The Original Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Store

Decided in Favor of North Carolina

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The dispute between the States of Tennessee and North Carolina over their boundary was decided today by the supreme court in favor of North Carolina.

The dispute arose over the exact location of the State boundary as projected by a commission in 1821. Both States claim to some 40,000 acres of mountainous timber land near Slick Rock Creek and for years each State has imposed taxes on the lands.

TOWNVILLE VISITED BY DISTASTROUS FIRE

OIL MILL WAS BURNED TO THE GROUND

LOSS WAS HEAVY

Fork Township Oil Mill, Together With Entire Contents, Went in Flames Sunday Morning.

The village of Townville was visited last Sunday morning about 2 o'clock by the most disastrous fire that the place has ever experienced. As a result, the Fork township oil mill, one of the largest oil mills in the county, was completely destroyed, together with all outbuildings on the property of the company.

The fire was discovered a few minutes after 2 o'clock and had made so much headway that there was little use in attempting to extinguish the blaze. There was no chance to get any of the machinery out of the place and as the cotton seed meal, hulls and oil burned very rapidly, it was at once seen that the place was doomed.

The main building, a large brick structure, was probably worth $30,000, while the ginney, 60 bales of "linters," 500 cords of wood, meal cakes to the value of about $1,500 and several bales of cotton will bring the total loss up to about $40,000. It is understood that the company carried $21,000 on its property.

A solution of how the fire started is hard to arrive at but it is generally believed that there must have been a piece of steel or a nail or some other metal object in the seed when it was fed to the huller. The teeth of this machine evidently struck the metal and caused a spark, which ignited the seed and then this was carried through the conveyor into the seed room. As the seed continued to fall this could have buried the fire and it would smoulder for hours before breaking into a blaze. This supposition appears more reasonable, since Townville people smelled burning cotton near dark but could not determine where it was coming from.

Only by desperate efforts on the part of the public of Townville was it possible to save near-by buildings and barns from being destroyed by the flames.

A message was sent to Anderson asking that the city officials order the motor truck to Townville to assist in fighting fire but at that particular time the fire department had its hands full here battling with a nasty fire in North Anderson.

The mill was owned by J. J. Fretwell, Lee G. Holleman, D. O. Brown and the estate of John N. Bleckly, while T. B. Jones of Townville was president of the company and manager of the mill.

It is understood that the mill has been partially burned on three other occasions but each time was remodeled and has never been moved from its original location. Report has it that the owners are already planning to begin work on the erection of a new building.

Got Cotton

Farmers Donated Three Bales to The Hammond School to Aid The Institution.

Determining several days ago that their association needed funds with which to make still further additions to the equipment of the already handsome school, the Rural School Improvement Association of the Hammond school started out Thursday morning to secure donations of cotton from the farmers of their section. As a result of their efforts in one day the ladies secured not only enough cotton to make one bale but enough to make three bales. They are well pleased with the result of their efforts and the cotton will be marketed in Anderson at 10 cents per pound. If possible and then the proceeds added to the school fund.

The following is a list of the planters contributing to the cause and the amount they each gave:

BOTH SIDES PREPARING FOR DECISIVE STRUGGLE

Germans Renew Their Offensive and Attempts to Break Through The Allied Lines to the Coast Were Repulsed After Most Severe Fighting of the War.

So far as disclosed by official statements the situation in the war theaters, both east and west, remains virtually unchanged. In Belgium and northern France the Allies and the Germans apparently take turns assuming the offensive, while both sides are bringing up reinforcements and preparing for the decisive struggle predicted for an early date.

In the East the Russians, according to the Petrograd announcement, are still driving the Germans and Austrians before them.

England's attitude and determination to continue the bitter struggle until all the demands of the Allies are satisfied were strongly set forth by Premier Asquith at the Lord mayor's banquet in London. The premier declared Great Britain would not sheath the sword until Prussian military domination was destroyed and he further announced that Turkey, by her entrance into the struggle had dug her grave and committed suicide.

