

SPECIAL OFFERINGS

For Month of May By

COLUMBIA TAILORING COMPANY

The question every man is asking himself now is, where shall I buy that suit? We can answer the question for all who want Nifty, tailored-to-measure clothes--and almost every man nowadays wants that and no other kind.

For the month of May the Columbia Tailoring Company will offer some very special Suit Patterns At $15, $16.50, $18, $20.

In addition to the regular lines of fabrics we are showing a big variety of new woollens, to be made at these prices. These are some of the swellest of the season's patterns, just from the mills.

At the above prices or a wide range above and below these prices we can furnish you made-to-measure clothing at prices no higher than ready-to-wear costs.

Our carefully worked out system, our immense business done in several hundred store connections, and our many years in making and selling high grade clothing all result in benefit to the buyer, and he finds it possible to buy from us at a saving of 25 per cent to 35 per cent of what others charge, often for inferior tailoring.

Our designers can please the man of conservative tastes or the man who desires extreme styles. You simply select your fabric in our local store, select the style in which you want it made up, have your measure carefully taken by an expert, and we do the rest. When the order is ready for delivery it must satisfy you, or you do not have to accept the goods.

Suits $13.50 to $40.

BOHUMIR KRYL TOOK THE TOWN

THE WHOLE CONTRAFTION IS HIS IF HE WILL JUST TARRY LONGER

A GREAT SUCCESS

Was the Last Day of the Music Festival Part of the Chautauque Course in Anderson

PROGRAM TODAY

The Chautauque Program Today Will Be Suited To Sunday. This afternoon, beginning at 3:00, ex-Senator Frank Taylor of Utah will expose polygamy and Mormonism. Tonight at 8 o'clock he will deliver his lecture on "The Last Days of Pompeii" and there will be an overflow meeting at the Methodist church where Dr. Sprague will preach.

Absolutely enjoyable. There is no way to keep Bohumir Karyl here in Anderson. The young, head-master has been ordered to leave the city, and for a long time he has been willing to say "Anderson is my town," and his boys played the ensemble choros to that great effect, but in under a contract with the local bureau and has to hurry on. What a treat it was this visit of the great orchestra and well selected band. Would that we could hold them, even for a day longer, and Secretary Whaley did everything he could to arrange for them to remain over Sunday, but Mr. Karyl had an engagement in Asheville, N. C., and found it impossible to accept.

A great many friends have been here in the section, the great majority of them, therefore, one and others, but none have left with the community feeling that they had seen the world's best. To a hundred or more and at the same time so on.

By arrangement. In the morning Dr. Sprague, head of the section, and closed that in some forms it is not a high tide of democracy, although there are some forms of socialism that are logical.

The musical concert by the band was enjoyed by a full hall, and in the evening there were hundreds beyond the confines of the tent, including those waiting on the tent. The ensemble choros from "The Bohemian Girl" captivated the audience and the steady little march with its magnificent scope, was compelled to draw two tumultuous encores before the audience would let him rest. The xylophone soloist, Mr. Hurt, was the best ever heard in this section of the country.

The band attempted one of the heavy Wagnerian airs, "Das Rheingold" from the opera of that name. Few grand opera orchestras in this country with full complement of strings could have given it any better effect. For it is a fact most patent that while the Chautauque circuit will not in its limitations permit more than 30 pieces to the band, yet every man is selected with the greatest care so that capability and application will count for

A discussion of the complete program would be wearisome, but it is impossible to say enough of Mr. Karyl's solo work. He had the audience enraptured, enraptured as the music notes flowed to their hearts, his beautiful cornet, a masterpiece of the workmen in compliment to the fact that the bandmaster is the greatest cornet player in America today. He gave a representation of what might roughly be described as playing his own accompaniment while trilling a melody in triple-tongue. It was a difficult feat, but did not appear to be more than a pastime for this master of the instrument.

In the evening there was a selection from grand opera by the Denton Company. The first act of "Martha" was sung very well indeed. Following closely upon the heels of the Cathedral Choir and something overshadowed by the local players, the singer were at a real disadvantage, but held their own well.

The evening concert by the band was even more fetching than that of the afternoon, for the tent was close in the afternoon, and Mr. Karyl had jumped from a morning concert in Greenville. His solo work at night was little short of marvelous.

