Anderson county farmer who might desire it. If the planter would call on him in Columbia or write to him at that point.

By the National Guard Association Thursday.

"Whereas, this association has gone on record as favoring what is known as the 'pay bill,' and

"Whereas, at a recent meeting of the adjutants general association in Washington, Gen. Wm. W. Moore, adjutant general, did effective work in having the bill so changed that it would meet the appropriation of the war department and also changed so that when the bill is passed the militia of the State will receive more than $100,000 instead of the paltry sum which would have been received under the original provisions of the bill, be it

"Resolved, That I thank of this association by extended Gen. Moore for his work in behalf of the betterment and advancement of the National Guard of South Carolina."

TRIP CALLED OFF.

Did Not Run Special to Greenville Last Night.

Owing to the fact that only a small number of people signified their intention of taking advantage of the special train offer made by the interurban, the offer was withdrawn by the Anderson officials and no special train was run to Greenville for the show last night.

This was doubtless due to the fact that the weather throughout the day was very inclement and it is probable that many would have gone had this not been the case. However, quite a number made the trip as it was, going and returning on regular trains.

Columbia, Jan. 30.—Friends of two officers of the South Carolina National Guard were active during the meeting in Columbia yesterday and as a result two candidates are announced for the office of adjutant general. Capt. M. G. Willis of Yorkville and Capt. J. H. Cline of Orangeburg, will be in the race for the office.

Capt. Willis is quartermaster on Col. W. W. Lewis' staff, First regiment. Capt. Willis has been an officer in the National Guard about ten years. He is an extensive planter in York county, where he has made his home for many years. He is a native of Aiken county and has farming interests in Barnwell county. He was widely known as president of the