Before the same assemblage Field Marshal Earl Kitchener revealed the fact that there are a million and a quarter men now undergoing military training in England and he asked for more.

Advices from South Africa say the forces under Christian Beyers, one of the leaders in the revolt, have been dispersed in the Transvaal by government forces, losing nine men killed, more than that number wounded and 346 prisoners. They also report that the rebel general DeWet, has defeated a government command under General Cronje and that General DeWet's son was killed.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Germans have renewed their offensive in the vicinity of Ypres and Dixmude, where several attempts to break through the Allies lines to the coast of France were repulsed after the most severe fighting of the war.

Despite reverses the Austro-German armies have suffered in the east, where the Russians have set their feet on German territory, the Germans are said to be still sending reinforcements to the west in an endeavor to break down the resistance of the French, British and Belgians.

There has been no decisive action along the whole front, but each side is making gains which may count when the crisis is at hand. Within the tremendous forces opposing each other, any progress necessarily must be slow, but both the Allies and the Germans express satisfaction with the way in which the battle has gone thus far.

In the east the Russian advance guards are fighting on both the east Prussian and Posen borders and it is believed that the Germans have given up their first plan of resisting the Russian advance on the positions which they had prepared along the Warthe river.

According to a German report, the Russians have suffered a reverse on the East Prussian frontier, where they lost 4,000 men and some machine guns, but of the fighting elsewhere in this region Berlin says nothing.

There have been no developments in the near east, the engagements fought being Russian and Turkish frontier guards in the Caucasus or the bombardment of ports.

The slackness in the recruiting in England has been given a flip by the marches of some of the crack territorial regiments and today's procession through the streets of London in connection with the inauguration of the lord mayor, in which Canadian and other dominion troops took part.

From all sections of the country come reports of an increasing number of young men offering themselves for service.

A BRILLIANT LECTURE LAST NIGHT

HON. THOMAS HEFLIN, CONGRESSMAN FROM ALABAMA SPEAKS ON "THE SOUTH, WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER."

The large audience that gathered last night in the auditorium of the fitting school, to hear Congressman Heflin of Alabama, represented the culture and refinement of Anderson in his introductory remarks a compliment to both themselves and the speaker, as this is Mr. Heflin's third visit to Anderson. And as on the two previous occasions, Mr. Heflin charmed his hearers and for almost an hour and a half they listened with absorbing interest and sympathy at his magnificent word pictures of the South and her glory of the past and hopes of the future. Beginning with a summary of the Democratic forces in congress at present, he spoke of the wonderful power of the party now, under such adverse circumstances. Their majority in the house today is greater than the numbers in congress ten years ago when he first went there. Just a little over a century ago this republic was established, and today is the greatest on earth and appealing to his hearers appreciation of the South and her glorious contributions to the making of this country, he brought before the minds of those present an array of Southern men, who gave their brains and genius to the cause. From Patrick Henry, the genius of liberty, to Thomas Jefferson, the writer of the declaration of independence. And then when liberty was won, it was on the soil of grand old Virginia that Cornwallis surrendered his sword to that peerless Southern man, the father of his country, George Washington.

And Washington was the first of 50 presidents born on Southern soil. And again he told of Southern men always first in congress, on the supreme bench, down to the last great struggle of '61-'65.

After doing all she could to prevent the war, the South laid her best and noblest on the altar of her country, for what she believed to be right and for the sovereignty of the State. And in the shedding of their blood together, the North and the South, the whole was welded together, in an unbreakable bond. And to the private soldier of the Confederate army he paid a most glowing tribute. The man, who after giving his all to the cause he loved, came home to ruin and desolation, and restored the flag of the white man's rule throughout the land. His heroism in reconstruction, his devotion to duty, his love of truth, and his reverence for woman.

