News Letter From Belton

BELTON, Nov. 23.—The stores and banks of Belton will observe Thanksgiving day. The many clerks here will take the day off and many of the business men will go hunting.

The prayer meeting service at the Baptist church next Wednesday evening will be turned into a general Thanksgiving service. Public cordially invited to attend this service. Misses Elmire and Josie Harden, teachers at Connie Maxwell Orphanage, Greenwood, spent Sunday in Belton, guests at the home of I. W. Cox, on Brown avenue.

Dr. Potat, president of Furman university, preached two able sermons at the First Baptist church yesterday—morning and evening. The church was full to overflowing and this able speaker was well pleased with Belton.

Rev. W. S. Martin, pastor of the Methodist church, was in his place yesterday and preached a fine sermon to his many hearers. He leaves next week for the annual conference.

Hotel Geer.

Thanksgiving Dinner: Turkey, oysters, dressing, giblet sauce, cranberry sauce, potato chips, celery, salted almonds, cold boiled ham, chicken pie, candied yams, creamed potatoes, steamed rice, green peas in tumbales, chicken salad, pumpkin pie, brandy peaches, sweet pickled peaches, fruit cake, assorted cakes, sherry, ice cream, coffee with whipped cream, hot tea, sweet milk, butter milk, o'possum and potatoes.

Belton Won Over Williamston.

The high school girls of Belton and the girls of the Williamston high school played a fine game of basket ball Saturday afternoon on the Williamston ground. The Belton girls returned home victorious over their opponents the score being 12 to 0. This makes four victories for the Belton girls this fall out of six games, losing one to Anderson and one to Honea Path. Our team won one from each of these teams. They hope to come out winners this year and they have certainly made a good start. Keep it up girls. We know that you are game.

The many friends of L. M. Geer will be glad to learn that he is still improving. He is getting along nicely and will be at himself in a few weeks. He hopes that the usual large crowd will be on hand Thanksgiving day. Mr. Geer gives everybody a fine dinner on this occasion. You can always get your money's worth at Hotel Geer but on this occasion you get double the usual amount. Come over Mr. Editor and take dinner with us at this popular hotel.

NINE HUNDRED BILLION RATS Danger of Bubonic Plague—Dr. Dixon Says It is Advancing With No Uncertain Steps.

"The Bubonic Plague is advancing against us with no uncertain step," declared Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, commissioner of health of Pennsylvania, yesterday in the course of his lecture on "State Control of Contagious and Infectious Diseases" in the course of special lectures being given at the College of Pharmacy, Philadelphia, Pa.

Marvel at this—Under normal conditions a female rat will bear three to five litters of ten, each year. At this rate one pair of rats would in five years increase to over nine hundred billion, provided all survive. The economic losses from rat depredation in the United States are enormous. A government report says: "It costs the American people $100,000,000 yearly in grain alone to feed the rat. Add to this $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 in merchandise, poultry, eggs, other foodstuffs, damage to buildings, furniture, pipes, embankments, foundations, piers, etc., and you have an amount equal to the revenue of an empire. And so far as anyone has been able to make out the rat is a man no useful purpose. They are a wary, alert and dangerous foe, and it will require intelligent, energetic and unremitting efforts to suppress them. In some localities the suppression of the rat has become almost a necessity for the preservation of the human race. It has followed man into all parts of the globe, and where the rat goes, plague and other diseases invariably go. The rodent, in addition to carrying plague, is also the reservoir of trichinosis and ten other parasites. Furthermore, rats have leprosy. They also have cancer. These tumors occur "spontaneously" among wild rats and may be readily transferred from rat to rat. The rat has grown from a nuisance to a danger and control of this pest has become a serious health problem, as well as a necessity. The above remarkable figures, facts and comment are taken from a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, and the reports of the Agricultural department. They are set forth here for the purpose of calling attention to a recently discovered remedy for the rat pest which seems to have special claims for consideration. It is called by the manufacturer's name Rat Corn and the unique qualities claimed for it seem also to be fully substantiated; these are, that rat corn will surely kill rats, mice and all rodents. It will not kill cats, dogs or human beings. It purifies the bodies of the dead rats so that they are entirely free from disagreeable odors or smells. It dries them up. In fact, by using rat corn you can rid your premises of the pest and dangerous nuisances in a safe, sane and sanitary manner. Investigate rat corn. It is well worthy a trial. See ad on another page, and send to the 20th Century Manufacturing Company, 253-255 South Fourth Street, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet, "How to Destroy Rats," which is sent free if you mention this journal.

BARNES NOTES.

Never count your friends. You can't tell who they are; Some are friendly for favors And some of them never were.

If you have no enemies then you never knew enough to catch your friends in a lie.

Mrs. A. A. Mauldin and son, John, are at Anderson visiting relatives and friends.

Messrs. Austing Killing and Herman Boyd went to Calhoun Falls last Saturday "dear" hunting.

Mr. J. H. Tucker recently shipped an opossum dog to Mulberry, Fla.

The remains of Mr. Dave Scott were brought here from Iva on the 13th inst. and buried after appropriate services by Rev. H. W. Stone.

Active pall bearers were: John Sutherland, Will Powell, Monroe Alewine, John Jones, Crayton Evans and Curtis Cann.

Most of the farmers are about through gathering the cotton crop sown oats and will sow some wheat. Every farmer should raise enough wheat to feed the inhabitants thereon, raise enough grain to feed the stock, in other words make the farm self sustaining and cotton a surplus and let the other fellows do the worrying about the price of the fleecy staple.

Miss Rose Weir from Moore, S. C., is spending a month here with her brother, F. A. Weir.

Mr. Roy Forester from Yemassee is here on a visit. Roy spent a few months here last spring and the young folks are glad to have him with them.

Mr. Austin Kelley is off to Augusta Ga., at this writing "sowing some oats."

Mr. Horace McMahan was here last Sunday at Sunday school and with home folks for dinner.

Mr. Jim Mapudin met with a painful accident recently which caused the amputation of his right foot. He was out with his gun (hammerless) and stooped to tie his shoe and the gun slipped and went off and the entire load entered the side of his foot back of the great toe, with the above results.

The Southern Express Company will discontinue its office here after December 10, next. It is thought that this will put a crimp on the illegal sale of whiskey here. It is said that five or six blind tigers (black) are doing business here, and Solomon in all his glory was never arrayed like one of these.

Will Welcome Santa Claus. LONDON, Nov. 23.—To emphasize the government's appreciation of gifts which America is sending in the Santa Claus ship Jason the government has decided to have the Earl of Beauchamp, first commissioner of works, meet the vessel and welcome the American commissioners.

Making Investigation. WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The customs authorities are holding the steamer Gladstone at Norfolk at the request of the state department, while investigation is being made to determine whether questions of neutrality are involved.