The concluding number by the band was a "March" which appealed particularly at this time, for it was a full year talk and was a melody of war songs and patriotic airs. The following synopsis is given of the whole story.

Taps (1st set), Slumber, Daybreak, check strike, four, approval of the grand review, march and all in all, Drummer call, Morning call, breakfast call, march soldiers, call into line, Soldier's march, Charade, 10 for the front, all aboard, goodbye, Train disappearing in the distance, at the scene of an on-coming battle. Attention, company, Forward, march, Trump, Trump, the boys are marching. Memories of the Blue and Gray, (a) "Dixie", (b) Red, White and Blue, (c) Swanee River, (d) Solo in the Stand, (e) A March Traveler, (f) White Doves, and the march into camp.

Before the battle, Bohumir Karyl (solo) Mr. Deacon, with musical accompaniment, Report of Deacon, The end of the war of battle is here, the wounded soldier, Thinking of home, The Star Spangled Banner, The Star Spangled Banner, Chorus and Solo.

As the band in full ensemble bowed forth the grand march of "The Star Spangled Banner," the vast audience rose and sang the flag of our country, and a splendid evening drew to a close.

SCHOOLS PLANNING FOR COMMENCEMENT

ANDERSON COLLEGE WILL SURPASS HERSELF

ARRANGE EVENTS

Commencement Season Begins Almost At the Same Time As Local Institutions

Commencement exercises will be held in Anderson at almost the same time when the closing days of the year will be celebrated at Anderson College and at the Frazer Academy. The college exercises are to begin on May 22, while the Frazer school will begin its exercises on May 24. Both the events will be largely attended.

All is bustle at the two institutions now, preparing for the close of what has proved to be the most successful years ever enjoyed by Anderson's institutions of learning. The pupils have done good and the instructors are more than pleased over the results of the year's labor.

It was said at the college that this year's commencement exercises will not be so very elaborate but that every event on the program was a distinct feature and that a remarkable attendance from all parts of the State is to be expected. The first event of the program is scheduled for Friday night, May 22, at which time a musical concert will be given by the musical classes of the college. This will be followed by a joint meeting of the literary societies on Saturday and on Sunday comes the biennial sermon, one of the decided events of the commencement season. The college considers that it should be deemed fortunate in being able to secure such a noted speaker for this occasion, Rev. A. B. Allen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Spartanburg. Mr. Allen is said to be one of the State's most popular speakers. He is a deep thinker and his sermons will have a real message and a real meaning for every one hearing it. The college auditorium will hardly be large enough to accommodate the crowds desiring to hear this event.

The literary address on Monday is the "Golden Jubilee" and will be given by the literary societies. It is expected that this address will be one of the most interesting and profitable of the year. People of Anderson are all interested in the exercises to be given at the institution and all of them love the school, its principal and its trustees. The students will certainly draw many people for each night of the exercises and Dr. Fredos has announced that he will continue his term by one fitting school in the State. The exercises at this school begin on the morning of the 24th with the biennial laureate sermon. It has not been announced who will preach the sermon but the other plans are already under way. Tuesday morning the oratorical contest, one of the features of the week with the students, will take place and on Tuesday evening will come the presentation of diplomas, the literary address, the awarding of the medals and the formal closing of the year. The awarding of the medals is a matter of importance to all the students of the academy and they are taking a deep interest in this.

There are three prizes to be delivered at the commencement, the James D. Hammett prize, to be given as a cash prize of $20 for the best essay on a subject selected by Mr. Hammett. The Beate Bible prize of $5.00 offered by Mr. Raymond Beate for the highest proficiency in the first year Bible. The Beate medal offered by the faculty for the best address to be delivered by a member from the senior class.

DAVIDSON WILL DRAW THE CROWD

Numbers of Anderson People Plan to Go to North Carolina For Commencement

Numbers of Anderson people, some of them with sons as students at Davidson college and others with friends there, will go to North Carolina May 16-18 to attend the seventy-sixth annual commencement exercises of the historic old institution. Davidson will this year graduate one of the biggest classes in its history and people from all parts of the State will be in attendance.

Several Anderson people have received programs of the following events, arranged for the commencement exercises this year: Saturday, May 16—8:30 P.