And to the woman of the South, the inspiration and the help. Mr. Heflin spoke of the cotton of the South, the prince of American products. He said that it grew in India 3,000 years ago, and was called tree wool. Cotton cloth was found in ancient tombs, Peruvian mummies were wrapped in it, and in the city of the Caesars the women bound their heads in it, on down through the years of time until our forefathers as early as 1607 brought it to this country, and it found its most productive soil in the fields of the South. And so to the South the world looks for its crop and watches with interest from the planting in spring, till the fields are white with the fleecy fibre in fall. He spoke of the stress just now, the closed market, but insisted that a better time was just ahead. He said he believed that when congress reconvened the necessary President Wilson would take some steps to relieve the situation. And that out of this experience the Southern farmer would learn the lesson of raising all home products and make his cotton his money crop.

In passing Mr. Heflin touched on the suffrage question, a subject on which he is at his best, and his humor and inimitable manner drew frequent and hearty applause from his hearers and one and all were very sincere in the wish that "the hab" to visit Anderson would be so strong as to bring him back many more times.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP--25 CENT DANDERINE

Girls! Girls! Save your hair! Make it grow luxuriant and beautiful.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff, you can not have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fall out, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff, no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

PASS RESOLUTIONS ENDORSING WORK

BARACA CLASS APPROVES WORK DONE BY OFFICIALS

ALSO NEWSPAPERS

Every Member of Class in Sympathy With Everything Done.

At the meeting of the Baraca Class of the First Baptist church Sunday morning a resolution was offered endorsing and approving the splendid work done by the Mayor, members of Council, Recorder and City Attorney in ridding our city of blind tigers; also expressing sincere and hearty appreciation of the noble stand taken by the newspapers of our city in their endorsement of the efforts of council for a purer city and what has been done by them toward creating a strong public sentiment favoring a pure city and a strict enforcement of law and order.

By a rising vote this splendid body of one hundred men unanimously adopted this resolution.

Each member of the class is in hearty sympathy with all that has been and is being done to give us a purer and better city. As individuals and as a body they declared they would cheerfully do what they could to this end.

This class too, appreciates the fact that those engaged in this work will need the continued support and cooperation of all the good men of our city who have its business, moral and religious welfare at stake, recognize the urgent need of an organization for the continued maintenance of law and order. With the object in view of establishing such an organization the president of the class, Mr. D. C. Brown, appointed a committee of three: Messrs. W. W. Sullivan, E. R. Horton and N. R. Green, to confer with the officials of other Baraca or Bible classes of the city, having each of them appointed a committee of three each of these several committees to meet next Sunday afternoon to discuss plans for the completion of such an organization. Those committees will at that time no doubt call for a mass meeting of those interested in this work, at which time such an organization can be perfected.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching, and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggy and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, thus avoiding a lot of mess.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Rather Leaky. Did you ever wait in a stuffy car while your engine went off and forgot you? asks Young's Magazine. In that case maybe you'll sympathize with the hero of this amusing story told by Tully Marshall.

"It was on an East Texas train. The little coffee pot of an engine, having wheezed laboriously over serpentine rails, jolted to a restful spot at no place in particular. Time passed tediously. Some of the passengers staked nervously up and down the aisles, while others drew their hats down over their eyes and tried to forget it. When a half hour had elapsed the conductor came through.

"Say, friend," said a querulous-voiced old man, "as near as you can, tell, what's holding us?"

"We're taking on water," was the explanation.

"Well, why don't you get another teaspoon? That unsems to leak somethin' dreadful."

Similarly. "But don't judge a man by appearance," said Mayor G. S. Marshall at a banquet in Columbus.

"Jackson Wentworth after an absence of thirty years returned to the home of his youth. Jackson had a slight attraction of the skin which made his nose very red; hence when he called at the parsonage the old minister remarked:

"Jackson, Jackson, my man, I'm afraid you've become a hard drinker."

"Don't judge by appearance, Dr. Stentley," said Jackson Wentworth. "I hardly average two glasses of beer a week."

"Well, then," said the minister in a soothing voice, "I guess your face, Jackson, is like my gas meter—it registers more than it consumes"—Atlanta Constitution.
