FOR PRIMARY REFORM

The Georgia Plan Needs Perfecting in Some Particulars.
Atlanta, Ga., August 31.—William J. Harris, director of the United States census, is in Macon today in attendance on the democratic convention, where he will urge second primaries in future to prevent such convention controversies as that now on over the short term senatorship.
"I called the state committee together and urged a second primary plan this summer," said Mr. Harris. "But they turned me down hard. I foresaw then what was going to happen. But I am going after them on the floor of the convention and hope for better success."
"I shall ask that the convention write in its platform that in the event a candidate gets less than a majority a second primary shall be held with the two highest in the race running again before the people. That's the only sensible way to avoid such a tangle as this."

CLEMSON CONCLUDED FIRST HOME-COMING

EVERY FEATURE WAS VERY SUCCESSFUL

PLEASANT DAYS

Faculty and Trustees of Institution Well Pleased and All Old Students Were Enthusiastic

The first "home-coming week" that Clemson college has ever attempted to hold came to an end Sunday and as the old students of the famous institution passed through Anderson yesterday, en route to their homes, they said that it was a far bigger success than any one had hoped for.

Sunday was the last day of the general exercises. The Rev. T. C. McCall preached a strong sermon at the morning hour and band concerts were given in the afternoon and evening. It is understood that all told about 500 former students registered during the three days of the home-coming while many others came in automobiles and did not register their arrival.

The welcome exercises Saturday night were highly enjoyable. President Riggs in a short speech spoke most feelingly of the pleasure that the homecoming gives to the faculty. He enumerated the improvements that have been made in recent years and outlined plans for the future development of the college. He said that while the material development had been great—in the building and the equipment—that there had been greater and more important growth in those things not seen by the bodily eye.

H. C. Tillman addressed the visitors in the name of the alumni association of which he is the president. He spoke eloquently of the work of the college, and closed by saying "We may come and go, but Clemson will go on forever."

"Great is a labor of love," said President Riggs, in presenting Alan Johnson, of the board of trustees, "and in introducing the next speaker I feel that I am presenting a man than whom no one has labored more lovingly and unselfishly for Clemson." "This," said Mr. Johnson, "is a band of lovers bound by cords softer than silk and stronger than steel." He spoke eloquently of the self-sacrifice of the trustees, and their consecration to duty; paid a high tribute to the faculty; presented a vision of the mission of the United States and who is now in the revenue cutter service, said that he was glad every day he was a student at Clemson, that he was glad now every time he thought of having been a student, and that he was glad to be back again.

B. H. Rawls, head of the dairy division of the department of agriculture in Washington, and once a trustee of Clemson, made a humorous and eloquent response, and W. M. Renchborough, representing the more recent students, made a short, earnest, and finished address.

These exercises were followed by a brilliant display of fireworks under the direction of Professors Howard and Freeman, and then a dance attended by Professor Birch.

After the chapel exercises Sunday morning, the old students began calling on the faculty for speeches. Each of the five oldest members of the faculty was greeted with a perfect storm of applause. Dr. Sloan said, "Boys, you know me and this touches my heart and waded his hand at the boys. They understood, and many a cheek was wet with tears. "Daddy," "Daddy," "Daddy" rang out from every throat, and Professor Furman responded as only he can, humorously and tenderly reciting bits of local traditions. "Jo Jo," yelled the crowd, and Professor W. S. Morrison reminded the boys "Empty wagons make the loudest noises," and followed with a string of say—for which he is famous. The boys were convulsed with laughter, and Professor Morrison made a decided hit. Colonel Hardin was called for and received an ovation. Dr. Brackett, the youngest of the old regime, made a witty speech, beginning with one of his famous sayings "Boys, turn off the gas."

Then the next generation of the faculty were called on as follows, each making short speeches that were well received: D. W. Daniel, S. M. Martin, R. E. Lee, F. H. H. Calhoun, J. N. Harper, Hale Houston, and David Henry. Others were called for, but President Riggs stated that there was another number on the program and that the meeting would have to close. Everybody was struck with the manifestation of genuine love shown for the faculty, and that body was as happy as could be.

Following is the line-up of the ball game yesterday, between the Ancients and the Med-evils, which was won by the latter aggregation 5 to 3. Ancients—Maxwell (Jeff) catcher; John McMakin, p.; Sloan, 2b; Frue, ss; Hall, 3b; Major, 1b; Williams, ss; Wertz, cf; Bennie Freeman, rf; Johnny Gantt, lf.
Med-evils—Fuller, c; Richardson, p; Harry Woodward, lf; Wiley "Skin" cf; Robertson ("Tommy") ss; Tuppen 1b; Terrant, 2b; "Rick" McIver, 2b, rf. H. C. Tillman umpired the game and the complete satisfaction of himself; and though he knows the game, some said that he could do. Balls and strikes better when he was not looking.

Order by Parcel Post, we prepay SHEALEY WILL BE ELECTED

Lexington Man Will Be the Next Railroad Commissioner.

Lexington, August 31.—That the people of South Carolina are interested as never before in the race for railroad commissioner is evidenced by the fact that Frank W. Shealey, who led the ticket in the first primary and who is in the second race with C. D. Fortner, is daily receiving hundreds of letters, telegrams and messages from prominent men residing in every section of the state, all assuring Mr. Shealey of strong support and wishing him success.

The people of Lexington are rejoicing over the splendid showing made by their candidate. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Shealey has been in local politics for the past sixteen years, he carried his home county by a large majority over all five of his opponents in the first primary. This shows the standing of Mr. Shealey at home, and speaks louder than anything else in his favor.
