WILLIAMSTON HELD FINE CHAUTAUQUA

INTERESTING AND HELPFUL TALKS WERE MADE THURSDAY

EXTRAVAGANCES

Col. Watson Pointed Out Trouble With the South—Cotton Conference Explained

Williamston, August 6.—The second day of the Williamston Farmers' Chautauqua was a great success from the first day. And it is expected that the interest will keep up even through Friday, the last day. It is estimated that there were not less than 2,000 visitors on the chautauqua grounds Thursday. There were some very interesting addresses, and the audiences were patient, attentive and pleased.

One of the features of this chautauqua has been the offer of cash prizes to the visitor from the country bringing in the largest wagon load of pickers. Also prizes for the wagons coming the longest distance. There were many wagons Thursday loaded with pickers, and a lot of them were decorated with prize cotton stalks and corn stalks and other choice products of the farm.

The prize for the largest number in one wagon was awarded to H. C. Campbell. The chautauqua census man found that there were 81 persons in his wagon and they came more than two miles, singing and waving flags. A. F. Burgess got the distance prize. He brought 57 people in his wagon for a distance of 8 1-2 miles. Will Mahaffey of Cheddar received the consolation prize for bringing 73 persons from Cheddar at one time behind two mules.

Excellent Talks.

There were some excellent addresses Thursday. The first was by H. A. Tripp, of Atlanta, market agent of the Southern Railway. Mr. Tripp is one of the best posted railway men in the south. His father was Col. A. Tripp, for a long time superintendent of the C's road.

He was followed by Clarence W. Momaw, from the office of markets, in the department of agriculture at Washington. He made a carefully prepared address in which he showed not only the need for markets, but gave the working plans for an organization. His subject was "Co-Operative Markets." Mr. Momaw paid a glowing compliment to the work of Congressman Lever, who was to have spoken, but was detained at Washington by a serious illness. He explained some recent legislation along the line of standardizing crop products, under laws instituted by Senator E. D. Smith.

It will be the pleasure of The Intelligence to publish this address at a later day, as there is in it much of value for the thoughtful farmers who might wish to organize co-operative plans for marketing their crop products.

After dinner the first speaker was J. C. Williams of Washington, assistant to the president of the Southern Railway. Mr. Williams made a very interesting and earnest talk, explaining the relations of the Southern Railway and the farmer. He talked of the cotton boll weevil and declared that while he is not much alarmed over the approach of the dangerous pest, yet he urges diversification of farming so that the south may be prepared for any emergency.

The Cotton Conference.

The last speaker of the afternoon was Col. E. J. Watson of Columbia, state commissioner of agriculture. Col. Watson made a strong plea for purity in food stuffs and paid a tribute to Anderson's splendid senator, Capt. Geo. W. Sullivan, the author of the law which is the entering wedge for an even greater campaign against the adulteration of foodstuffs. Col. Watson held the close attention of the audience for over an hour as he denounced can goods, too much commercial fertilizer and other extravagances and appealed for the home-made kind of everything.

He used this occasion to make a plea for the diversification of crops and called attention to the crisis which is now confronting this country with Germany. The world wide war, he stated that in and Senator Smith and others will go now this state to the conference to be held in Washington, at the call of Col. Watson, for the purpose of deciding upon some way of financing the crop to the profit and advantage of the producer. Col. Watson's remarks on this line made a profound impression. He declared that what the south needs is to make enough to eat first, and then put the balance in cotton.

The dinner hour was a happy occasion, being a great picnic in the spring park. This was also the day for the annual outing of the Old Fellows' orphan home at Greenville and there were visitors from several counties. The first regiment band discouraged sweet music all through the day. In the evening there was a moving picture exhibition for the public demonstrating the work of the boys and girls canning clubs.

Also at the dinner recess, there was an interesting feature out on the grounds when the ladies especially were entertained by Prof. Carberry and Mrs. Grabel, who showed the housekeepers how to prepare fruit for preserving and also warned them against the improper ways of preparation. Today will be live stock day and it is expected that there will be some very fine live stock exhibited. The stock will be exhibited on the chautauqua stage where the lecturers can point out the facts which they wish to illustrate.

The people of Williamston are congratulating Mayor Vance Conley and President Jos. C. Duxworth upon the success of this first agricultural chautauqua, and it is assured as an annual event. It has required quite a lot of effort to get here the distinguished speakers who have come from a distance, as well as the exhibits. Col. Watson's statistics as to the millions of cotton money wasted every year for impure food stuffs shipped in made a strong impression upon the audience. He had exhibits from his department showing exactly what he meant, and these exhibits as well as the roller mill of the International Harvester company and other features were given close attention after the speaking.

EXHIBIT WILL BE BROUGHT HERE

State Has Consented To Furman Smith Bringing Williamston Exhibit Here For Week

Through the efforts of Furman Smith, Hon. E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture, has consented for Mr. Smith to bring the pure food exhibit and a portion of the agricultural exhibit from Williamston to Anderson. Mr. Smith will go to Williamston this afternoon and will pick the articles that he desires for the exhibit here and for the next week they will be on display at his place of business on West Benson street.

This exhibit is furnished by the state of South Carolina and has been on display at Williamston during the farmers chautauqua. It is one of the most complete ever sent out by this state and a feature of the exhibit is the oat display, among which is to be found the Anderson county prize-winning oats.

Mr. Smith believes that a number of Anderson county people will be interested in the exhibits and will come to see them.

NO HITCH APPEARS IN ANNEXING TERRITORY

GREENWOOD AND ANDERSON WILLING

THOROUGH ACCORD

All Sections To Be Affected Willing For Donalds To Join With Anderson County

Anderson people in touch with the plan said last night that they were very well pleased indeed with the meeting which took place in Greenwood yesterday at which time plans were considered for annexing additional territory to Anderson county. It is the general opinion that the new territory will be worth a great deal to this county.

The people of Donalds township and the chambers of commerce of Anderson and Greenwood are in thorough accord on the question of annexation. Committees from the town of Donalds and sections of the township north of the town met a committee of the chamber of commerce of Greenwood Thursday morning and outlined the plans for annexing one section to Greenwood and another to Anderson.

The plan is to give Greenwood county 23 square miles, which will include the town of Donalds, and to let the remainder of the township, which is about 15 square miles located between Donalds and Honca Path go to Anderson county. The people of Donalds are willing to make the division and those who favor going into Anderson county do not object to Donalds coming into Greenwood. The Anderson chamber of commerce also favors the division. Porter A. Whaley, the secretary having wired approval this morning.

Since a change in the original plans has been made and a new survey will have to be made, as soon as this is completed, which will be in a short time, the two elections will be held and everything will be put in shape to bring the question before the Legislature in January. Members of the committee who were in Greenwood Thursday stated that both elections would carry without a dissenting vote and that the two petitions will be signed by every freeholder in each division.

CLEMSON MAN TELLS OF THE COMING YEAR

MANY IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE

FACULTY CHANGES

Anderson People Hear of What College Authorities Hope To Accomplish During Session

A member of the faculty of Clemson college spent yesterday in the city, and while here talked very interestingly to a reporter for The Intelligence about the plans now being made by the college for the coming session. Some changes are to be made in the faculty, and some improvements are to be made in the buildings and taken all in all, Clemson will be able to do more and better work this year than she has ever done before.

The total destruction of the college laundry by the fire last week makes it necessary to erect a temporary makeshift at the old stand, in which a limited amount of absolutely necessary laundry machinery will be installed, in order that the cadet's laundry work may be done when the college opens in September.

Meanwhile, work on a new, larger and better equipped plant will be rushed during the fall. Prof. R. E. Lee, the college architect, is busy with the plans for the new plant and the president announces that as soon as possible work will be begun so as to complete the new laundry before the bad weather of winter sets in.

President Riggs has announced the following changes in the faculty and the extension work force: Prof. J. G. Coman, who resigned in June to engage in cotton mill work in Covington, Tenn., will be succeeded as assistant professor of yarding and of spinning by Wm. G. Blair, Jr., of Rhode Island, who is a graduate of the well known New Bedford Textile school and has wide experience in practical mill work.

L. O. Watson, who for several years has been experimental field pathologist in plant disease work done by Clemson college in cooperation with the United States department of agriculture, has been put in charge of the recently extended work along this line and will probably have headquarters at Washington part of the time and in the cotton belt somewhere part of the time. Mr. Watson is another graduate who has done things. After graduating in the class of 1908, he engaged for a year in chemical work and then further study he returned to Clemson, an experimental field pathologist, where he has rendered great service, especially in his work on cotton wilt.

Mr. Watson's place at Clemson will be filled by another Clemson graduate of the class of 1908, C. A. McLendon, who has since his graduation, been most of the time botanist at the Georgia experiment station, where he has given much of his time to plant pathology and especially cotton diseases. He will be equipped to succeed Mr. Watson.

SOMETHING WORTH SEEING

What is probably the cleanest act of vaudeville ever brought to Anderson is the quartette now showing at the Bijou theatre. It is rather a mystery how Manager Bristow happened to secure these people as such acts are rarely seen except on the big circuits. The stage settings and electrical effects are magnificent, while the work of the equilibrist and contortionists is far beyond the average of this kind of entertainment. The crowd in attendance last night showed their appreciation by much applause of the different features.

WORDS OF CHEER TO THE FARMERS

Great Financier Is Very Optimistic In His Views of South's Welfare

(By Associated Press.)
 New York, August 6.—According to telegrams received by New York banks and bankers today, cotton planters in the south are much alarmed over the foreign situation in its relation to their interests. Some of the telegrams stated in substance that a continuance of the war would reduce the demand for cotton by fully 35 per cent.

In response to one of these communications, A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the Chase National bank, has sent the following telegram to Congressman Underwood at Washington: "The south is unnecessarily alarmed over the prospective reduction in demand for and price of cotton in view of the general European war. European manufacturers may not require the usual amount of cotton but American manufacturers will require it all. It is inevitable that all over-sea nations which first seeks it and a best case—the former patron of Germany—of all nations the United States is in the best position to take and hold the trade. Merchants' money lenders, bankers and statesmen should work together for this purpose. First liberality on our part toward Germany supplied the case and cheaper cotton trade of Mexico and Central and South America, Africa, Asia and the Orient generally. There will be no embargo on the commerce of the Pacific. Our cotton should go abroad not as raw material but as a finished product, and when the war of Europe is over, we should hold largely the trade that now is waiting to fall into our hands."
